Mrs. A. Kirkpatrick, Belleville, supplied the traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. H. Skitch, Toronto, soloist, as she rendered "The Lord's Prayer", before the ceremony and "O Promise Me", during the signing of the register.

Mr. D. K. Aiding, of Toronto, acted as groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Herb. Thompson, of Deseronto, and Mr. W. L. Milligan, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home, which was tastefully decorated in Autumn and white chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother received the guests wearing a floor length model gown with brown hat and cinnamon brown accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Milligan was assisted by the groom's mother, attired in a costume of dove grey with port wine hat and wine accessories and wearing a corsage of blush roses.

A wedding dinner was served to the guests at five o'clock. The bride's table was attractively centred with a three-tier wedding cake, flanked with tall silver candles in silver candelabra on either side. The tables were tastefully arranged throughout the spacious rooms, each table centred with a basket of bouffant roses. Those who served were Miss Lela Dent, Mrs. H. Skitch and Mrs. Herb. Thompson.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. G. R. Gray and responded to by the groom.

Later the happy couple left for a trip to Portland, Ontario.

Upon their return they will spend a short time in Belleville before leaving by plane for Trinidad, where the groom is employed in the Bank of Commerce.

Telegrams of congratulations were received from Geraldton, and Trinidad, W.I.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was entertained at a personal shower given by her girl friends in Oshawa, and a miscellaneous shower by Miss Joan Mailey, of Deseronto.

Mrs. C. Thompson, Deseronto, entertained a large number of friends at a buffet dinner and presentation.

The groom was presented with a set of travelling bags by his friends in Newcastle, where he spent two years before going south.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

In Montreal, we went to the gayest little eating spot called "Au Lutin." The quaint old French building boasts a winding wall at the front entrance. There is plenty of art inside for those who relish a little culture . . . But at Au Lutin, there are no menus. Each customer goes directly to the glowing open bake oven where the white clad chef shows you the food of the night (in the raw) and suggests the trimmings . . .

You discuss your meal with the chef in chef in great detail. And before you realize it, in comes your very own banquet, right to the table of your choice in the candlelit dining room.

It is the custom at Au Lutin for a young French boy to bring a wee live piglet into the dining room. Piggie lets out a few babyish squeals amid the Oh's and Ah's . . . Guests like to have their photos taken with the pig for souvenirs. A cameraman is always on deck to do this. He hands the guest a baby's bottle-full of milk, sets the little pig on an end table and lets you feed the piglet as the shot is taken.

In the hall of Au Lutin, is a gallery of celebrities photographed with the little pig. Among these are such familiar faces as Claire Wallace, Edward Arnold, Mayor Houde, Mary Pickford.

How would you like to have a big photograph of Lake Louise, or perhaps an aerial photo in color of Halifax harbor on your kitchen floor? Soon, that may just be possible . . .

From the U. S. comes word of a new plastic floor covering of photographed patterns which can put the New York skyline on your kitchen floor. Such a floor covering is the result of a newly devised processing technique. It costs less than the standard variety.

At church Sunday, we found ourselves in a packed congregation breathing the most healthy form of Christian spirit we've felt for many a Sabbath . . . It was a Father and Son Sunday — when Pop and Billy Boy sat with a lot of other Pops and their sons in a body in the centre of the church . . . You know, there was something touching about that body of men, each with a younger version at his side . . . something that made your heart flip over, because you knew that there was something very fine and very wonderful about a father sitting in church with his son — especially about a crowd of fathers sitting in church with their sons.

When the minister finished the Scripture, we noticed one little chap sitting on the edge of a side aisle with his young mother, among the general congregation. But, where was Daddy? . . .

And then we thought we could see an Air Force pin on the mother's lapel . . . Yes, this boy's father was there in church too. We knew he was there. And they both knew he was there, even though none of us could actually see him . . . Church on Sunday morning is the place for all to be.

STABBED MOTHER BECAUSE SHE GAVE HIM INTO ADOPTION

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 11 (AP) —Sam Westberry, 21-year-old grocery clerk, stabbed his mother to death Monday because, police said, she had given him into adoption when he was an infant. He was jailed on a charge of murder.

TRUMAN RECEIVES POPE'S MEDAL AND ROSARY

Washington, Oct. 11 (AP) — President Truman received yesterday the Pope's medal and rosary, especially blessed for him by the head of the Roman Catholic Church. Representative Neil Linehan (Dem. Ill.) presented the gift, entrusted to him during an audience with the Pope Sept. 22.

PROTEST NOT APPROVED

Napanee, Oct. 11—(CP)—Napanee Athletics baseball team has been advised by W. J. Hartley, secretary of the Ontario Baseball Association, that the recent protest of the Cobourg Club has been disapproved by the sub committee. The objection was filed following the Napanee 8-3 win Sept. 26 in Cobourg. Officials there claimed the game should have been called earlier because of rain.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Gifts to artists on tour

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A daughter and two sons of a family who are very good friends of ours are very talented, have signed a contract for quite a long tour with a well-known company, and are leaving soon. Their mother and father are giving a Farewell Party for them, and they have told us that we are to be invited by telephone, that no invitations are to be mailed because of the lack of time. My mother, father and I will go, and we think that, since it is to be a Farewell Party, we should take them gifts. Our question is should each receive a separate gift, or should we give one gift for all? Also, would you give us some ideas about suitable gifts?

R. N.

Gifts are not strictly necessary, but they would be proper of course, and kind and generous and thought. Each should I think, be given an individual gift, but you three, your mother, father and sons, could combine on each gift. Also the gifts might be of the same general type. For example, your "family gift" to each might be a pen or a pencil, or a pen-and-pencil set, initial-stamped; or a leather portfolio for each, stamped with name and address; or a compact writing portfolio or case, either plain or scrolled with letter-paper, notepaper, cards; a square, flat stamp book, equipped with address blocks of stamps; some type of compact travelling-case for each or other convenient item for travelling-case; a small stiff-cover memorandum-book, always a convenient item when travelling.

Form of name on printed letter paper

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I was a June bride, and now that we have a "really truly" new home, I want to have some general utility letter-paper printed with my name and address. Will you please tell me the correct form for this? (1) Particularly, the form for my name. . . Mrs. Edward Blair, or Mary Alden Blair? (2) Also, we live in a medium-size city . . . should the name of the state also be included in the address? (3) And what type of letterhead is best for me?

M. A. B.

(1) You should use your full formal name . . . Mrs. Edward Blair . . . for this name-information or identification is one of the most important uses of this type of paper. (2) Yes, include the name of the state, . . . and the zone number too! (3) Plain block letters are best. Also, the usual form:

Mrs. Edward Blair,
21- Circle Avenue
Haven City 3
Delaware

Thank-you note for money-gift to new baby

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When money has been given as a present to a new-born baby, what would be correct form for a thank-you note?

G. S.

A thank-you note somewhat like this:

Dear Betty:

How very kind ,and how very generous of you and Bill to send our new baby such a wonderful present! We thank you with all our hearts for your goodness to us, for your thoughtful plan that I buy something that will give our new little Cynthia happiness and comfort. I have not yet been able to shop for the important "final choice" but I think it is to be a carriage cover, which the newcomer very much needs . When I've "achieved" this purchase, I'll telephone you and then, please, do come in 'meet' our daughter and see her happily snuggling in your gift to her.

Dearest love Jo you two dear friends, and our deepest appreciation.

Affectionately,

Fashion Flashes

ORIGINALITY marks some of the new evening frocks. Orange-rust silk pique is used for a full-skirted evening frock made with a pie-cut neckline deepened to gold hook fastenings. A long sash, attached in back, is draped over the shoulders or the arms as a stole.

A touch of black is the color contrast used for many colorful clothes. Black velvet is used for a two-piece dress, the skirt slim, the short jacket detailed with a small, rounded collar, and large, rounded revers that are heavily encrusted in jet beads and shiny and dull black braid.

A COMB-BACK is being staged by the muff. Several of the big houses in Paris showed models ensembled with muffs, with the low muffin in fur furs such as beaver or seal skin—competing with round and melon muffs in black fox, ermine, shirred silver fox and mink.

NO SOONER SEEN than purchased is the report on a little frock of bright red wool jersey cut on casual lines with black velveteen sizing tie below the little turn-down collar, and tailored black velveteen belt. Patch pocket are have side entry and pointed flaps. Black-velveteen buttons on jetted bodice.

AFTERNOON GUESTS need beautiful blouses. Crinkled silk chiffon in white, with a widely-spaced sprinkling of purple tints makes a lovely blouse cut on soft shirtwaist lines with amethyst colored stone studs and cuff-links.

A DREAM of a coat for town, country or travel wear is a greatcoat of camel's hair suiting, which comes equipped with a separate tie belt of the fur to convert it into a Hollywood-type wrap-around for country or casual wear. There are big patch pockets, and extra folds of fullness are shirred into a square shoulder yoke.

Wild Preserves

If you are taking the children on a long motor trip, hang a shoe bag over the back of the front seat to hold small treasures. The bags to be played with if the young ones get bored. The outside pockets may be crammed with miscellaneous articles.

Hair-Conditioned

By PRUNELLA WOOD

As a current fashion, this velvet and dinner costume is tagged 1950, and good immediately. As a matter of maternity fashion, it is better than merely fashionable, for not only does it disguise and assist in a flattering manner during days of expansion, but it can be revamped by the home sewer's own amateur fingers into a post-baby model, using fabric and directions which come with the really inexpensive dress.

The trick is a "window" cut in the skirt; a yoke of faille like the skirt is appliqued over the open window when shaping up a streamlined wardrobe.

Former Ottawa Dump Gives Rich Harvest

Ottawa — (CP) — Mrs. Anna Warchol of Ottawa is growing a mammoth garden in a little wooded acre that was once the site of a city dump.

Gardening is the hobby of Mrs. Warchol, who came to Canada from her native Ukraine several years ago. The vegetables she grows on her small plot of land put most experienced market gardeners to shame.

She produces larger and heavier tomatoes and cabbages than the professional gardeners, while her specialty is giant-sized mushrooms — white, tasty mushrooms as big as an average-sized dinner plate.

"I noticed the mushrooms growing near a stone wall in the garden about four years ago," Mrs. Warchol said. "Since that time I have cultivated the earth around them and arranged an irrigation system that brought them along beautifully."

Mrs. Warchol says she has had a garden every place she has been —"it is a real hobby with me."

Interested purchasers are out of luck. She likes to keep the vegetables for her own use.

BEAUTY

Every day good-looks chores

There are demon housekeepers who keep everything inside the home neat and attractive except themselves, forgetting, evidently, that the mistress of the house should be the chief ornament. If there are any of these in our beauty class, another would like to ask them a few questions.

'Tess up, cross your heart, hope to die! Are you getting right by yourself? Are you slipping, just a little bit? If you are, your mirror will rebuke you every time you look in it.

Do you carefully scour and scrub and dust and let your nail polish go patchy? Do you polish the silver every week, let your tresses get dull and draggy looking? Do you shine the windows and carry a shine on your nose? What's the idea, lady? That is no way to behave.

If you are smart, you will keep half a dozen jobs ahead of your birthdays, so they won't catch up with you. If you don't do that little thing, the day may come when you will sit down and wonder why you didn't make every possible effort to hang onto the good looks that nature gave you, why you didn't attend to your daily beauty duties. Don't let the realization that your adipose bumps collect on your svelte frame. Be up and dojng!

This matter of dusting off the man Time is a business, if not a 190-proof one. It should be on every woman's schedule of daily activities. After all, keeping up to a certain standard of good appearance doesn't take a great deal of time. It Don't take much money if you know how to conserve on cosmetics and do your beauty housework. It is a matter of keeping everlastingly at the small attentions that mean so much to the complexion, the hair, the hands, fingernails and figure. Appearance does affect, be favorable or devastating, upon one's spirits. Look well and you'll feel better than when you are not strictly up to the minute. All togged up in a smart frock, the hair-do perfect, make-up glorifying, a woman naturally feels amiable. She is on her toes. She is not likely to bawl out the papa and she will be patient with the children. A woman lives up to her looks.

What are the duties? A nightly face-washing and a five-minute friction with cream to keep the skin smooth and scare wrinkles away. Creaming the hands following every get the complexion-leavings—and fingernails are thankful for lubrication.

Brush the teeth at least twice a day, and no quick job either. Brush them until they shine, and use a mouth wash.

Fifty strokes of the hairbrush on your glorious crest will act as a tonic to the growth, give lustre to the shafts.

Ten minutes of bending and torso-twisting will help to retain the neat waistline.

Are you slipping, just a little bit?

Sheepskins Popular As Floor Coverings

They were first used widely during the war, when rugs and carpets were prohibited imports. Sheepskins, used as rugs or made up as wall-to-wall carpeting, have since become an increasing side line of the Australian wool industry.

Modern interior decorators say that the skins are effective, cool and durable. They can be shampooed easily, and retain their soft, firm pile. Dyed to delicate pastel shades or left in natural cream color, the rugs look particularly attractive on waxed or polished floors.

Warm caramel-colored skins, joined in a diamond pattern cover a staircase. In the sitting room, fringed sheepskin rugs of olive green, against a tallow-wood floor contrast with window-curtains of heavy rose satin.

In one bedroom there are plum-colored sheepskin rugs. The guest room has wall-to-wall covering of natural sheepskin, which blends into the color scheme of Chinese blue and primrose.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A situation that calls for some proper pride

A young man who, it seems to me, should be old enough to know better, writes me that he is trying to hang on to a girl who has shown him where she stands by becoming engaged to another man.

This fact, I should think, would be enough to make any man with ego, self-respect at all say good-bye to the girl. Another reason why I would think his respect for himself would make him resolve to be through with her, is that the girl is apparently doubly crossing both the man she is engaged to and this other man.

"In 1943 I was going steady with my past and present dream girl. After I was called into service a 'Dear John' followed, which broke us off completely for a time, but not for good.

"After being discharged, and home for a month, I got up nerve to ask this girl for a date and we went on many after that. Every time we were out, I confessed my love for her, and she in turn made me believe that the time would be for keeps.

"Now, after two months without seeing her, I find she is engaged and expects to be married from here. She has the nerve to make you want to throw away all your beliefs in women.

"I have taken her out three nights a week for the last month. She still insists she is in love with me but won't break her engagement. I have proposed marriage to her a dozen times, and can assure her a wonderful home because I have an excellent job.

"Do you think we—the three of us—should talk and make her tell which one of us she really loves? However, if she is definitely in love with this other man, I might ruin her entire life by exposing to her fiance the fact that she and I have been dating.

"My problem to you may seem simple, but I still probably will forget the girl. This is impossible because I have tried it twice."

This young man is just another one of the large number of young people who give us the "Don't tell me to forget" routine. If they had any idea, these young people would be more ironical they are in using this phrase, they might refrain from doing so. The trouble is that none of them realize that there is practically no young man or woman in the world who has not at some time felt that if they couldn't have the person with whom they thought at the time they were in love, they would go down to their graves single men and women, carrying torches for the loved and lost all their unhappy lives.

This young man undoubtedly will not like it any more than the others have to whom I have told this same thing, but the truth is, that in picturing himself as never able to forget this romance, he is simply dramatizing himself. Because he is deprived of the normal emotional satisfaction he would get from having this girl love him, he is getting morbit emotional satisfaction out of picturing himself in a permanent role of broken hearted lover.

Why he should want to have anything to do with a girl who wants to keep a former beau on the string after she has become engaged to another man, I cannot understand. I should think his masculine pride would be sufficient to make him break off with her completely.

If he wants to keep on torturing himself by banging his head against a stone wall, nobody can stop him. But it would be far more manly, and more mature, to quit such a futile and childish performance and get off about more constructive business, namely, going out with other girls, until thoughts of this one grow further and further apart, and someone else finally takes her place in his heart.

NOT WATERLOGGED YET

Cslo.—(CP)—Probably the most enthusiastic swimmer of the 100,000 persons who visited Norway's loglistersad beach each Sunday this summer was 78-year-old Emma Hanslch. "I've been swimming for the past 71 years," she notes, "and intend to continue as long as possible."

"Most tooth loss comes from gum troubles," say dentists.

FIGHT TOOTH DECAY AND GUM TROUBLES BOTH!

New dental research proves you can help prevent tooth decay as you guard your gums—this doubly-effective Ipana way.

In thousands of recent reports from all over the country, dentists say the Ipana way promotes healthier gums. That's just as important as fighting decay, for dentists warn that you can't have healthy teeth without healthy gums! Try this dentist-approved Ipana way—for healthier teeth and healthier gums too!

DENTAL RESEARCH SHOWS HOW IPANA FIGHTS TOOTH DECAY!

Scientific research based on daily dental examinations now proves that every time you brush your teeth with Ipana, it helps fight tooth decay by effectively reducing and keeping down the acid-forming bacteria. No other paste or powder is more effective for the purpose! Ipana helps remove bacteria-trapping deposits that invite decay.

The Ipana way is doubly-effective 1. Reduces cavity-acids in your mouth, helps fight tooth surfaces with Ipana after every meal. (Ipana's special cleansing formula helps prevent tooth decay—keeps tooth cleaner.)

2. Then massage Ipana the way your dentist advises. (Ipana's unique formula stimulates gum circulation—promotes healthier gums.)

Dentists warn that if you want to save your teeth, you must protect your teeth and gums both.

For not only does tooth decay cause untold misery and trouble—more people lose more teeth from decay, according to leading dental authorities. And gum troubles can strike anyone—even healthy youngsters and folk entrusted with little worries!

Now you and your family can help prevent tooth decay and gum troubles BOTH—with doubly-effective Ipana dental care.

For new dental research now proves that Ipana's own special formula effectively reduces and keeps down acid-forming bacteria in the mouth—a cause of tooth decay. Ipana fully meets these standards for an anti-decay dentifrice.

Little-Known Vegetables Brighten Menus

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Oct. — (CP) — If she likes experimenting with little-known foods, the housewife these days will find temptation lurking around every vegetable-stall in the town market.

Chinese cabbage is appearing in quantity along with broccoli, eggplant and leeks. Now that autumn's here, there is no excuse for dull menus.

Leeks, which resemble giant onions, also exude a strong onion odor in cooking. However, they have a most delicate taste.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion department of agriculture, suggest serving the white stalks of the leeks as a vegetable) and the green leaves in soup.

The leek stalks should first be cooked in boiling, salted water until tender. They may be served plain with a little melted butter and a sprinkling of chopped parsley with French dressing.

They also make an interesting casserole. Place the boiled leek in a greased baking-dish with alternate layers of graded cheese. Bake in a hot oven until the cheese has melted.

Leeks also may be braised. The white stalks are cut in even lengths, tied, and boiled in salted water until tender. Then they are fried in butter and seasoned with salt and pepper. A little water or bouillion is added, and the leek then are covered and cooked slowly until tender (about 40 minutes) done.

Egg-plant probably is a new vegetable to many city-dwellers. At its best it has a soft, shiny and unwrinkled purple skin. This is peeled and the egg-plant sliced into medium-sized pieces. These may be dipped in beaten egg, rolled in bread-crumbs and fried. Egg-plant also is popular as part of a casserole dish.

Kitchen Hints:

You've been peeling onions? To remove the odor from your hands rub them with dry mustard and then wash.

A piece of horseradish in a jar of pickles will keep the vinegar from losing its strength.

Damp shoes will polish well if some paraffin is added to the shoe polish.

New shoes that will not polish easily may be rubbed with the cut half of a lemon. When dried, polish in the usual way, finishing with a soft cloth or pad of velvet.

Wife Preservers

Falls down home stairways are much apt to happen if a 100-watt silvered bowl bulb is installed over steps—particularly cellar steps. This would give proper light without glare.

Afternoon Attraction

By ALICE ALDEN

THE CAMISOLE or strapless bodice top with a jacket or bolero as a cover-up agent, has moved from the sunlit summer scene to the bright lights of late afternoon Fall wear. Emerald green taffeta is the fabric of this hand-some cocktail dress and jacket, a good choice for the big season right ahead. The dress has a bathing suit top nicely twisted and draped in front and back with narrow self straps. The skirt has deep inverted pleats at each side and centre back. The softly tailored jacket has a stand-out double fold collar.

Ottawa Gets Talents Of Estonian Dancer

Ottawa — (CP) — A contribution to Ottawa's growing interest in the arts is Juta Adamson, dancer.

Miss Adamson, blonde and 26 made her professional debut at a displaced persons concert in a local high school last winter. This winter she will teach character dancing at a local ballet school.

A native of Estonia, she began her dancing career after graduation from high school in her home town of Tartu. She joined the Vanemuine Theatre ballet, dancing as soloist in opera and ballet performances and teaching teenagers in the theatre's ballet school.

Her career interrupted by the war, she was able to resume her dancing one year after fleeing Estonia with her mother and other relatives in 1944. Many of the family's cast fled at the same time.

She learned from them "all the best of what I know."

Through them she became acquainted with Mme. Nichalska, and her specialization in character dances, Spanish and Oriental dances began when she joined her group in Munich.

Her fame spread as first soloist with a theatre group she joined in 1947 in the Estonian displaced persons camp. She received resounding applause and "all those nice things that a dancer can desire."

Since her arrival in Ottawa last January with her mother, Miss Adamson has been fulfilling her immigration contract by working as a domestic in a private home and at the Ottawa Civic Hospital. Her mother, who is 51, also works at the hospital and hopes to use her own training to paint illustrations for books and stories.

Speaking fluent English learned at school and with the U. S. Army entertainment services, she said:

"Canada reminds me of my own country. Everything smells as it does at home. The climate is the same with the same fresh winter. In Germany it didn't smell the same."

New Health Centres To Treat Londoners

London —(CP)— London County Council plans 180 ultra-modern health centres, or one for each 20,000 population.

Facilities will be at the disposal of all in need of treatment. In addition, there will be child welfare clinics for mothers and expectant mothers.

For children there will be remedial exercises and a guidance clinic. To take care of infants while their mothers are in consultation there will be a toddlers' playground and playroom.

First of the centres will be at Lewisham, in southeast London. Others will follow in Battersea, Hammersmith, Wandsworth and Greenwich.

"Progress will depend on the amount of steel available and on general economic conditions," said a ministry of health spokesman.

MONEY FROM THE PAST

Canterbury, England—(CP)—Nineteen Roman bronze coins of the 4th century were found in a pit here during excavations. They were in a pile, apparently having fallen from the remains of a piece of cloth in which they had been wrapped.

Stylish Sweaters Of British Women Gaily Decorated

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London—(CP)—It promises to be a sweater girl's winter in Britain this year.

The season may be late but girls already thinking of their cold weather wardrobe can find variety in sweater style and design.

At long last the dolman sweater with its hip-length, waisted bodice is on the home market in an entrancing variety of color and styles. And there are many off-the-shoulder models.

Last year these styles were expensive and difficult to find. Now they can be bought from 50s ($7.75) upwards.

One handy idea is the cuff-necked, cap-sleeved sweater in violet stocking-stitch with detachable full-length sleeves of purple fishnet weave.

Many of the dolman-sleeved sweaters are made in jersey material instead of a sweater weave to give added slimness to the contour. Sleeves are deep, mostly three-quarter length. Neckline is cowl, cuffed or plunging and waists are tight and deep, usually ribbed.

* A plain dolman-sleeved sweater with deep cuffs and waistband coming from the bust-line, has a plunging, scalloped neckline of ribbing. Another, in plain jersey, has ribbing from bust to waist and plunging, scalloped roll collar.

Double Fold Collar

A simple jersey style with double fold collar, cuffs and ribbed waist-band has high neckline draped in a double fold. This neck is a compliment to bizarre jewelry.

Decorations are the thing this year.

"Nothing is too elaborate or daring," says the buyer for a Regent Street store. "You can sew your head on your sweater in red felting with a dagger stabbed through it and jewelled with paste or sequins.

"Your cap-sleeved sweater can be "gilded" with gaudy lions or blazoned motifs. A button-through evening sweater might have gold and heart decorations of playing cards, dice or champagne bottles.

"If you're boating let it be anchors or sail-boats, if swimming divers or spring-boards, if sporting you might have boxing gloves, tennis rackets, cricket bats or stirrups.

"But," she says, "for colorful designs, the evening sweaters of wool or silk jersey. Generally black, they can be stabbed with sequin daggers or splashed with dragons breathing flames and fire. You can be wound with a swaying python or twisting crocodile or have realistic colored frogs leaping over your bosom.

"What ever your design—taken to your most inspiration—let it be bold, clear, daring and colorful."

ISLAND GAME HUNT

Hobart, Tasmania—(CP)—Residents of the Huron river districts have seen what is believed to be a Tasmanian "tiger," a kind of striped marsupial wolf. Zoos are offering $300 for anyone bringing back a live "tiger," believed to be almost extinct.

Dinner Parties of Future Queen Small and Intimate

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, (CP)—Small semi-formal dinner parties, to which guests are invited by telephone the same day, have become a speciality of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh since they moved into their home at Clarence House, St. James's Park.

Very often no more than six friends are invited at one time. First they receive a call from the footman at Clarence House. Then Elizabeth or the Duke will be pitched through.

"Would you care to dine with us tonight?"

Casual as the invitation may sound, it is rarely refused except on grounds of ill health for even in these democratic days an invitation from the King or his family is in the nature of a royal command.

Dinner is at 8 p. m., which means that guests are expected to arrive not later than 7.45. Ladies usually wear their most glamorous evening gowns, their escorts dress in white tie and tails, and breadcrumbs) and fresh fruit trifle served with ice-cream.

Red and white wines accompany the meal. Conversation is spontaneous, but politics are barred and any guest who reads on this forbidden ground is politely decoyed into safer realms.

After dinner guests are usually taken on a personally-conducted tour of the house. This, however, does not include Prince Charles' nursery. Under no circumstances will Elizabeth or Philip allow him to be disturbed during sleeping hours.

The tour over, guests return to the lounge for an hour or two, but unless a movie is shown the party breaks up before 10 p.m. Philip conducts his guests to their autos or taxis and waves a cherry farewell from the foot of the steps while Elizabeth stands at the front door, smiling graciously.

Soon afterwards the host and hostess retire for the night, but on the way up they pause and listen outside a room on the second floor where a future king of England lies sleeping.

Wait on Yourself

Both Elizabeth and the Duke are in favor of self-service, and except at large dinner parties no servants wait at table in the green dining-room.

When guests are seated at the oblong, mahogany table, a food man brings in the first course and puts it on a side buffet table. Then the Duke and the male guests serve each course as it appears.

Cornwall, Ont., Oct. 8. (CP) —A .22 calibre bullet yesterday crashed through the window of the Children's Aid Society office here but did not injure the women clerks at work at the time.

Miss Angela Larose, Mrs. Hazel MacDonald and Mrs. G. Carr said the bullet struck an office partition and dropped to the floor.

The city police said they believed the bullet was fired either from nearby Cornwall island or from a freighter passing in Cornwall canal.

Police thought the incident was "purely accidental".

Train Scots Girls For Canadian Homes

Glasgow — (CP) — Courses in domestic training for Scots girls going to Canada are to be extended to include potential emigrants to Australia and New Zealand.

More than 50 graduates of the class already have gone to Canada. A new group started training this month at the Glasgow and West of Scotland College of Domestic Science. The classes are free and are held two evenings weekly over a period of six weeks.

Radio-Tuned Stove Roasts in a Jiffy

Durham, England — (CP) — A Newcastle research engineer, C. A. Jay, claims to have developed the newest thing for the kitchen—an electronic stove.

In his Durham home Mr. Jay uses a stove he developed which literally "cooks by radio." It will cook the largest roast in three minutes and, smaller ones in as little as 40 seconds.

The electronic stove eliminates "contact heat." Food is placed between two shelves, the cooker is "tuned in" and radiation from the two plates activates the molecules inside the food. This sets up an interior friction which causes the food to cook itself.

Serve Lamb Frequently

The launch of lamb or mutton is an old favorite, dating back to the time when it was roasted in a pit and eaten with the fingers. Lamb is still among the favorite roasts but is often considered a special treat because the cheaper or crown roasts or rib chops are the only cuts used in many homes. These cuts correspond to the sirloin roast of beef and the more expensive steak cuts and are therefore in the luxury class.

A breast or shoulder cut, deboned and rosted, makes a tender flavorsome roast. Lamb is so tender that practically every cut may be roasted, broiled or panbroiled. Lamb shanks with vegetables are an inexpensive delicacy. Lamb stew is the piece de resistance in many European countries and might well be considered as by far the most family. There are so many varieties of lamb stews, each with its special appeal.

Lamb is usually preferred when well cooked and should never be served rare. As with other roasts a moderate oven, 325 to 350 degrees F., for the entire cooking period is recommended and the roast should be cooked uncovered with no water added. Searing is not necessary. For a medium-well-done roast, 25 to 30 minutes are allowed for the pound. A well-done roast requires 30 to 35 minutes per pound. If a meat thermometer is used, the reading should be 175 to 180 degrees F. Chops, 1 inch thick, cook well in 15 minutes.

From Canada's Kitchen, the home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture send us the following recipes for lamb:

Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb

3 to 4-lb. boned shoulder roast of lamb.
Salt and pepper.
2 cups bread dressing.

Have butcher remove all bones from roast and leave it flat. (Be sure to take bones home for soup.) Wipe meat with damp cloth. Season with salt and pepper. Make 3 cups bread dressing and use to fill cavity in roast. Sew or skewer up open side. Place meat on a rack in an uncovered pan and do not add water. Roast in a moderate oven, 325 to 350 degrees F., allowing 25 to 30 minutes per lb., for medium-done roast and 30 to 35 minutes per pound for well done roast. If a meat thermometer is used, it should register 175 degrees F., for medium and 180, for well-done roast.

If desired, the outside of the roast may be rubbed with a cut clove of garlic or the surface of the roast may be sprinkled with salt, pepper and a little marjoram and then dredged into the meat.

A delicious glaze to coat roast lamb is made by adding ½ teaspoon of dry mustard and two teaspoons of vinegar to ¼ cup mint jelly. If this is spread over the roast a few minutes before it is removed from the oven it gives extra crispness and flavor.

Dressing for Roast Lamb

2 cups soft, stale bread crumbs
1 medium onion, minced
¾ teaspoon of salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons chopped mint leaves
1 tablespoon chopped celery leaves
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
3 tablespoons melted fat.

Mix bread crumbs, onion and seasonings. Add melted fat and blend. Use as stuffing for roast lamb.

Lamb Broth With Leeks

Cover lamb bones with water and simmer, covered, for 2 hours. Strain and cool. Remove fat and measure broth. For every cup of broth add 1 tablespoon parsley, 3 tablespoons thinly sliced leeks and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer slowly, covered, for 1¼ to 2 hours.

Barbecued Lamb Shanks

3 lamb shanks
Salt and pepper
2 cups water
2 cups cooked wide noodles or rice

Wipe meat with damp cloth, season with salt and pepper, cover with the water and simmer until tender, about 1½ hours. Remove meat from the bones and cut into 1-inch pieces. Place the cooked noodles or rice in a casserole, place meat over top and cover with hot Barbecue Sauce. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., about 30 minutes. Yield: six servings.

Barbecue Sauce

1 small onion, chopped
2 tablespoons fat
1½ tablespoons brown sugar
1 cup water
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon dry mustard.
1½ tablespoon vinegar
Dash of cayenne pepper
¼ cup chili sauce
Salt and pepper to taste

Brown chopped onion in fat. Add remaining ingredients and combine thoroughly. Bring to boil and use as suggested above. Yield: 1¼ cups sauce.

Air-Mapping Job Keeps Hubby Busy

Edmonton (CP) — You wives who think you are hard done by if hubby steps out with the boys once a week haven't got a leg to stand on compared with Mrs. Peter Mirkovo.

During the last three years, Mrs. Mirkow hasn't seen her husband for more than a total of three months. But she isn't worried because she knows that hubby is doing a job as big as Canada.

Mr. Mirkow is a member of a seven-man crew that flies around the country mapping it for provincial governments. Right now the crew has taken aerial photographs of about 7,000 square miles of Alberta and still has 240,000 square miles to go.

The men — all members of Photographic Surveys Corporation — have to get this job for the Alberta government done in three and one-half years but think they can do it quicker.

"It's quite a job," Mr. Mirkow said. "You are sure on the world. I think I have been almost every place imaginable in the last three years. It certainly doesn't give a fellow much of a family life, but we all enjoy and enthusiastic about the work."

Girl Guide Activities

COMPANY 7 NEWS

Our theme song this season could be "We're In the Armouries Now" for the company has a new home this year and our meetings are held in the Armouries Monday at 6:30 p.m.

We have had two regular meetings this year. The first was a "get acquainted" meeting and the Guides met the recruits and our new Lieut. Doreen Wylie. On the meeting of Oct. 3, we really got down to business and started on test work. There should be a lot of second class and first class Guides this year. We should have a number of badges to present too, for a group of the girls have started on their Knitters Badge under Instructor Merle Wessman. Of course it would never do to have a meeting all work and no play, so we had a balloon game and closed with campfire. The Guides who attended camp are teaching the company the songs they learned there. There won't be a regular meeting on Thanksgiving day, so the Guides will have lots of time to review their knots, etc. and be ready for the next meeting.

There has been one hike this fall. A breakfast hike. It was planned as a company hike but it was rather early for the younger girls and only the leaders went. However, we are planning another hike to which all the Guides should be able to come. It will be on Oct. 15 and the Guides are meeting at the Armouries at two p.m. complete with supper to cook and lots of energy we hope. It is a wonderful time of year for an outdoor expedition and we should have lots of fun, if the weatherman doesn't cross us up and send rain.

SPEAKER'S SALARY

Speakers in the Canadian Senate and House of Commons receive salaries and allowances of $10,000 a year.

Busy Woman Mayor Pleased With Job

Victoria, B.C. (CP) — Mayor Nora Arnold of Prince Rupert, B.C., named Canada's Woman of the Year, for 1938, is enthusiastic about her post as head of a city of 10,000 population.

Here to attend the annual meeting of British Columbia Union of Municipalities, of which she is the only woman executive member, the tall, motherly woman said in an interview that she had never encountered any prejudice against a woman mayor.

"I have never heard any kind of objection," she said, "People come to the mayor's office with every kind of problem from domestic troubles to the state of the city."

When she took office she cut her salary from $2,000 to $1,200 a year. She has familiarized herself with every facet of municipal life and has at her fingertips the history of the financial ups and downs of Prince Rupert.

Incorporated in 1910, the city increased in population from 6,500 before the war to its present 10,000.

There was no mayor or alderman for nearly ten years after the city went bankrupt in 1933, she said. She served for four years as alderman and entered municipal life to "try to help put Prince Rupert back on its civic feet."

A teacher and then business woman after her husband died in 1935, she operated the real estate business which he established in addition to carrying on her mayoralty duties.

Getting along with an aldermanic council of eight men proved no problem to Her Worship. She points to the fact that 500 men are building a big celanese plant seven miles out of Prince Rupert which will provide the city with an all-year-round industry.

"We are happy to see it come, for the fishing industry is seasonal. Practically we've lived on fish. Mind you, none of us be-littles it. It's the biggest halibut fishing port in the world."

Tartans Attract King and Queen

During a recent tour of the $30,000,000 Scottish Industries Exhibition at Glasgow the Queen bought the book, explaining: "It is for the King."

She also bought a tartan collar and lead for one of her dogs and ordered a length of Harris tweed.

Nuns Keep in Step To Folk Dance Revel

New York (CP) — The music was a lively square dance tune, "Cowboy Loop." The caller wore the black robes of a priest. The dancers swirled around gracefully in the black, brown and white habits of nuns.

The caller was Rev. Leo F. Wohldo, recreational director for Fordham University's summer school for Catholic Action, and the dancers were teachers from parochial schools. They will teach the dances to their pupils this fall.

"There's nothing unusual about nuns doing these dances," said Father Wohldo. "We teach it to the religious primarily because they want it. Actually, I think some of them love it. I know I do myself."

Father Wohldo said there has been a revival of folk dancing in the United States, especially among teenagers. It was allowing the home to become again a centre of recreation. Some of the dances are ideal for lawns, garages and homes.

"All of this fits in with our contention, that if young people will find their recreation in the right places, where both the crowd and activities can be controlled, they are protected from the many baneful influences connected with commercial recreation."

The young priest has a collection of 90 folk-dance recordings and adds new ones by using his own recording equipment.

"The simplicity of square dancing, its frequent interchanges of partners and the fact it puts no penalty on the inexperienced dancer, are its best features. Schools and churches combating sophistication, self - consciousness and cliques among their youth have an excellent ingredient in the old fashioned dance."

Teaching folk dancing isn't much different from teaching football, Father Wohldo said. He uses a blackboard to chart the steps and then has his pupils practice them slowly on the floor. That is the way he used to instruct a football team when he was coach at St. Joseph's High School in Denver, Colo.

He said he learned the folk dances at Protestant institutions, which are "far ahead of us at this sort of thing."

Answers to Quiz Reveal Tourists' Idea of Britain

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London (CP) — Canadian tourists generally think of Britain as a nice place for a holiday—but possibly she could do with more clean table cloths and a better telephone system.

Canadian reaction to Britain as a tourist centre is now being revealed in hundreds of answers to a questionnaire reaching the British Travel Association from Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and other cities.

The questionnaire is attached to a "Welcome to Britain" card which is handed to every visitor on arrival here.

Replies suggest it is the little things that often mar a visitor's impression — things like soiled table cloths, cracked crockery, pert answers from store salesmen, "No Parcel" signs, overcrowded trains and buses, poor street lighting and wrong telephone numbers.

A Toronto man, for example, handed a black mark to the cook who made a pork pie containing a large lump of candy — though candy is strictly rationed in Britain.

"We are getting replies from all over the world," an official of the Travel Association said. "Most of the criticism is mixed with praise and Canadians, in particular, seem to make more allowance for Britain's post-war difficulties.

"Some complaints come from people who give the impression they would complain anywhere ... but we welcome constructive criticism however sharp it may be. That is the whole idea of the questionnaire."

Interesting Comments

Here are typical Canadian comments:

Ottawa — Britain should adopt the Canadian and American systems of handling baggage.

Vancouver — Leave the old country as she is, but let visitors bring in more food, cigarettes and opiens for themselves and their friends.

Victoria — You need better street lighting and more signs indicating washrooms and lavatories.

Windsor, Ont. — Give visitors a small map of the route to London showing the counties and principal towns through which they will pass.

Edmonton — Hotels are much too expensive.

Tourists from Canada, the United States, France, Holland and Denmark all urged that British stores should stay open later than 5.30 p.m., as at present.

Many praised the room service in hotels, particularly the early cup of tea in bed. Others spoke highly of Britain's long-distance trains and of the "kindly attitude" to visitors.

SOLVES LEGAL PROBLEM

Guelph, Ont. (CP) — A local woman may have started a millinery fad when she arrived at court hatless to find that attendants expected her head to be covered. The ingenious woman solved the problem by borrowing a felt hat from a male companion, and walked into the court room with the fedora perched atop her tresses.

Study Latest In Dentistry By Telephone

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

Chicago (AP) — Will the college campus of the future be a telephone booth?

This fall the University of Illinois College of Dentistry in Chicago will provide post graduate courses for some 7,000 dentists who won't be in Chicago. They will be in 135 other cities getting their instructions by telephone.

The idea started in 1947 when Dr. Saul Levy, a Scranton, Pa., dentist, called Dr. Robert G. Kesel at the university dental school here. Dr. Levy said he wanted to attend the post graduate course on control of tooth decay but couldn't spare the time to travel to Chicago.

"Why," he asked, "can't I hear the lectures by telephone?"

The result: Dr. Levy and 10 other Scranton dentists met in the chamber of commerce building on class nights, got out lantern slides and charts that had come in the mail, hooked an amplifier to the telephone, and listened. They didn't miss a word.

Word of the innovation got around in the profession. Other dentists in towns outside the big dental school centres became interested. Classes-by-wire were brought to dentists, in Scranton and New Iberia, La., in the spring of 1948. There was a six-city hookup in Illinois last fall.

But that was only a starter—and a small one, at that. The university, starting October 10, put on a post graduate educational series that will reach 135 cities in 38 states and two in Canada over telephone lines.

Six Sessions.

There will be one session a month for six months. Each will start at 8.30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time and will last two hours. They will originate at the University of Illinois Chicago campus.

There will be a different subject each month but the general theme is "current advances in dentistry." The object is to bring dentists up to date on the latest developments in their field.

Six speakers will be heard on each program. They are research men, teachers, practising dentists and specialists from a score of cities and universities. Each will speak for one or seven minutes. A round-table discussion will follow.

Dr. Isaac Schour, director of post graduate studies at the University of Illinois dental school, figures 7,000 dentists will be on the listening end. Each pays $10 for the full series. They will gather about loud speakers in dental society quarters or meeting rooms in their home towns.

"This is mass professional education by an all-star faculty," Dr. Schour said. "It will be on a national basis. If and when the mechanics are worked out, it may become international.

"Most dentists can't come to a university, so now the university comes to the dentist.

"Every profession — medicine, engineering and the others — has a similar post graduate problem. This may be the answer."

ALBERTA SPUDS

More than 8,000 acres of potatoes were grown in the Bow River and Lethbridge areas of Alberta in 1949.

TWEED

Caramel Popcorn Factory Nearly Ready to Operate

Tweed — Building operations at the new addition to the W. T. Hawkins plant are practically completed and equipment is being installed in preparation for the manufacture of caramel popcorn, which will be introduced into Canada for the first time by the firm.

Ray Schoen, Chicago plant production chief, has been in Tweed for the past week, supervising the installation of the new machinery. Wesley Hawkins, vice-president of the firm, was also in town, and he said that everything would be ready to commence production by the end of next week.

Mr. Hawkins was accompanied by Don Guthrie, who has been appointed W. T. Hawkins Ltd. sales manager for Canada. Mr. Guthrie has been in charge of sales for the W. J. Bell Paper Company for some time and is familiar with all aspects of the Canadian market. His plan is to get Cheerios and Caramel Popcorn into the hands of most of the larger "jobbers" across Canada; it will be distributed as well by Kraft Foods Ltd., which firm has been developing sales since the plant opened in Tweed last June.

Mr. Hawkins is most enthusiastic regarding the Canadian expansion program and he predicts that sales are likely to increase under the new system of distribution. Waterworks extensions are being laid to the Hawkins plant from the municipal system while Trudeau Hardware is completing the plumbing and heating contract for the new building.

The new branch of the firm will be known as Dearing Products Ltd. Although all operations will be under the direct supervision of Armand Turpin, general manager and Jim Marker, production superintendent of the W. T. Hawkins Ltd.

The services of additional girls and possibly some male help will be needed.

Committees Named

They are as follows: Sergeant-at-Arms, Guy Hughes; Sunshine Committee, Mrs. Bush; Property Committee, Cliff Cotton; Membership Committee, Dr. F. J. McCue; Ways and Means Committee, Frank Foster, "Kelly" Rupert and William (Bill) McCrea. The members of the club's executive, in addition to the president, are Staff Meraw, vice-president; Raymond Cotton, registrar; Percy Jordan, secretary; Bob Trout, treasurer, and Arthur Coyle, bulletin editor.

Appointed Manager

Arthur Hodgins, who has been in charge of sales in the North Bay district for the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company for the past year, has been appointed manager of Bill Deline's store in Tweed.

"Bud" Deline, who has been manager of the store in Tweed for some time has been transferred to Belleville and he will be in charge of display and decorations in both the Belleville and Trenton stores.

With Mrs. Deline he will move to Belleville toward the latter part of this month and Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins will occupy the apartment in Tweed.

OPPORTUNITY AHEAD

Ernest Bevin, United Kingdom foreign secretary, received a rousing ovation when he appeared before the delegates to the annual Canadian Congress of Labor convention in Ottawa. Mr. Bevin, a veteran trade unionist, is shown as he told delegates that organized labor is just now emerging into its greatest period of opportunity.—(CP Photo.)

Beaverbrook's 'Imperialist' Policy Coldly Received

Guardian Says He Has Made Little Progress in Generation

London, Oct. 11 — (Reuters)— British morning papers today generally give a hostile reception to the 10-point "imperialist" policy for Britain which Lord Beaverbrook outlines Monday in his Daily Express.

Lord Beaverbrook said British foreign policy "should be conducted on the basis of Great Britain and her Empire occupying a leading place among the powers of the world, giving our assistance to those countries that come under our protection but refusing absolutely to become involved in quarrels and disputes distressing the world elsewhere."

The Canadian - born publisher added, however, that joint action with the United States "must be the cornerstone of our defence."

The pro - labor Daily Herald says "Lord Beaverbrook's proposition is that an isolationist Britain could still command the support of an American which is isolationist no longer — it is an absurd proposition."

The Herald adds:

"The Tory party will take elaborate care not to be the next election sunk throughout the last five years, to be as negative as possible in its appeal to the electorate. All it seeks is power to turn the clock back.

"Lord Beaverbrook's policy amounts to the same thing. The only difference between him and Tory party is that he cannot keep his mouth shut."

Herald's View

"Let us hope, in the interests of general liveliness, that he will open it wide and often in the coming election. If so, this jet-propelled puck of politics will once again prove to be Mr. Churchill's most perilous ally."

The Conservative Daily Mail says: "Much of what he (Lord Beaverbrook) proposes is familiar. Empire free trade and all that.

"The startling item is the statement that 'every workman is entitled to get a minimum weekly of six sterling.'"

"In our view this is false doctrine. It swallows whole the idea that a wage is a sort of welfare payment which is due from the state to every individual."

The Liberal Manchester Guardian declares that Lord Beaverbrook's program of today was much the same as the program he has put forward at any time in the last generation. It adds:

"Yet for all his experience it (the program) has made extremely little headway and the Conservative party is as cool towards it as it has been at any time.

"But Lord Beaverbrook is not daunted. He chooses the eve of the Conservative conference at the moment to throw out his challenge anew. The Conservative leaders will hardly be grateful."

Another Liberal paper, the News Chronicle says: "We cannot help feeling that this remarkable figure, who still exerts a very considerable personal influence on sections of the Conservative party, is living in the past."

Not Representative Says Churchill

London, Oct. 11—(CP)—Winston Churchill said today that Lord Beaverbrook's opinions do not represent the considered policy of the Conservative party.

Referring specifically to the Canadian-born Peer's proposal of £6 ($18.60) weekly minimum wage, contained in a 10-point policy for British which he published Monday in his Daily Express, Churchill told a Conservative conference on local government:

"It is certainly not our intention to try to win votes by wholesale promises of higher wages at the present grave time."

Churchill spoke in a flag-draped balconied hall on the eve of today's opening of the three-day Conservative party conference. A crowd of about 800 cheered as the Conservative leader stepped to the microphone.

"Lord Beaverbrook is a friend of mine," he said. "But his opinions are his own.

Lord Beaverbrook sits as a Conservative in the House of Lords but his vigorously independent line, particularly on empire subjects, has sometimes proved embarassing to Tory leaders.

Britain at the present time has no minimum wage scale, although railwaymen are trying to get £3 minimum. The Labor government has maintained a wage freeze policy since early 1947.

Thanksgiving temperatures continued summer-like yesterday, too cool at Sunnyside for one enthusiastic group from High Park Mrs. C. Nelson Publisher Dies Suddenly In Halifax

Halifax, Oct. 11—(CP)—Francis Freeman Payne, 60, publisher of the Nelson, B.C., Daily News, attending meetings of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association here, died suddenly in hospital Sunday night.

Earlier in the day he had complained of a cold and on the advice of a physician had entered the Halifax infirmary where he died at 5 p.m. ADT.

Mr. Payne was a well-known veteran newspaper man. He was a director of the Canadian Press and a member of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association.

His developing the Nelson News into one of the finest community papers in Canada.

Mr. Payne's health, never robust in his later years, failed noticeably during the last several years.

His deep interest in newspaper work concerning his own publication and the work carried on by other newspapers was reflected in his long standing in the membership of the Canadian Press.

He was elected to the membership at the first annual meeting of CP in 1917 and was a charter member of the Co-operative News Assoc. He served as B.C. director in 1946-47.

He always was keenly interested in the progress of the district where he lived so long.

Twice married, Mr. Payne is survived by his widow in Vancouver. His first wife died some time ago.

Mr. Payne also was owner of radio station CKLN at Nelson.

The body will be returned to Nelson for burial there. Mrs. Payne said in Vancouver Sunday night.

Good Weather, Heavy Travel On Thanksgiving

(By The Canadian Press)

It was a big day for turkey-eating, for travelling and for sport. Most Canadians did up their 1949 Thanksgiving holiday weekend a "golden brown."

And in churches Sunday and homes Monday Canadians gave thanks for a bountiful supply of food and good harvests.

The weather favored holiday-making in most sections of Canada, but in Regina and Winnipeg cold winds and driving rains thoroughly chilled football fans and prompted others to stick close to fireplaces.

Eastern Canada fared better, with bright, warm weather for sports events. In Toronto, the temperature climbed to 78 degrees, and a few hardy persons waded in Lake Ontario.

In Montreal the weather was dull early Monday but cleared about noon. Maritimers enjoyed clear, warm weather.

Brisk highway traffic was also in order throughout Canada but the accident toll was comparatively light. Highways were packed with automobiles, while extra flights were booked by Trans-Canada Air Lines between Toronto and Montreal.

Football took first place as a sports crowd - attraction. Practically all municipalities, however, used the holiday — the last until Christmas — for extra sports events.

For most Canadians it was a day of rest; for others a day of "work" — raking leaves and doing chores around the home.

Rubberized Asphalt Highways Likely First in Quebec

Montreal, Oct. 11—(CP)—Quebec may be the first province in Canada to have rubberized asphalt highways. The new asphalt, obtained by adding powderized rubber to the usual asphalt mixture, is claimed to be entirely waterproof and frost resistant. It is scheduled to be given its first practical test today over a one-mile stretch of highway near the outskirts of Montreal.

INDIFFERENCE CALLED ENEMY OF NATION

Toronto, Oct. 11 — (CP)—Anthony Hlynka of Edmonton, former Social Credit Member of Parliament for Vegreville, Alta., said Monday night that indifference in any phase of national life is one of the "greatest enemies" of a nation. Addressing a dinner rally of Ukrainian Canadian Catholics, here for their first Congress for Central and Eastern Canada, he said that almost as bad as indifference are confusion, intellectual and physical laziness and a national inferiority

Youth Disposes Of Bruin but Not Before Scare

Ronnie Cronkright, 17-year-old youth of Plainfield, received a bit of a scare while enjoying a Thanksgiving Day partridge hunt in the Long Lake district just east of Gilmour yesterday. The bushes parted and out stepped a young bear. Before considering the consequences Ronnie fired his load of number five shot, that's what the man said, number five shot. Realizing what he had done, Ronnie turned on his heel and, rather hurriedly, left the scene for places far away. Four miles later he met his cousin and the two of them returned to find the bear dead but more than 50 yards from where he ran into the leaden pellets.

SLAUGHTER FOR IVORY

During the 19th century more than 50,000 African elephants were massacred annually for their ivory.

Partridge Scarce According to Nimrods' Reports

Page that fellow who reported that the partridge were so thick in the northern woods that it would take at least a month to reduce that feathered population to normalcy.

Guns rumbled and thundered through the gloriously colored wooded cathedrals of the north over the weekend, as hunters of all descriptions ushered in the lengthy partridge-hunting season.

They might have ushered in the season, but from the personal observations of this reporter and reports of hunters there were very few partridge ushered out of the woods.

The birds were definitely scarce, according to reports of bags there. A few hunters came home with one bird, and stories that the quarry was scarcer than its traditional teeth.

The weather was ideally perfect and the woods a riot of color. Near-summer temperatures were apparent, and the majority of hunters were shirt-sleeved.

They came in all varieties of transportation. On the Bancroft-Maynooth highway were seen ancient jalopies laden with local hunters, which were loaded in the wake of 1949 super-deluxe models. Cars of all description were parked on and near the highway with the occasional roar of a gun denoting the passing of the partridge-seekers.

It may be the year for the top edge of the partridge population cycle but weekend hunting did nothing to prove this is the case.

GRANDPARENTS TO WED

Boreham Wood, Hertfordshire, England, Oct. 11—(CP)—A 78-year-old grandfather and a 77-year-old grandmother are to be married here this month. They are William Frederick Feldmore, whose eldest son is 43, and Mrs. Emily Cary, who first married when she was 18. The couple met at an Old People's Club.

U.S. CONCILIATION SERVICE TRYING TO SETTLE STRIKES

Director Will Meet Striking Leaders

Pittsburgh, Oct. 11. (AP)—The United States government's conciliation service has taken on the biggest job in its history—trying to settle the twin steel and coal strikes.

Before the week is out U.S. Conciliation Director Cyrus Ching will meet separately with leaders of the striking C.I.O. United Steelworkers and industry leaders. The number of idle steelworkers is 454,000.

At the same time, Ching, a native of Prince Edward Island, will watch developments in the coal strike. It was Ching who got John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers President, and coal industry operators to agree to go back to the bargaining table tomorrow.

Ching announced Monday the government was stepping into the steel walkout for the fourth time, before the strike started 11 days ago for free pensions and insurance the government made three futile peace efforts.

The government will be working hard this time in its effort to get the steel strike settled. Contracts of 500,000 steelworkers in fabricating plants—where steel is the basic product for hundreds of articles—began expiring Saturday. They'll continue to run out through mid-December.

And Philip Murray, president of the Steelworkers Union, says the Union will call a strike in each case where the fabricators won't provide free pensions and insurance.

A total of ten small firms has agree to pay workers a 10-cent pension and insurance "package" without employee contributions.

Black Boom

By Paul David Preston

Jason tapped on the door. "Breakfast serve, ma'am," said he through the high transom again. "and Mistuh Dallas Tower, he telephone."

"Oh he did, heh"

"Yessum. I tol' him you still asleep."

Millicent had heard them talking and she came down the second floor hall now to Lillian's room.

"Awake dear?" she greeted, smiling. "I was anxious to—why darling, what roses!"

"What roses indeed. To dim even their glory, however, Lillian calmly held out the gorgeous ring.

"I might as well tell you, mother. Thad asked me to marry him. He said you had talked."

Mrs. Mayfield was as excited as a potential bride herself. Excited and disturbed and even a little tearful, far more demonstrative here in private than Mayfield would have ever allowed in public. Yes, she knew. Thad had spoken. Jason was why she came to Lillian's room so early; to talk. No less confused by it all was Lillian herself, her should - have - been enthusiasm strangely missing.

Jason interrupted once more with a telephone call. "Mr. Dallas he say it's powerful important, Miss Lillian."

"Tell him to—to go thig a thode!"

"Ma'am? What you all say?"

"Just hang up the receiver, Jason."

"Ma'am? Is you right well, Miss Lillian?" Old Jason wasn't joking and Lillian knew it. Moreover, her mother looked surprised too. Lillian sighed and went to the telephone.

"Yes thank you Dr. Tower, I feel much better this morning," she said too formally when he had greeted her. She interrupted what would have been his apologetic pleading again. "It was kind of you to inquire about my health. No doubt you are interested in all your—your girl friends' health, goodbye."

That sounded flat, inadequate, she realized; maddening how she couldn't think of anything clever or sufficiently squelching when she needed to! Darn it.

"Don't worry, mother, I—Thad and I—well, we intend to keep our engagement secret. For a long time."

"A—long time dear?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"Lillian turned to her, and swallowed. Why indeed?

"Aren't you happy about it, dear? the mother asked gently. "Frankly, I am glad you plan not to rush in. I just don't know however we can manage it. A wedding is very expensive, honey. You know that I must—make some arrangements."

"Don't worry, mother."

"But some one has to! Lillian you are now old enough to realize that our financial—old enough to be told your father's estate wasn't exactly—"

Millicent Mayfield awkwardly tried to get out the information that she was too poor to stage a "respectable wedding"; that she was in truth almost penniless and had been for several months, being tided over only by some unexpected little income from oil boom renters. She suffered acute embarrassment in all this. And her daughter didn't hear it at all!

Lillian was as detached from her mother's talk as she had been from Dal Tower's explanation's last evening. She concerned herself with the roses. Mother frequently talked "business" but mother herself had always forestalled Lillian from having any actual part in the family's financial affairs. Vaguely, there had always seemed enough even for a rather luxurious scale of living. Lillian had been given the feeling that it was discourteous or even unladylike to ask certain questions of her widowed mother.

Mrs. Mayfield left the room hesitantly, dressed for the street and went out in their family car. Old Jason, anticipating her by watching her movements, had it backed out, dusted and ready.

"You wants me to go and tote any packages fo' you, ma'am?"

"Thank you, no, Jason. Not this time."

His abject loyalty always touched her. Jason Weems was priceless as many another negro man or woman has been "down South." Mrs. Mayfield thought of that while driving to town. She had much to be thankful for. Much of heart value. Much of loyalty and love and tradition and beauty. But these things of late had come to be discounted in the mad rush for oil riches around this community the unprecedented black boom.

She went directly to old Judge Brookfield, portly, gentlemanly friend of her late husband, whose roots were as deep in Rangeville as her own. To him she presented her personal problem. She had a daughter engaged. The daughter had to be married with Mayfield eclat. But the Mayfield assets totaled, alarmingly, less than $1,000.

"In cash, Judge Brookfield. I have only the $1,000 made in the emergency room renting. Every one took part, you know." She added that last by way of apology as if it had been a mere Christian duty. She wanted him to see her state of near desperation, though. The cash on hand wouldn't keep her household more than two months at best and there was little promise of more until that when there might be some income from her husband's meagre investments—might be.

The utter revulsion one feels against outside capital is more and more manifest among Rangeville's body politic," said he. "Petroleum is a nefarious gamble. Mr. Mayfield would have been disdainful to this scrambling around for the bones as unbecoming to gents to keep aloof from it all. My advice to you is to maintain the charming dignity you have been accustomed to. Live quietly frugally, and in peace."

He had a great deal more of it. It impressed Millicent Mayfield, but it left her problem unsolved. He was like a father confessor her to wash her department and not concern herself with sullied money affairs.

Still confused when she left his office and still worried she was actually frowning when young and energetic Elwyn Buford met her, Elwyn wasn't long out of Ohio Wesleyan University law school himself and this oil boom by his home had been a godsend to him. Rather shrewdly he probed Mrs. Mayfield, and in sudden emotional release she confided in him. He was neither shocked nor evasive.

"Shuh!" No need for you to do any worrying, Miss Millie," he counseled. "If it's just money you need. Now I represent two companies and you own a lot there on North Marshall Street. Come in in my office and let me show you something easy."

"Hi, Dickie," she greeted a drugstore youth. "Mother order something sent out?"

"Not her. It's for you. Personal And I've already been tipped."

"Wait a minute, Dickie!"

Lillian was suspicious. She felt of the package, appraising its weight. Then she nodded knowingly.

"Take it back, Dickie, It's from Dallas Tower, isn't it?"

Dickie grinned.

"Take it back and tell him the lady refused it. If he won't take it, eat it yourself. It's chocolate candy, I know."

On that possibility Dickie departed, again watching his bicycle going and oddly she felt a little forlorn. Then she lifted her head proudly and began singing presently, dressed for the street and humming with exaggerated casualness even though there was no one to hear. Mother and Baby Doll were both off somewhere, and old black Nora, the Mayfield cook, was back in the kitchen.

Mother and Baby Doll came in together while Lillian was talking to Dal Tower on the phone, half an hour later.

"I told you this morning I felt well, thank you," Lillian was still aloof and formal. "If I should need— . . . Oh no, Dr. Tower, I am not angry in the least. . . No . . . No indeed . . . Oh I'm sure you did . . Hardly necessary to discuss it, I feel . . . Oh no indeed. . . . Met her when you were an iterne in Cleveland. I understand, but I am not int— . . . I say I am sure you must have many patients who become your intimate friends, Dr. Tower. It isn't necessary to explain it all."

Baby Doll Mayfield looked quickly at her mother, started to giggle but squelched the urge when the set mother's expression. Lillian hung up and turned to them her head erect.

"I wonder if you were ever coming to lunch," she greeted with elaborate casualness again. "Nora surely has it ready."

They ate together as usual but the conversation was stilted. Baby Doll sensed something probed delicately learned nothing Even old Jason white coated and formal now but still acutely sensitive to his family's emotions frowned in worry at the uneven atmosphere here. "Eat yo'self some mo' of that food rose' pork Miss Lillian ma'am else you'll be lookin' peaked," he ordered. "You ain't doin' yo'self proud with this meal."

At 3.30 Thad Monroe came out Lillian assured him. "Good to see you." She smiled courteously, and it was spiritual manna for him.

"Thought you might like to go flying," said he eagerly.

"Flying?"

"Sure. Airplane. Regular port here now, and four or five rent ships. May buy one myself some day. Come on, hunh?"

First, however was the thrill of the new car. He made it clear that it was to be Lillian's own. She was touched but puzzled about it.

Thad looked at her hand again and again. He disliked saying so but in truth he was full of interest and finally he did inquire.

YES, YOU'RE LUCKY

If you've never had an accident

The conviction that a motorist is a good driver because he or she has "never had an accident" is usually wrong : : :

The motorist may have been just plain "lucky," or have been saved by the alertness of other drivers who made allowances for his or her bad driving.

Of the drivers involved in the 14,300 Ontario traffic accidents during the first six months of this year, 75% had never had a previous accident or had only been involved in accidents resulting in less than $50/property damage, and 80% had more than 5 years driving experience:

Accidents do not happen . . . they are caused . . . and human failures are the biggest cause

Failure to always signal clearly your intentions; driving too fast over intersections, and for road, weather and traffic conditions; failure to regularly check your brakes and lights; lack of care and lack of courtesy to other road and highway users at all times—these are bad driving habits that will eventually involve you in an accident—may cause your death.

THE KIWANIS SAFETY CAMPAIGN is a citizens' crusade by citizens to make everybody realize the urgent necessity of curing out all bad driving and walking habits—of making everybody more safety conscious.

Stampeders Only Unbeaten Team in Grey Cup Football After Big Holiday Weekend

By JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The Dominion champion Calgary Stampeders emerged today from a jumbled weekend as the only unbeaten team in Grey Cup football after a crowded holiday face of 14 games.

Coach Lew Lear's Stamps won both their weekend starts to stretch their western Canada League victory string to nine. They're already a cinch for one of the league's two playoff spots, leading Regina's runnerup Saskatchewan Roughriders by eight points.

Ottawa Rough Riders, the only other Grey Cup contender boasting an unsullied record before this weekend, were knocked off the victory path. Montreal Alouettes, the team that Ottawa twice beat by single points to turn the tables with a single-point victory Saturday, although Riders recovered to wallop the Als in a return engagement.

The weekend produced its upsets, notably the victory of Toronto Balmy Beach over Windsor Rockets after six starts without seven consecutive victories and unsettling was the weather, which ranged Monday from sunny shirt-sleeve temperature in the east to winds and rain and mud in the west.

Argos Tighten Grip

In the east's Big Four League, Ottawa virtually clinched a playoff berth by defeating Montreal 43-32 in a wide-open Sunday game in Montreal after the Als edged them 20-19 in Ottawa Saturday. Toronto Argos twice beat Hamilton Tigers, once 31-0 and 29-8 — to tighten their grasp on the second playoff position.

Argos, four points behind the Riders, are four points ahead of Alouettes. But besides holding a game in hand, the Als have 3 games remaining with Coach Ginty's winless Wildcats. Argos have finished with only two more victories in four starts. Their remaining four games are two against Ottawa and two against Montreal.

In the Ontario Union, playing-coach Merle Hapes' Hamilton Tigers moved into a first place tie with Garnia Imperials by defeating the Imps 10-3 after beating Windsor Rockets 12-8 Saturday. Garnia kept their share of the lead by swamping Balmy Beach 19-1 Saturday.

The Rockets capped a bad weekend by losing 11-7 to the Beaches. That just about settled their playoff hash, leaving them four points behind the two league-leaders.

Calgary extended its western victory string with a 16-5 win over Saskatchewan followed by a 3-0 victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The last - place Bombers had pulled an upset Saturday by defeating the third - place Edmonton Eskimos 8-6.

Bats Turn In Upset

Coach Anis Stukus' Bats turned in an upset of their own Monday, tumbling Saskatchewan 12-11. Despite their two losses, Roughriders seem firmly entrenched in the second playoff spot behind Calgary as they have a four-point margin on Edmonton.

The East's Intercollegiate circuit, which doesn't challenge for the Grey Cup, got off to a late but rousing start Saturday. Tuesday's Varsity Blues turned in a thrilling 22-21 opening victory over Queen's and Western Mustangs spoiled McGill 13 points, then beat them 14-12.

At Toronto, a Thanksgiving Day crowd of 14,000 at Varsity Stadium watched Royal Canadian Navy Argos to their 29-6 win over Hamilton. The husky blind, filling in at fullback for the injured Joe Krol, leaped the line for one touchdown and pitched a payoff pass to quarterback Nick Volpe for another. He also lent a helping hand in setting up the other three—two scored by Doug Pow and one by Doug Smylie.

Wildcats looked nice a Thrust only in the second quarter, when they put together all their eight points on Robin Hood's major after Al Dekdebrun's forward pass Bill Murrayik's convert and Tom Casey's two rouges.

It was closer in Hamilton Saturday, when Argos won only on Don Crowe's late single. Until then they were tied 10-10. Argos built their points on Arnis Slocks touchdown Volpe's placement and two earlier singles by Crowe. Wildcats scored two unconverted touches—by Casey and Elmo Hemingway.

A Scoring Spree

It was a scoring spree Sunday between Ottawa and Alouettes before a Montreal crowd of 30, 000. Import quarterback Andy Gordon was the main contributor to Riders 43 points, scoring two touches and pitching payoff forwards to Howie Turner for two more. Ray Skarrett, Johnny Dugal and Bill Lancbelle each bagged a touchdown. The veteran Eric Chipper converted all seven. Montreal majors were scored by Glen Douglas, Bob Cunningham, Kenny Reese, Ralph Tooby and Chas McCance, with the veteran McCance converting all of them and kicking a field goal.

Ted Biden must have been stung by Montreal's single-point victory the previous day before an Ottawa crowd of 14,000. The Als winning margin was a fourth-quarter single punted by Fred Klick.

Virgil Wagner scored two of Montreal's majors and Ken Charlebois the other. Tony Golab scored two for Ottawa and Flip McDonald one.

Mustangs Surprised

McGill led Mustangs 12-0 in the third quarter at London, Ont., after touchdowns by Terry Rogers and Jim Kenney, and a 35-yard forward from his former Calgary mate, Harry Irving. Then half Jack Parry got hot. He pitched touchdown passes to George Arnott and Bob McFarlane, converted both majors and punted two singles that provided the winning margin. In off-gridiron developments, Argonauts announced the signing of fast Freddie Thomas, the all-round flash from Windsor, Ont., who starred at Assumption College in exhibition games against United States teams.

Art Chisholm, Western Canada League President, announced the league's playoffs will remain a two-team affair despite pleas from Winnipeg and Edmonton to widen it to three.

Napanee Wins District Baseball League Title

Napanee, Oct. 11. — Napanee Athletics captured the Belleville and District Baseball League championship Monday afternoon defeating Northern Electric 4-1 in the final game. The winners will meet the surviving Western Ontario team for the OBA Intermediate "B" championship.

Three double plays by the Napanee infield knifed Belleville scoring chances. A squeeze bunt opened the Napanee scoring in the sixth and Ken Murphy's long double in the seven the was good for two more. The pitching was so airtight that only one scratch hit was made in the first five innings. This is the second straight year that Napanee have taken the district honors.

Stengel's 'Invalids of Destiny' Had Right Relief When Needed Most and Won World Series

By JACK HAND

Brooklyn, Oct. 11 — (AP) — The Reynolds - Page bullpen corporation has declared a $3,884 World Series dividend for each New York Yankee.

Casey Stengel's "invalids of destiny" rode over the startled Brooklyn Dodgers in five games largely because old Casey had the right relief men when he needed them most. Because of that, the Bombers take home the big share of the winning pool.

Pitching usually tells the story of a short series. It was no different in 1949. Only this time it was the relief work of Allie Reynolds and foreman Joe Page that stood out after the Yanks and Dodgers swapped 1-0 shutouts in the first two games.

Certainly there were other stars. Bobby Brown for his .500 batting average, Johnny Mize for his 1.000 pinch hitting, Tommy Henrich for the homer that won the opener and little Phil Rizzuto for his superlative shortstop play.

But way out front there were the two "big" men of the Yanks' 13th Series triumph in the wins— Allie Reynolds and Smoky Joe Page.

Page, of course, ran true to form. Hadn't he marched from the bullpen 60 times during the regular season, 30 of them to save Reynolds?

Reynolds' brilliant performance of no runs and only two hits in 13 1/3 innings in the world series was a direct right-about-face. "Old Wahoo" completed but four games in 21 starts.

Streak Cut Side

Allie threw his 1-0 two-hitter in mulligan Don Newcombe's 11 strikeouts during the day was. Preacher Roe blanked the Yanks' Vic Raschi the next afternoon. Then the bullpen corporation took over.

It was Page with a 6 2/3 - inning "stopper" after Tommy Byrne went wild in the third game, Reynolds balled out Lopat by retiring the last 10 men in succession in the fourth.

Manager Burt Shotton of the Dodgers gambled and lost with his choice of Newcombe, the jumping Negro rookie, to work the fourth game with only two days' rest. A big strong boy who has pitched and won under similar circumstances, he just hadn't the same sizzling fast stuff. He couldn't last through the fourth. The Yankees started his dreary relief parade.

Campanella a Standout

Brooklyn had cheers for the Dodgers' gallant little captain, Pee Wee Reese, who played a fine shortstop and hit .316. Their catcher, Ben Campanella, was a standout.

One of the big disappointments was Duke Snider, the Brooks' centerfielder, who tied a record for a five-game series by striking out eight times. The Duke made several brilliant catches, particularly a backhander on Gene DiMaggio and a tumbling ban on Henrich in the finale.

DiMaggio, pale and weak from the after effects of a virus infection that sidelined him for two weeks in late season, probably shouldn't have played. He was not the usual DiMaggio in the field nor at bat with his .111 series average. Yet he cracked a 360-foot homer off relief Jack Banta in the fourth inning of Sunday's game. It was his sixth Series home run.

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—Ken McKenzie predicts Chicago Blackhawks... will trade Sugar Jim Henry to Toronto Maple Leafs shortly.

Wasn't it a good thing the world series ended before the hockey season started?

Crimson in Triumph

Earl Blaik says he and his aides put nine months work into army's victory over Michigan last Saturday... but you wouldn't be far wrong in saying that game was won when Army beat Harvard a year ago... this writer had the privilege last winter of looking at the Harvard game pictures with Blaik and got a faint idea of what must have happened... seems that Fritz Crisler developed the sturdy Michigan 4-4 defence, based on a four-man line and four backers. Art Valpey took it along to Harvard... last fall Harvard gave the Cadets all kinds of trouble in the first half with the set-up... but during the intermission, Blaik worked out some of the answers and Army moved on to a 20-7 victory over Harvard.

Flaring the Percentages

Ed Hicks of Alderson-Broaddus College in West Virginia reports an odd situation created by the late world series:...seems a math teacher, also a rabid baseball fan, solved his how-to-listen problem by taking a portable radio to class and sending the students to the blackboard to work out problems while he tuned in the game... since the kids also were listening with one ear, they made more errors than both ball clubs...so the prof compensated for that divided attention by adding 15 per cent to all their grades.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Yankee artillery, thundering behind the pitching shock troops sent down the courageous Brooklyn Dodgers on Saturday and Sunday to win the world series, four games to one, the 1949 edition of the famous "Murderers' Row" of previous eleven successful series taks their place with the immortals of baseball, though perhaps not from a comparable point of strength.

* * *

Not distracting from this gallant Dodger team one iota, (we recall having said our heart was with the Dodgers and our "mouth" with the Yanks) (the latter was purely figurative) we are of the opinion, gained from our radio broadcast, that despite the outstanding efforts of the Flatbush pitching corps, the vaunted bludgeons which pounded out victory after victory for the Sheiktes tribe failed in the supreme moments. The Dodgers were definitely not clutch hitters, in the world series at least, and in this corners' opinion, therein lay their downfall.

* * *

The series definitely broke out with what appeared to be a pitcher's feud. Don Newcombe, colored Dodger star lost a heartbreaker in the first game and Preacher Roe came through with a reverse in the second joust. The traditional Yankee artillery had its guns spiked but definitely (and Yankee fans may "Ye Gads" all they want—as far as that we concerned) but we did feel that the Dodger bunting stuff would be the deciding factor.

* * *

However, the ailing Joe DiMaggio, a here sans halo because of his inability to clout the ball in the clutches, was a washout, until the last and deciding game. It was DiMaggio for the Yankee Clipper who broke up the game in front and saved at least some "face". On the other hand the Dodgers power, as usual, showed up, although they were of the opinion that the 1949 Yankees could not hold decence with some of their illustrious powerhouse performers of the past vintage, and we mean to come back the Dodger threat—and that is for another year.

The fans of the Cobourg scribe would be, if it isn't it should be, plenty scarlet-hued after he scrolled for blast of one Thomas of the lofty village who officiated with a pair of Cobourg pad and mankers at the protested game between the lakeside town and Napanee last Sunday. . . It seems the Ontario Baseball Association threw out the Cobourg protest as if the Cobourg writer didn't know, well, somehow he didn't, but the ORA always backs up its officials, especially in a protest that bordered on the ridiculous.

Napanee Legion Intermediate "A" baseball squad won the Belleville District Baseball League championship for the second consecutive year on Thanksgiving Day when they defeated the Northern Electric team 6-1 in the second game of their two-of-three series. The Gibbardville crew are worthy winners of the title and played consistent baseball all season with the exception of a slight slump that cost them five games and the league leadership. But they reared back this form and astounded eastern baseball experts with their clean-sweep of the Kingston baseball tournament. From that point on they never had championship form and were on to grab the local title. Now they meet the Western Ontario winners for the Intermediate "A" title and all fandom in this neck of the woods will be pulling for Walt. Gerow's gang to win provincial honors.

The Belleville District Hockey League executive holds its second meeting tonight in Memorial Arena getting underway at 7.30. No further entries have been received although invitations were forwarded to Picton and Marmora. So it looks like the loop will operate with a six-team field this season. Which will make for better hockey, more hockey for the players, and what should be a well-balanced loop.

Toronto, Oct. 11 — (CP)—Bob Goldham, who got into the game as an added starter, out-starred the National Hockey League's 1948-49 All-Stars with the Stanley Cup champions Monday night as he led the dream team to a 3-1 conquest of Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Chicago Black Hawks defenceman tallied a goal while his team was short-handed and then set up the winning counter for young Paul Ronty of Boston Bruins, another of the extra players added by All-Star coach Sammy Ivan to bolster the 12-man squad picked last year by league coaches as the best in the game. The achievement was all the sweeter to Goldham because the Leafs traded him to Chicago two years ago.

It was the third straight victory for the All-Stars in their annual games against the Stanley Cup champions for the benefit of the N. H. L. players' pension fund. They scored more offensive goals in Toronto two years ago, 4-3. They came up with a 2-1 triumph last year at Chicago. The Leafs, three times Stanley Cup winners, were the victims Monday time.

The game, played at a dismal pace in the second and third periods because of the heat, drew 13,213 paid admissions. Many of the fans doffed their coats and sat in their shirt-sleeves. The gate and fund will get $17,281.50, two-thirds of the gross gate of $25,922.26. The remaining $8,640.75 goes to six Toronto charities.

Shut Out by Rayner

Not only did two of the extras selected by Ivan, coach of Detroit Red Wings, stand out over the All-stars. But the second All-star team proved more effective than the first. The Leafs got their goal — on a blazing 30-foot rising shot by defenceman Bill Barilko — against Bill Durnan of Montreal Canadians, goalie on the first All-star team. Claude (Chuck) Rayner of New York Rangers, second All-star goalie, shut out the Leafs in his 30 minutes in the nets.

It was the centre on the second All-star team, Doug Bentley of Chicago Black Hawks, who got the clinching goal for the winners. He had help from defenceman Bill Quackenbush.

President Clarence Campbell of the N. H. L. made the pre-game presentation of the miniature gold pucks. He gave out eight — to the six No. 1 All-stars and to the two coaches, Ivan and Hap Day of the Leafs.

Lineups

All Stars— goal, Durnan (Montreal); defence, Stewart (Detroit), Quackenbush (Boston); centre, Abel (Detroit); wings, Richard (Montreal), Comacher (Chicago). Subs: Reardon (Montreal), Harmon (Montreal), Goldham (Chicago), Egan (New York)

Indianapolis Wins From Montreal 4 Games to Two

Indianapolis, Oct. 11 (AP) — Indianapolis Indians seldom play in the little world series, but they nave lose.

The American Association playoff champions won their third little world series by beating Montreal Royals Saturday night, 13-3.

The victory gave them the best-of-seven series, four games to two. It was their first appearance in the series since 1932.

The Indian, lost the association pennant to St. Paul by a half game, finishing the season with a seven-game winning streak. They cropped three straight games to fourth-place Minneapolis here, then went to Minneapolis and won four straight.

They came home to win three straight from Milwaukee for another seven-day streak, but had to go three games at Milwaukee before getting the clincher for the playoff title.

They won the first two games of the little world series at Montreal. The Royals won the third and, the Indianapolis opener to square the series, but the Indians took the next two.

The final game was anticlimatic. Indianapolis got a gift run in the first inning and then pounded Clarence Podbielan and Clyde King for four in the third, two of them on Earl Turner's home run. With southpaw Royce Lint pitching steady eight-hit ball, it was just a matter of playing out nine innings after that.

Guelph Leaflets Junior A Champs In Baseball

Guelph, Oct. 11 (CP)— Guelph Leaflets won the Ontario Baseball Association Junior championship Monday, defeating Oshawa Hunters 2-1 in 10 innings before 3,000 fans. Leaflets took the best-of-three final in two straight.

Catcher Jackie Lyons smashed a sharp single off shortstop Jeff McGrath's legs in the 10th driving in Cliff Hicks from second with the winning run as the Hunters failed to open the frame.

Although they got only two hits off the Oshawa hurlers, Leaflets led 1-0 going into the ninth inning when Oshawa tied it up.

Guelph pushed across a run in the fifth when Nick Dicarlo walked and went all the way to third on Cliff Hicks's sacrifice. Lawrence was purposely passed, the runners took off on a double steal. Dicarlo slid home safely as catcher Mike McArthur threw to second.

Oshawa tied it with two out in the ninth when Gord Hanna shot a triple to left field. John Jaskowski followed with a single, scoring Al Gilbert.

Ding Gavin, who started for the Hunters, became wild and was replaced in the lifted by Bill McTavish, who gave up only two singles and struck out seven.

Del Bissonette Leaves Toronto Leafs as Manager

By The Canadian Press

Del Bissonette of Winthrop, Que., has resigned as manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League, Clish officials announced Monday.

Official said Bissonette, who guided the Leafs to fifth place in the league last season, submitted the resignation last week.

The Toronto Globe and Mail in a sportspage story quotes the 50-year-old manager as saying at the close of last season that he would not "be back next year" after sports writers were said to have criticized him for the way he was managing the Leafs.

Bissonette, who owns a chicken farm in Winthrop, came to the Leafs last season and is reported to be considered a coaching job in the major leagues.

In Winthrop, Bissonette said he had no specific plans for the future and declined to say why he resigned from the Toronto post except that:

"I'm getting a little too old to ride the buses, and you know there is no Sunday baseball up here."

Bissonette said the lack of Sunday baseball "creates a lot of travelling."

Arise, a three-year-old colt owned by the Addison stable, Monday won the $10,000-added Canadian championship, feature event of the Fall racing meeting at Toronto suburban Long Branch track. Arise covered the

The BLACK HORSE "Do You Know" Advisory Panel

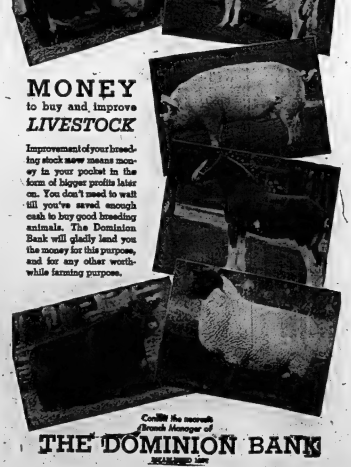
what is the largest living thing?

The 'Sequoia gigantea', a California Redwood tree, is the largest existing living thing. Towering hundreds of feet into the air the base of this sentinel far exceeds the width of many a city street. One of its branches, when measured, was found to be 140 feet long, with a diameter of over 5 feet!

Do You Know... that the 'Sequoia gigantea' and others of the species are judged, according to the annual rings, to be nearly 4,000 years old? Fossils reveal that the genus 'Sequoia' had almost universal distribution some 30 million years ago!



Do You Know... that the seeds of the 'Sequoia gigantea' are so tiny that it would take 90,000 of them to weigh one pound? And yet, when grown, the thickness and resistance of its bark enables it to survive forest fires that easily kill most other trees!

Do You Know... that a man with an axe would need about five months to chop down a single large redwood!

Do You Know any interesting and unusual facts? Our "Advisory Panel" will pay $25 for any authenticated readers' submissions if they are usable. All letters become our property. Write Black Horse Brewery, Station L, Montreal, P.Q.

You are in a small slam contract of six no-trump. West thinks he has enough stuff to slay you. He starts off with an opening lead of the diamond queen. Where do you go from there?

To take 13 tricks looks almost impossible. Losing tricks seem to be staring you in the face no matter which suit you are looking at. There are holes all over the place.

But you win the first trick with dummy king of diamonds and return spade queen. If east covers with the king, your ace takes and the west jack fails. This makes four spade tricks good for you.

Will east refuse to cover with the king? Then carefully throw the south nine instead of seven and win the trick. Now lead the dummy spade eightpot and the east king is as good as dead.

Your four spades, a top heart, two top diamonds, two top clubs are only nine tricks. You need three more. But when you wheel four spade tricks east is compelled to discard three times.

If he peels two hearts or two clubs, run that suit and he must discard some more. Whichever suit he then lets go of you can take the balance of what you need. He is a squeezed monkey all the way.

You may not be able to carry these cards in your head to picture the final result. Make no attempt to do so. Lay out the cards on the table and play them over and over with changes.

Such a deal may never come up during your lifetime. So what? There are times when the general principle must be applied. This is what a bridge pupils expects to teach you. Class dismissed.

NAME FOUR BOXERS

Port Arthur, Oct. 11 — (CP)—Four boxers were named Saturday to represent Canada at the British Empire Games after officials watched fighters from various provinces battle it out for three nights in the combined Dominion championships and B. E. trials.

Chosen by the selection committee: Eddie Haddad of Equimalt, B. C., who retained his lightweight crown; Franklin White of Winnipeg, who regained his featherweight title lost last year; Gord Wallace of Brantford, new middleweight champion; and Len Wallers of Vancouver, bantamweight king.

AT THE McCARTHY

"The Adventures of Ichabod And Mr. Toad"

Filled with fantastic situations, merry tunes and a combination of magic and sense which is characteristic of all Walt Disney's films, his latest all-cartoon feature comedy, "The Adventures of Ichabod and Mr. Toad," opened to the delight of audiences yesterday at the McCarthy theatre. The RKO Radio release is in color by Technicolor, and couples the tale of Ichabod Crane, famed Sleepy of Hollow schoolteacher, with the wild adventures of J. Thaddeus Toad, devil-may-care hero of Kenneth Grahame's book, "The Wind in the Willows."

In droliest manner Bing Crosby sing, and narrates the escapades of Washington Irving's famous Yankee schoolmaster, Ichabod Crane, in the little Hudson River village and the haunted hollow of goblin legend. And, while Bing doesn't actually appear on the screen, his personality comes through from behind the cartoon characters in full measure, capped by the quavering account of the most famous hoax of all literature, the ride of the Headless Horseman in pursuit of his rival for the belle of the region. While Bing Crosby sings and talks for the Yankee Pedagogue, Basil Rathbone narrates the hilarious adventure of Mr. Toad.

Crosby tells it with inspired unction, to match the wonderful caricature of Disney's animation. Much of the charm of the legend is carried in the three songs Crosby chants, in addition to the lugubrious narrative: "Ichabod," "Katrina," a romantic salute to the voice talent, for "The Adventures of Ichabod and Mr. Toad." It was further evidence that the master of animation continues to combine the most diverse popular personalities of the show world with his own art. And proof, too, that top names in films and radio are eager to share in the Disney type of entertainment.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 8. (AP)—Let me tell you about my movie career. This won't take long.

I've been picking grapes in the Hollywood vineyard going on six years and no producer has looked at me and exclaimed: "This boy is the answer to Montgomery Clift." This week I thought my time had finally arrived.

Voice on Telephone: "Paramount calling; we'd like you to do a picture with Bob Hope."

I knew Crosby couldn't last.

Deflation

I asked what kind of makeup I should use.

"You won't need any," was the answer.

Ah-ha—a documentary, I thought. I asked to see the script. Might want to tidy up my dialogue, you know.

"You won't need that," was the answer.

Then came the blow. I learned the "picture" was to be a trailer to advertise Hope's picture, "The Great Lover".

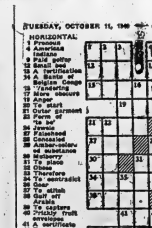
$COTT'S SCRAP BOOK By R. T. SCOTT

Little Benny's Note Book

Today in school we were having spelling, and Miss Kitty told Fuds Simkins to spell Moderation.



Which he did, and Miss Kitty said, Do you know the meaning of the word Moderation, Charles?

Yes mam, it means knowing when you've had too much, Fuds said, and Miss Kitty said, It means knowing when you've had enough before you've had too much in other words it means knowing when to stop, and it applies to all the important things of life. For instance the wise man never goes to bed fasting and never stuffs himself and the wise artist never finishes his paintings are finished and never spoils them by adding more brush strokes. Now who can give me another example of moderation from his own experience? she said.

Me waving my hand, saying, One time I had a swell dream about living in a house where all the floors were made of ice and all the furniture was made of rubber, so I never had to walk because I could just slid wherever I wanted to go, and every time I sat down, in one of the rubber chairs I bounced up and down like a acrobat falling in a net.

That's very intriting, but it's hardly an example of moderation, Miss Kitty said, and I said, Sure it is, because I was so sorry to wake up that I deliberitly went back to sleep again so I could dream about it some more, told about school and homework and it was one of the saddest dreams I ever had and I should of been satisfied with moderation and got plie up after the first dream.

Police Protect Umpire at Picton Ball Game

Picton, — Picton Athletics go to Strathroy for Friday and Saturday games with two games of the four of seven series in the intermediate AOBA finals against them. They dropped the opener here Friday, 2-1 and the second on Saturday, 3-2, in a ten-inning battle.

Following Saturday's game, fans and players surrounded umpire David-Young of Picton, expressing dissatisfaction with his work behind the plate. Only the arrival of police prevented blows from being struck.

The loss was not only a blow to the team and fans but to pitcher Frank Dyer, who again took the mound for the second game. In eight innings he had allowed but three hits and had fanned five. Two singles and a double in the ninth tied it up and two singles in the 10th gave Strathroy the winning run.

Beggs, a Windsor import, started on the mound for Strathroy, and he fanned 14, walked one and allowed seven hits. Dyer allowed 3 hits, walked 2 and struck out 8. Picton had one error and Strathroy four.

For Strathroy, Beggs and Love each had two singles, Jones a double; Halley, Evans, Ronan singles. For Picton, Perry, Canavon, MacDonald, Dustin Abbott, Haydon had singles and Zimmerman a double.

In the first six innings, Strathroy batters were down 1, 3, 1, in the seventh, five were up, four in the 8th, six in 9th and five in the tenth. Picton had more than three men up in all but three innings.

Picton scored two runs in the fourth when MacDonald singled, advanced to second on Quattle's single and stole home on a wild throw to the plate. Dyer and Abbott reached first on errors, with Dustin scoring on the first one. Dyer was caught at third and Abbott at home plate on an attempted double steal. Haydon singled after both runners were out, Miller fanned, Zimmerman reached third in the third with one out, while Abbott, who walked, was caught off first and Carson grounded out. Carson was called out at third on a steal in the ninth, again arousing the ire of fans.

Strathroy had two left on second and third in the seventh as Dyer struck out two batters after a sacrifice. In the 9th, Ronan fanned, Halley walked, Love singled, Evans' high fly was missed by the fielder due to the sun and Jones doubled to score the tying run. In the 10th, Gillies filed out, Beggs singled, Dalton grounded out, Ronan's easy single was missed and Beggs scored, Halley filed out.

Unrestricted Imports Urged By Joe Ryan

Joe Ryan, manager of the Montreal Alouettes, Monday night called for unrestricted American imports as the answer to the salary problem in Canadian football clubs. Speaking at the "Life Members' Night" banquet put on by Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the former Winnipeg Rugby Club manager said the restriction of American imports was "all wrong." With unlimited American imports, he said, salaries would eventually find their own level.

Princess Elizabeth Monday scored her first racing success, Monaveen, a steeplechaser the Princess recently bought, won the 1-1/4-mile Chichester handicap by 15 lengths. The Princess looked on approvingly from the royal box.

Promoter Jack Solomons Monday confirmed that Lt'l Arthur King's opponent at London Nov. 16 will be Tommy McGovern of Bermondsey. The Canadian and British lightweight champion from Toronto will meet McGovern in a 10-round, non-title match at London's Albert Hall.

A 37-year-old English runner who spent four years in a German prison camp Monday won the feature 13-mile Marathon in Guelph's Thanksgiving Day road race program. George Norman, who qualified as a Canadian contestant in the forthcoming British Empire Games in New Zealand, led a field of 30 of Ontario's best long-distance runners home under a blistering sun.

The former Royal Artillery gunner shook off Ab Morton, of Galt, his only close rival, after covering eight miles and went on to win handily by more than three minutes. His winning time was 1:37:45 hours.

Nathaniel Vickers, probably the oldest active golfer in the United States until he put away his clubs three years ago, died Monday at New York age 103. Vickers continued to play golf until he passed his 100th birthday.

Britain's Football Association Monday announced acceptance of an invitation to send a team to play 16 matches in Canadian cities next summer. Leading British players will be chosen to make the trip.

John Farrell Macklin, 63, the man who built Michigan State from a doormat for Midwestern United States football teams into a ranking gridiron power, died Monday. The college stadium at East Lansing, Mich., is named Macklin Field in honor of the former coach.

William H. Veeneman, sr., Louisville, Monday was named Board Chairman of Churchill Downs, Inc., and the American Turf Association. Veeneman was given authority to name a committee to select a successor to Col. Matt J. Winn, who was president of the two corporations, Winn died Oct. 5.

Sudbury McLeod Monarchs and East Dunbarton Merchants split their Ontario Amateur Softball Association Senior B series finals at Toronto Monday. Sudbury won the first game 8-3 and lost the second 5-0. The third and final game will be played tonight.

Kirkland Lake Men Held After Daylight Holdup

Edmonton, Oct. 11 (CP)—Police here are holding John Markoski, of Kirkland Lake, on a charge of snatching $8,000 from an Edmonton hotel owner on a downtown street Saturday.

In a dawn-to-dusk daylight swoop, Brett Matthews was robbed of a brief case containing the money as he was returning to his hotel from the bank. The brief case was snatched from his hands. The thief fled down an alleyway.

Following a brief chase by passers-by, police said Markoski was found behind a downtown theatre by two young boys. The boys found the satchel full of money behind the theatre and spotted Markoski hiding in a bush nearby. They called police.

Matthews said he will give each boy a $100 reward for their part in the capture.

Toronto Mercuries Monday night won the Ontario Junior Softball championships as they defeated the Northern Ontario champions, North Bay Brown Furs, 6-3 in the second game of the three-game series.

HANDS IN TRAINING...FOR ONTARIO

Learning to Make Plastics
IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.
We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, as in the pictures shown here, every effort of Ontario's newly-skilled plastics workers will mean better plastic products — will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.
THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)
Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands
Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy — that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

CANADA

Leon Maynard, Assistant Secretary of State for External Affairs, signed the Annecy agreement Monday on behalf of Canada in a brief ceremony at United Nations, Lake Success, that saw seven other countries also affixing their signatures. Signing before Canada were Britain, United States, France, Netherlands, Australia, Haiti and Lebanon.

Haiti was one of the 10 new nations to whom Canada granted tariff concessions on 138 commodities under the Annecy agreement. Others were Denmark, Finland, Greece, Dominican Republic, Italy, Liberia, Nicaragua, Sweden and Uruguay.

Of the 138 items, tariffs on 61 commodities — including such items as roasted coffee, textiles and wool yarns—were pared below Geneva pact levels and extended to all 23 countries.

Tariff concessions on another 77 items—including such things as tropical fruits, sugar, tobacco, oriental rugs and paint oil—were extended to the 10 newest trading nations.

The new rates are expected to come into operation in various stages from next Jan. 1 to May 30, 1951, the date by which Canada puts the tariff cuts into effect will depend on when the other countries take similar action.

These cuts may be augmented by new series of interlocking concessions to be discussed and negotiated among 40 nations at another world trading conference to be called about next September at Geneva.

Important Milestone

The pact, described by External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson as "an important milestone in world trade in the Canadian economy," appeared to hold for Canada, at least, both advantages and disadvantages.

Annecy failed to iron out one of the greatest detriments to exporting for the U.K.—the complicated system of border customs procedure. The red tape, which has sometimes snarled Canadian and other foreign imports into the country, can only be removed by Congress.

In addition the agreement still allows the continuing use of the G.A.T.T. clause under which any country on nullify the concessions she has granted if she can show currency hardship. Some countries have erected import barriers.

The tariff-reducing measures appear to carry these other impacts:

1. Through a principle accepted at Annecy, Canada will now secure of her aricultural British preferential standing. The tendency now is to cut out the preferential system where feasible and bring it in line with the most-favoured-nation tariff.

2. Inclusion of the 10 new countries make for greater multilateral trade for Canada but benefits extend over a relatively small part of the world in most sign trade. Only about $90,000,000 of a total of $4,700,000,000 worth of business last year was derived through trade with the 10 countries.

3. New tariff concession of importance to Canada are made by four of the original 23 members of the pact may mean that Canadian exporters will do more trading in France, Norway, Czechoslovakia and the U.S. The concessions cover farm, fish and forest products, and are with countries which take Canada does much of her business.

By extending lower rates to the 10 new contracting parties to G.A.T.T., Canada was able to participate in new tariff cuts made by any of the 33 members of the new trading family.

Four original reductions made cuts which may benefit Canadian exporters. The U.S. headed the list, cutting duties on leather manufacturers, butter and oka cheese, granite, limestone, pulp, paper and wood products, hides, some footwear and hollow bars and drill steel products.

These cuts were aimed principally at Sweden, Canada, as a member of G.A.T.T., will get equal treatment. Canada previously has had difficulty getting plywood products into the U.S. This difficulty is expected to be eliminated in part.

The butter concession may mean that altogether some 20,000,000 pounds of Australian butter may enter into the U.S. in one year. While not an exporter of butter, Canada has become one this year through a growing surplus purchased by the government under price-support.

Czechoslovakia, a Communist member of the pact, cut duties on dried milk and agricultural and fish products for which Canada ever is seeking new expanding markets. Duties were reduced on seed barley and oats, applies for the period Aug. 1 to Oct. 31, and on canned sardines, herring and dried milk.

Reduced Some Duties

Lower tariffs by the 10 new countries swung over wide range of goods, from whisky and sardines to agricultural machinery and sewing machines.

Many of the concessions brought potential benefit to Canada's basic industries, particularly the farmer, fisherman and miner.

To these 10 countries Canada last year exported about $68,000,000 worth of goods. The tariff cuts are expected to apply to about $38,000,000 of the exports.

Canada's Principal Concessions

While Canada negotiated tariff deals on 138 items which she imports at the rate of about $240,000,000 a year, new reductions granted at Annecy cover only 61 items valued at about $20,000,000 a year in imports.

Her concessions fell into five classes. Rates on fifty-three items, for which Canada spends about $190,000,000 a year, were bound—frozen for the life of the agreement—at the 1947 Geneva pact level and extended to the ten new countries. The items include such things as butter, cheese, green coffee, rugs, skins, natural rubber latex and tropical fruits.

Of 31 items reduced, 44 were rates on commodities negotiated at Geneva and 17 previously unnegotiated.

It was the second reduction in rates for each of the 44 items previously negotiated. Canada spends about $15,000,000 a year of these goods which includes patent de fole, textiles, wool yarns, silks and silver ore. The concession is expected to benefit the United Kingdom principally since that country annually ships about $1,000,000 worth of the textiles countries which Canada does much of her business.

Twenty-four other items for the first time were bound by rates in effect for a number of years. Canada imports about $30,000,000 a year of these goods which include canned tomatoes, fruit rinds, palm and palm kernel oil, decorative marble for churches, iron ore, commercial fishing tackle, axes, hat braids and coffee substitutes.

NOMINATION DAY

A contest is assured in Toronto Greenwood where the three main parties have nominated candidates. The Liberals picked Perry Ryan, a 33-year-ld lawyer and unsuccessful candidate in the provincial election. The Progressive Conservatives chose J. M. Macdonnell, the party's financial critic in the last Commons, who was defeated in the general election. He is Perry Ryan's uncle. Ontario to Wilfred (Bucko) McDonald, former national Hockey League star. The C.C.F. candidate is Harvey Houlihan.

Held by PC Since 1933

The seat, held continuously by Conservatives since it was established under the 1933 Redistribution Act, was made vacant through the death of J. E. McMillan a short time after the election. Mr. McMillan's estate was resulted from government appointments following the general election.

Hon. Joseph Jean, former solicitor general and representative of Montreal Mercier from the time it was established in 1935, was appointed to the Quebec Superior Court (Montreal division.)

Montreal Jacques Cartier was made vacant through the appointment of Eghege Marier, Liberal holder of the seat since 1940, to the Quebec Superior Court (Montreal division). Except for a break in the 1930-35 period, the Liberals have held the seat successfully since 1921.

Appointed to Bench

A bench appointment also created the vacancy in Kamouraska. Eugene Marquis, Liberal holder of the seat since 1940 was appointed to the Quebec Superior Court (Quebec division). The seat was established in 1867, and has only united Conservative terms.

The Gatineau vacancy arose out of the appointment of Leon Raymond, holder of the seat from 1945, to the post of Clerk of the Commons. Until the 1947 redistribution, the constituency was known as Wright. Mr. Wright constituency returned Liberals in every election since 1896.

The death of Benoit Michaud shortly after the general election opened the New Brunswick seat of Restigouche-Madawaska. Mr. Michaud entered the Commons in 1945 as one of the five Liberals returned by the first contingent election was established in 1916. Only two Conservatives have ever held the seat.

Appointment of Tom Reid to the Senate completed the vacancies in the British Columbia constituency of New Westminster, Mr. Reid had held the seat from 1939.

India's Premier One of Great Men Of Our Times

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

A dozen years from now we are likely to be reminding ourselves that today's arrival of Jawaharlal Nehru on his first trip to the United States and Canada was a far-reaching event.

The Prime Minister of India is one of the outstanding leaders of our time. At head of the great new India, with its population of more than 300,000,000, Nehru already is demonstrating a leadership which is making itself felt throughout Asia. His influence on world unity will be vast.

Upon the impressions which Nehru forms in Washington may well depend future relations between the United States and an India which is going to play a dominant part in the development of the Orient.

Nehru, who will be 60 on Nov. 14, not only was born into a family of great wealth but he is a Kashmiri Brahmin — the highest aristocracy of all India. He was educated in Britain.

At the age of 16 he showed little interest in the independence movement, but soon he joined and thereafter devoted his whole life to the ideal. He became one of the most devoted disciples of Mohandas K. Gandhi and followed the saintly little Mahatma faithfully in the drive for Indian independence until the latter's assassination on Jan. 30, 1948.

Worshipped as Hero

The disciple, like the master, became a plague to the British government and he was several times in prison, serving all-told some 13 years. Like Gandhi, Nehru toured the highways and byways of India to preach independence to the people until he became an object of hero worship among the masses.

So it was natural that Gandhi should have designated Nehru as his "political heir" and that the disciple should become the first Prime Minister of the Dominion of India when Britain granted independence. Unhappily the division of the vast sub-continent into two dominions — Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan — resulted in bloody communal strife.

Nehru is an internationalist and a socialist and is a bitter opponent of dictatorship. He is, however, what might be described as a middle-of-the-road socialist! He believes in what he calls a "mixed economy" in which the state assumes management of key industries but still allows plenty of chance for private enterprise to operate.

Canadian and US Air Reserves Plan 'Mock' Raid

Ottawa, Oct. 11 (CP)—Canadian and United States reserve air force units will join forces Oct. 22 in a "raid" on New York City.

The manoeuvres, which will include interceptor exercises, have been dubbed "operation metropolis".

First post-war exercise of its kind, it will demonstrate the ability of the R.C.A.F. reserve and the U.S. Air National Guard to integrate forces in the event of an emergency.

Some 240 R.C.A.F. reservists, including 80 officers and 160 other ranks, will be flown from their home bases at Montreal to Mitchel Air Force base, Long Island, for the exercise. The R.C.A.F.'s interceptor force will consist of eight of the service's speedy jet vampire fighters.

Operation metropolis is expected to furnish valuable data to the senior staffs of both countries for assuring reserve efficiency. Another aim is to stimulate public interest, increase morale of the reserves and encourage recruiting in both countries.

Brig.-Gen. Clyde H. Mitchell of the New York Air National Guard, will have operational control of all participating forces, which include B-36 light bombers in the "attacker" and American-Thunderbolt and Canadian Vam-

Country-Wide Steel Strike Will End Soon-Murray

Pittsburgh, Oct. 12. (AP)—Philip Murray says the country-wide steel strike will end soon—with complete victory for his union in their fight for free pensions and insurance.

"I assure you that before very long pay will be happy," Murray said in a speech at Youngstown, O. It was his first talk of a pep tour to take him to several of the country's steel centres.

There was no reply from industry. to Murray's optimism—or to his charges industry had forced 454,000 of his men to strike.

The United States Conciliation Service went ahead setting up separate meetings with union and top industry leaders in an effort to break the strike.

The Conciliation Service also kept an eye on reopening of contract talks today between coal operators and the striking 320,000 United Mine workers. It's worried over the approaching crisis as the result of the 24-day-old coal strike.

Both strikes are threatening a knockout blow at American economy. More and more industries are being affected.

Steel Stocks Smaller

Iron Age, the national metal-working weekly, says steel stocks are generally smaller than had at first been estimated. It added that close checking indicate few big fabricators will be able to operate more than 30 days without curtailing production.

The Fabricators, employing 500,000 steelworkers are threatened by strikes starting Saturday. Their contracts have run month to then, continuing until mid-December. Murray already has served notice he wants free pensions and insurance for the Fabricator employees, just as he does for the men in basic steel, now on strike.

Even as Murray was speaking to 15,000 cheering strikers yesterday, the International Harvester Company laid off 2,500 employees at its Chicago McCormick plant because of depleted steel supplies. That brought the total of men strike-lided in related industries to more than 50,000—including 41,000 on coal and steel-hauling railroads.

25 are Killed In Train Wreck At Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires, Oct. 12—(AP)—A speeding suburban train crashed into a freight train in Buenos Aires Tuesday night killing at least 25 person and injuring 75 others.

Police said 25 bodies had been recovered and that more were still being buried in the tangled wreckage.

Marshall Plan Aid Boosts Appeals to Privy Council Approved

Now Subject to Three Readings by Senate

Ottawa, Oct. 12 — (CP) — A bill abolishing appeals to the judicial committee of the Privy Council, the first piece of major legislation introduced at the current session, was passed Tuesday by the Commons.

The legislation, now subject to three readings by the Senate before it can become law, was approved after objections by some opposition members who sought either to have it shelved for six months or to have it amended in some particulars.

No formal vote was called, but Progressive Conservatives shouted "On division" to Liberal opposition to adoption of the measure, one of several bills on the order paper, when the government decided the last session and called a general election for June 27.

Leading the opposition's fight was T. L. Church (PC — Toronto Eglinton), who contended the noted- for criticism of legislation likely to loosen Canadian ties with the Empire.

He fought through part of two sittings to have formal approval delayed until today. In the end he protested in vain that Speak-

Labor Department To Take Hand In Negotiations

Ottawa, Oct. 12 (CP)—Stalled wage-hour negotiations between the railways and spokesmen for 113,000 union employees are to get a hand from the labor department.

Two top government officials, Labor Minister Mitchell announced Tuesday, are being sent to help settle the dispute at the request of the unions.

At the same time, it was disclosed, the railways and their members of 12 international unions, who are seeking shorter hours along with wage increases, have already had assistance.

They went a 40-hour week with no loss of take-home pay, plus a seven-cents-an - hour increase. The C.B.R.E. wants the 40-hour week with a 10-cent wage boost.

Most railway employees now work under the 48-hour week.

Negotiations to replace contracts that expired in July have dragged down after long and weary way for several weeks. Meanwhile, the employees are working under the old pacts.

To speed a settlement, the government has appointed W. M. Macdean, Director of Industrial Relations, and H. R. Pettigrew, industrial relations officer, Fredericton, N.B.

Their duties are to get the parties together on points of dispute are unsuccessful, the next step in the conciliation process would be the appointment of a formal Board of Conciliation.

Polygamy About to be Banned From Holy Land for First Time

By JAMES M. LONG

Tel Aviv, Oct. 12 — Polygamy is about to be banned from Israel for the first time in the long history of the Holy Land.

Prime Minister David Ben Gurion announced he would call for revision of the marriage law at the next session of the Israeli Parliament, two of whose members have married more than one wife.

This is expected to be no real opposition to the change, which would apply equally to Jews and Moslems.

"The law is not directed against Islam," he said, "Islam permits Moslems to take four wives—but it does not require them to do so."

Probably not more than five per cent of the adult male population of Israel are more than one wife. Most of these are Moslem Arabs — as polygamy is not permitted among Christian Arabs.

Two groups of Jews permit polygamy—Yemenite Jews who are Yemenite, or Asiatic Jews; and Sephardic Jews, descendants of Jews who fled Spain in the 15th century.

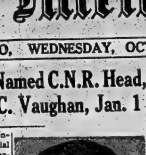
In Israeli legislature one Sephardi delegate and one Yemenite sit in the Knesset now. All but one of the Arab legislators are Christians. The Druse member is unmarried.

In 1926 the British Mandatory Authority banned polygamy but left a loophole. The law was not effective for individuals whose personal status or religious laws allowed plural marriage. This applied to Moslems and the two classes of Jews.

This 1926 mandate law is the one that will be changed.

Donald Gordon Named C.N.R. Head, Will Succeed R.C. Vaughan, Jan. 1

Ottawa, Oct. 12 — (CP)—Donald Gordon, 47-year-old financial wizard who was Canada's Wartime Prices Boss, will be the next head of the vast Canadian National Railways system.



A banker and economist, Mr. Gordon will move into one of the biggest railroading jobs in the world Jan. 1 from his present post of Deputy - Governor of the Bank of Canada.

Transport Minister Chevrier announced Tuesday in the Commons he will succeed R. C. Vaughan, now past the retirement age of 65, as chairman and president of the government - owned system that stretches from coast to coast and includes steamship lines, hotels, express and other services.

A few hours after the announcement, the appointment ran into Progressive Conservative criticism in the Commons.

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglington) called it a "shameful violation" of the principle of promotion within an organization, and T. L. Church (PC—Toronto Broadview) said this principle should have been considered.

Mr. Fleming attacked government "interference" in railway management, which he said could imperil the efficient operation of a railroad. He declared the appointment of a man with no railroading experience would be bad for C. N. R. morale.

Prague Shops Seized, Communist-Controlled Government Takes Over

Prague, Oct. 12 — (AP)—New nationalized businesses sprang up in Prague today in shops whose owners had been arrested in widespread police roundups. The purge arrests were reported continuing.

Several persons who went to trade with their former neighborhood druggists, bakers or book shops reported they found communist-appointed managers and administrations had been installed.

The businesses had been seized by the government. The excuse was reported the families of the former owners also had been thrown out of their apartments.

This lent substantiation to persistent reports that police action against small business men which supplied many wage increases estimated to have seized those ands in this capital alone. Landlords and other properties persons, from university doctors and lawyers and just ordinary people, also had come into the police picture.

Reliable reports said many of the people seized had been sent to forced labor camps by communist-controlled national committees.

After more than a week of such arrests, there was no official government statement on the action, nor on whether there was a government-offices which, according to informed western diplomatic sources, were processing the still hundreds of job holders considered of "political importance" and jailing of many of them.

People still found it difficult, if not impossible, to obtain information about arrested relatives.

The cabinet approved regulations making them available for common use wherever necessary. There was speculation that this would lead to the complete collectivization of the country's small farms.

In the capital here, meanwhile, unconfirmed reports circulated that an estimated 80,000 to 90,000 persons had been arrested in the widespread purges in Bohemia and Moravia of small business and professional men, the clergy and the armed forces.

Though it has functioned through the country since early February, the Communist party of farms over 50 hectares (124 acres) has government so far has been careful in its handling of the country's individualistic, traditionally Conservative peasants.

However, by giving control to the communist-dominated agricultural union or co-operative of distribution of farm equipment and production goods by the government already has been able to exert considerable influence over Czech agriculture.

Young Liberals Of Canada Open Biennial Meet

Montreal, Oct. 12. (CP)—More than 500 delegates from Canada's 10 provinces—believed to be "the largest attendance on record"—gathered here today for the opening of the third biennial convention of the Young Liberal Federation of Canada.

At an organization meeting held on Tuesday, attended by Solicitor-General Bourget, delegations and under the chairmanship of Roland Lefrancois of Montreal, president of the Federation, delegates prepared a list of resolutions bearing on national problems.

Among the resolutions are those asking adoption of a distinct Canadian flag, a national "Canada Day" and the use of the Canadian as the next governor-general of Canada.

Heading the list of delegates is Prime Minister St. Laurent, who is expected to arrive Thursday. Mr. St. Laurent will address the convention banquet Thursday night.

Others include Defence Minister Brooke Claxton; Postmaster-General Edouard Rinfret; Hon. Philip Forsey, Newfoundland's Minister of Supply, and Hon. Henry Hicks, Nova Scotia's Minister of Education.

In addressing the delegates, Mr. Lapointe said: "Never has the doctrine we (the Liberal Party) promulgate been so dangerously threatened from both the right and the left."

He warned the Liberals against "combinations from outside groups" and said the Liberal Party is dedicated to work toward a happy and harmonious country for all its citizens, irrespective of race.

Mr. Rinfret said Tuesday night the principal aim of the constitutional committee will be to get parliament is to strengthen the provinces and safeguard minority rights throughout Canada.

He said the federal authority was seeking national autonomy

ISSUED NO ORDERS TO ROUSE NORONIC PASSENGERS

Ship's Officer Knew Fire Uncontrollable

Toronto, Oct. 12 (CP)—The ship's officer in charge of fire fighting operations during the Toronic holocaust of Sept. 17 testified today he issued no instructions to rouse passengers, although he realized at once the fire was uncontrollable.

First Mate G. Gerald Wood told the federal inquiry into the fire which took a toll of 105 identified dead and 19 missing, he knew the ship could not be controlled immediately after he sounded the alarm.

He said no member of the crew was assigned the duty of rousing passengers in case of fire when the cruise-steamship was in port.

A record of the all-night stopovers made by the cruise-steamer since 1946 showed she was in port with passengers on five occasions, prior to being swept by fire here last Sept. 17.

Wood said this was first mate on the ship during those occasions and no crew member had been assigned to rouse passengers on any of the five.

On the night of the fire, the mate said, he retired to his quarters on a deck about 1:10 EST., undressed and started to read a newspaper.

"Did you hear some signal?" asked Commission Counsel J. W. Pickup.

"Yes, I did, I heard the bell."

"Do you mean the bell that sounds in the forward part of that deck where one of those fire alarm boxes is broken?"

Could Not Fix Time

Wood said he could not fix the time but he was dressing and the lieutenant came and told him there was a fire on C deck.

"Did he give you further information as to the fire — the extent of it?"

"No, sir."

"Did you give him any instructions?"

"No, sir."

"Then what did you do?"

"I went to the wheelhouse and put in the Klaxon horn."

"Did you do that without finding out the extent of the fire?"

"When I went out of the room I could see heavy smoke coming out of the starboard side of the ship."

"The alarm having sounded, there was in your mind no distinction and getting the passengers ashore?"

"I could be where I could be of any help."

Witness Rebuked

After lengthy questioning by Commission Counsel Justice R. L. Kellock, the Commissioner, who presided during the witness' testimony vague in his replies, Wood admitted he would be in charge of fire fighting operations.

Wood said that although the Commodore Master, Capt. William Taylor, returned to the ship, he— the first mate—remained in charge under fire fighting regulations. He said he saw the captain twice, but spoke to him only once.

Canadian Earning Power Increases With Ontario Having Highest Income

Ottawa, Oct. 12 — (CP)—If wealth is a criterion of happiness, then Canadians should be happier than ever this year in history.

They earned $11,883,000,000 last year—more money per man, more for everything the free-spending days of the second World War.

An estimate by the Bureau of Statistics, the personal incomes of Canadians rose 12 per cent in 1949.

In this industrial province, earnings increased by more than $4,000 per person. This was interpreted by the statisticians in the annual summary as a sign that the expenditures as being an average of $1,000 per family for each province.

As compared with the per-capita earnings of $1,024 by British Columbia, $959 by the Prairies, $784 by Nova Scotia and $704 by Quebec province.

Ontario had the highest income, but this did not necessarily mean that the province was paying the highest standard of living.

Prices fluctuated between provinces. Because demand was high and people had the means to pay, prices may be higher in Ontario than in other areas.

The statisticians also were quite careful to draw direct comparisons between highly industrial areas and predominantly rural areas are misleading.

People do more for themselves in the rural areas and therefore spend less for things that become necessities in city folk. They grow their own produce and therefore spend less for food. They may need less of a variety of clothing than do city dwellers.

Reviewing the trends of personal incomes in Canada, the statisticians noted that year-by-year all the provinces are increasing personal incomes.

In Prince Edward Island the total personal income in 1949 is estimated at $31,000,000. In 1936 it was $31,000,000.

Nova Scotia jumped from $135,000,000 in 1936 to $433,000,000 in 1949. New Brunswick from $105,000,000 to $320,000,000. Figures for the newest maritime province, Newfoundland, are not yet available.

Quebec, runner-up to Ontario, increased personal income from $1,016,000,000 in 1936 to $4,033,000,000 last year, Ontario from $1,536,000,000 to $4,919,000000. Manitoba, $269,000,000 to $718,000,000; Saskatchewan $395,000,000 to $1,096,000,000; Alberta, $286,000,000 to $844,000,000; British Columbia from $338,000,000 to $1,122,000,000.

The Dominion taken as a whole, climbed from $4,534,000,000 in 1936 to $11,883,000,000.

Truck Hits Store, Trenton Man Dies Later in Hospital

John A. Simpson Buried Monday of Wreckage of Building

Buried beneath the debris of his small grocery store when the building was caved in by a truck which went out of control, John Albert Simpson, 72, of 251 Dundas street, east, in Trenton, suffered fatal injuries late this morning and died one hour later in Belleville hospital.

Trenton police stated that Mr. Simpson was believed to have been seated in his small grocery store when a truck driven by E. Meyers, R.R. 2, Trenton, went out of control on the wet pavement and crashed into the side of the store.

Mr. Simpson was literally buried in the wreckage of his store as the truck crashed directly through the wall. It took some minutes to extricate the badly injured man from the wreckage. He was rushed to hospital at Belleville, but died just as he was being admitted.

Police Assist in Rescue

Police Chief Jack Taylor, of Trenton, stated that two Provincial Police officers from Belleville, Constables Harding and Sheridan, happened to be passing when the accident occurred and assisted in getting the injured man out of his wrecked store.

Dr. Gordon Johnson, of Trenton, was also passing and gave first aid.

Police stated it was raining heavily at the time of the accident. Meyers was driving his truck on Dundas Street, when he turned out to pass another vehicle, his truck went out of control, struck the curb, skidded and went out of control across a small lawn before crashing into the side of the store.

Store a Shambles

"The entire store was shambles," stated Police Chief Taylor. "The truck crashed directly through the wall and scattered store equipment and stock in every direction".

The nature of Mr. Simpson's injuries were not immediately determined.

Coroner Dr. E. A. McQuade, Trenton, stated an inquest would be held, the coroner's inquest to be held at five o'clock this afternoon.

19-Year-Old Escaped Convict Shot and Killed

Montreal, Oct. 13 (CP)—A 19-year-old escaped convict was shot and killed by an off-duty constable early today as he and two other escaped prisoners were trying to break into a grocery store in the north-east section of the city.

Police identified the dead youth as Jean Charles Lebrosse. He was serving a two-year term in Quebec Industrial Farm for theft.

Lebrosse's companions, Roger Ethier, 21, and Gaston Mercier, 20, were arrested and are being held in police cells here pending their return to the St. Jerome, Que., farm from which they escaped shortly before midnight

COMMUNISTS PUT HEAT ON CANTON, DIPLOMATS LEAVE

Red Forces 90 More Than 40 Miles From Seat of Nationalist Gov't

Hong Kong, Oct. 12 (AP) — The red heat was on Canton today.

The government and foreign diplomats fled the Nationalist capital—a step ahead of Chinese Communist troops.

Communist newspapers in this British Crown colony carried reports that Canton's defenders were preparing to evacuate and hand the city to the Reds.

Red forces were believed — so more than 40 miles from the south China metropolis of nearly 1,000,000 people—seat of the Nationalist government in name only. There was no details of Tuesday's reports the invaders had taken Taingyun, 40 miles north.

Communist military dispatches said Swatow, on the China coast northeast of Canton, already had fallen. Amoy, they said, was tottering.

Gen. Hwang Sen, commanding two communities just north of Canton's northern frontier, was said to have gone over to the approaching Reds.

Prisoner Leaps To Window Ledge, Grabbed by Neck

Toronto, Oct. 13 — (CP) — A prisoner who leaped from a window for freedom today when he slipped on the wet roof of a cell block and to the window on the west side of the building and stood on the ledge, was grabbed by a guard who hitched himself to the ground if anybody came near him.

Hundreds of noon-hour spectators stood and watched the tense drama until finally a police officer leaned out a window and seized the prisoner by the neck.

Extra police from a downtown division were called out to handle the crowds which were jamming rain to watch the prisoner on the narrow ledge of the old gaol building.

City and District News

RED RETRIEVER IN CITY POUND

The dog was picked up by City Poundkeeper Thomas Thorne on Pine Street, it had no collar nor tag and was in a more or less pitiful condition. It was wet and bedraggled and its coat plentifully labelled with burrs. The dog, according to Constable Thorne is suffering from a touch of distemper and he urges its owner to claim it as soon as possible. Failing this, the dog will be disposed of in the usual manner after 48 hours.

GOVERNMENT DOCK TO BE SCENE OF REGATTA

Plans are under way for an exhibition regatta off the Government Dock on Sunday, Oct. 16, Ed. Pine well-known city speedboat racer announced here today.

Fast craft from Kingston, Gananoque, Brockville, Picton, Madoc and Tweed have been invited to take part in the water derby and it is expected a large crowd will view the events.

The events will start between one and one-thirty Sunday afternoon, Merchants of the city are co-operating generously with decorating and lighting which will be presented to the winners of the various events.

FRESH RASPBERRIES PICKED IN GARDEN

Would you like a saucer of fresh raspberries for supper? That is raspberries fresh from the garden? Don't be foolish, not this time of year, you say. Well, that's exactly what Mrs. Geo. Elliott of 39 Meyers Street, had for supper last night, raspberries, fresh from the garden.

"I've been picking about a cupful all along", she said, "but I got over a quart today. If the frost holds off a while longer we'll have lots more." she added. "The bushes are simply loaded with green ones."

NEW TABLES, CHAIRS ADDED TO CLUBROOMS

A bright attractive color scheme in interior decoration enhanced by new tables and chairs has furnished a greater degree of comfort for members of Belleville Branch 201 Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans in Canada in their Front Street club rooms.

Upwards of $2,000 was expended by the club for new tables and chairs which are attractively colored in a red and green mottled effect. The table and chair motif blends harmoniously with the general decorations.

Members of the club formed a "bee" yesterday as the unpacked and carried the new furniture to the club rooms.

WET LEAVES CREATE NEW HAZARDS FOR DRIVING

With wet leaves covering streets and creating additional hazards for driving, Belleville and district motorists were advised today by local police to exercise greater caution when driving on city streets.

Police pointed out that with the wet leaves brakes are ineffective, additional braking distance was necessary to bring a vehicle to a stop. The extra precaution advised may save an accident.

Shrine Club Entertains District Crippled Children at Toronto Circus

Bay of Quinte Conference Opens Broadcast Series

The Radio Committee of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church in Canada, of which Rev. Dr C. Amos, of Bridge Street United Church, is chairman, will open tonight a series of broadcasts in six different centres. The local broadcast will be over CJBQ from 8:15 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., when greetings from the Moderator, Dr. Willard Brewing and presidept of the Bay of Quinte Conference, Rev. J. R. Anderson, of Brighton, Rev. C. A. Perkins of Holloway Street United Church and greetings of the Belleville Presbytery will address the listening audience. There will be eleven weekly broadcasts and will take place every Wednesday night at the same hour.

The addresses in the different areas, including Belleville, Brockville, Kingston, Belleville, Peterborough and Cobourg will be under the general heading of "Calling Canadians", which will enrich the life of the nation and prepare those of the United Church for the 25th anniversary of the consummation of church union. The Radio Committee was set up on September 13, and the plan now in force was presented to each of the seven presbyteries and it was heartily endorsed by each one. The Bay of Quinte Conference is pioneering the project and no doubt other conferences will adopt the plan in the near future.

Optometrists Meet In Toronto for Two-Day Session

Progressive Optometrists of Ontario are gathered today and tomorrow at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto, for a two-day session of lectures and demonstrations which are designed to keep them up to-date in techniques of office practice.

The event is probably the most important educational affair of the year for practising optometrists, and is held under the auspices of the Optometric Extension Program, an international movement which performs as a research organ and a dissemination of newly developed instrumentation and clinical techniques. Outstanding of this year-round program is the annual seminar held in one of the larger centres of each of the provinces.

Director of the program for the province of Ontario is a Belleville optometrist, Sydney C. Rose, who also officiates as convener of the Seminar in Toronto. During the two days of meetings, lecturers and demonstrators who have been in direct contact with research carried on in the Experimental Psychology Departments of several of the larger American Universities, will address the graduates and also the senior year of the College of Optometry of Ontario.

Attending the Seminar in company with Mr. Rose, are John A. McKee and G. Spence Worsnop, optometrists, both of this city.

Life Membership In A.N. and A.F. Given Fred Coon

Well-known veteran of the First World War and a popular member of the Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans in Canada, Belleville Branch 201, Fred S. Coon was presented with a life membership in that organization at a special meeting of the branch executive held in the Front Street club rooms last night.

President William J. Ford of the Belleville branch of the A. N. A. F. formally presented the membership in the shape of a handsome scroll. He also presented Mr. Coon with the Dominion Command life membership card.

The presentation, which was to have been made at the general meeting of the branch on Thursday, was put forward to last night due to the fact that Mr. Coon was scheduled to undergo an eye operation in Kingston Military Hospital today. He left for Kingston early this morning.

President Ford paid a fine tribute to the veterans recipient, pointing out the invaluable service he has rendered in the countless ones of world wars during the past 30 years. "It is with great pride, Comrade Coon," he said, "that I make this presentation to you."

Almost overcome with the surprise element, Mr. Coon made a brief address of appreciation for the fine gesture made by the Belleville branch of the ANAF and the Dominion Command.

Circus and 'Trimmings' Thrill Crippled Children Guests Of Belleville Shrine Club

Wide-eyed in amazement, little faces pleasurably aglow at the wonders being unfolded before them, thirty crippled children of the city and district, had the thrill of the young lives last week when they were guests of the Belleville Shrine Club at a performance of the Morton Shrine Circus in Maple Leaf Gardens.

But while these children, some of them physically handicapped from birth, but the lives of their lives, it is doubtful if they enjoyed the party any more than did those members of the Shrine Club who accompanied the kiddies on the trip.

It was a great day for both.

The Shriners were well repaid for whatever expenditure was incurred in the outing. Not in dollars and cents. The smile of happiness and enjoyment on the face of a crippled kiddie cannot be measured in coin of the realm. It is cold, members of the Shrine Club could now be classed as millionaire.

Wonderful Experience.

Wonderment, surprise, enjoyment and sheer happiness ran in rivalry for supremacy over the faces of these children at the sight of the wonderful things they saw for the first time, the big outside world held for them. The experience for the Shrine Club that can be gained only through ventures of this kind, is not like their little proteges, will never forget it.

Two of the little kiddies who received the biggest thrill were little Tommy Anderson and Larry Hall. The Shriners left no stone unturned to give their little guests the best obtainable.

The journey to Toronto was uneventful if you can call gurgles of delight, and enjoyment, childish chatter and laughter as the panorama of the countryside unfolded at the speeding bus, of no consequence.

Then came the big moment. The children were taken to a special block of seats in the Gardens, secured by Potentate Dr. Grafil Fraser of Rameses Temple.

In World Of Their Own.

From that point on until the closing act, they lived in a world of their own. A world of clowns, and elephants, acrobats and horses, sawdust, and the shrill cacophony that is part and parcel of any "big top" show. These the tents were missing but the wide-eyed youngsters didn't mind that.

It was the first circus for many of them, and they enjoyed it to the utmost. And it was perhaps a tired little band of happy kiddies that arrived back safe and sound after one of the most thrilling experiences in their lives.

These crippled children will never forget the Shrine Club, even as that organization is not forgetting them.

District Represented.

Included in the children making the trip were Sharon Rushlow, Ted McEvoy, Cari Mowers, Muriel Fitzgerald, Richard and Robert Annette Rowe. From Wellington were Keith McQuold and Doreen Harvey, and from Marmora came Lorne Cronkwright.

Fire Fighting Equipment to be Shown Residents

Fire fighting personnel and equipment of the Belleville Fire Department will be on parade Saturday evening as part of the program in the observance of Fire Prevention Week, being observed all this week.

Commencing at 7:30, weather permitting, the equipment owned by the local department, together with members of the department will parade south on Front Street from the Queen Bridge to Dundas Street. Then they will swing back to the Bridge and north on Front by way of Bridge Street and north on Front Street.

Included in the parade will be at least two other trucks carrying members of the local boy scouts and girl guides who are taking part in the Fire Prevention Week. The parade will be headed by the 9th Anti-Tank Pipe Band.

If rain cancels the parade on Saturday evening, it will take place on Friday evening at the same hour.

A-Bomb Reports Should Not Lead To 'Panic Action'

Boston, Oct. 13 — (AP)—The chief Canadian delegate to the United Nations General Assembly says reports that Russia has an atomic bomb should not lead the U.N. to "panic action" or "confusion" for controls.

L. B. Pearson, who also is Canadian Minister of External Affairs, said the report had focused attention on the Atomic Energy Committee of the U. N. Security Council.

"I think," he said in an interview Tuesday night "it would be a mistake to abandon our plans and substitute panic action just because someone else has learned to make an atom bomb.

Sewage Disposal Discussed by Health Officer

Belleville Inspector of Health, George Whitman, gave a speech at the weekly Kiwanis Luncheon on Tuesday stated very emphatically that he would like to see some action taken towards a sewage disposal plant for Belleville.

Before stating his views Mr. Whitman briefly outlined a story about his old hometown in the U. S. A. He said that the town was similar to Belleville in as much as it had a small river running through it. He pointed out that large sums of money were spent on this river which was "too thin to plow but was too thick to drink". He said that he hoped things wouldn't get that far in Belleville before proper steps were taken.

Mr. Whitman's views on sewage disposal followed his main address and were given at the request of a Kiwanian.

In his main address Mr. Whitman briefly outlined the progress of Public Health since its inception in England in 1848. He said that the first Public Health Act in the Western Hemisphere was enacted in Ontario in 1885.

Continuing, Mr. Whitman pointed out that public health came under both federal and provincial jurisdiction. The federal department control narcotics, patent drugs and other items of national interest. He stated that things of local interest came under the provincial department.

Inspected Regularly

He said that all food houses, such as dairies, restaurants and slaughter houses were inspected regularly by the local board. He stated that water, sewer disposal, spraying of marshes etc., also came under the care of the local boards.

In conclusion he stated that through funds supplied through the sale of Christmas seals the Belleville Board planned to give free chest X-rays, blood tests and throat swabs to all food handlers in the city. He said that it was hoped that these examinations could be followed up with treatments for those who need it.

The election for the 1950 directors was completed at the meeting. Dr. R. M. Anderson, Dr. Harold Craig, Everett Fairman, Ernie Finkle, Taylor Franklin, Major Ken Graham, Stafford McKenna, John Thornbury, Harry Trepanier and John Wallen are the new directors. The president and vice-president will be elected from this group, while these directors will elect the secretary-treasurer. Norman Edwards will be Immediate Past President.

MORE COMPETITION FOR READING

Toronto, Oct. 12 — (CP) — A decrease in leisure time for reading during the next years as a result of competition from radio, motion pictures and television, was forecast Tuesday night by Dr. C. C. Goldring, Toronto.

Rev. C.P. Heaven, Wellington, Invited to 180th Anniversary Of St. Luke's in St. John, NB

The Rev. C. P. Heaven of St. Andrew's Church, Wellington, has been invited to attend the anniversary services of Saint and other social events at St. Luke's Anglican Church in the city of Saint John, New Brunswick, being held from October 16th to October 30, 1948. Mr. Heaven is a former rector of this historic church which goes back deeply in Canadian history and Saint John was founded by the United Empire Loyalists after the close of the church dates back to 1769. The original Grace Church was succeeded by the present church. St. Luke's churches, the first was too small and the second was destroyed by fire in 1875. The present church was erected in 1876. Rev. Heaven will be the guest of the rector, Rev. Harry Abbott, and Mrs. Abbott, at the rectory during the celebration. He was church warden and also the vestry clerk for fifteen years.

The church is in the parish of Portland and has had many rectors, two now living are the Rev. W. J. Pike of St. Peter's Church, Hamilton, and His Honor Judge Pepperdene of the Juvenile Court of the city of Saint John, besides the many curates who served there, are two bishops, the Rt. Rev. Dr. D. Martin D.D., bishop of Saskatchewan and the present bishop of Nova Scotia, Vernon the Rt. Rev. Eastland-Fuller, D.D. The latter succeeded Rev. Dr. Martin in 1931.

At the opening anniversary service the Hon. Dr. Hibbard, D.D., rector of St. Paul's Church, Halifax, N.S., will preach and also conduct a mission. The Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of New Brunswick will attend and also Mayor Patterson of the city of Saint John.

Special services will be conducted by the Lord Bishop of Fredericton, Dr. Moorhead, assisted by the rector, Rev. Gordon Philpitt.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Oct. 12 (CP)—Industrials continued in strong demand on the Toronto stock exchange, rising steadily on gains ranging from fractions to two points.

Many issues moved at new high with the average price level continuing into new high ground for the year. Papers led the strong upturn. A holidaying New York market failed to deter the climbing industrials.

Base metals also brightened and a few gold issues in western dills showed slight signs of firming.

Volume for the first four hours was 710,000 shares, about 170,000 shares less than Tuesday's similar period.

Abitibi Paper, International Paper, B. A. Oil, Imperial Bank and Canadian Breweries were among industrials selling at new tops.

East Sullivan continued the features in base metals. Publication of sales of Tuesday's 83 - cent advance pushed it down slightly. Drill results from the property in Northwestern Quebec sparked the upturn. Bisey Rock Iron mines was higher and Consolidated Smelters brightened.

Junior golds provided added pennies in very dull dealings. Pacific Petroleum and Trocklills were strong in western oils.

Smoke and Fire Damage Heavy In Local Blaze

Smoke and fire damage running into many hundreds of dollars resulted early this morning when a faulty motor in a refrigeration counter at the grocery store owned by Ray Fritz, North Front Street and Harvey Street, caught fire.

The blaze was noticed shortly after four o'clock by a passerby who roused the owner sleeping in the house next door.

Firemen who answered the alarm found that the fire had burned through the meat counter completely destroying the counter and its contents, while smoke damage was heavy throughout the entire store.

An unusual feature of the blaze was that while one part of the steel topped refrigerator counter was red hot, bottles of soft drinks in another compartment were still ice cold.

Showing almost unanimous approval members of the Chamber of Commerce attending an open-forum meeting on Tuesday evening at the Ex. Showers' Parish House favored the establishment of recreational commission in the city. Lorne McDougall presided as chairman.

Setting up of a recreational commission in Belleville was only one of several subjects discussed during the meeting, the others being the differential hospital rate county patients are called upon to-pay at Belleville hospital, and the setting up of a citizens' committee within the Chamber of Commerce to deal with matters relating to the entire city.

Fred Adams reporting for the recreational commission steering committee, said the need for just an organization in the city was the first step necessary to establish such an organization.

Suggestion for Commission

It was suggested the members of such a commission would be drawn from the council, one from city council, the school board, the Separate School Board, the Women's Associations, the Home and School Clubs, two citizens representatives and one representatives from each of the service clubs.

Mr. Adams said it was felt that efforts should be made to work with such recreational facilities that were available in the city. He said there were government grants available to assist in paying a recreational director, and an assistant, as well as a grant for maintenance.

Board of Education member Mr. George Hibart pointed out that all organizations in the city were in favour of establishment of the recreational commission but a unified approach was needed to put the matter before council.

Report on Surcharge

Mr. Brewer Hunt reported on the surcharge for county patients at the hospital and stressed that it was a highly controversial subject. He said the Belleville Chamber of Commerce members felt the surcharge was not in the best interests of the city, but at the same time agreed that the city was committed to assist in paying the operational deficit.

Commenting only facts Mr. Hunt cited residential and non-residential rates for the hospital, showing that private rooms cost city residents $8.50 per day with $2 surcharge for county patients. Semi-private rooms cost city residents $7 per day with a surcharge of $1.75 per day for county patients. Ward rates for city residents were $5 per day with a $1.50 surcharge for non residents.

Not Setting Precedent

Here he pointed out that Belleville had not set a precedent in adopting differential rates for county patients. He named several other Ontario centres which were charging non-residents a higher rate.

At the same time rates at Belleville hospital were lower than in many other hospitals, including Kingston, Peterborough.

Mr. Hunt went on to say that the cost per day for each indigent patient at the hospital for 1946 was $8.82, not including extras, while the average cost per patient per day in 1947 was $7.50. "In many other hospitals the average operating cost ranged from $8 to $12 per patient day," he said.

Referring to the county picture Mr. Hunt said that under the municipal act the county paid $2.50 per day for indigent patients, while the province paid 75 cents per day. In addition the county had made a grant of $8,000 to the county claiming that this amount with their payment of $2.50 per day totalled the maximum for indigent patients to $5.25 per day, which was above the ward rate for city residents.

However, the actual deficit on indigent county patients amounted to $16,000 per year and this was what the city was asking the county to pay.

Since taking over the hospital the city of Belleville had piled up a debenture debt of $263,000 which were being paid by the taxpayers of Belleville.

A. T. Ransom asked which was stronger financially, the city or the county. He said if the county was in the better position, it was only fair that the city should pay a share of the county indigent patient costs.

Mr. Hunt pointed out the hospital was owned by the city and the city was refused to maintain it for its own use. He said Mr. Ransom's point was a good one.

Mayor Thos Sarv Says Mayor

Mayor D. L. Storey said the only solution to the problem was for the county to come in and pay a share of the actual costs of the hospital and then pay a share of the annual deficit. He said additional accommodation was desperately needed as patients were being turned away every day. He prophesied that unless the city received financial help with the hospital the city tax rate would go up next year from five to seven mills.

Mr. C. J. Freeman was in accord with Mayor Storey. He said the county should be told that the surcharge was unfair and the county voted the grant required.

Mr. Fred Eggs agreed that accommodation at the hospital was over-taxed and was getting more serious daily. Improvements had to be done and done quickly as conditions were getting desperate," he said.

Organization of a citizens' committee was approved by the members present. This committee would be composed of representatives from all organizations in the city, Mayor D. L. Storey pledged his full interest in head of the committee.

Anton R. Lendl, celebrated Swiss traveller and lecturer, was guest speaker at the evening and in conjunction with the showing of colorful slides depicting Switzerland and the Swiss people. Lendl had managed to remain neutral during the course of the two great conflicts. Topic of Mr. Lendl's talk was "Pattern for Peace."

The speaker described Switzerland as a mountainous country of but four million inhabitants who through quality production had gained a world market for its watchmaking experts. Approximately 90 per cent of the watches and clocks the requirements was supplied from Switzerland. As result the Swiss people enjoyed without natural resources was able to maintain a standard of living the highest in the world.

Four Nationalities

Although four different nationalities speaking four different languages, French, Italian, German, Italian and Romanish, lived in Switzerland, Mr. Lendl said unity was made possible by virtue of tolerance and international understanding. For years a democratic way of life had been followed, the government was truly national.

Colorful slides shown by Mr. Lendl showed the majestic Swiss mountains peaceful pastures and cities ancient and both the ancient and modern. In addition two short films depicting the winter sports and the recent Olympics winter games were shown.

Car Passenger Suffers Fractured Pelvis in Crash

William Lorimer, 122 Chatham Street, Belleville, suffered a fractured pelvis, and three other occupants were injured in a collision early morning, when the car in which they were riding struck a three-ton truck and pushed into a tree at the corner of Sidney Ave., and Dufferin Ave.

Police stated that a car driven by William Temple, accompanied with Lorimer, Robert Temple, 216 Dufferin Ave., city, and William Quinnell, Stirling, was proceeding south on Bleecker when, as it crossed the causeway, a truck of Dundas Street II was struck by a truck driven by Alexander Whyte, Ivanhoe.

The force of the impact caved in the side of the car and crushed it against a tree. Lorimer was riding on the side of the car which was struck. Temple was alone in the rear seat. Lorimer was taken to hospital where he was attended by Dr. J Russell Scott.

The four young men were en route to Montreal to attend the convention of the Young Liberal Association.

Hastings County Home Residents Enjoy Movies

Made possible through the use of cars volunteered by members of the various service clubs in the city, elderly residents of the Hastings county home during the past summer have been enabled to enjoy a movie at Drive-In Theatre just west of the city.

Members of each service club in the city took their turns in taking the elderly people to the drive-in theatre with the first trip being taken on each occasion. Last week Kinsmen Club members took approximately 30 residents of the home to the theatre.

County Home officials, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Yorke on each occasion, thanked the various members of the unselfish gesture on the part of the service clubs and members which allowed residents of the home to enjoy a movie that otherwise may have been impossible. Following the show club members were entertained to lunch by Mr. and Mrs. Yorke, while the theatre manager Mr. Phillips also expressed his appreciation to members of the service clubs for their co-operation.

ISSUED NO ORDERS

The witness said the extent of consultation between the captain and himself was limited to an exchange of opinion that the fire was burning seriously.

Wood said that after coming out of the wheel house he could get a full view of deck because of fire on both the starboard and port sides.

"Did you make any attempt to rouse passengers on A deck?" Mr. Cowan followed fire and banged on windows."

Fixes Net Working

Wood said he tried to communicate with other members of the ship by telephone but it was not working. Eventually he got down on B deck by a ladder.

On B deck, he saw passengers on the forward deck who asked what they could do to get off. He told them to go down to C deck, and all went.

Wood said he saw no other officer of the crew on B deck.

On C deck, Wood said he found more passengers than he had seen on B deck or the upper D deck. He said he saw no other officers or members of the crew on this deck.

Wood said he went forward and let a rope over the side to let the passengers down on the port side.

"I didn't get very far. The ropes were full of fire". He told Mr. Pickup that at no time had he seen anyone in the operation on the port side of C deck.

"During all this time you were not in receipt of instructions given to anyone to go and rouse passengers?" said Mr. Pickup.

"Not that I know of," replied Wood.

"You gave no instructions to any one?"

"No."

Wood said he first realized the fire was beyond control when he came out of the wheelhouse after sounding the klaxon alarm.

The first officer said he did not use the ship-to-shore telephone to call the fire department, as there was a "very slow operation". He estimated it would take three minutes to get a connection.

"Did you think of it?"

Wood said he believed it was more difficult to fight fire at sea than at dock.

The witness said he was unable to say the speed with which the fire that destroyed the Humonic went beyond control after it broke out.

(The Hamonic, stater ship of the Noronic, burned at Point Edward, Oct. 1 1946.)

Frank Wilkinson, counsel for the Canadian Steamship Lines, owners, said in the case of the Hamonic the fire spread to the ship from a dock and did not break out on board.

Wood said Mr. Wilkinson he was the officer responsible for instructing men of their duties in the event of fire.

The witness said it was his emergency duty to remain on board to show him the location of his fire hydrant and boat stations, and inform him of the watch he is to stand.

Advocates City-Owned Crematorium in London

London, Ont., Oct. 12 (CP) — City councillors Tuesday night had a discussion on the feasibility and operated crematoria and decided to seek further information before taking action on the need for such an establishment for London. Capt. F. Reynolds said that operation of a crematorium was not a matter for privately owned firms but for the city itself. He claimed that cremation is recognized by health authorities as the most hygienic method of disposing of the dead, and is "easier" on mourners than visiting cemeteries in varied weather.

Window Display Of Fire Equipment Draws Attention

Serving the dual purpose of drawing attention to Fire Prevention Week being held this week, and familiarizing residents with the work and history of the local fire department, an attractive window display at Shaw's Men's Wear is drawing considerable attention.

The very latest in fire fighting equipment back in 1906 is depicted in a large framed photograph captioned "Hook and Ladder Company." The picture shows the hook and ladder wagon hauled by a spanking team of horses and manned by members of the department at that date.

Picture of the three former fire chiefs are included in the display. There is a picture of the first man to head the local department, Fire Chief Stirling, and pictures also together with members of the fire committee from city council.

Fire hazards calling on citizens to "Help Your Fire Department to Help You" and "Fight Fire With Fire Prevention" are centrally displayed above the uniforms, helmets and coats. Rounding out the display are pictures of the fire which have taken place in the city in recent years.

COMMUNISTS PUT

Government employees hurried to the docks before Reds came into Canton. Their destination: Chungking. The fate of the Chinese millions in the northwest will again be the refugee capital as it was during the World War.

Go to Hong Kong

Practically all foreign diplomats already had quit Canton. Most of them came to Hong Kong. They will proceed to Chungking under their own steam or by plane. Only a few commercies of transportation offered by the Nationalists.

Long-bodied trucks and carts streamed endlessly towards Canton's railway station, which was jammed. Every plane, ship and train to the British Crown colony in the south was booked to capacity.

The poor, the hundreds of thousands of Canton's ordinary people, were stuck. They could find nothing but wait for the Reds to take over. Most didn't seem to care. Their attitude: How much worse could it be, anyway?

Leaders Squabble

Chinese newspapers said acting President Li Tsung-Jen may go to Kunlin, capital of Kwangsi Province, instead of following the government to Chungking. He would join Pai Chung-Hsi, Kwangsi associate. Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, who has just withdrawn troops from Kwangsi—the best unified force remaining, to the Nationalists.

Li was again trying to resist efforts by "retired" President Chiang Kai-Shek to run the south China show. Pai's abrupt withdrawal from Human Province was said to have resulted from Chiang's failure to provide sufficient funds from the treasury on Formoso to pay the troops.

Bandshell Needed In City, Kinsmen Members Told

The need for an open air auditorium or bandshell from which band concerts and choir festivals may be held during the summer months, was stressed to members of the local Kinsmen Club at their regular dinner meeting held at the Hotel Quinte Monday evening.

As guest speaker for the evening, Reginald Hinchey, well-known local bandsman and writer of band music, told members of the service club that a bandshell was a "must" if the entire band organization in the city was to continue to flourish.

"The Kinsmen Club have sponsored a boys' band in the city but what will become of these boys when they graduate from the Kinsmen band?" asked Mr. Hinchey. "They will be without an opportunity to hold their musical prowess unless the senior band continues to flourish. And to do that a bandshell is necessity."

Can Hold Their Own

Belleville bandsmen could hold their own with other bands in the province, he said, and cited as an example the fact that there was a "natural" as a location for a bandshell. This was in east Belleville where the property could be developed with a bandshell, seating accommodation for 800 to 1,000 persons and additional facilities for parked autos. He said that for spectators to remain interested in a band concert they must be comfortably seated.

Praises Club Effort

Mr. Hinchey commended the local service club for their efforts in establishing a boys' band in the city and stated there was a saying in Great Britain Band Association "Teach a boy to blow a horn and he will never blow a gun."

This was true, he pointed out, as he never had heard of a boy bandsman being in prison.

The speaker went on to stress the good work that is being done by police bands throughout Western Ontario, seven of which had a membership of up to 70 players. Many of these boys were among the most troublesome prior to their joining the band.

School bands in Belleville were coming along fine and considerable money was being spent on training. But eventually players must lay down their instruments as members of boys' bands and their only musical outlet would then be through a senior band.

Mr. Hinchey said it had been long felt that a bandshell "would some day be constructed in Victoria Park, thus making the city on a par with many other Ontario centres. The local $25 million park provided an outlet for the athletic inclined but unfortunately sports was not the whole life of a community. Many residents had interests in music and other activities.

No Figures Cited

No cost figures for the construction of a bandshell were cited by Mr. Hinchey. He did stress, however, that in the east of the city there was a natural site for a bandshell which could easily be developed.

During the business session of the meeting it was decided to incorporate the Kinsmen Club, thus protecting members against personal liability.

Mrs. Lorraine Marsh, formerly of Toronto, entertained club members with a number of solos to the piano accompaniment of Glen Tamblyn, club member. In true microphone style Mrs. Marsh sang some popular tunes numbers, the applause she received indicating the appreciation of the members. President Ernie Colebourne presided over the meeting.

FIRES SEEM SO REMOTE

It would seem, most of us bury our heads in the sand, figuratively speaking, when we think of fire losses. They are something remote, something which cannot happen to us, as individuals. But they do happen to someone, otherwise there would be no accounting for Canada's fire loss of more than $47,000,000 in 1948 and the loss of over 300 lives.

Why is there such an appalling loss in a country such as this, populated by approximately 13,000,000 souls? The answer is simply because most of us are inordinately careless. We do not stop to think. A carelessly discarded cigarette; misuse of gasoline or other inflammable liquids, or materials; carelessness in winter heating of the home, or in watching for possible sources of fire through pipes near wooden beams becoming overheated . . . these are simple instances of "causes" which constantly appear in the fire records.

In Canada the "Board" insurance companies have, during the last few decades, built up a system of inspection, co-operation with governing bodies, distribution of educational matter and, in divers ways, helped to try to reduce the loss, but, they admit, there is a great deal to be done. Through their associations they are constantly bringing to the attention of authorities and industry suggestions for reducing hazards and building up resistance against the fire demon. But, basically, this problem rests with the individual you, me, the other fellow. The safety of this fellow men, devolves the duty of first "casting the mote out of his own eye." This can be done by the individual making it his own responsibility to see that he has no possible fire hazards in his house, his office or his factory. If he has, or thinks he has, any questions as to conditions in his territory should be consulted. So it would be a good idea in Fire Prevention Week for everyone to start at once to see what he, or she, can do about this serious problem which is, actually, taking money out of the pockets of Canadians, reducing employment opportunities and generally causing indescribable distress and inconvenience.

Last year revealed that 10 per cent of all building fires broke out in the home. These home fires totalled 38,889.

The fact that 22 per cent of the fire deaths occur to children under 5 emphasizes the need for greater care and caution on the part of women in the home.

Fire authorities point out that 90 per cent of home fires are preventable. They are caused by ordinary household hazards that can be corrected with a little care.

"Carelessness in little things causes most of the trouble," Fire Prevention engineers maintain. "The leading cause of fire in the home is still matches and smoking—nearly one-fifth of all fires are started because someone left a cigarette lying on a table or smoked in bed or did any number of careless things with cigarettes and matches."

VOLUME OF TRAFFIC

Indicating the volume of traffic on the highways of Ontario is the increased number of motor vehicles of all kinds, which at the end of August this year had reached 982,098. That is an increase of 88,742 over the previous year.

Driving these vehicles are 1,219,899 licensed drivers. This is nearly double the number of drivers who were on the highways and streets and sidetracks in the last year of the Second World War when they numbered only 662,719 for the full year 1945. The number of drivers given for this year goes only as far as the end of August.

This volume of cars and number of drivers can only mean an intensification of the problem of traffic which moves every day of the year over the network of roads, highways and streets.

This giant system of communication which in summer also takes care of a large increase in the form of travel by visitors to the country, especially people from our good neighbor country to the south, calls for every unit car or vehicle being driven and handled by every driver or operator with a perfection of operation to keep the wheels of traffic moving with a minimum of mishaps.

Unfortunately there are many accidents, which fact calls for each driver to subject himself or herself to a close self-analysis to see if anything he or she does while driving may lead to a collision.

To avoid such must be the aim of every driver.

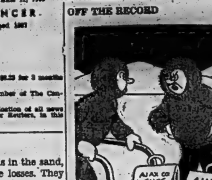
COLUMBUS

'Tis said Columbus didn't know
When he set sail where he would go,
And couldn't tell the Spanish Queen,
When he returned, where he had been.
'Tell on! Sail on!' he boldly said,
Not knowing where his courage led.



Five hundred years ago and more
Columbus reached an unnamed shore,
Not knowing, with the journey done,
Where he had been or where he'd won.

The dawn of freedom had begun
Not knowing, when his sails were furled,
He'd found the hope of all the world.

Well, is there any man who knows
How far in life his shadow goes?
Each, as Columbus, starts at birth
His little journey on the earth,
And what will follow, at the close,
Of good or evil never knows.

Ross Irwin, formerly of Trenton, has opened an automobile repair shop on Moira Street East.

Victor White and Milton Davidson, representing the Young Men's Section; Jack Carter representing the older Employed Boys; and Bill McCreary representing High School Boys of the local Y.M.C.A. left today with General Secretary Joseph E. Shortt, to attend an Eastern Ontario Conference of young men of the Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough. Delegates will be present from Toronto, Oshawa, Oriental, Trenton, Napanee, Picton and Kingston.

It seems almost too good to be true, yet nevertheless it is a fact that Belleville is the home town of the champions of the Ontario Baseball Association.

In the final game here before a great crowd of spectators, on a half holiday which was declared by the Mayor especially for the occasion, the G.T.R. team defeated the Harvesters of Hamilton by a score of 5 to 0. A week ago they defeated the same team in Hamilton by a score of 5 to 2. The Harvesters are the champions of Waterborough was the umpire on bases. It was a great game and Belleville is proud of the boys. At the end of the game Cooper was carried around the diamond upon the shoulders of admirers while the 15th Regimental Band followed in line playing lively tunes, the cheering was loud and long. The following composed the Belleville G.T.R. team: Ross, Smith, Weir, Mills, Gerow, Kelleher, Whalen, Symons and Cooper. Congratulations are due not only to the team but also to Thomas Fegg, manager of the team, who is alive wire. The music furnished by the band under the leadership of Bandmaster Reg. Hinds-ley was much enjoyed.

Aldermanic candidates in Murray Ward are said to be as numerous as the loose nails on the aldes of the footbridge.

One thing about the ward system is that if a man is popular in his own ward he will be elected; if he is not popular he will not be elected. And generally speaking a man is known best at home.

This morning two cyclists collided at the corner of Bridge and Front Street. This fast riding should be stopped by the authorities without delay.

By the prompt action of Mr. Strachan, night watchman at the Belleville Hardware Company's plant a serious fire was averted. He discovered the blaze on his rounds and notified the police. Sergt. Hayes and Constable Hervey were able to extinguish the fire and little damage resulted.

Mrs. J. L. Clapper of Foxboro brought in the Intelligencer editorial room today, raspberries in bloom a second crop on the same bushes this year.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By Billy Rose

'This afternoon I went in for my annual check-up, and after probing me here and tapping me there the doctor opined that I was in tolerably good shape.

"What are my chances of living to be a hundred?" I asked.

The medico grinned. "Even if I knew I wouldn't tell you," he said. "A while back I told a patient he had only a year to live, and now he's threatening to sue me for a hundred thousand dollars."

"I'll swap you a pair of tickets to 'South Pacific' for the yarn," I said.

"Fair enough," said the doctor. "Two years ago, a well-known toy manufacturer came in for a check-up, and when I looked at his cardiogram I couldn't figure out what was behind his ears. For a quarter century he had been working around the clock in a highly competitive business, eating all the wrong things and drinking more than the cord handle to relieve the tension. In addition, he had had no social life except use for his wife and vice versa.

"I told him how critical his condition was and that, barring a miracle, his only figure to live more than a year.

"The toy man thanked me for being honest with him, and the following month I heard he had sold his business, made up his fortune between his wife and various charities, arranged for her to get a divorce, and gone off to Mexico with just enough money to last him for a year.

"Returning, I was upset when I learned he had gone to these extremes. So I called him about a few weeks later when he wrote and told me he had rented a small house on a hill overlooking Cuernavaca and was spending his days mostly just sitting. He said he had bought a tractor to farm the land with things that so far had not turned it on, and instead of the milk diet I recommended he had substituted tequila.

"Last June he walked into my office only because he had gotten rid of his wife and business, that's what I call real sick. He's been talking to a brick wall. And next think I knew, I heard he was threatening to sue me for a hundred thousand dollars."

"Did you settle out of court as well as that of a case," I said.

"Well, even if he goes through with it, I'm not worrying. "I'm not worrying because it generally takes a corpse a year for a civil suit to come up in court.

"Two years isn't very long," I smiled.

"In this instance, it's long enough," said the doctor, "because if after the toy man got back to New York he dug up a fresh bankroll and began working around the clock, eating the wrong things and drinking more than the cord handle, I'd go to a physician who examined him not long ago, and he told me the fellow hadn't got more than a year to live."

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

The world owes a good deal to the assertive type of person. They clear the air. They give vent to decisions. They make things up and everybody else cracking. But now and then their assertiveness causes them trouble. And last night in a bus, I witnessed a rather pitiful instance.

The bus was packed from the start; and the narrow aisle was crowded with standees. One of the standees caused a good deal of irritation among the other passengers. He was a big, red-faced chirpy or so, with a hearty, ruddy face and a cheery smile. He had directions on his wedged himself out of the way for passengers wishing to get on or off, moves past him, in or out of the bus.

But there was something about the way the big, ruddy traffic man attracted the notice of us all. I, for example, found myself wondering how useless was the size and weight some men carried. What a public nuisance such men can be, especially in buses!

The inquiring glances he got from persons struggling past him and one by one each person suggested that I was not the only one conscious of him.

Gradually the aisle was empty, and vacant seats were available, the big fellow still stood in the middle of them. He continued to stand in the aisle, holding the bus rail and barking. This aroused the assertive man sharing the seat beside me. He called my attention to the use...

"Why don't that big lug sit down and make room for us?" he muttered to me, hitching his shoulders irritably. "Standing there, grinning like a fool!"

Even when a seat right beside the big man became free, the big fellow did not sit down. Then came my seat neighbor's turn to leave the bus. He got up, and I followed. As he passed the big lug he snapped:

"Why'n't you sit down, instead of blocking the aisle?"

We all felt sorry for everybody; for the big man, for the assertive man and for ourselves.

HAVE FAITH IN YOUTH

A mother wrote me recently telling me of an interesting piece of religious work her fifteen year daughter was engaged during the summer. With every opportunity to relax and enjoy herself, this young lady prefers to be in a Bible and camp development section of New York City, doing a heroic service for which she will be rewarded, probably, with little more than her experience.

In answering the mother's letter I wrote: "What you tell me about your daughter fills my heart with joy. Many young folks take our breath away. The wild ones race

Canada Trying To Negotiate Bigger Contract

He also informed members that indications up to now are that Canada will be able to sell all the poultry products she can produce in 1950.

During discussion on his department's estimates, Mr. Gardiner said that the cheese contract for this year called for 50,000,000 pounds, at the end of the season Canada had found herself with 110,000,000 pounds and then she had contracted to sell.

This had been due to a switch from canned milk to cheese, which had resulted in a greater cheese production than had been expected last year, He expressed belief the extra 10,000,000 pounds could have been sold to Britain at the time the contract was being negotiated, but the authorities known it would be available.

C.C.F. Will Not Enter Candidate In By-Election

Brockville, Oct. 13 — (CP) — The C.C.F. party in Leeds Provincial Constituency announced Tuesday it will not enter a candidate in the Ontario by-election called for Oct. 31. The withdrawal leaves only two contestants for the only vacant seat in the provincial legislature.

The seat was made vacant by the death of Senator B. Hartwell, Progressive Conservative, during the last legislature.

BEVERAGES AND SLEEP

For everyone, young or old, vigorous or infirm, healthy or sickly, the best all-around drinking potion is milk, hot, cold or as you like it, straight, buttermilk, fermented or "cultured milk" (Bulgarian, Acidophilus, Yoghurt etc.) or flavored to suit your taste. Tea and coffee, not only coffee because a cup of coffee contains more caffeine than a cup of tea, notoriously tend to keep one awake if taken late at night. But the effects of coffee taken last only about two hours, so tea or coffee taken before 7 p.m. does not interfere with sleep if bed-time is not earlier than 10:30 p.m.

Some persons can take strong coffee or tea at bed time as they wish and still sleep soundly within the next hour or two, while others with arteriosclerosis got out of bed at 2 or 3 a.m. nights when overtaxing the kidneys, treat himself a pot of strong coffee, drank a cup or two of it, and got back to bed and slept soundly the rest of the night. I have no explanation to offer.

I do believe a great many poor geeks deny themselves the comfort and relief of coffee without good reason. What this country needs is more and better coffee and less of it, not only as a day rate. Good coffee, that is, coffee properly made, is a stench relief to the tired soul. French fried potatoes, I can't tell you how to make them, but I can, fried, but in the rèd book (What to Eat and Why, twenty-five cents postpaid in coin in a stamped envelope) I tell you how to make coffees and tea properly.

Bad coffee is the handmaiden propensities but good coffee taken three hours or more before bed time, is a comforting and sound, refreshing sleep.

Alcoholic beverages—wine, ale, beer, but not liquor of any kind—used in moderation, are helpful to persons who are feeble or infirm' are preferable to any kind of medicine for aiding sleep. Old men or middle aged persons who still retain most of their faculties are inclined but have not from the use of alcohol, in my opinion.

Finally I want to leave this thought in your mind. Even the long, long hours of the night when you are unable to sleep anyway not as soundly as you would like, you are getting and recuperating nevertheless, provided you just lie quietly thinking no matter what about the matter? Not the matter of your inability to sleep. Think of any pleasant thing that happened days ago. Think of pleasant scenes far away. Let your fancy dwell on happy events of your life, and first thing you know you won't know anything.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Arrest Tuberculosis

Sister discharged from tuberculosis sanatorium "arrested" goes to business every day, attends movies etc, but feels that any exercise is forbidden because of her arms—will injure lungs. What is your opinion? Would a carpet of miniature golf, handball, dancing. (Mrs. F. M.)

Answer—Any individual who has tuberculosis may be called tuberculosis, not tubercular, for the word might mean syphilis or leprosy or other disease. The tuberculosis germ is a microscopic creature. Your sister should take only such exercise as her physician prescribes. Use of the arms will injure the lungs no more that use of the legs.

Warts

Husband has a lot of small warts on his hands and arms. What causes them and what can I do about them? (Mrs. R. L. S.)

Answer—Why not take the little boy to the doctor? Numerous methods of removing warts are described in the books of Counsel of Health. Perhaps send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope.

The Magazine Penis Him

In your column and in a popular magazine I read that goitre is caused by hyperthyroidism and that iodine is preventive. In another popular magazine and another health column I read that iodine may cause hyperthyroidism and goitre. In still another magazine at any rate, I read that iodine corrects hyperthyroidism and low basal metabolism...all together confusing. (G. W. H.)

Answer—If you can show me a clipping of the column in which iodine causes goitre is caused by hyperthyroidism I'll send you an autographed complimentary set of Little Lessons in the Ways of Health. An adequate daily ration of iodine unquestionably prevents both simple and exophalmic (hyperthyroidal) goitre. There is no evidence that it ever causes hyperthroidism or goitre. The untoward effects of large doses of iodine or iodide are matters best left to the judgment of your physician.

Menopause

Can you explain the cause of intense burning and drawing in legs, reaching almost to hips, also nervousness? Loss of life? Are menopause causes no symptoms. It is incidental to what ails you.

Blackstrap

Our town has "discovered" blackstrap molasses as a tonic and food stores have taken over when the drugstores can't supply the demand. Is there any advantage in using blackstrap in place of ordinary molasses? (Mrs. E. R.)

Answer—Adelle Davis points out many times as rich vitamins and mineral content. A tablespoonful of it contains as R Right. For instance blackstrap is ten times richer in thiamine over ordinary molasses in her famous book Let's Cook It Right. Lets use a glass of milk, and as much iron as 9 eggs.

WEDDINGS

WRIGHT—FACK

A pretty wedding took place at Holloway United Church on Saturday, Oct. 1, at 3 p.m., when Luella Irene Mae, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fack, became the bride of Kenneth Murray Wright, son of Mr. Murney Wright, Belleville, and the late Mrs. Wright, in a double ring ceremony. The Rev. C. A. Perkins, pastor of the church, officiated before a background of gladioli and ferns.

The wedding music was rendered by Mr. William Connor, organist of the church and Mr. Bill Colden, soloist, sang before the ceremony. "Because", and during the signing of the register, "I Love You Truly".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her bridal gown of white organza with nylon yoke clasped with seed pearls. The skirt was hooped in front, and looped to show the frilled underskirt. Her full length veil of silk tulle illusion was caught to a headdress of lily of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Viva Hubbs, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a gown of pink net over taffeta sheath, matching bonnet and gloves. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Dorothy Clarke, of Belleville, was bridesmaid, gowned in yellow taffeta with matching bonnet and gloves, and carrying a shower bouquet of roses and stephanotis.

Mr. Carl Wright, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Bill Moore and Mr. Gerald Pack.

The reception was held at the Bar-B-Q, Belleville, where the bride's mother, gowned in claret wine with black accessories, and a corsage of roses, assisted by Mrs. Douglas Moore, Rossmore, who was gowned in green with brown accessories and corsage of roses, received the guests.

For travelling to Toronto, and Buffalo, the bride chose a suit of wine colored gabardine, with black accessories, and corsage of roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Wright will reside in Belleville.

The bridesgroom's gift to his bride was a three-strand necklace of pearls; to his groomsman, and ushers, neckties. The bride's gifts to her attendants were earrings.

Mrs. Marguerite Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Viva Hubbs, entertained at a shower held prior to the marriage, when the young couple were the recipients of many lovely gifts.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The W.M.S. of the United Church of Shannonville held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Sam Elliott, on Thursday afternoon last with 21 ladies present. The President, Mrs. Frank Doxtator, was in charge and Mrs. L. W. Scott acted as pianist. The president welcomed the visitors and thanked the ladies for coming her home for the meeting.

Minutes of the last meeting were given by the Secretary, Mrs. Robertson and adopted as read. Roll call was responded to by repeating a verse containing the word "Faith". A card of thanks from Mrs. Walter Morden was read by the secretary, also a letter of thanks from Ompah for the parcel sent for supply work this year. A letter in answer to one sent by the secretary to Seagrave where the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Lougheed have begun their work in their new field of labor, was read. A letter asking the auxillary to strive for new members and in other ways to increase their efforts to commemorate the first 25 years of Church Union.

Mrs. W. D. Robertson was appointed delegate to the annual rally to be held this year at Trenton. Mrs. Saul MacFarlane took charge of the worship service, the subject being "Thanksgiving". Several ladies read Scripture references and hymns of Thanksgiving were sung.

The group leader took up a chapter of the Study Book "Growing With the Years" showing the great work being done by the church in the new province of Newfoundland. Letters of appreciation from isolated families who had partaken of the Lord's Supper when the service was conducted by the radio minister, were also read. These letters were all printed in the Study Book and showed what a wonderful work the church is doing in these far out of the way places.

Offering was taken and dedicated.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Elliott and her assistants and a social time was enjoyed.

The next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Wood on November 3rd.

54th Wedding Anniversary Is Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. James Reeder, 97 Camilton Road, were the guests of honor at a surprise party held at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. Bushell, Donald Street, to commemorate their 54th wedding anniversary on October 8.

The happy couple and guests passed an enjoyable evening playing cards, dancing and community singing.

Refreshments were served and to add to the occasion there was a beautiful cake suitably decorated. As the evening came to a close the guests wished Mr. and Mrs. Reeder many more happy anniversaries.

Prize winners in cards and dances were: Ladies' 1st, Mrs. Mansfield and Ladies' consolation, Mrs. June Blaind; Men's 1st, Mr. W. Blaind and Men's consolation, Mr. James Mansfield. Guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. Little and travelling prize, Mrs. G. Dusenberry.

Fashion Flashes

NEW VERSIONS of the indispensable topper are now in the shops. Good for college or country is a single-breasted topper of navy blue cheviolla with leather binding on collar, down front and on the four pocket flaps. Coat is lined with red jersey.

THE CAMELS are here, so far as color is concerned. College shops are showing dresses, suits, accessories, hats, all in camel brown, and of cheviolla in tweed and jersey mix and matchmates. In some costumes the camel brown is filled with medium gray.

BIRDS FLY onto many of the new hats, or, at any rate, their feathers do. Mauve pink velvet makes a nice little hat for late afternoon wear. The brim is shaped and slanted, the crown tucked. A flat swirl of black pigeon's wings follows the line of the brim and adds height to it.

PENCIL - SLIM wrap-around coats in fabric with huge upstanding crush collars of fur are endorsed by the leading houses here and abroad. Beige woollen is used for a slim, wrap-around coat with a high, upturned cup collar lined with baum marten and finished with loops and tails of the fur.

A TOUCH of red marks many of the new suits. Black and white novelty check tweed is used for a town or country suit with red velvet inset in the collar, also covering the buttons and used for piping on the flap pockets.

A GOOD BUY in the budget fur bracket is the coat of racoon, Newfoundland or long-haired. Sheared raccoon is used for a fine great-coat with small collar worked into soft tuxedo folds. Large flap pockets and wide turn-back cuffs.

Women's Auxiliary Of P.E. Deanery To Meet in City

A meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Prince Edward Deanery, in which is included the Anglican parishes in this city, will be held in the Parish Hall at Christ Church on Thursday of this week. There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion in the church at 10.30 o'clock at which the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Reginald Savary, B.A., B.D. Following luncheon in the Parish Hall, the business session will be opened and reports will be received from the representatives from the various parishes. An address will be made by Mrs. Leslie Hunt, Candidates' Secretary on the Dominion Board of the Auxiliary, Toronto, and Mrs. J. de Pencier Wright, of Kingston, president; Mrs. W. Fayne, Kingston, and Miss E. Saunders, Treasurer of the Woman's Auxiliary Board in the Diocese of Ontario will also address the meeting.

St. John Ambulance Corps Holds Variety Show at County Home

On Saturday afternoon, the St. John Ambulance Corps entertained the old people at the County Home with a variety show, and gave to each one a bag of candy as a treat for Thanksgiving Day. Both the show and the treats were greatly appreciated by those who no longer find it easy to go about in the active life.

Much credit is due to Mrs. K. Ashley, and to Mrs. C. Price for their unstinting work and encouragement in making the afternoon such a success, and in giving so much of enjoyment to those of the Home.

Skunk is a Skunk To U.S. Congress

Washington — (CP) — The subtle glamor surrounding that certain fur coat is in jeopardy, milady!

The hair-raising idea is contained in a bill that would require manufacturers to place on the label of each coat the true English name of the animal which produced the fur and to add whether it is bleached, dyed or made of scrap pieces.

The measure, passed by the House of Representatives, is being studied by a sub-committee of the Senate.

With the fervor of old-time politicians defending American motherhood, fur merchants and processors pleaded with the sub-committee not to de-glamorize milady's "dream" number.

The name of the animal doesn't interest the average woman, said Manfred H. Benedek, counsel for the Associated Fur Manufacturers Inc. Except maybe to gratify her curiosity, he said, and that's a minor consideration.

"The prime consideration of every woman buying a fur coat," he said, "is glamor — how good looking is the coat and how good will she look wearing it."

Let's settle that, Benedek insisted.

Joseph L. Stein, general counsel for Fur Dressers and Fur Dyers Association, had a different observation:

"We have done for fur that which nature could not do; that which no other country in the world could do. Our purpose has been to produce fur that looks far more expensive than it is."

A woman's "psychological approach to everyday life" is enriched when she dons her new, but modestly-priced, fur coat, said Stein, because it "makes her feel as if she is as well dressed as Mrs. Astor or any other woman on Fifth Avenue."

Belleville Section of W.M.S. Of United Church Gathers In Trenton for 24th Meeting

The twenty - fourth annual meeting of Belleville section of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada was held in Grace United Church, Trenton, Tuesday, October 11th, 1948.

Mrs. Ralph Sills, Vice-president presided at both morning and afternoon sessions. Mrs. F. Ruchstuhl, secretary, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the W. M. S. of Grace Church.

Mrs. Bell, Literature secretary in reporting new books of interest said "The Literature department is the strong arm of the W. M. S." In this anniversary year, when the 25th anniversary of the United Church of Canada will be celebrated, there has been selected for reading in the auxiliaries an anniversary bookshelf containing many books on missionary topics and subjects of current world interest. All members were urged to read and study "Growing with the Years" by K. J. Beaton, who was commissioned to write a book comprising the history and achievements of the United Church. It was suggested that reading circles be formed in each Auxiliary. The Literature table was well patronized.

Trained from Child

Miss Millicent Howse, B. A., formerly of Angola, was the guest speaker. She was introduced by Mrs. A. Empey, who mentioned that she was born in Newfoundland, a daughter of the parsonage, dedicated and trained for Christian missions from a small child. Miss Howse told of returning to Canada from Angola in 1945 on furlough. She had a recurrence of eye trouble first experienced in 1940. Canadian doctors were unable to diagnose the disease, all thought of returning to her mission field had to be abandoned. However a cure was later effected at the Lederle Laboratories, New York by using the miracle drug, betrazan. This drug is the hope of two hundred million people in the tropics suffering from various forms of filariasis.

Today Miss Howse is a happy woman, and is making arrangements to return to Africa. Speaking of her work in the mission field as an evangelist, she mentioned that the native African is tormented by three kinds of darkness — material, spiritual, and physical. They are 100 per cent lacking in what we consider the ordinary fundamentals of learning — no books — no schools. There is no word for "Love" in their language. The difficulty of preaching the Gospel in a language where there is no word for the central theme can be appreciated. Children are known as even the simplest forms of sanitation. Their homes typify the darkness in which they live out their lives. Infant and maternal mortality rates are exceptionally high. Fever, malaria and unhealthy superstitions haunt their lives from the cradle to the grave.

Settle in Small Villages

Africans settle in small villages. A mission station may have 200 villages covering a wide area to supervise. The missionary workers are now provided with cars, which facilitates the work a great deal. Ninety-five percent of the work of the evangelist is in leadership training. By training the native to be workers and pastors, they can eventually reach thousands more people. Since they are more familiar with the language and the customs of the people it is much more effective to have them as leaders. Most of the training is done through the Sunday School. The Chilesamba Station has 600 Sunday school teachers, the classes being divided for men, women, boys and girls of the various age groups.

At the afternoon session Miss Howse spoke on the neighborly aspects of life at a Mission Station. The missionaries live in a neighborly manner with the natives, because of these contacts, their lives are enriched. Much emphasis is placed on family and home life. They work as a unit, and the unit must be the family. The ideal of a Christian home is kept ever before them.

Special seasons call for special meetings — Pentecost, Easter, Christmas, and Thanksgiving are all celebrated. Births, marriages and funerals are all important events.

The natives enjoy all kinds of games and enjoy social contacts. They feel that they are the downtrodden race and any little attention pleases so much. They have no hopes for their children whatsoever, which creates a vast problem. There has to be a change of attitude before much can be done to improve their lot. The African needs the light of the Gospel of Jesus. As Christians we must get together and help dispel their darkness. Africa is a one hundred per cent open field. Other countries have aspects which make missionary work difficult, but this is not so in Africa. Let us thank God for the progress which has been made. We live in land of plenty and their's is a land of error. "Let us share our knowledge and our possessions with Africa, then we may look forward to greater things for Africa."

Timely Discourse

Miss F. Down, Secretary of Christian Stewardship gave a very timely discourse on "Some Essentials of Stewardship Giving." Assisting Miss Down were Mrs. Bailey of Bridge Street, Mrs. Bailey of Stirling — Mrs. Sulman of Bridge Street, Belleville. The need for strong financial support from each department in order that our allocation be met. The use we make of our money is a true measure of the stewardship of life. It has been said that what we have, we hold, but what we keep, we lose. In our planning God should come first.

Mrs. O. Bertrand, Secretary for Baby Bands, in giving her report stated that this department is a link between the church and the home.

The main responsibility of the Band leader is visitation in the homes, bringing the baby into touch to five years of age. Life-long habits are formed during this time and the leader can co-operate with the parents, for example, by giving them stories to be read to the child, about children in other lands.

Rev. C. A. Perkins, of Holloway St., United Church, Belleville, gave a very inspiring message just prior to the noon recess, choosing for his subject, "Prepare ye the Way". "Go ye into all the world" and "Prepare ye the way of the Lord" were Christ's marching orders. "The call of the living Church is to advance, not to retreat", said the speaker. We need to feel the spirit of prepardness and togetherness. While the Church has plodded along unbelievers and unprepared false ideologies have crept in. Unspeakable horrors and poverty exist in the world today. Christians should realize this and seek to serve, not in our own strength, but in His. Then there would be no question or dullness.

Came to Redeem

"One of the greatest romances is missions, if we claim a fellowship with the Christ who came into the world to redeem. We should put on the Gospel armour: the pride and eagerness as Crusaders of the Cross, and never cease until every person in the world knows something of the love of Christ. The mission of the Church is redemptive, and the position of the Christian Church is strategic — her resources are ample, if only consecrated. Where the going is rough, the Church must go forward under her Lord and Master."

The afternoon session was opened with a hymn and prayer offered by Mrs. Judson Kelly of Centenary Church. Mrs. C. Pryce of Plainfield and the organist of the church provided the musical accompaniments for the Rally.

Mrs. W. Jeffs of Mount Pleasant, is Temperance and Christian Citizenship Secretary, led a very interesting discussion, assisted by Mrs. Brown of Trenton. Mrs. Jeffs urged that every W.M.S. member practice total abstinence from alcoholic beverages. Regarding community friendship, new families coming into a community should be visited and friendship offered. Mrs. Brown stated that prayer and the Christian Church are more powerful than the atomic bomb.

A pageant commemorating twenty-five years of service of the United Church of Canada was presented, depicting women's place in the advance of the church. Mrs. F. R. Harbeck and Mrs. W. Finkle of Belleville were the leaders of the pageant and the music was provided by Mrs. J. E. Houston, Belleville. Nine W.M.S. members chosen from the visiting auxiliaries took the parts of women from other countries of the world. Today the church's world fellowship is the promise of what the world family of nations may become when "Earth shall be fair and all her people one."

Women's Activities

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

Women of the Moose, Chapter 633, held their September meetings in the Saco Club rooms with Senior Regent Kathleen Donovan, presiding.

Co-worker Mary Whittle, convener on the blanket sale, reported a big success. A vote of thanks was conveyed to her on her splendid work. Mr. Dick Bearss won the blanket.

There were four members reported ill and baskets of fruit were sent to cheer them.

The meeting was brought to a close and was followed by a birthday party in honor of Co-worker Donovan. Being publicity month the table was covered with newspapers, the novelties being made of newspapers, as also were the aprons and caps of the servers.

Refreshments were served under the directions of the chairman of the home-making committee Co-worker Luella Livingston and her committee. The evening ended in community singing and dancing. A very pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

WOOLER Thank Offering — Totals $1300 at United Church

Wooler.—The anniversary of the United Church was observed on Sunday with the Rev. H. Lester, of Warkworth, the guest speaker at the morning service and for the evening, the Rev. J. E. Anderson of Brighton, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference.

Appropriate music was rendered by the choir. The church was beautifully decorated with Autumn leaves, dahlias and roses, the flowers being from J. J. Way's garden.

The Thank offering of $1,300 included $500 from the Woman's Association.

ST. PAUL'S L. G.

The monthly meeting of St. Paul's Ladies Guild was held at the rectory on Thursday evening. In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. W. Hickey, vice president took the chair, there being a good attendance of members. After prayer by Rural Dean, J. M. Brownlee, the financial statement showing a good balance, was presented by the treasurer, Mrs. Donald McInroy.

Letters of Thanks were received from recent members for the Guild's remembrance of them while sick. The greater part of the meeting was taken up with plans for the 75th anniversary reception in the Town Hall on October 17th and the anniversary chicken supper on October 20th. A historical booklet with photographs of the Bishop, the church and its four rectors since it became a separate parish, is being prepared for sale at the reception to be handled by the men of the congregation.

Women's Institute

UNIONDALE W.I.

The October meeting of Uniondale Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Geo. Burkitt, 4th of Sidney.

Meeting was opened by the President, Mrs. G. Herrington. Business was dealt with under different headings. "Help for the Blind", which will be dealt with "Help for the Reid" family at Holloway, which will be handed in next meeting in the form of canned goods, preferably home-made.

The topic "Community Activities and Public Relations" was given by Mrs. Morley Sine in the form of readings by Mrs. Geo. Striker, Mrs. Fred Farmer, and a paper by herself which, was mostly along the line of community work, stressing the content of Uniondale toward the buying of land at Wallbridge to build community centre. This is to be dealt with next meeting by inviting two members from Wallbridge Institute to explain more fully.

A special evening is being planned to be held at Reid's Church, 5th Concession of Sidney, on October 27. Pictures and special speakers and refreshments.

Delegates for convention, Nov. 1-2, at Belleville collegiate, were appointed: Mrs. Milton Grills, Mrs. Fred Farmer. Meeting was closed by a contest given by Mrs. H. W. Rose and won by Mrs. Harry Bleecker. Collection $2.10. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

MOUNTAIN VIEW W.I.

On Wednesday last, the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Alford Forte with 25 members and four visitors, two of whom were Mrs. Morley Jackson, district W.I. president, and her mother, Mrs. Black, of Bloomfield.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Edward Hall, president, presiding. Mrs. C. Barber acted as secretary until the arrival of Mrs. W. Barber later in the afternoon. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved; the correspondence read and brought up to date, and bill voted to be paid.

The next delegates to the area convention were appointed; these being Mrs. Delorette and Mrs. D. George. Owing to the area convention being on the first Wednesday of the month, the November meeting will be held on the 8th at the home of Mrs. L. Wallbridge, Huff's Island. Mrs. W. Morley and Miss M. Hall will be the leaders for the Girls' Supper Club.

The roll call was responded to by a note on "Ancestors and What is Owed to Them", and proved quite interesting. The euchre party which was held on the last Friday in September had been successful. After all bills had been paid $13.80 cents was left for credit side. Other remittances for the cemetery fund were, $2 from Mr. Carson Hubbs, of Brighton, and $5 from Miss Annie Way, of Madoc.

A Hallowe'en frolic will be held in Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Babcock's garage on Saturday, October 29th. Everyone is invited and must come in masquerade costume or else pay a fine as forfeit.

Mrs. J. Sprague gave the Current Events; Mrs. C. Barber, a solo, "Bless This House", accompanied by Mrs. B. Anderson. The first and second or Ross Macdonald and Deputy Speaker Alfred Dion had not put to the House a motion he had submitted during the discussion.

BILL ABOLISHING

Wanted Six-Month Hoist

He said the motion asked either that the bill be given a six-month hoist or that it be referred back to the committee of the whole House. A motion to give a bill a six-month hoist is usually aimed at "killing" the legislation.

Because of the overwhelming Liberal membership in the Senate, political observers believe the measure will run into little opposition there. When it becomes law, the Supreme Court of Canada will be the country's last court of appeal on all matters. The court's membership will be increased from seven to nine to handle the extra work.

At the House opening, Transport Minister Chevrier announced the appointment of Donald Gordon, 47-year-old deputy governor of the Bank of Canada, as chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways.

In later debate, Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) and T. L. Church (PC-Toronto Broadview) protested the appointment and said the post should have gone to someone within the Canadian National Railways organization.

At the night sitting, members defeated a private member's bill that would have compelled railways to submit partially to municipal smoke-abatement laws in urban areas.

Study Estimates

Later, the study of the 1948-50 agriculture estimates was resumed.

Mr. Fulton's amendment would have inserted the plain decided rule —that the Supreme Court would be bound by past decisions of the Mr. Fulton said the Prime Minister Privy Council affecting Canada, had stated this would, in effect, be the situation but judges interpreted words and not intentions.

Mr. Lacroix' amendment would have given the provinces a role in the selection of the judges of the Supreme Court. The Lieutenant-Governors-in-Council of the provinces would have submitted lists of candidates from which four of the nine judges would have been chosen. The remaining five would have been selected by the federal government.

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) asked if there was any thought of leaving the membership of the court at seven until it could be seen what additional help is needed because of additional duties.

Justice Minister Garson replied that the Supreme Court had been consulted and it was found that nine was the number of judges needed.

Shades Given One More

At present two of the judges are from Quebec, two from Ontario, two from the western provinces and one from the Maritimes. Under the new plan Quebec will be given an additional appointment for a total of three and one other judge will be selected from elsewhere in the country.

Mr. Garson said the provision for three Quebec judges is drawn from the fact that civil law there is far different from the common-law used in other provinces and the court would need three members for test avoid a stalemate.

He said it was not known when the court will assume duties provided for if by the legislation before parliament.

In expressing objection to the legislation, Mr. Church said it was based "entirely on the separatist doctrine" of breaking off Canada's ties with England. This was a "political bill" as well, he said, and one that should be submitted to a legal committee.

Edward T. Applewhaite (L-Skeena) said he wished to protest against "unjustifiable claims" that through the legislation Canada was trying to "sell out" participation in the Commonwealth. He wondered if Canada could be charged with selling out the Commonwealth because the established boy own armed forces or because she had grown to the stage where she should stand on her own feet.

It was because Canada could stand on her own feet that she could contribute to the Commonwealth.

After the longest treason trial in U.S. history, Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, was sentenced to serve 10 years in prison and pay a fine of $10,000. A U.S. citizen of Japanese ancestry, she was the voice known as "Tokyo Rose" which was broadcast to Allied troops in the Pacific.—CPC.

GORDON NAMED

Both he and Mr. Church commended Mr. Gordon's ability and service to the country, and Mr. Fleming said he was not reflecting on Mr. Gordon personally. He would make the same criticism of any non-C. N. R. appointee.

No Reply to Attack

He accused the government of reserving top jobs "plums" for itself and taking them away from employees.

No member of the government replied to the attack but Jean Francois Pouliot (L-Temiscouata) was critical of Mr. Fleming for making it.

Mr. Fleming said he wished to protest against the principle followed in making the appointment.

He believed top jobs within an organization should be rewarded by promotion.

He said he was convinced that there were men in the C.N.R. available for the promotion.

The government was saying in effect to those within the C.N.R. that their "top rung" position was not open to them.

Mr. Gordon becomes the youngest chief of the $2,500,000,000 C.N.R. in its 31-year history, and the first in 16 years to be chosen from outside the ranks of railway men.

With the job goes the presidency of Canadian National Steamships, Ltd., operating a service to the West Indies, and a position on the directorate of Trans-Canada Air Lines, the government-owned air service.

The salary is estimated to be somewhere between $25,000 and $45,000, believed tops for any government job. Mr. Gordon was earning more than $20,000 with the Bank of Canada.

Appointment of the Scottish-born economic expert aroused speculation that the government may have in mind the use of his services in any financial reorganization of the Canadian National which may be recommended by the current royal commission on transportation.

One of the problems the commission is dealing with is the huge debt of the C.N.R., which costs $45,000,000 a year in interest charges and is generally regarded as a drag on every top system of the C.N.R.'s magnitude.

A powerfully-built man of enormous drive and organizing ability, Mr. Gordon made civilian Canada with an iron hand during most of the second world war as head of the Prices Board in charge of price control, rationing and civilian supply.

He held that office until the decontrol period started after the war.

In the early stages of the war, he was the key man in the organization of the foreign-exchange control board.

Mr. Vaughan has been president of the C.N.R. since 1941 and chairman since 1942. He was a railroad man all his life, having started as a messenger boy with the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1898.

TRIAL LAID OVER

Sudbury, Oct. 12—(CP)—The murder trial of Adelard Latour, 49, accused in the stabbing death of his nephew's wife, Tuesday was put over to the next assizes.

But Mr. Justice G. A. Gale in Ontario Supreme Court ruled on a defence application to have the trial held elsewhere than in Sudbury. J. E. Lacourcière, Latour's lawyer, argued that feeling in Sudbury concerning the case is "high."

Latour was charged with murder shortly after Mrs. Cecile Hainville was found dead in her two-room apartment here Sept. 12.

Of the $77,783,000 granted, no less than $74,015,000 was for U.K. purchases, France, with $1,395,000 for herself, another $930,000 for French North Africa and $205,000 for French overseas territories and the French zone of Germany, took the bulk of the remainder.

More than half of the U.K. authorizations was taken up with approval of a $40,000,000 order for wheat. Another $10,000,000 went for bread flour. That the total September authorizations for purchase of Canadian bread grain products.

Approval was also given for purchase of some $22,722,000 worth of Canadian metals, minerals and alloys, with a U. K. order for $14,410,000 worth of aluminum leading the list. An allocation of $6,042,000 for lead from Canadian mines—$5,709,000 to go to the U.K.—was also approved.

The U.K. decided not to take $449,000 worth of non-ferrous metals and ferro - alloys, but asked for and received approval of purchases of $2,350,000 worth of non-metallic minerals and $1,125,000 in chemicals and chemical products. She also received permission to spend $640,000 on Canadian agricultural machinery, excluding tractors.

Approval was also given for purchase of $883,000 worth of Canadian lumber and wood products, bulk of it allotted to Turkey.

Missing Young Hunters Make Way to Camp After 36 Hours

Sudbury, Oct. 11—(CP)—Two 19-year-old Sudbury hunters, who spent approximately 36 hours in the bush around Fox Lake, 10 miles southwest of Cartier, made their way to Mr. H. Thrasher's camp on Fox Lake late Monday night, tired and hungry but little the worse for spending a night in the bush.

The missing pair were Doug Campbell and Allan Duval.

Both of the seven Sudbury partridge hunters who left the city Saturday, Campbell and Duval failed to return to their camp on Fox Lake Sunday night. Search parties spent the greater part all day Monday searching for them without success.

London Letter:

Slow-but-Surely Horses Disappearing From London Sts.

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 12 — (CP)—Slowly but surely, the slow-but-sure clip-clop of hooves from London's traffic-jammed streets. Whereas 10 years ago the city had 19,000 domestic horses, today there are fewer than 5,000.

Londoners view their departure with mixed feelings.

In one sense these patient, plodding servants of the carrier, the dairyman and the greengrocer are an integral part of the historic London scene. In another they belong to the past and should be humanely removed from competition with motor traffic.

For years past the railways have been the greatest users of horses. Now Sir Cyril Hurcomb, chairman of the Transport Commission, has announced that all of its remaining horses, in London and elsewhere, are to be retired.

The general post office, which has 30 horse-drawn vans still in service in London, says it will use no horses after the end of this year.

Even the milkman is losing his horse — and friend. The Express Dairy Company used to have 700 horses, but they are going fast.

"Last year," an official said, "we had 530 horse deliery vans. Now it's down to 460 and by next spring we shall have only 300 horses in our service."

London brewers seem more reluctant to part with their "old faithfuls." In the last 10 years only three brewing firms have mechanized their transport fleet, but several others are considering the introduction of motor-driven drays.

Yet opinion on the subject of horse-traffic still is divided. While the Dumb Friends' League has campaigned for years to remove horse traffic from city streets, the National Horse Association has repeatedly defended the horse against the invasion of motor transport.

Many small traders say they depend on horse transport for a livelihood and are therefore reluctant to move with the times.

Nehru Will Speak To Canadian Parliament

Ottawa, Oct. 11 — (CP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India will address the Canadian Parliament Oct. 24 during a two-day visit to Ottawa, the External Affairs Department said today. He will arrive late Oct. 23 and leave on the morning of Oct. 24.

On Nov. 2, Pandit Nehru will return to Canada at Vancouver to visit the Indian community of British Columbia and to be the guest of the City of Vancouver at a civic dinner.

He will be accompanied to Ottawa from the United States by his daughter, Her Excellency Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Ambassador to the U. S., his daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, and a small party of officials.

They will enter Canada by car at Fort Erie, Oct. 22 and will spend the night of Niagara Falls, Ont. They will fly to Ottawa from Malton airport and will be greeted at Rockcliffe airport by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The party will be guests of the Governor General and Lady Alexander. Pandit Nehru's program Monday will include a meeting with the press, a luncheon, the broadcast address to members of both Houses of Parliament at 3 p. m., and a state dinner in his honor that evening.

Guay's Trial Will be Held On January 9th

Quebec, Oct. 12 (CP)—Trial of J. Albert Guay, alleged central figure in a time-bomb plot that wrecked an airliner Sept. 9 killing his wife and 23 others, was fixed Tuesday for Jan. 9.

The date of the trial by jury for the 32-year-old jeweller on the specific charge of murdering his wife, 25-year-old Rita Guay.

Chief Judge Alberta Sevigny set the January date after a discussion among counsel. The calm jeweller was in the prisoner's box.

Guay's lawyer repeated a plea made last week at Guay's preliminary hearing for a delay long enough to permit preparation of a "fair defence."

While Guay appeared in criminal court, 41-year-old Mrs. Arthur Pitre, a key witness in the Crown's case against him, went before Court of Sessions where her preliminary hearing is due on an attempted suicide charge.

Mrs. Pitre's hearing was postponed until Oct. 19 — next Wednesday.

Charge Denied By Fire Chief Herd of Toronto

Ottawa, Oct. 12. (CP)—Clifford J. Gray, Toronto mortician, said Tuesday that lack of systematic removal of bodies from the staterooms of the cruise-steamship Noronic hindered identification of victims.

In an address before the final session of the annual Ontario Funeral Service Association Convention, Mr. Gray outlined special problems encountered by morticians in the disaster. He was director of the emergency mortuary set up when the luxury ship burned at her berth in Toronto Sept. 17 with a toll of 105 identified dead and 19 missing.

Mr. Gray said the boat should have been sealed and no bodies removed until identification was completed. He said firemen had worked so rapidly in removing bodies that in some cases parts of bodies were left in cabins after torsos had been removed.

At Toronto, Fire Chief Peter Herd denied Dr. Nurse's director's charge that lack of systematic removal of bodies of Noronic fire victims from the gutted cruise ship hindered identification.

Said Chief Herd:

"It simply is not so. The utmost care was taken by the firemen in removing the bodies. There were no bodies torn apart in removal work. In some cases there may have been a small portion such as a forearm or other bone left when a body was picked up. There was no case where any major portion of a body was left lying in a cabin after a torso had been removed."

FRANKFORD

Frankford — The bi-monthly meeting of the Frankford Lions Club was held in the Community — Memorial Hall Wednesday evening, with a large attendance of members and visitors. Following a bounteous repast, and community singing, the business of the club was discussed.

The biggest item on the business, was the presentation of cheque for $500.00 toward completion of the new Trenton Hospital. President A. C. Bates, presented the cheque to Lion. George Vanner, vice president of the Trenton Lions Club, which originally sponsored the Frankford Club. Lion George then turned the cheque over to Mr. W. Ireland, chairman of the hospital board, in Trenton. Mr. Ireland spoke briefly, thanking the local Lions Club for their splendid work in presenting this amount to the hospital, even though the club is less than a year old. Acting Mayor of Trenton, Mr. C. Saylor was then introduced by Lion Art Duncan, and he spoke briefly on behalf of the town of Trenton.

Guest Speaker

Lion Albert Warren then introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Mr. P. I. Timmins, Field Secretary for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Mr. Timmins gave a very fine talk on the work which the institute is doing to help the blind in overcoming their handicap. The text of his address was very forcibly brought home to the Lions present, as they learned at the end of the talk that Mr. Timmins himself is blind. It is a safe assumption that Lions and visitors present who saw and heard Mr. Timmins will be strong supporters of the C.N.I.B. in the future. The meeting formally closed about 8.15.

N.H.L. Opens its 33rd Season Tonight in Detroit With Longest Schedule in History

By AL COLLETTI
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The National Hockey League's 33rd season gets under way tonight in Detroit when a pair of reshuffled clubs — Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins — will be out to prove whether their summer player swap gave them added strength.

The Wings and Bruins made one of the year's biggest hockey deals Aug. 16 and in the last few days Boston has even gone further and traded defenceman Pat Egan to New York Rangers and little Bobby Warwick to Montreal.

Detroit and Boston finished one-two in the regular N. H. L. season last winter but the experts agree enough changes have been made to make their chances this season open to plenty of speculation.

Tomorrow night, after the Bruins and Red Wings get the N.H.L. curtain raiser, Montreal Canadiens play host to the Blackhawks Chicago Black Hawks, who will have Frankie (Mr. Zero) Brimsek in their nets for the first time.

Bill Tobin, president-owner of the Black Hawks, shelled out $25,000 to the Bruins for Brimsek, and Tobin thinks he got a real buy. Big Bill figures Brimsek, 34, still has three more good seasons ahead of him.

Leafs Entertain Chicago

The Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs open New York Rangers — doormat for the league in recent years — will make their league debuts Saturday night. New York goes to Montreal and the Maple Leafs entertain Chicago.

Toronto, which finished fourth in the regular season last winter behind Detroit, Boston and Montreal, routed Red Wings in the Stanley Cup finals, winning in four straight games. The Leafs, who are, virtually standing pat on their championship line-up, are rated about on a par with Detroit for top honors in the N.H.L. this season.

Hockey officials and sports writers who gathered in Toronto this week-end saw the Leafs tame 3-1 to the N. H. L. All-stars Monday night, said it should be a toss-up whether Detroit or Toronto takes the N. H. L. title this year.

They were inclined to rate Montreal third, Chicago a good fourth, Boston fifth and the Rangers in their familiar sixth spot.

Some experts believe Coach Tommy Ivan's Red Wings have been strengthened by their summer deal with Boston in which they gave up their popular All-star defenceman, Bill Quackenbush, and forward Pete Horeck for four players including speedy Clare Martin, Pete Babando and Jimmy Peters.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 12 (AP)—J. F. (Pop) McKale, Arizona U. athletic director who really spins 'em when he spins a yarn, has been telling this one about his football exploits in the old days...Pop says when he played there were no end zones so when a ball was kicked over the goal it remained in play no matter how far it went ...So one day an opponent kicked one which kept rolling and rolling back with McKale in pursuit ...finally he grabbed the pigskin and ran more than a quarter mile through the entire opposing team for a touchdown (probably breaking the 440-yard record en route)..."and for the conversion," McKale adds, "I jumped over the goal posts."

He 'm Again

Steve Owen, who has labored long and hard to convert New York Giants into a T-formation football team, feels he finally has achieved some results...Charley Conerly has learned to take like a real T quarterback...In Sunday's horrid game against Washington, says Steve, Conerly faked no less on one occasion that a Redskin tackled him and then let go, figuring he didn't have the ball...Charlie did, and promptly stepped aside and threw a pass.

Gazette Says Filchock Offered Edmonton Post

Montreal, Oct. 12 (CP)—The Gazette says today that Frank Filchock, passing ace of Big Four Montreal Alouettes has been offered the post of playing-coach in 1950 with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Canada Conference.

"According to reliable sources ...Edmonton officials are said to have offered the former New York Giants star an open contract, including a deal that would give him a percentage of the gate receipts."

Filchock was not immediately available for comment. Nor was Manager Lew Hayman of Montreal Alouettes.

Filchock is under a two-year, $30,000 contract with Alouettes.

President Denies Rumors

Edmonton—R. M. Montague, President of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Inter-Provincial Rugby Football Union, has denied that Frank Filchock of Montreal Alouettes has been offered a job as playing-coach with Esks.

"I don't know where these things come from, but we have not approached Filchock, nor have I heard of any movement to do so," Montague said of reports in Montreal that Filchock may succeed Annis Stukus, current Eskimo coach.

"The Board of Directors of Eskimos feel that Coach Annis Stukus has done an outstanding job in building up a club in our first year. We are perfectly satisfied.

"In connection with saying that we are not approaching anyone else, I would not like to say whether Stukus will be offered a contract for next year—that is for the board to decide—but I will say we are perfectly satisfied."

Junior 'A' Game Had to be Called Due to Fog

(By The Canadian Press)

No matter how the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race turns out, the 1949 season will go down in history as having opened in a fog.

Mist on the ice was so dense that last night's opener between Stratford Kroehlers and Windsor Spitfires had to be called off at Windsor at the end of the first period. At Galt, fog delayed the curtain raiser for 20 minutes, but finally was cleared away long enough to enable Toronto Junior Marlboros to defeat Galt Black Hawks 3-1 in overtime.

The Windsor - Stratford game will be played at a later date. The score was tied 1-1 on goals by Bob Rawlyk of Spits and Denny Draper of Kroehlers, when the game was called just before the beginning of the second period.

There was no scoring in the first frame at Galt as soft ice slowed play, but in the second frame Dukes went one up on a goal by Jack McKenzie while Galt was a man short. The hard hitting Marlboros were handed 18 penalties and Black Hawks, slamming right back, collected 12 penalties in all.

Hawks came to life in the third period with Bruce Gumms tying the count on a backhand shot with assists from Ken Greene and George Ford.

Larry Regan scored the winning goal in the overtime frame on Murray Grenke's pass and Jimmie Pirie put the game on ice bag with Duke's third goal. George Armstrong got the assists.

Saturday Barrie meets St. Michael's and Guelph faces off with Marlboros in a double-header at Toronto. In the evening, St. Catharines travels to Galt and Oshawa plays host to Stratford.

At the demand of Whipper Watson and Pat Flanagan, it will be a return team wrestling bout headlining the card in the Memorial Arena on Friday night. The Watson - Flanagan partnership was burned up at the treatment they received at the hands, feet and knees of the team of Fred Atkins and Hardboiled Hannigan last week and, although the favorites were beaten, they insisted upon a re-match with their rambunctious rivals. "I think I can speak for Whip and myself," Flanagan declared, "when I say we can knock those two strutters into the middle of next week when we meet them again. We naturally thought it was a wrestling match when we went in against those two rough-necks, but we didn't expect them to use the kind of tactics they did, so we lost. Now we know their methods, and we not not only cancel them, but go them a couple better — and without using illegal tactics, either." The semi-final will see Frank Taylor, often called the Robert Taylor of the mat on account of his handsomeness, clashing with Dangerous Dan O'Connor. Tear Morgan will test Antone Leone in the opener.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By DOUG GREEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Regina, Oct. 12 (CP)—The report that goalie Ray Frederick will receive $7,000 this season for playing with Edmonton Flyers of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League was received with gloom by Tom (Regina Leader-Post) Melville.

If the report regarding Frederick is "anywhere near true," the three or four men who finance Regina Caps of the same senior league "must feel like suckers for staying in the circuit," he says.

"Regina can't hope to compete with that sort of long green. For that matter the National League, without mentioning the minors, must find the going pretty tough when a senior amateur club can wave that much money in front of an up-and-coming star."

Melville says the case of Frederick, who started last season with the junior Brandon Wheat Kings, is not exactly isolated. It was said that Calgary and Saskatoon Quakers were making spectacular bids for his services and the price was bound to go high.

Scouts All Around

Melville says no one can blame the Cap bosses for not liking the way things are going. They figure there has been tampering going on within the league and that, as much as anything else, has brought on the demand for increases by their players.

"The keen buying market has not helped their cause. Players are in the unusual position where they can do a lot of bargaining when they are without strings."

Fans, being fans, love a winner. When you've come up with a loser, they stay away on cold nights. The National League would "love it" if the W. C. S. H. L. turned professional, "but it would mean a lower class of hockey and a consequent falling off at the turnstiles."

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Softball wrote finis to a highly successful second season here on Monday evening when Cy Barclay's All-Stars defeated the Northern Electric champions of the Commercial Softball League 7-3 in a loosely-played game. The post-league series between the champions and All-Stars was anticlimatic, to say the least as far as public interest is concerned may just as well be forgotten another year.

* * *

However, those in charge of the league, team managers and coaches as well as players can accept pats on the back for a job well and truly done. Personally we are of the opinion that the league was a bit wieldy with its twelve teams some of them far weaker than the big boys of the loop. This made for some lop-sided scores at times, but as the hardy supporters of the two-team set-up will argue, it gave the boys fellows who otherwise would not get the chance, the opportunity to play.

* * *

As we stated in that brief address at the league banquet, we are of the opinion that a six team loop comprised of the strongest teams, would provide a bettercaliber of softball and in so doing would have a good effect on the box office. The other six teams, if such is deemed advisable, could be formed into a "B" section with the usual double-header being played by teams from each section. In this manner everybody would get the chance to play and at the same time increase the calibre of the game.

* * *

And while we're going out on the limb with suggestions for another year, it behooves those in charge, or the 1950 executive to make all effort to secure a permanent field, for softball next year. It made one almost retch to see the large number of coppers, nickels and dimes to say nothing of dirty paper thrown into the collection hat. The league should did not make peanuts, unless they've started selling softballs and equipment for a peanut. Softball is a game worth while with proper support, and while we might be stepping on some well-known toes, we have no hesitation in stating that it is a cheap sport indeed who will cut on the south side of his lab, do a bit of yelping, and criticising and reduce the slimness of his pay-check envelope to the extent of a nickel. There's only one cheaper grade of sport, and he is the Joe who suddenly becomes interested in the sunset, or the Joe who finds the road behind his coat when the collection hat looms up in front of him.

COLORFUL CLIMAX

However, the league climaxed its 1949 season in a blaze of banquet glory with Frank Gnup, personable coach of the Hamilton Wildcats as guest of honor. With Frank was brother Johnny, manager of the Cats, Johnny Nameth, former Hamilton softball great and Benny Dyack, injured member of the Wildcat team. Now Frank is no Abraham Lincoln as an orator, he nevertheless kept the boys highly entertained with some humorous anecdotes and some homely philosophy regarding football.

* * *

Frank pointed out that the American game is far more spectacular than the Canadian code. "You sldom see a player go all the way from the ball. Turner went 72 yards the other day, a sensational play. Here the emus is on the ball carrier". He recalled a player losing his temper at an official and murmuring something about "You sink." The official promptly penalized his team, put the ball back ten yards, and smiled "How do I smell from here?"

* * *

Speaking of the American football import situation in Canada, the Wildcat coach said that Montreal has many big USA boys. "We of the Cats can't fight fire with fire for we haven't got the money, but our Canadian boys have more natural ability. And the only difference in their two respective games is the rugs and interference.

* * *

"Coaching a football team is not all beer and skittles," mused Gnup. "There was a time when I got hell for not kicking one point. It wasn't my fault. I couldn't get the range enough. I'm as sure intent to sit back in the stands and criticize when the coach and team are on the short end of the score. But you've a great coach if he can say nothing people forget you've got the same d - - - team if you lose."

* * *

Frank could not or would not predict where his Cats would finish. "Fact" he said "we've got a good team which lacks, perhaps a little depth. But we can give the rest of 'em hell and we intend to keep right on doing just that."

* * *

Harry Rollins emceed the affair in his usual capable manner. Jack Devine introduced Johnny Nameth and Benny Dyack and also Johnny Nameth who is associated with Gnup in the Feiley Brewing Company. Johnny presented the Handsome Feiley Trophy which will be given annually to the leading hitter of the league, and also a miniature to Glenn Young, hard-hitting Northern Electric player. Secretary Don Lee motioned a vote of thanks to convenor Bill Dennis and to Fred Morehy.

* * *

The Wishing Well Trophy emblematic of the league championship was presented to the Northern Electric champions through Captain Jimmy Barrlage with the team standing around him. Manager Morley Hunt accepted the trophy from Bill Dennis, and in turn gave it to Capt. Barrlage. Jimmy in the longest speech he ever made in his life paid tribute to his fellow teams. "A bunch of good guys who never gave up" was his opinion. He made special mention of the fine playing ability of the Corriveau brothers, Gerry and Ray.

* * *

The same Gnupie talk which was followed by some side-slitting yarns by that master raconteur, Harry Curtis of the Empire Insurance Company, Kingston, a master of dialect and mimicry. Curtis had the lads in stitches with his humorous stores and anecdotes.

It's open season for predictions on how National Hockey League teams will finish in the 1949 race for playoff berths. And with the regular schedule all set to go, Manager Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs is on record with a forecast that Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks may finish first and second in the standing.

Of Leafs' own chances, he would say only that his team will be in there" with the others battling for the remaining playoff spots. Nor would he be drawn out on a prediction by Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal that "Canadiens won't be in there this year because the forwards are too light," a statement Irvin made in Toronto Monday night at the All-Star game.

Manager Frank Boucher of New York Rangers refused to limit himself. At Lake Placid, N.Y., the man who two years ago correctly predicted the Canadiens, and the league did not make peanuts, unless they've started selling softballs and equipment for a peanut. Softball is a game worth while with proper support, and while we might be stepping on some well-known toes, we have no hesitation in stating that it is a cheap sport indeed who will cut on the south side of his lab, do a bit of yelping, and criticising and reduce the slimness of his pay-check envelope to the extent of a nickel. Negro Boxer Dies From Blood Clot After Head Blow

(By The Canadian Press)

The ring record book shows that at this time last year there were 13 ring fatalities in the United States. The 1948 total was 24. At this time in 1947 there were nine deaths.

The Negro lightweight fell unconscious in the ninth round of a furious battle with Luther Rawlings of Chicago. Referee Herman Spinelli called the fight and awarded Rawlings a knockout.

Taken to hospital, Bussey was operated until for a blood clot. He died 11 hours later. Coroner Samuel B. Mitchell ordered a post mortem examination. Police began an investigation.

* * *

Jethroe came to New York from Indianapolis, where he recently played in the Little World Series.

Jethroe set two International League records during the last season, stealing 89 bases and making 208 hits.

Sparked by Nils Trembley's hat trick, Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League whipped Cornwall Calumets 6-2 in an exhibition game at Cornwall.

The Allan Cup champions outscored their opponents in every period, blinking the red light once in the opening session, twice in the second and thrice more in the final period.

Cornwall tallied singletons in the second and third frames.

At Baltimore, Shirley M. Ball of Lutherville, Md., was suspended Tuesday as trainer and owner for one year after a hearing on a charge his horse was given an injection of mustard.

The Maryland Racing Commission found Ball guilty of negligence in guarding his horse, Brooks Argo. Brooke Argo and Ball's other horse, Real Wrack, also were barred from racing unless they are sold.

Ball denied any knowledge of his horse having been given a rectal injection of oil of mustard as claimed by state chemists after the seventh race at Laurel on Sept. 28.

Hershey Bears, Flyers, Capitals Win First Game

(By The Canadian Press)

Hershey Bears, St. Louis Flyers and Indianapolis Capitals shared top spot in the American Hockey League today as the result of victories in the three opening games of the 1949-50 season Tuesday night.

The Bears defeated Springfield Indians 5-3 at Hershey while the Flyers shaded Pittsburgh Hornets 3-2 at St. Louis. The Capitals spoiled Cleveland Barons' bow but by blanking the Rheinlanders 4-0.

The remaining teams in the loop, Providence, New Haven, Buffalo and Cleveland, will open their first league action tonight.

At Hershey Bears drew a 4,070 saw the Bears spot Springfield a one goal lead early in the first period and then outscore the Indians by blanking the Rheinlanders 4-0.

The remaining teams in the loop, Providence, New Haven, Buffalo and Cleveland, will open their first league action tonight.

At Hershey Bears drew a 4,070 saw the Bears spot Springfield a one goal lead early in the first period and then outscore the Indians 4-1 in the remainder of the game for their initial victory.

Simpson Leads Flyers

Cliff Simpson led the Flyers against Hornets with two goals and an assist. Ed Nicholson got the other tally.

Both Capitals tallies came late in the final period with Andy Barbe and Bill Benson being the marksmen.

Meanwhile at Cincinnati, a crowd of 5,000 fans were on hand for the first American League hockey game ever to be played there.

The Caps, well stocked with A. H. L. veterans, were held on even terms by the younger Cincinnati team until Bill Gadsby the game had elapsed.

Don Morrison finally broke through to score at 8:31 of the middle frame on an unassisted play.

The visitors completed the scoring in the last period when Al Lundy getting the first one and Calvin McKay sinking the last one at 18:08.

Marmora—A trap shooting Club for Marmora and Deloro has recently been organized. A shooting range has been set up on the Gandy property on the Old Deloro road. The opening shoot took place last Saturday when about one hundred and forty rounds were fired. For trap shooting clay pigeons are used for targets as they are thrown into the air. New members will be welcomed and are asked to get in touch with H. G. Walsh or M. Borland, Deloro or J. H. English, Marmora.

Dixie Walker Applies for Oriole Job

(By The Canadian Press)

Dixie Walker, recently released by Pittsburgh Pirates, put in his bid Tuesday for the job of managing Baltimore Orioles in the International Baseball League.

Walker called Tuesday morning from his Birmingham, Ala., home to let Jack Dunn, Oriole president and manager the last season, know he'd like to be considered.

Jacques Locas, forward, has been suspended by Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League. It was learned at Montreal Tuesday. Locas had been training with the new Cincinnati team of the American Hockey Association and difference arose over the salary question. Cincinnati is an affiliate of the Canadien Club.

Eric Nesterenko, another Canadien forward who has been with the club during training, has retired from professional hockey. He has a business in Ottawa.

Meanwhile, Grant Warwick, rightwinger whose purchase from Boston Bruins was announced Monday by Canadiens, arrived in Montreal and will work out with the club today in preparation for the local N.H.L. season-

Uniques Take First Place In Bowling Loop

Frankford—Frankford Bowling League saw plenty of action Thursday night in Trenton, with several upsets being registered. The fact that practically every team in the league changed position bears out the evenness with which they are matched. Uniques took over first place, in company with the Top Hatters. Uniques took five points from the Skyliners, while the Top Hatters were dropping five to the Happy Gang. The last place Head Pins came up with four points over the Green horns, while Merry Macs blanked the Aristocrats, taking seven points. Margaret Black set up a new ladies high single, with 262, while Gene Lohnes had high triple with 641.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

When bridge players function like fools or act like cantankerous mules, instead of one guilty they usually find themselves equally deluged with too many rules.

When partner opens the bidding with one, you are the responder. You may get any one of the $35,013,599,600 hands. How do you know the correct response with any one of these you might have at the time?

Should you try to learn what to do with each different one? If you lived to be a million this would be impossible. It stands to reason that you need a short cut of some kind.

Let me remind you of the short cut. With this short cut you are equipped to do the right thing with each and every one of them. The short cut rule is my formula of T-A-N.

The T stands for takeout. The A stands for assist. The N stands for no-trump. Thus, the order of bids should be takeout, assist, no-trump. The list is in order of preference.

Never assist if you have a takeout. Never bid no-trump if you have an assist. Therefore, an assist denies having a takeout. And a no-trump bid denies having an assist or a takeout.

To takeout you need a biddable suit. To assist you need enough (adequate) support for the suit you are assisting. To bid no-trump you need enough high card no-trump tricks.

Take this hand:

♦Q 9 6 3
♣K 8 7

Partner opens with a bid of one diamond. You have a biddable spade suit. You have adequate support for diamonds. You have high cards enough for a no-trump reply.

First you takeout to spades. Then you assist diamonds. After that, if necessary, you may bid no-trump. Always T before A. Always A before you N. Just remember T-A-N and chuck pages of rules away.

Community Presents Gift to Recent Bride and Bridegroom

Thomasburg — On Saturday evening a large number of people of this community gathered in the Oddfellows' hall to honor another young couple of this village upon his recent marriage and to meet his bride. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Thompson, the bride being the former Miss Doreen Steenburg of Wooler.

While Claude is a student at Queen's during the winter he was an active young worker in this vicinity before entering the Navy during the war years.

The Reverend Morley Clarke acted as master of the short program, and started off in leading in a sing-song with his own guitar accompaniment. Others taking part in the program were Mrs. Donald Holbert, a solo Mrs. M. Clarke, a piano solo; Misses Merilyn Carleton, Ruby Bateman, Barbara Morton and Aileen Blakely a song accompanied by Mrs. Clarke.

The guests of honor were then given chairs on the platform and Mr. Donald Richardson read an appropriate address on behalf of the community, after which Mr. Gerald Morton presented them with a purse. The address being signed by Donald Richardson, Joe Schwager, Lawrison Grills, Edward Erickson and Gerald Morton.

Claude and Doreen both expressed their sincere appreciation to each and all for the gift and also the kind thoughts which prompted the party and extended an invitation to all to visit them at Kingston.

Refreshments were served and dancing was enjoyed for a short time.

MARMORA

Marmora—Mrs. William Sgolh returned home from Belleville General Hospital on Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moffatt and family have moved into the residence on North Hastings Avenue, recently purchased by Mr. Moffatt and vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tew.

Mrs. Angus Brownson and Betty attended the Brownson—Pearl wedding in Sudbury, recently.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 12 — (AP) — Audie Murphy's film career appears to be progressing despite his marital troubles. He is going ahead with plans to film his war experience.

The much-decorated hero told me that the outlook is bright for an early filming of his story, "To Hell and Back."

At first, the former soldier balked at playing himself on the screen, but he apparently relented. He told his story with modesty in the book, and perhaps can do the same on the screen.

Read 'n Where?

Will Bing and Bob hit the "road" again? That's the prime question around Paramount these days. There has been talk about a "Road to Paris", but one producer told me: "There are only two men who can say whether it will be made—that's Hope and Crosby; and I haven't seen either of them making a move yet."

Judy Garland sounded great on the radio show, I'll say that. Wouldn't they make an ideal screen pairing? Judy could use a high-voltage co-star.

Mid-Week Medley

Robert Taylor received a petition from girl employees at his studio, urging him to return his remaining hair. Says Ava Gardiza in "Devil's Doorway" and the "Hucksters" she has lost hair, something like "Waterloo Bridge" and "Undercover Girl." Taylor impressed, and agrees that after a couple of westerns, he'd like to get back to something contemporary.

FRANKFORD

Mr. Keith Sharpe of Brighton, visited friends in Frankford this week

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Dafoe, and Mrs. Fred Stuckley of Frankford, and Mrs. Lorne Gawley of Marmora, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Patrick on Wednesday.

Many local enquiries have been received for membership in the Frankford Bowling League. All teams are to be ready to open at present, but should any members drop out, the names of those required will receive first priority.

A new bridge is being constructed across the section of the Trent River between Gair Company Island, and the mainland back of the Gair Company plant. The old bridge was weakened considerably by the ice last winter.

Mr. Lee Smith has left the employ of Frankford Dairy. Lee has been with the dairy for a number of years, and will be greatly missed on the milk route by the many friends he has made.

Several from Frankford attended the Wooler—Cockyville Softball final Monday afternoon in Oshawa, which ended in a 10 all tie.

A meeting of the Frankford Badminton Club will be held in the Community Memorial Hall to organize the club for the current season. Officers will be elected, and plans outlined for tournament play, etc. All interested in the sport are urged to turn out.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lohnes called on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, Jr., on Thursday evening in Trenton.

Little Benny's Note Book

Us fellows were sitting on Sid Hunt's frunt steps talking about diffrent subjects especially Sid's berthday party 2 weeks from next Saturday and Glasses Magee walked passed without stopping on account of him and Sid Hunt being mad and not speeking to each other, and Sid said, Gosh shang it, I wish I didn't have to invite that darn guy to my berthday party!

Well why do you for? I said, and Sid said, Because if I dont send him a invitation my mother says I cant have any party.

Well then why dont you send him some kind of a invitation so he'll know darn well you mean just the exactly opposite? Puds Simkins said, and Skinny Mac said, Sure, G, why dont you write on it, "Dear Glasses, it gives me grate pleasure to invite you to my berthday party, and if you believe that you must be crazy."

Or why dont you write, "Dear Glasses, it gives me grate pleasure to invite you to my berthday party, but under the circumstances I expect you to bring me 3 presents instead of just one." Shorty Judge said, and Sid said, G, that's a good idea even if he does come, but the only trubble is, my mother wants to read his invitation before I stick it under his door.

Well then hay, I tell you what, I said. Just write, "Dear Glasses, it gives me grate pleasure to invite you to my berthday party."

And then write, "Postscirpo, you big stiff," on the back of the page where your mother wont ever notice it, I said.

Being the best idea yet, but Sid was afraid Glasses wouldn't notice it either, so he's still thinking and wondering.

Youths Plead Guilty to 17 Robbery Charges

Montreal, Oct. 12 (CP)—Two youths, returned to Montreal from jail in Perth, Ont., through intercession of the Attorney General of Ontario, pleaded guilty in Montreal court Tuesday to 17 charges of armed robbery.

The accused—Rene Foisy, 20, and Robert Foisy, (no relation) 24, were arrested in Perth last year while Montreal police were looking for them. Both were sentenced by Ontario court to 18 months for theft of an automobile, they had not fully served their sentence when returned to Montreal.

The Foisys were members of a gang which operated in Montreal and suburbs in the fall of 1948. Four members of the gang were arrested, convicted and sentenced to terms in penitentiary.

Two other members were young women. One was sentenced to five years and the other to seven. One of the girls became known as the "lady in red" because of her fondness for red clothing.

Evidence given at Tuesday's court hearing said the pair escaped from Montreal last Nov. 12—the same night that police had been warned of an impending Bordeaux jail break by Noel Cloutier and Douglas Perreault, both charged with murder during a bank robbery.

(Cloutier and Perreault later were convicted and executed for the slaying of the Montreal city policemen.)

More Production, Less Personnel Achieved by Firm

Montreal, Oct. 12 — (CP) — After more than three years of employee-ownership greater production with less personnel has been achieved by the Parmenter and Bulloch Manufacturing Company, Ltd., of Gananoque, Ont., President T. J. Delaney said Tuesday.

Speaking before the Canadian Progress Club of Montreal, Mr. Delaney said six months after the rivet and die-producing company was bought by the 210 men and women employees for $525,000 the first dividend in many years was declared.

The company was bought by the employees early in 1946.

"We now are producing more goods with fewer employees," Mr. Delaney said. "Industrialists tell us this is remarkable, but I believe it will be a normal reaction.

"People will not waste time or tolerate laxity from their fellow workers when their own money is at stake."

"If an employee leaves the company," Mr. Delaney added, "his share must be sold to the employees' pool and held for further distribution. No one outside our organization can hold shares in the company."

Seasick Man Who Lost Teeth Gets Govt. Denture

Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk, England, Oct. 11—(AP)—A man who lost his false teeth when he got seasick on a vacation voyage asked the National Health Service for new ones.

Monday the West Suffolk executive council of the Health Service decided that under Britain's free-less health plan the man was entitled to a replacement. The council agreed with the way the man put his plight:

"My denture was gone and there was nothing I could do about it."

MAJOR BRAIN OPERATION

Toronto, Oct. 11—(CP)—Officials of the Hospital for Sick Children said today that seven-year-old Billie Dobbin of Caledonia, Ont., is recovering satisfactorily from a major brain operation.

The operation was performed shortly after Billie was admitted to hospital Saturday with a compound fracture of the skull suffered when a colt reared and struck him with its front feet.

Smoke-abatement Law for Railways Not Accepted

Ottawa, Oct. 12 — (CP) — A measure to compel railways to submit partially to municipal smoke-abatement laws in urban areas Tuesday night was defeated in the Commons.

The House declined to give second reading to the bill, sponsored by Rodney Adamson (PC—York West), after Transport Minister Chevrier said the government could not accept it.

The measure would have required roundhouses and other permanent railway installations to comply with any municipal by-laws regulating the output of smoke or soot. It would not apply to moving locomotives, nor would it apply in municipalities without anti-smoke ordinances.

After a group of Ontario members including two Liberals had called for anti-smoke action during an hour's debate, Mr. Chevrier declared the bill was bad legislation because it would submit the Federal Board of Transport Commissioners to municipal legislation.

In Toronto, Mr. Adamson said, some industries outside the railways had installed smoke-abatement equipment.

But railway smoke in northwest Toronto was a "menace." It was one of the most-intensely smoked areas in North America, as the result of smoke from the Lambton roundhouse.

Conditions there were worse than the industrial city of Pittsburgh, Mr. Adamson said.

Brockville Real Menace

"The lake steamers seem to have a total disregard for cooperation with the public," he said.

Gordon Graydon (PC — Peel), acting Progressive Conservative leader, said that in the south end of his riding there was a growing smoke menace.

He hoped the Transport Department would take some action.

Some steps must be taken, he said, to "stop this very serious pollution of the atmosphere." He agreed the smoke nuisance in Toronto was bad, but he said Brockville had a far worse "menace" in the uncontrolled smoke from lake steamships.

They produced more smoke than the city's factories. On days of heavy river traffic, "the whole atmosphere is permeated with smoke."

PUBLIC NOTICE

STREET CLOSING
PART OF REID STREET

NOTICE is hereby given that at the regular meeting of the Council of the City of Belleville held on the 20th day of October, 1969, the City Hall in the City of Belleville, the Council of the said City passed By-law Number 5000 for the sale of the following portion of Reid Street in the City of Belleville:

"FIRSTLY: Singular that certain parcel or tract of land and premises situate, lying and being in the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings and being composed of part of Reid Street according to a plan filed in the Registry Office for the said county as Number 21, which said part and tract of land may be more particularly described as follows:

Firstly—Commencing at the northern 20 feet of that part of the said Pine Street lying to the south of the said Reid Street and being 20 feet in width; thence 20 feet more (closed) between said lots 23 and 24 on the said plan to the lands of the said Reid Street; thence westerly along the said Reid Street to the eastern limit of Lot 25 on the said plan; thence 20 feet more (closed) between said lots 25 and 26 on the said plan to the lands of the said Reid Street; thence easterly along the said Reid Street to the point of commencement, containing by admeasurement 214.7 feet to the western limit of Bell Street.

Secondly—The most northern 20 feet of that part of the said Pine Street lying to the south of the said Reid Street and being between said lots 23 and 24 on the said plan and 20 feet in width extending from the eastern limit of Bell Street, 20 feet more (closed) between said lots 25 and 26 on the said plan to the lands of the said Reid Street; thence easterly along the said Reid Street to the point of commencement, containing by admeasurement 214.7 feet to the western limit of Bell Street.

Secondly—The most northern 20 feet of that part of the said Pine Street lying to the south of the said Reid Street and being between said lots 23 and 24 on the said plan and 20 feet in width extending from the eastern limit of Bell Street, 20 feet more (closed) between said lots 25 and 26 on the said plan to the lands of the said Reid Street; thence easterly along the said Reid Street to the point of commencement, containing by admeasurement 214.7 feet to the western limit of Bell Street.

Any person or his agent who claims that his lands will be prejudicially affected may apply to the Ontario Municipal Board.

A plan and description of that part of Pine Street and Reid Street to be sold are now on file in the office of the City Clerk and may be seen at any time required.

Dated at Belleville this 15th. day of October, 1969.

J. WILFRED HOLMES,
O13,19,20,22 City Clerk.

Black Boom

By Paul David Preston

The little impasse was prolonged in silence. For all her life Jason had been both her slave and master almost literally—in the peculiar sentimental relationship between white and black found only in the southland. It was a relationship based on mutual respect, even love of a kind, and both knew it. To hurt an old negro servant's feelings would be unthinkable. And yet, he actually was a servant.

"Tell him, Jason," Lillian half apologized, at least by a gentler tone, "that I am indignated."

Jason finally nodded, but with obvious regret. "I does just whatcheh you says, Miss Lillian, you knows that. But I keeps my honest opinion. My honest opinion is that you is just actin', Just actin' against yo' own heart feelings. Miss Millie, speak yo' chile, ma'am! Somethin's done come wrong fo' her, and me and you both knows it."

Because Millicent Mayfield had a load on her mind she told her two daughters she wanted to spend the evening alone in her room. That was all right for Lillian who had a date but not for Baby Doll who hadn't. Accordingly, Baby Doll laid plans for "the gang," unless history completely refused to repeat itself tonight friends would arrive uninvited.

Martin Deale was the first of them. He was meticulously dressed, as usual, and gave his hat to Jason with the customary gentleman-of-leisure air which Jason himself admired.

"Hurry up, slow poke," Baby Doll called to Martin from the porch, "I already have cards dealt. Lil-lian!"

"Hello, Mark," Lillian came through the hall then. "Sorry, Sis, I can't play tonight. You and Mart enjoy yourselves."

"You look lovely this evening, Lillian," Martin smiled. "I was hoping that perhaps we might . . . ."

"Thanks Jillions, Martin, but that is calling for me. We may sit in with you all later, though. We'll bring out ice cream. Or I'll see if Nora has any in the refrigerator."

Hospitality at work as always here, Martin liked that, but he didn't like the other. This was a the third—no, fourth—time recently that Thad Monroe had taken her away from the established friendly set, he reflected.

Even now Thad came up front and rang the doorbell, and oddly he was a little too carefully courteous to Martin there in the hall. . . . A little too nearly for the old easy-going Thad Monroe. Whatever had sobered Thad all of a sudden lately? Martin frowned a little, mediating on his own unspoken question.

"Wife have to go to a movie," Lillian apologized for her departure again. "See you later, Mart. And if you decide to make love to Baby Doll I can tell you that mother's safely upstairs, but that Baby Doll herself is fickle and giggly. Bye."

She was trying valiantly to be gay but somehow it didn't jell. Her words, her tone, her odd manner, were a contradiction to the expression in her eyes and if Martin didn't actually understand that, he at least sensed it. It was a carry-over from the atmosphere or mood that old black Jason had observed earlier this day.

"They didn't ask me to ride with them or go to a movie with them," Martin told himself from the front door. "They usually do! It—it's what we've always done here. All of us."

That was personal "dister" had really been a rarity for Lillian save on dance and party occasions. This was just an average nothing-special night, just the pleasant slow night. Martin recalled dozens of times when he and Thad and Lillian, and sometimes the shy M. J. Parker, had all shared a picture show and drive afterward, picking up other friends ab lib, rollicking in and out of the Mayfield home in utter freedom. He noted, now that M. J. Parker wasn't present, indeed had seemed to stop hanging around the gang here lately. She held a rolled issue of the Dallas Morning News for the previous Sunday and she spread it now for the young man.

"These are pictures of the oil boom," she explained. "They are most interesting, don't you think, Martin?"

"Yes, I do," said he politely. He had already seen them, as had practically everyone else in Rangerville. But he studied them anew.

"There are six derricks in the main town area now," she went on, as if to herself. "and if—"

"Disgraceful, positively disgraceful," Martin murmured.

"I love this view of North Marshall street. So peaceful. So pretty. See how the picture is framed in great trees, Martin? And our own home—of course I like that best."

"This place is beautiful."

"The little write-up under it says, 'The boomtown's loveliest dwelling, home of Mrs. Millicent Mayfield, an estate of oaks, crepe myrtles, honeysuckles and cape jasmines, with mock oranges for added fragrance, a place noted for gracious living.' Isn't that sweet, Martin?"

Martin agreed. He found it easy to be polite here. Baby Doll came to huddle with them over the paper before urging him to cards again, nevertheless Martin's mind was detached. He had an unexpected urge to go off alone, now that Lillian had departed.

It took a quarter-hour to excuse himself gracefully and go back into the night. He went straight back to his own home and to his room. Removing only his coat, he paused to study his reflection in his mirror.

"Farmers come okay?"

"Oh Thad! Of course! I am so terrible not to mention them yet! I simply—Thad, the ring was the most beautiful I have ever seen!"

It was enough. The young man's face showed satisfaction, pride, but in contrite haste now Lillian said more things. She could hardly have exaggerated about the magnificence of those rose engravings, and the ring was surely one to overwhelm any fiancee.

"Of course I couldn't actually wear it yet, Thad," she was saying primarily, "but we intend to keep the engagement a secret, but I do thank you. It's just like you to be so generous and kind. Mother is thrilled pink, too."

He nodded. He wished he might stop his car here in broad daylight and smother Lillian Mayfield with loving. But—this wasn't California. This was East Texas, which is practically next door and in a way actually part of the "conventional South," types were never to be mistaken for easy.

"Sure, Lillian, okay, I understand," said he. "I just wanted you to know. I'll be glad when I can tell people."

Lillian considered that and again felt an odd little access of fear, unexplained. In a way, she told herself, all this was a sort of a daze, far indeed from being the utterly delightful state she had always imagined an engagement would be. Thad Monroe was just about perfect, if it came to that. Four years she had known him and liked him. He was good looking, and infinitely kind, wealthy now and generous with his wealth.

He had already chartered a plane and a pilot, and together she and Thad had much to—do about her first flight.

"I'm surprised that you hadn't been up before," he almost once in her ear. "Most modern girls take to aviation in a hurry."

"I've wanted to," she yelled back. "I love it!"

Her thrill of the afternoon was all in flying, not with flying with the man she had agreed to marry, pleasant, though his company was.

"There's the court house," he shouted again, pointing down. "And yonder the oil derricks. See that brown splash? The plowed field? The derrick right next to it was the first one— remember?"

She remembered. Dal Tower had taken her there in a rush and she had shared with him a night of adventure. Even in retrospect that first mad week was exciting. She turned in her plane seat to pick out Buford Hill. There it was, a part of the living map under her now. There the very clump of trees where she and Dal had been parked when the discovery well blew in. Romance had been rampant in her that night. Romance and nothing else, nothing to disturb it until they heard the heraldic explosion.

She wished fervently that she might recapture that mood now. Somehow, though, it was elusive, try as she would.

* * *

She came home at sundown with a new concept of her town. It was astonishing small, viewed from the air. The oil field was two sides with little tenacles extending right down the main streets. The derrick on the church lawn, for instance. And on the old Dobson cotton yard where weighing used to be done. And new pipe lines right on the surface.

"I'll drop back at 8 o'clock, honey," Thad told her, "and thanks a lot for the grand afternoon."

"Sure, Thad. But I'm the one to say thanks. For everything." He smiled, looking almost worshipfully into her lovely eyes.

Supper was over at 7. The conversational atmosphere was somewhat better than it had been at noon. Baby Doll had girlish things to talk about and when she and Mrs. Mayfield learned that Lillian had been flying, a detailed account of that occupied time. Jason had to be told about the flying too, although he expressed frank disapproval of it. Mr. Mayfield, it seems, had never flown, therefor Jason was opposed to flying, on sheer principle.

At 7:15 Jason had to rock into the hall to answer the doorbell again and he came back to summon Lillian.

"It's Mr. Dallas, ma'am. The young doctor."

"Oh." Lillian looked suddenly brighter, then distressed, undecided. "Tell him—no, tell him I won't see him, Jason."

No British Election This Year Says Prime Minister

Attlee Makes Announcement After Meeting of Cabinet

London, Oct. 13—(CP)—Prime Minister Attlee today turned down demands for a general election this fall and declared that his Labor government would ride out Britain's economic crisis.

The announcement that there would be no early election was made in official statement said to quiet "disturbing effects on trade and industry" caused by widespread speculation of a vote this fall.

The Labor government's five-year term runs until next July. But the Prime Minister can call a general election at any time by petitioning the King to dissolve parliament. But Attlee said he would not do so this year.

The Prime Minister's announcement set a precedent. It is the first time a prime minister has been officially asked to say that he has "no" to an election.

Ever since Sept. 18 when Britain devalued the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 in United States funds, there has been a rash of predictions that Attlee might seek an early vote of confidence from the people.

Left-wing Labor members had urged a vote soon, claiming that rising prices caused by devaluation might call into his government's popularity within a few months.

Devaluation also was followed by rising protests from the opposition Conservative party and some sections of the press and leaders for a general election. Generally, those groups contended the government should put it's to socialist politics and planning before the electorate this autumn. Canada Split

Two-Year Pen Term Given Franklin

Toronto, Oct. 13 — (CP) — George Franklin, 32, who crawled in a kitchen storey window today and threatened to jump in an escape attempt, was sentenced to two years in penitentiary today.

Franklin told the court: "Yesterday I came in after drinking all night and I attempted to make an escape.

"Whatever happened outside the court had nothing to do with the sentence I impose today," Judge J. Ambrose Shea told him.

Private Health Bill Defeated on Vote

Ottawa, Oct. 13 — (CP) — A prominent Ontario physician indicated in the Commons Wednesday he feels that patients should be prosecuted if their children die from diseases against which they could have been immunized.

Dr. W. G. Blair, 58-year-old Progressive Conservative member for the Ontario Constituency of Lanark, said the time has come when a coroner's inquest should be held if a child dies from diphtheria or other communicable disease for which immunization is available.

He made the statement during debate on a private member's bill for solution calling for the establishment of a committee on public health, welfare, social security and housing.

The resolution, sponsored by Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton), was defeated "on division" — without a formally recorded vote— after Acting Health Minister Claxton said the government could not accept the proposal. Mr. Fleming said he would support from the C. C. F. and Social Credit leader.

Wife Accuses Hockey Player Of Beating Her

Detroit, Oct. 13 (CP) — Pete Horeck, 26-year-old forward for the Boston Bruins, who opened the National Hockey League season Wednesday against the Detroit Red Wings at Olympia, was accused by his wife of beating her so severely that a month after they were married that she required extensive medical treatment.

The charges were made by Mrs. Anne D. Horeck in a suit for separate maintenance filed in circuit court.

Mrs. Horeck charged that her husband, a native of Massey, Ont. and a former Red Wing, who was traded to Boston last summer, was miserly and failed to support her although he earned $10,000 a season. She said he also had other income as an automobile salesman.

Mrs. Horeck said they were married in Detroit on June 25, 1948.

She charged that since they separated June 30 he has given her only $50. She is seeking temporary and permanent alimony of $100 a week.

Disaster 'Not Unavoidable' View of CSL General Manager Expressed at Noronic Probe

Toronto, Oct. 13 (CP)—Capt. Norman Reoch, General Manager of Canada Steamship Lines, said today he believed the disaster which struck the cruise steamship Noronic here Sept. 17 was "not unavoidable."

He told the Kellock fire inquiry the C.S.L.'s investigation remained incomplete but he himself was not satisfied the holocaust started in a linen closet on the port side of C Deck.

Capt. Reoch said the ship's owners had considered it unnecessary to issue a special set of safety rules to protect passengers while the ship was in dock.

The 42-year-old captain said the bulletin of instruction issued by himself to the masters of the C.S.L.'s nine passenger ships in 1945 were intended to cover emergencies such as fire at sea or in port.

Both Commission Counsel J. W. Pickup and Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, inquiry commissioner, took issue with the witness several times for not answering questions put to him.

"If you are going to make speeches instead of answering my questions, you will be expected to get any place," Mr. Pickup told Capt. Reoch.

"If you ask me questions in nautical language so I can understand them . . . I am an ex-proportion lawyer," said Capt. Reoch. Gives Explanation

This exchange came after Capt. Reoch gave a long explanation of how much more simple it would be to get passengers ashore during an emergency in port by the gangplank than by lifeboat.

He had been asked what considerations the crew members had given to getting passengers ashore in the event of fire in port.

Capt. Reoch, speaking in strong voice and pacing about the witness box, said the company issued its own directive to masters for fire and life boat drills because no such regulations were issued by the government.

The C.S.L. general manager was given a second lecture in strong terms by Mr. Justice Kellock later in his evidence for "speech making". The witness stopped Mr. Pickup when the commissioner called sharply to him to stop.

Master Instructed

Capt. Reoch had told Mr. Pickup that the master of the Noronic was instructed to give instructions to the special officers on the ship.

"All right then, tell us what you know about them not what you think should have been done," said Mr.—Bickup. "Did you hear Capt. William Taylor give these instructions?—

"Certainly not," snapped the witness. "But I've known Capt. Taylor for years and his word that he did so is good enough for me. Capt. Taylor has been sailing since he was seven years of age and I consider him one of the best masters . . ."

"Witness," called the commissioner, "you are not privileged to say what you want. We don't want any speeches from you . . . It's not enough for you to say what someone else told you he did. You were asked a particular question, now answer that."

Fire Proof Locker

Capt. Reoch said the regulations issued in 1945 and he could produce a copy of them. These rules stipulated that special officers were to be at the head of gangplank when the ship was in port.

The witness corroborated the evidence given by Capt. Taylor last week that the fire proof locker by Capt. Reoch to dispense with a compass required calling for master buttons to be issued all crew.

Capt. Reoch said that when the Noronic's master raised the subject he told him "I don't care if the crew wear Homberg hats or kilts" so long as they were efficient on life boat and fire drills.

The C.S.L. general manager said he issued no written instructions with Capt. Taylor in 1945. He felt sure the Noronic's master received them.

Capt. Reoch admitted under cross-examination that he did not think this particular document had been drawn to the attention of Capt. Taylor since 1945.

He described a fire drill he once took part in aboard the Noronic, describing it the best he had ever seen either on fresh or salt water.

Foraging 300-Pound Bear Terrorizes Orillia Residents

Orillia, Oct. 13 — (CP) — A posse of 25 armed men is out today scouring the district for a foraging 300-pound bear, said which has terrorized residents and killed pet chickens and small animals in this town about 80 miles north of Toronto.

Every night for the last week the bold animal, sometimes accompanied by a small bear, has wandered into town and made off with pet chickens, slaughtering right and left in about a dozen hen coops.

A builder with four small rabbits was also smashed and the animals destroyed.

The bear has roamed almost daily without restraint through a partly built-up district about two miles square and on at least one occasion, police said, it reached a point more than half a mile within town business area.

Wednesday a posse of 10 men searched the country south southeast of town. One man is believed to have wounded the animal with a rifle shot.

Mrs. Edna Duffy, mother of three children, said: "It is particularly frightening to women and girls who work downtown and to those home after dark." Most are taking taxis. No one is allowing their children out after dark."

Gaming House Near Frankford Raided by Police

It was rather an expensive Thanksgiving party for ten Frankford residents when the county Magistrate's Court today imposed fines totalling $1,000 and costs on the outskirts of Frankford.

The ten men, one of whom was charged with keeping a gaming house, paid fines and costs amounting to $173.50, while an additional $17, two sets of dice, and blanket, found on the premises, was ordered confiscated by the Magistrate.

Provincial Police from Belleville early last Sunday morning raided a home on the 5th concession of Sidney township, where they found the men around the kitchen table with a dice game in progress. The $18 confiscated was in the hands of two of the players.

The owner of the home was charged with keeping a gaming house and pleading guilty was fined $10 and costs amounting to $19.50. The nine other men paid $1 fines and costs of $14.50 each. One of the men paid an additional $18 for the unlawful possession of a case of ale.

A Point Anne resident pleaded guilty to operating a slot machine at his place of business, and was fined $50 and costs of $14.50 with confiscation of the machine being ordered.

Team Wrestling Has Earmarks Of Grudge Bout

The team of Whipper Billy Watson and Pat Flanagan say they have several surprises in store for their opponents when they meet the team of Fred Atkins and Hardboiled Hannigan in their grudge return match at the Memorial Arena on Friday night. Pat and Whip report they are bearing down in training and planning for this bout more intensively than ever before in their careers. On top of that, they revealed they have some strategy in store for their rivals that has never before been done in a team match anywhere. Whatever their plan of campaign is, it doesn't seem to be mine stated to the welfare of the Atkins-Hannigan feature twosome.

Frank Taylor, big, handsome Californian, will test Dangerous Dan O'Connor in a semi-final that should put the fans in proper frame of mind for the high-powered action of the four-man feature event. In the opener, Tour Morgan will wrestle Antone Leone.

Quarterly Meeting Of Association Held in City

The regular quarterly meeting of the Quinte National Unemployment Insurance Commission Association was held in the Belleville local office on Wednesday evening, October 12th. There was a large attendance and representations were from the following offices:- Napanee, Picton, Trenton, Port Hope, Cobourg and Belleville.

The meeting was in charge of Mr. Ward Sexsmith, President of the association. A considerable amount of business was discussed during this period and the main topic of the evening was a comprehensive report by Mr. Jack Russell of Trenton. The main speaker of the evening who was a delegate to the National Unemployment Insurance Commission Association convention that was held in Montreal from September 23rd to 25th inclusive.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. F. Wills, Belleville representative. Mr. Russell in his remarks, outlined many interesting features of the convention including a number of resolutions that have been adopted by the UNTICA.

It might also be mentioned that the sum of $25 has been made out of the Provincial representatives of the National executive body.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the ladies of the local office staff of Belleville and all agreed that a very enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

40 Rural Young People Enjoy Visit to Ottawa

As an award for their club activities during the past year, forty rural young people from the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward enjoyed a one-day visit to Ottawa last week. The excursion, the final one in charge of D. A. Taylor, and A. O. Dalrymple, agricultural representatives for the two counties.

The young people were all members of junior club projects in their counties, the boys being chosen on the basis of the two high calf projects, aggregate score in the various clubs, and the girls for being county honor girls over the past two years. Twenty-eight did actually participate.

The trip to Ottawa was made on Friday, Oct. 7th, the party arriving at the National Museum at 10 o'clock in the morning. At noon they sat down to a tasty dinner provided by Messrs. Livergne Benoit, M.P. for Prince Edward-Lennox; George S. White, M.P. for Hastings-Peterborough, and Frank S. Follwell M.P. for Hastings South.

Later the group toured the House and sat in the galleries where they watched the House of Commons in action.

Following the visit to the House, the group toured Ottawa by bus, going to the Central Experimental Farm where they looked through barns and greenhouses. The trip was financed by the Belleville Kiwanis Club, County Council and Federation of Agriculture. It has been suggested that the trip be made an annual event.

County Failure to Assume Full Indigent Costs Reason for Rate Surcharge States Mayor Storey in Answer to Protests

Debentures charges and operational deficit at the Belleville hospital will cost the city taxpayers an additional five to seven mills on the tax rate next year unless the hospital receives financial assistance.

This was stated today by Mayor Chas. L. Storey following requests for further information regarding the recent statement issued by the Chamber of Commerce in connection with the surcharge being made to non-resident patients at the hospital.

Chamber of Commerce officials had stated there was considerable objection to county residents to the surcharge and recommended that the city and county negotiate for larger county grants in order that the surcharge may be discontinued. County patients at the hospital are charged a different rate ranging from an additional $2 per day for private rooms, down to $1.50 extra for ward patients.

New City Owned

Mayor Storey said that when he became mayor he found the 1947 estimates for the hospital over the Belleville General Hospital Mgmt. Bd. has been made out of the Provincial representatives of the National executive body.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the ladies of the local office staff of Belleville and all agreed that a very enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

it necessary to levy a deficit of $1,000. A building for the housing of medical records was constructed at a cost of $750. These records were previously stored in the third east section and constituted a fire hazard. Four electric water coolers have been installed at a cost of $380. They greatly relieve the ice water situation for patients.

Exterior Painted

The exterior of the building have been painted at a cost of $2,500, the hospital hiring its own painting crew.

A contract has been entered into with the Otis-Fenson Company for the installing of elevators at a fee of $30 monthly. This greatly relieves the always breakdowns complained of one year ago. Also a contract for extermination of mice and roaches has proved highly successful. This costs $25 monthly.

The Mayor paid tribute to the hospital board of governors, consisting of six Belleville business men. "These men," he said, "had wonderful long hard years of their time, ability and experience without remuneration."

A suggestion how the hospital financial situation might be relieved was given by the Mayor. He believes the county should assume a percentage of the capital expenditure made by the hospital and then pay its own portion of the yearly deficit.

Extra Funds Provided

To pay accounts and to provide for other capital expenditures, the city has made $263,000 available to the hospital. The Mayor stated that the hospital's grant of $125,000 as agreed to by the 1947 estimates be approved by private bill passed by the Ontario government. Again on the auditor's report, the hospital was found in necessary to request an additional $125,000 from the city.

"The county of Hastings was not asked to carry any of this capital cost," the Mayor told Mr. Storey. "This will cost the citizens of Belleville several mills on their tax rate in the next few years, and the board of governors of the hospital felt the county should pay at least the full cost of their indigent patients."

A spokesperson at the hospital showed that indigent patients were charged $4 per day. The government rate per day for indigent patients is $2.50. On the auditor's report the hospital was approximately 39 per cent of the indigent patients were from the county of Hastings.

Appealed to County

The Mayor said that with the chairman of finance of the hospital he had appeared before the county council in 1946 pointing out the hospital was losing money on county indigent patients at a rate of nearly $10,000 per year. County council was informed that the hospital would have to ask for grants to assist in carrying on the hospital.

The hospital finance committee met with the finance committee of county council and a grant of $8,000 was made by the county in 1946 to help out the rapidly growing deficit at the hospital.

Early in 1946 the hospital requested county council to make an additional grant of approximately the same amount but had given the hospital in December, 1946, and a special committee of county council was appointed to meet with the finance committee of the hospital to review the situation.

Appeal Fail

Two joint meetings of these committees were held and while the county representatives generally appeared willing to pay the full cost of their indigent patients, the figures presented by the hospital committee had not been prepared by the auditor, apparently failed to convince the county they should pay more although no specific error was found in the figures.

At these meetings it was expressly stated that the hospital's only alternative to a grant of substantially the full cost of indigent patients would be an increase in the surcharge on paying patients resident outside the city of Belleville.

After the county declined to make an additional grant to the hospital, the hospital board of governors recommended to city council that surcharge be made on all patients admitted to hospital, who were not bonafide residents of the city. This action was approved by the city council and was reported in the Ontario Intelligencer. This action, it was stated, was necessary to save city taxpayers, who own the hospital, from further increases in taxes which would be occasioned by the cost of county indigent patients.

Mayor Storey said the surcharge applied in the same manner to students from outside the city who attend city schools. These non-resident students are charged $100 a fee for their education and instruction.

Large Work Program

Since it was taken over by the city, it was found the hospital required a new laundry and power house, also a new laundry and kitchen, which was done and the equipment in the Mary Ritchie Residence.

Additional is a list of the work done at the hospital since it was taken over by the city, this work being in addition to the capital requirements of $263,000 previously mentioned.

Ward kitchens have been rebuilt and re-equipped at a cost of $2,200, four ward fatiguilities at a cost of $700. There were also ward partitioners to divide the hospital or nurses' residence. A fire alarm system was installed in the Bridge Hall residence, costing $1,000, and 230 window screens costing $800 were made in the hospital workshop.

A public address system was installed with 20 stations interconnecting the hospital. This cost $1,000. A building for the housing of medical records was constructed at a cost of $750. These records were previously stored in the third east section and constituted a fire hazard. Four electric water coolers have been installed at a cost of $380. They greatly relieve the ice water situation for patients.

The funeral of Alfred William Cearley, late residence Corbyville was held Wednesday afternoon from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street. The service in the chapel and at Belleville Cemetery was conducted by Rural Dean the Rev. J. Grant Sparling, Rector of Christ Church.

MRS. SUFFIE O'BRIEN

Marmora, Oct. 13 (Special)—The funeral of the late Mrs. Suffie O'Brien, was held on Tuesday morning from her late residence to Sacred Heart Church where High Requiem Mass was celebrated—by the Rev. J. A. O'Neill. Pallbearers were Don Shannon, Don Robertson, Don Cook, Fred Johnston, Joseph Durnh and Wardell Cook. Burial took place in Sacred Heart Cemetery.

GEORGE HENRY KIZER (Millcrest)

George Henry Kizer, Millcrest, Thurlow township, died in the Belleville General Hospital early Thursday morning at the age of seventy-three years of age. He was born in Belleville and was a native of the late James Mullins and his wife the late Catherine Ann Avery. All her life was passed in this city. She was a member of St. Michael's Church and in connection with the parish she was a member of the Catholic Women's League.

Surviving her are one stepdaughter, Miss Catherine Callaghan, Toronto, and one stepson, Michael Callaghan, Hamilton and one brother, Cornelius Mullins, Belleville.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

MRS. EMMA ELIZA ROBLIN (Crofton) (nee Babcock)

A deep gloom pervaded the community when it was learned that Mrs. Emma Roblin had passed away suddenly. Her health had not been too good for several years, but she had been busy with her household duties as usual through the day and was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage about six o'clock and passed away four hours later the same evening.

Mrs. Roblin was born at Foxboro, the daughter of Thomas Clarke and his wife, Eliza Bennett, and was the sixth in a family of nine children, of whom Wilson, Fred and Mrs. Lloyd Cole, Charles, Richard, John and Arthur predeceased her. Early in life she united with the church of the Methodist Church and was always a faithful worker in the church and its societies, as well as the Gilead Mills Women's Institute and had attended the meeting just three days previous to her death. She was also deeply interested all the information and compiled the busy Tweedsmuir book on the history of this part of the county.

On the twenty-fourth of February in 1897 she was united in marriage to Philip William Roblin, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Roblin of Marsh Hill, after living at Foxboro and Carmel for many years, they came back to their farm on Jericho Street to which beside personal entity.

In 1947 their family held an anniversary dinner and "at home" for them at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Harold Cross, to celebrate their golden wedding.

On July 17th this year, a family picnic was held at the Outlet where the entire family was together for the first time in over ten years when thirty-eight were there for the event.

Left to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother, are her husband, five daughters, Mrs. Cross (Mrs. Harold Cross, of Crofton), Irene (Mrs. Percy Wallbridge of Big Island) Evelyn (Mrs. Ernest Day, of Claremont) Margaret (Mrs. Charles Day of Corbyville) (Mrs. Harold Frank of Brockville) and one son, Percival, at home, as well as a brother, Frank Clarke, of Flinton, and a sister, Miss Amelia Clarke of Foxboro. There are also fifteen grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren.

The funeral service was held in the home and conducted by her pastor Mr. Dyson assisted by her nephew, Rev. Morley Clarke, of Thomasburg, with a large number of relatives and friends present to pay their last respects to her and sympathy for the bereaved.

A wealth of floral tributes was in fitting for one who had loved and grown flowers all her life. She was laid to rest in the Clarke plot at Foxboro with many others of her family who have gone before.

The bearers, all neighbors were Clayton Morden, Gordon Gilbert, John Guernsey, Harold Dixon, Stanley Werden and Richard Hall.

IN MEMORIAM

HANNAH — In loving memory of our dear daughter, Ella Hannah, who passed away October 19th, 1945.
Sweet memories the treasures no one can steal.
Deep in a's heartache nothing can heal.
Sweet may forget you now that you're gone,
But we shall remember no matter how long.
—Sadly missed by Gladys, Maury and Mom.

COOK — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Cook, who passed away Oct. 19th, 1946.
God knew that he was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb.
So He took your beautiful spirit
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
Sweet is the sound in the hills of God
By the valley of rest so fair.
Sometimes we think we know not what
We will meet our loved one there.
Ever remembered by husband and family. 012

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Oct. 13 (CP)—Industrials bucked their way steadily upwards for the third successive session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. By mid-session the industrial list had broken through to the highest average price level since August 1946.

Gains appeared steadily in market leaders and ranged from fractions to more than a point. Golds were also higher and western oils continued Wednesday's firmer trend. Base metals about balanced gains and losses.

Volume for the first four hours was 787,000 shares, about 77,000 shares more than Wednesday's similar period.

Papers continued to lead the industrial advance. Utilities, steels, agricultures, liquors and refining oils were well ahead.

Mining issues were comparatively quiet. Preston East Dome mines leaped into the spotlight, turning briskly to touch a new high at $3.05 before settling back. Drill results from the property in the Purcupine district, Northern Ontario, sparked the movement.

Prosperous Era Forecast for Canada and U.S.

FORBES RHUDE
(Canadian Press Business Editor)

Two statements in the current news rate consideration when making plans for the future. Says John W. Snyder, American Secretary of the treasury: "When the present strike situation is over, the United States is in for the greatest period of prosperity we have known."

This from a country which a few months ago was depression-minded.

And Donald Gordon, incoming head of the Canadian National Railways, foresees a "great new era of progress" for all Canada, with roots in oil, iron ore, titanium, base metals and numerous other sources.

Fallacy to Materialize

It is pleasant to be talking thus, in this Fall of 1949, a full two years after the end of the depression was supposed to be upon us—the one that hasn't come.

The most striking thing about the world today is not its difficulties, but its startling soundness. Fallacy to Materialize

It is pleasant to be talking thus, in this Fall of 1949, a full two years after the end of the depression was supposed to be upon us—the one that hasn't come.

The most striking thing about the world today is not its difficulties, but its startling soundness. Its peoples.

In the last 30 years or so there have been two illusions. One, after 1918, that the world would go back to the "normalcy" of pre-1914. The other, after 1945, that it would go back to the "normalcy" of the '30s. There may, some time in the future, be something to correspond to the "normalcy" of pre-1914, and there may again be something akin to the '30s, but there is little chance that either can occur in the time of those now living. There could be chaos, but not these.

Not as Black in U. K.

Another thought-provoker from the daily press:

Sir Stafford Cripps says Britain's position is "not as black as a rate of about four per cent a year, adding that it is not just sufficient to pay for the loss of overseas investment income that used to pay for certain of her imports.

Well, sometimes we get a bit discouraged about the progress of post-war Britain. So be it, but if she does continue to raise her productivity to the point where it will replace the investment income she lost, we may smile a few years hence that we once feared Britian was finished. In addition, she'll be winning back the investment income.

Fire Department Parades Tonight

With the weather holding clear, the parade of fire fighting personnel and equipment will go on tonight as scheduled, it was stated today by Fire Chief Gerald Vance.

The parade is being held in connection with Fire Prevention Week being observed all this week and in addition to fire fighting personnel of the city and their equipment will consist of the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides and also school children. The parade will move off from the Upper Bridge at 7:30, the route of parade being along Front and Dundas to Pinnacle and then back to Front street by way of Bridge street.

Prizes are being awarded for the Boy Scout or Girl Guide finishing the greatest fire hazard in Belleville and immediate district, while school pupils are competing in an essay and poster drawing contest, the subject matter being fire prevention.

She-Grizzly Bear Puts 200 Stitches In Man's Body

Fairbanks, Alaska, Oct. 13 (AP)—Dan Luddington fought a close-in bout with a grizzly bear and won, but he was in hospital today with 200 stitches.

Luddington met a she-grizzly with her cubs head-on near Summit Lake.

"My rifle failed to fire the first bullet," he recounted. "And she got me down. She was pawing, mauling and raking me with her claws and I was trying to get away and at the same time reload my rifle.

"It seemed like my head was in her mouth when I got another shell in the chamber. I managed to get my rifle around while she was dragging me by one leg.

Newsboys and Newsgirls Of the Ontario Intelligencer Will Visit Niagara Falls

Forty-five newsboys and eight "newsgirls" of the Ontario Intelligencer will join those from the Kingston Whig-Standard and the Peterborough Examiner on a trip to Niagara Falls over the week-end.

The boys and girls are the guests of their respective newspapers and have qualified by circulation contests.

Fred Kingston will come 53 newsboys which will meet the Peterborough Examiner contingent of 31, and that of Belleville, "Newsgirls" will travel in a separate bus.

The Ontario Intelligencer party leaves at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the newspaper offices. The Belleville and King ton parties will join with that from Peterborough at Port Hope.

Permission for the boys and girls to be absent from school classes has been secured from the Board of Education and the Separate School Board.

The newsboy contingent of 139 newsboys and girls from the three newspapers will have their Friday supper in Toronto and from there will go to Niagara Falls where they will be housed in a motel called "Uncle Tom's Cabin" which has been reserved in their entirety for the party.

To Be Taken On Cruise

On Saturday and Sunday the party will be taken on a cruise on the "Maid of the Mist" which will take it to the bottom of the falls. Raincoats and rubber boots will be supplied.

The "kids" will be taken down to the underground tunnel below the falls and behind the mighty cascade.

They will visit the "Burning Springs" where the Indians used to worship.

They will be taken on the Spanish Aero-Car across the Niagara River-gorge and over the famous whirlpool. They will see the battlefields of the war of 1812 at Queenston. They will see the monuments of General Sir Isaac Brock and Laura Secord, and other points of interest.

13 I. T. PROSECUTIONS

Ottawa, Oct. 13 — (CP) — A total of 13 persons have been prosecuted for infractions of the Income Tax Act since last Jan. 1, a Commons return showed Wednesday. Of these, three cases arose in Ontario.

Community Chest Workers to Receive Final Instructions Before Canvass

Tonight at 6:15 workers will gather at a supper meeting at Bridge Street United Church to receive final instructions before proceeding on the city-wide canvass of the Belleville and District Community Chest. Organized annually as the Red Feather Campaign coincident with similar campaigns in other communities in Canada and the United States, the $16,000 objective which it is hoped will be realized between the dates of Oct. 14 and 20 represents the deficit sustained by the three participating organizations, the Children's Aid Society, the Y.M.C.A. and the Victorian Order of Nurses, in providing many below cost services for all citizens regardless of their ability to pay.

The executive headed by H. W. Ackerman as chairman, Judge J. C. Anderson as vice chairman and Joseph E. Short as secretary, points out that each of these organizations raises a large portion of its own finances through fees set for services which would defray the cost of the necessary services which each has to offer.

Many families and particularly children are still unable to meet the below-cost fees and yet require the services. By means of the present appeal it is hoped that these services will be continued and extended. If the objective of $16,000 is reached the cost of operation will be covered. The generous support of the citizens is earnestly and unreservedly discontinue any of these valuable services.

The executive therefore appeals to the citizens to be sympathetic and responsive to the call of the volunteer workers who are giving liberally of their time and money to make the campaign a success. Campaign headquarters are in the Y.M.C.A. building where information can be obtained and contributions sent if anyone is not reached by a canvasser.

Changes Made In Essay Contest For Shopping

T. E. Schwab, after meeting with the principals of the public schools, announced some changes in the essay competition which is being sponsored in connection with "Enjoy Shopping In Belleville" week. The participants in the competition are now to be divided into various sections in place of the original two. Under the new system there will be a $2 prize for each of grades six, seven and eight in each school. That is, the pupils will be competing against only those in the same grade and same school.

The High School section remains unchanged with all High School students eligible to compete for the first prize of a Royal portable typewriter, second prize of a Bulova watch and third prize of a pen and pencil set.

The length of the essay which is to be written around the theme "Why My Parents Enjoy Shopping In Belleville" is limited to one side of a single sheet of foolscap. Essays are to be in Tuesday, Oct. 18, and the prizes will be distributed in the assemblies of each school later in the week.

COAL NEWS!

GOOD NEWS:

1. We now have genuine Welsh Buckwheat coal for blowers. This is the world's best blower coal, available now for the first time since the war— priced $22.50 per ton.

2. The Anthracite coal miners' strike is now ended, and we are happy to announce that we can take care of all orders for any quantity of any size required: Nut, Stove, Egg, Pea, Buckwheat.

3. The strike of Bituminous coal miners is still on, but we have sufficient stock on hand to take care of all orders for stoker coal, steam coals, coke, etc., for the duration of the strike if it does not last too long.

BAD NEWS:
(But Not Too Bad)

1. The regrettable item under Bad News, is that prices on recent and future shipments had to be advanced to take care of the recent 10½ per cent. advance in United States exchange rate. This of course is beyond the control of any coal merchant.

However, all orders taken by us up to the date of the advance in exchange, are being and will be honored by us at the old prices.

RULES AGAINST FIRE

Keep matches out of the reach of small children. Distribute enough ashtrays about the house. Don't permit smoking in bed.

All electrical appliances should bear the label of Underwriters' Laboratories Inc. or Hydro-Electric Ontario for your safety.

Have furnace and chimney cleaned at least once a year. Check for cracks, loose bricks. Use metal container for ashes.

Don't allow rubbish, papers, magazines, or other combustibles to collect in alleys, closets, or cellars.

Keep portable heaters clean and place them so they can't be tipped over.

Have your roof inspected for safety. If you must dry-clean at home, use cleaning fluids bearing the approval label.

CLIMATE AND WEATHER

The Weatherman or Old Probs is the one character to whom all the world can look for he has the say what the weather and what the climate will be. In the progress of modern weather forecasting which is overcoming the barriers of time and bringing data of weather some days ahead of the weather's arrival man has an incentive and inspiration to look more and more at his barometer and thermometer and watch for the "Probs."

Interest in the climatic conditions has taken a keener hold of late on human beings and in its own way no doubt upon the lower life, the animals and the products of the soil.

Now the scientist finds the interest of man in the weather so great that he is encouraged to proceed with his studies. Of late years there has been a growing belief that the climate is becoming warmer and men and women look to the scientists for the proofs. These they are presenting to the people.

In the October Letter of the Royal Bank of Canada appears an article on "Our Climate and Our Weather," which provides some interesting facts and observations on this subject. The letter points out: "We of 1940 are at the tail end of an age living in a time following a period of climatic violence as great as any the earth has known . . . We are familiar with the daily cycle in the temperate zones . . . The annual range is also familiar, through the variety of temperature, rain, snow and wind that makes up spring, summer, autumn and winter."

It is hinted that the cycles of weather may correspond to changes in the sun's condition though this is not yet proven. Then comes the interesting statement, "One point about which there seems to be general agreement is that the earth's surface is getting warmer." Some scientists have used the science of this summer and decided that "we are well on our way to a new type of climate in the countries bordering on the Atlantic coast." To this can be added the fact that glaciers all over the world are receding rapidly and the permanently frozen subsoil in Northern Canada is melting slowly.

The article indicates how great an influence climate has on civilization. Weather has much to do with man's health and man lives in a band of temperature. Cold brings its danger and heat waves bring perils to men and women and over a wide range of temperatures from below zero to 95 degrees or over imposes a severe discipline on mind and body.

Turning to weather forecasting, the writer of the letter says that many factors enter but the public wants a forecast to state as nearly as possible in every word "fair, clear, cloudy, rain." In fact all the forecaster pretends to do is to say with reasonable assurance that if an existing trend occurs, certain things will happen.

As to making rain artificially, the letter holds that "the science already made in knowledge and practice indicates that it may be possible to put rain-making on a firm basis shortly." Till then the people can plug along with the aid of almanacs, the Meteorological Bureau and their own amateur effort at forecasting. "Perhaps it is better so, because if our weather ideals were achieved what should we grumble about?"

MALE KNITTERS

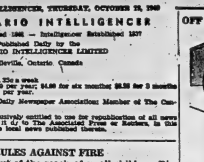
—Fashion Note, by Lauress Pringle.



"Tis strange a woman would admit
That men have skill enough to knit;
That some of them have mastered that
Deft art of purling while they chat
And shaping woolen diamonds blue
As well as lady fingers do;
That males who need new socks are known
To sit them down and knit their own.

Among the knitting males are found
The names of gentlemen renowned,
The list includes a former king,
Dramatic stars and men who sing.

'Tis told these most amazing chaps,
With balls of wool upon their laps,
As does my Janet, while she rocks,
Can make the loveliest Argyle socks.
Though fond of Argyle socks am I,
To knit my own I'd never try,
I like 'tis more from love than thrift)
To get them as a birthday gift.
'Tis so with sweaters and with mitts;
They should be things devotion knits.
From topmost rib through heel and toe,
That I am loved, my socks must show.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

A news report a few weeks ago stated that the government was going to include, in its housing program, some considerations for the man in a car, who can afford a high rent, but can never seem to get hold of enough capital to buy the sort of house it feels entitled to.

The car has fought now to be fairly large in Canada. For more than thirty years cheap prices have create such families have been diligently at work. You have only to look at the files of an old newspaper of, say, 1915 to 1920, to see how few things were advertised beyond the necessities of life as such clothing, food, furniture. But present generation is a consumer generation with vengeance. A thousand devices, machines, gadgets have been introduced in our everyday life to be without which is to be underprivileged.

The motor car is the chief of them. What is the use of a motor car is vastly greater than the cash or the instalments of its purchase. The upkeep of the car, week by week, month by month, is far less a drain than the money we are persuaded to spend because we have a car. We go daily across town to movies; dash down town to store; run away at weekends; be entertained by distant friends, and thereby be put to the expense of entertaining in return. The automobile makes us mobile. And moving freely, we spend vastly more than we would if sitting still in one place. The car entire modern economy urges us powerfully to spend, not to save. Insurance, for ever increasing numbers of us, is our only savings. The point has been reached where the public sales epidemic have been almost completely demolished. We are a generation of salesmen, who have sold each other solid.

And among us are thousands who could pay $100 rent a month, but couldn't amass even $2,000 to lay down on one of these pewee bungalows!

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

NO FAITH, NO STABILITY

One-half the people in the United States are not connected with any church. This bodes ill for the future. Many authorities are telling us that we are wasting our natural resources. If we are, we are in danger but if we are wasting our spiritual resources or are failing either to conserve or to cultivate them, then this is even worse than losing our natural resources.

Until the turn of the century, or even until the time of the attention was given by parents to the moral and spiritual education of their children. For one thing, the automobile had not come into general use and families were generally home on Sunday. This usually meant Sunday school and church for everybody. But with the custom of weekending and the moral damage caused by two world wars, we have a generation of young people today who, through no fault of their own, know very little about the religious faith of their forebears.

This situation will probably get worse before it gets better. It may come to a place where it threatens the very existence of our national life.

Whitehall Notebook:

Colonial Sec. Takes Plenty Of Panning but Still in Office

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 13—(CP)—A Conservative member of parliament told the House of Commons that "for an example of pure bunkering folly the colonial secretary takes a lot of beating."

"I cannot think of one thing since he took office that he has not made a mess of," he declared. He added that the secretary should hand in his resignation because he is obviously not fit for his job."

His remarks were made a year ago. Arthur Creech Jones is still colonial secretary. Despite the plaints and gibes of the Conservative party, he is likely to remain so at least while the Labor Government is in office.

The 57-year-old minister is rated by Laski, As colonial secretary since 1946, and undiscreetary for a year before that, he has had to administer a colonial empire that is seething with change. Local nationalistic agitations for independence he has had to balance the rights of European investors and the hopes of the United Kingdom for greater supplies of raw materials. If his conflation is satisfied, another is displeased and quickly vents his wrath on the quiet, sober-faced minister.

Creech Jones is not given to spectacular counter-attacks in parliament, although on occasion he has been known to hit back hard at his critics.

He has borne worse things than sneers. During the first World War he did three years hard labor as a conscientious objector. His cell, he disclosed afterwards, was directly opposite the prison's hanging shed.

As colonial minister the problems he faces before that day are enough to make a man lose genius quail. One or his biggest tasks concerned the British mandate in Palestine. Troubles in Malaya, Malta's economic difficulties, development in the British West Indies, unrest in Central Africa, have since crowded close on another.

Easy Does It

Creech Jones said recently in an address that the public was apt to overlook the social and economic developments taking place in the colonial empire, and to expect great projects of a dramatic kind. Most progress could only be of long-term character.

"We are trying to enlarge production in order to improve colonial living standards and meet the demands for good and social services," he said, "just as it is important for colonies to have raw materials and foodstuffs if they are to pay for the capital goods they require."

Moscow Resolved To Set up World Communism

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

The red purge which is sweeping Czechoslovakia is further proof — if more were needed — of Moscow's determination to establish world communism, and of the tremendous efficiency of the machine which backs that determination.

The communist government in that country has only been in power a few months. Its control has encountered widespread resistance. Ineffective efforts by the authorities to bring recalcitrant citizens into line finally have resulted in a wholesale purge. This is described in news dispatches as creating a fear-ridden country on hysteria among the population.

By day and by night people have been disappearing and are then reportedly are being sent to prison labor camps. The drive is said to be mainly against the properties class, and businessmen have been confiscated. The chief causes of this upheaval are threefold:

Roots of Upheaval

1. The intense fervor of the people as a whole for their democracy, and their refusal to surrender their nationalism to Moscow.

2. The opposition of landowners and big business to nationalization.

3. The bitter clash between atheistic communism and a highly religious population. Eighty per cent of which is Roman Catholic.

In order to get the full significance of what is happening you must have a knowledge of the tremendous pride of the Czechoslovaks in their nationhood, which was born at Versailles out of the ashes of World War I.

Then, less than a generation later, came the Second World War which resulted in the Nazi occupation of Czechoslovakia and the inevitable inauguration of a communist regime. This violation of a red government saw President Eduard Benes, one of the founders of Czechoslovakia, die of a broken heart, and Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, son of the father of his country, die in an unexplained fall from a high window in his Prague apartment.

Fear and Distrust

All these circumstances created fear and distrust among the citizens. As time went on this dissatisfaction increased to the point where it began to burst into outright resistance in many quarters.

The red government apparently intends to do a thorough job of house-cleaning with no interest purge.

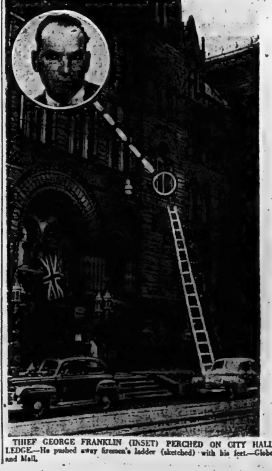
Naturally the question arises whether the fiercely independent general public will stand for this communist crank-down. However before you can answer that query you have to answer another one: Whether it likes it or not, what can the public do about it with communist policy and military in the saddle?

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PATIENCE

What valuable quality is this thing which we call patience! All the great inventions have it. Scientists in thousands of laboratories have it. Names of men and women now laboring at difficult tasks, unknown and unnoticed, have it. And do not complain. Yet all of these become benefactors to all mankind.



Abraham Lincoln had patience to a remarkable degree. You get the quality of it in his famous phrase: "With malice toward none with charity to all." Would that the nation of the earth might adopt now have that patience and good will toward one another, as four ecrish efforts are being carried on pointing more to war than to peace, than world participation been needed as right now.

But what a splendid mechanism work for hours upon a difficult job, slowly thinking and working out a correct solution. I have seen others, disgusted, throw up a job—passing it to the one whose patience completed it successfully. Our forefathers had patience. They took time to perfect the work at hand. They left us a great heritage.

Many a writer has tolled over his manuscript for long years before allowing publication. As many have gone to their graves without such recognition. But great patience finally comes into its own. Think of the years that entire lives have devoted to the making of the rare tapestries that now hang in our museums.

Too many today are unwilling to wait their time to prepare themselves for a genuinely great career. They want money, fame, and the glamor of popularity in quick order. But that sort of success fades quickly. Patience over a long period gives the world forward. Every sincere artist can testify to this fact.

I have in audience the teacher of Helen Keller had to muster what a blessing to the world both have been! What a living example! And many another teacher has been blessed because of his or her patience by many men and women who have been noble and useful citizens because of that patience. There is a phrase in the Bible where it tells us to possess our souls with patience.

"CHARACTER ANALYSIS" BY PHRENOLOGY STILL WITH US

Back in the days when you and I were young, every amusement park, carnival and county fair had a booth devoted to phrenology. The dictionary defines phrenology as a "system" of estimating character by the shape of the head. Even the dictionary shuns the word "science" in this connection, But in the old days the phrenologists stressed the "scientific" aspect of the hokum with great vigor.

The travelling phrenologists always had a large diagram of the head printed on oil cloth, in which the head was divided by lines into various areas and each area was described as the centre of a certain character. For a "trifling sum" these "bumpologists" would feel one's head and estimate the weak and strong characters, A certain prominence of one part of the head was held to indicate honesty, comparative lack of development of another indicated dishonesty. One bump meant intelligence, another bravery, and equally self-conscious experts who set great store by their ability to half close their eyes and "analyze" one by a visual survey of his bumps. It has been many years since I last saw one of this enterprising breed, sandwiched in between the Indian Medicine Man on the left and the Palmist on the right. But as a financial incentive the old hokum is still with us but it now appears in the form of "head-to-his-mother" bank clerk suddenly leaves town in the wake of an embezzlement and the police are still looking for more bodies, the "character analyst" comes into his own.

He breaks into print with phoney ads in the classified and points out that "extreme cruelty" is indicated by the shape of the eye. Dishonesty is indicated beyond a doubt by the shape of the nose. Unfaithfulness might be by the fact that the distance from the ear to the eye is too short. Ruthlessness is exposed by the lack of space between the ears. There is being arranged a meeting to resist sin in general and the shape of the upper lip indicates the meeting will be a flop. Likewise, He was fooling his mother all the time, because the shape of his ears indicated a complete lack of family devotion. If the boss had only noticed that the ears were set too close together or too far apart he wouldn't have hired him in the first place and the community could have been spared a lot of embarrassing publicity. And other bank clerks will have to learn to slink home after dark.

If these experts were given a chance to examine the ears of Lyzr" and the authorities acted upon their findings it would be that the senate, the supreme court the local judge, the butcher boy and the village constable and all land in the "pokey" on suspicion. This for the simple reason that the ears of all of these public institution exists between type of charlie and the "simple-minded."

"High forehead" is often merely a retreating hair-line. A "big nose" indicates strength or a stomach. A small headed man could be a leader. Thinness and bishops alike may have any kind of nose. An extremely kindly, reliable and intelligent person may have eyes set quite close together and the fill of the scoundrels who are cowered. It is impossible to estimate intelligence from the shape of the head—barring manifest monstrosities. It is equally impossible to estimate type of character by the shape of the head. Above all, it is impossible to estimate anything by a photograph other than the obvious features which are apparent to all. The jutting chin often associated with "toughness" and the receding forehead generally with which some of the criminal class are afflicted. The fellow with the "weak chin" could easily be the welterweight champion. As long as human gullibility exists there will be people who go in for "character analysis," exhibit feet, cheeks, hair tonics, bust developers, slenderizing and socialized medicine.

Mrs. McClelland, Napanee, Guest Speaker At Tabernacle W.M.S.

The members of the Tabernacle Woman's Missionary Society and Woman's Auxiliary met for their joint meeting in the church parlor with Mrs. William Harrison, president of the W.M.S., and Mrs. Judge, president of the W.A., presiding, who extended a gracious welcome to all.

The Autumn thank-offering meeting was announced for November when Miss Pettingale, of Wallington, will be the guest speaker. Everyone was invited to attend the W.M.S. sectional rally in Grace Church, Trenton, on October 11th, when Miss Millicent House, a blind missionary from Africa, who has had her sight restored by a miracle drug, and who intends to return to Africa in the near future, will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. F. R. Harbeck was in charge of the devotional period and chose for the theme "Arise and Go". She said in part, as a series of meditations: "Jesus said Abide in Me and I in you", so let us pray for power. Jesus said that we shall be witness, so we should pray that we shall be true witnesses. Jesus said to His disciples, "Arise and go", and He told Judas, "What thou doest, do quickly." He knew that He had lost one disciple, but He commanded the others to arise and go, but to always abide in "me, "for without Me ye can do nothing", "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve", is the message He is saying to us. 'Arise and go' is to love your enemies, to return good for evil".

"What are you putting your whole soul into? Do others think of you as a follower of Jesus?", were the questions the speaker asked of her audience. "By doing so, others will know that you are His disciples", continued Mrs. Harbeck. "We witness by our marks. The Apostle Paul said: "I am a slave for the Lord Jesus Christ for I bear in my body the marks", and we shall be great only as we work for Him only".

Mrs. Harbeck closed the devotional period with the reading in unison of the hymn "Spirit of God Descend Upon My Heart".

The guest speaker, Mrs. McClelland, of Napanee, was introduced by Mrs. W. B. May, and gave an interesting talk on the schools in Northfield, U.S.A., for boys and girls which she had visited this year. The D. A. Moody schools accommodated 500 girls and 500 boys. Here all the pupils were given a test by each one doing his and her share of the work. They had a wonderful choir of forty voices. This year the schools were open for ministers and their wives, who were attending for further training and the general theme was "World's Church".

Dr. Clawson gave "Sunset Talks" on the Bible, and dealt with three things which have affected the world's church: the springing up of sects; our missionary project, and wars. "We are living in a dangerous day," stated Dr. Clawson, there is a power at hand now where man can tamper with the universe. If this could only be used for good, but no, it must be kept secret for fear of war. There is only one way to discover a World's Church, continued the speaker, that is, to discover the church's soul, and what is God's purpose in making man suffer. There is a purpose; Christian faith is being tested all over the world, but the powers of endurance comes to man when he realizes that Jesus is with him".

"Just as man and women have been persecuted in the Far East, so it can happen to us. Our leaders are giving the right instructions, and we must follow the other, and build a World Church for Jesus".

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. McClelland for her fine message, by Mrs. T. Skeggs and Mrs. W. Harrison and later, refreshments were served by the social convener of the Woman's Auxiliary.

CARIBBEAN REPUBLIC TO STAGE WORLD FAIR

A general view of the exposition grounds in Port au Prince, Haiti, showing progress of construction for the world's fair which is to open in late November. The little Caribbean Republic, with only a 4,000,000 population is spending $36,000,000 on the fair which will have everything from industrial, agricultural and scientific exhibits to a gala entertainment area featuring, among other things, native voodoo dancing, cockfighting and performances by stars from the U.S. Many foreign governments are constructing booths on the exposition grounds.—CPC.

PUT ON FREE ACT

Arthur Rudkin, a 19-year-old soldier, spent 20 minutes on this hotel ledge in Dallas, Texas, sensing the crowd gathered on the street below, by parting on a pole-sitting act. Tired of this, he jumped to the street below, injuring himself slightly. Police made sure he did not put on his act again by escorting him to the hoosegow—CPC.

HALIFAX HARBOR

But many foreign owners, British and Panamanian in particular, are able to hire cheaper labor and, in some cases, get government subsidies. Thus they can quote lower freight charges and usually pick up what cargoes there are.

Problem Aggravated

The currency situation aggravates this problem for Canadian operators, responsible sources say. The exchange problem also means there is a world-wide shortage of buyers and cargoes are scarcer than they were.

Some countries either are buying in sterling areas where their money will bring further or they are cutting imports from dollar areas; A move that hurts Canadian shipowners as well as a lot of other businesses.

Canadian flag-owners admit that so far they have been unable to beat the problem. They say federal assistance of some kind is necessary but that subsidization would bring only temporary relief. They also admit that the government cannot order importers of Canadian goods to ship in Canadian freighters.

A shipping slump affects several phases of port life. It means less business for ships' handlers and less or no work for seamen and stevedores. Normally, between 1,500 and 2,000 longshoremen handle cargoes here during the winter. Right now, there are only 200 on deck for the approaching winter season.

CANADA LOSING

Executive of the Marshall Plan allocation of $7,150,000 to buy 4,000,000 cases of Canadian salmon and a token shipment of canned lobster and tomalley. Britain "will not likely purchase any other fishery products from Canada for some time."

Cut Down on Purchases

Other overseas countries, as well, were cutting down on Canadian fish purchases to conserve dollars. Those with fish to export such as the Scandinavian countries probably would attempt to make greater headway in U.S. markets to earn more dollars.

Thus, the department notes, they may create greater competition for Canadian shippers who depend on the U.S. market for 70 per cent of their exports.

So far this year, Canada has landed about $36,860,000 worth of fish—$3,400,000 less than the value of the catch in the same period in 1948.

One reason why the department thinks the domestic market can be expanded is because of the relatively low consumption of fish in Canada.

In 1948 each Canadian ate an average of 12.3 pounds of fish—but ate 155.3 pounds of meat, 19.1 pounds of poultry and 36.1 pounds of eggs.

WEDDINGS

STEVENSON — HAROLD

Picton—Potted palms, standards of 'mums and lighted candelabra formed the setting of Grace United Church London, Ont., for the afternoon wedding Saturday, Oct. 4, of Beverley Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Harold of London, to Joseph Norman Stevenson, son of Mrs. Muriel Stevenson of Picton, and the late George Stevenson. The Rev. R. S. Connor was the officiating clergyman. Wedding music was played by Mrs. W. F. Manning, and Mr. W. Manning, soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore the traditional bridal gown of white satin with a fitted Sodice and full, floor length skirt with short train. She wore a bonnet-styled satin headdress, a fingertip veil, a triple twisted strand of pearls and carried a cascade bouquet of Better Time roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Joyce Rosenberg, of London, was gowned in turquoise blue moire taffeta, styled with a fitted bodice, cocktail length and bouffant skirt. Her turquoise blue veil fell from a white flower hairband and her Colonial bouquet was of Delight roses.

Mr. Ralph Stevenson performed the duties of groomsman for his brother. Messrs. R. Harold, brother of the bride, and Mr. Stevenson, brother of the groom, were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Lynn Lodge, in an effective setting of variicolored gladioli. The bride's mother received with the wedding party. Mrs. Harold was attractive in grey crepe with mulberry accessories. Mrs. Stevenson's becoming costume was of green crepe with brown accessories. They wore corsages of pink and yellow 'mums respectively.

For travelling suit by motor the bride chose a suit of rusty brown, green accessories and a corsage of bronze 'mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson will later be "at home" in London, Ont.

RUPERT—HILL

All Saints' Church, Deseronto, Ont., was the setting for a pretty Fall wedding on Saturday, Oct. 1, when Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, of Deseronto was united in marriage to Donald Burton Rupert son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rupert of Frankford, R.R. No. 2 Ontario. The Rev. R. W. Savary officiated before an altar banked with tall standards of gladioli, dahlias, snapdragons and Michealmas daisies.

Mrs. Frances Johns provided the wedding music, and the choir of the church sang "O Perfect Love", during the signing of the register.

The bride was charming in her floor-length gown of white sheer, featuring a sweetheart neckline, the bodice buttoned from neckline to waistline, three-quarter length tucked sleeves, and full skirt. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a halo of lily-of-the-valley. She wore a necklace of pearls with matching earrings, and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and bouvardia, and was given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Hay Hill, of Toronto.

Mr. Arnold Bowers, of Foxboro, was groomsman.

At the reception, which was held at the bridegroom's home, the bride's mother received the eighty-seven guests, wearing a navy suit with black accessories, and corsage of red roses and fern. She was assisted by the bride's groom's mother, who wore brown gabardine with green accessories, and corsage of yellow roses and fern.

For the wedding trip to Watertown, N.Y., and the Thousand Islands, the bride wore a brown gabardine suit with a three-quarter leopard topcoat, and matching hat, with corsage of red roses. Upon their return, the young couple will reside in Deseronto, Ont.

ROBSON—GIBSON

The marriage took place in St. Peter's Anglican Church, Kirkland Lake, Ontario, October 10, of Margaret Janet Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Gibson, of Kirkland Lake, to James Gordon Robson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Robson, of Lindsay, Canon Wotton officiating. The church was decorated with white baby 'mums and a wedding music was played by Mrs. T. Wilson. During the signing of the register, Mr. R. Hurston sang "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a dress of brown sheer over taffeta, fashioned with low round neck, long fitted sleeves and flared skirt. She wore a blue velvet hat and carried a bouquet of bronze 'mums.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Anne Gibson, as maid of honor, who wore a frock of navy blue sheer over pink taffeta, fashioned similar to that of the bride and pink taffeta hat. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The best man was Mr. Gavin Scott, of Belleville, and the ushers were Mr. William Gibson, brother of the bride, and Mr. Alister Robson, brother of the groom.

After the ceremony the reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother received wearing a gown of wine faille with grey accessories, and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother who received with her, wore a gown of grey crepe with black accessories and a corsage of carnations.

McCOLL — MURTON

Wooler.—Ferns and Autumn tinted gladioli formed the setting of a beautiful mid Fall wedding on Saturday, Sept. 24, in Murvale United Church, when marriage vows were exchanged between Marjorie Juanita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Murton, of Murvale, and George Wilbur, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McColl of Wooler. The Rev. J. R. Wheller was the officiating minister.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Hunter, assisted by Mr. R. Hunter, as violinist. Miss Rene Belle Moore, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly", before the ceremony, and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, entering the church on the arm of her father, was attired in a gown of white slipper satin with lace panel inserts in skirt. The long close fitting sleeves extended in points at the wrists. A coronet of orange blossoms and seed pearls held in place her floor length French illusion embroidered net veil. She carried a white Bible with red roses and white satin streamers caught with rose buds. Her only ornament was a two strand necklace of pearls, the gift of the groom.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Clifford Gorr, as matron of honor, Misses Rita and Belinda Murton, as bridesmaids. They were identical gowns of apple taffeta with matching veils and headdresses. Each wore a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. Gorr was in yellow and carried red roses and yellow 'mums. Misses Rita and Belinda Murton gowned in blue and pink respectively, carried nosegays of red roses and sweet Pea flowers.

Miss Bonnie Rowe, of Frankford, cousin of the bride, was flower girl in white taffeta with matching headdress and carried a smaller replica of the bridesmaids' nosegays.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Carman Richards, of Wooler, and the ushers were, Mr. Kenneth Shillington, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Lorne Richards, Trenton, cousin of the groom.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the Institute hall for about eighty guests. The hall was decorated with white wedding bells, pink and white streamers and Fall flowers. The guests were received by the bride's mother, who was attired in a street length dress of burgundy crepe with navy accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who chose a taupe grey dress with wine accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake and tall white candles in silver holders. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. W. T. Shillington, uncle of the bride, and responded to by the groom. The toast to the bridesmaids was proposed by Mr. Lorne Richards and responded to by Mr. Carman Richards.

For a wedding trip through Algonquin Park, Muskoka, and Northern Ontario, the bride wore a gray gabardine suit with navy accessories and corsage of red roses. Upon their return they will reside in Wooler.

STAIRS—ADAMS

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's Manse, on Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. J. G. Hornsby, when Mrs. Anne E. Adams, Belleville, became the bride of Mr. Hazen S. Stairs, also of Belleville.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for New York City, Boston and Old Brunswick, where the bridegroom will enjoy the hunting season.

Upon their return they will reside in Belleville.

PERRY—WARD

Picton—An Autumn-wedding of considerable interest took place on the afternoon of Monday, Oct. 10, in Bloomfield United Church, decorated for the occasion with baskets of beautiful Fall blooms against a background of green. The Rev. Stephen Spurrel, pastor of the church, officiated. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Curtis Stanion and Miss Shirley Pickering, of Picton, was soloist, rendering "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, Joanne Frances Ward, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Ward, of Bloomfield, was given by her father in marriage to Norval Keith Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Perry, of East Lake. She wore her mother's wedding dress of cream colored lustre, styled with a bolero jacket, over an ivory satin blouse, and a full pleated skirt. Her headdress was edged with seed pearls and held her fingertip veil in place. She carried Briarcliffe roses.

Her only bridal attendant was Miss Winnie Wicks, who was effectively gowned in yellow taffeta faille with matching headband and nosegay of net veil. She carried a nosegay of bronze 'mums, and yellow roses.

Mr. Jerry Baker, of East Lake, was groomsman.

A reception in the parlors of Bloomfield church, followed the ceremony, when members of the wedding party and guests were received the guests and was assisted by the bride's mother, in a dress of grey silk crepe. Both ladies wore corsages of roses.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride donned a green wool dress with topcoat in the shade, with black accessories and a corsage of Premier roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry will later take up residence at East Lake.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arner, of Cleveland, Ohio.

BEAL—POOLE

A quiet wedding took place at Nipissing United Church on Saturday, Oct. 8, at 2:30 p.m., when the Rev. D. I. Cameron officiated at the marriage of Emily Eva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Poole, of Sauris, Prince Edward Island, to James Earl Beal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Beal, Belleville, Ont.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Kennedy, was lovely in her bridal gown of white satin with lace and shoulder-length veil. She carried a shower bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. Chalkley, performed the duties of groomsman.

The wedding reception was held at "West Winds", home of Mr. and Mrs. Dabinett after which the bride and bridegroom left for Toronto and Belleville. From their return, Mr. and Mrs. Beal will reside in Nipissing, Ont.

Charming Trousseau Tea Held in Honor Of Bride-to-be

The home of Mrs. Charles A. Mott, 17 Forin Street, was the scene of a charming trousseau tea on Saturday afternoon, from until six, in honor of her daughter, Shirley Jane, whose marriage takes place on Saturday, Oct. 15, at 3 p.m., in Bridge Street United Church to Mr. Alvin Robert Bush.

Mrs. Ray Bush, mother of the groom, assisted Mrs. Mott and her daughter in receiving and Mrs. Wm. Hart opened the door to the guests.

Serving the guests were the Misses Carol Norton, Donna Parnell and Dorothy Plinkett. Mrs. Thomas Law graciously showed the guests to the tea room. Mrs. Lewis Andrews replenished for the first hour and Mrs. Stanley Joss for the second hour. In the upstairs rooms the trousseau was displayed in a pleasing manner by Mrs. Douglas Mott, graciously assisted by Mrs. Robt. McMillan, showing the hope chest, Miss Terry Meagher, the wedding gifts, and Miss Eva Gilmour, the shower gifts.

White, yellow, bronze and mauve 'mums, vari-colored dahlias, golden and scarlet Autumn leaves made a fitting background in Holloway St. United Church yesterday afternoon for the interesting address by Kate Aitken one of Canada's outstanding women lecturers as she told of her "Round the World in 17 days" trip to a capacity audience. This special occasion was held under the auspices of the Women's Association in commemoration of the church's 76th anniversary. Mrs. G. Campbell, president of the W.A. presided, assisted by Mrs. Holmes.

Prior to the address, a prelude of fine organ selections was rendered by Mr. William Connor, organist of the church. Mrs. David-son also pleased with a lovely solo entitled, "Songs of Life," accompanied by Mr. Connor at the organ console. This was followed by Christ's charming organ and piano duet, "Minuet from D'Arlesienne Suite" by Mrs. Holmes and Mr. Connor.

Mrs. Holmes, in her gracious introduction of Mrs. Aitken, considered it an honor to make the acquaintance here in person, the privilege of presenting to the audience, an expert in many fields, in culinary art, home economist, lecturer, radio broadcaster, solver of women's problems, to which Mrs. Aitken replied that she was indeed happy to be in Belleville and that she had driven many times along its streets, as well as holding a cooking school in one of its theatres.

Wanted to Travel

"As a child," said Miss. Aitken, "and being the last of five children, I was usually with my father wherever he went, so perhaps that accounts for my traveling tendencies." In 1927 she was summoned to the palace in London to attend the H.O.P. conference, and she was there again in 1937 for the royal wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Philip Mountbatten. Be-interested in the food problems of the world, she attended the Imperial Wheat Conference, visited Denmark, and from there by air planes, skirted to Rome where she met Mussolini, the speaker of parent England, who talked about wheat, and about the new German wheat which gave 40 bushels to the acre, which, later, in Italy, under his agricultural achievements, yielded 138 bushels to the acre.

At that time, 1927, Mussolini was the idol of Italy. He had done more for the Italian people than anyone since the days of Julius Caesar. He had drained the Pontine marshes, fertilized the country; and provided work for everyone. "Where Mussolini fell down, is hard to say," remarked Mrs. Aitken.

Visited Spain

In 1937 she visited Spain during the Spanish Civil war, and told of how in 1939 she went to Germany and in 1947 and that year, visited Hitler, mentioning a meeting she had attended, at which he spoke, and of the peculiar influence he had over the people. Every thing was done on schedule, at 11.45 the big iron gates opened, and the Storm Troopers came out and stood at attention; at the precise moment, the gates opened again, and Hitler stepped out. Thousands stood to hear him, and in all that vast company not a sound was heard but Hitler's voice which began low, gradually increasing in volume till it ended in a scream, volume till it ended in a scream, much like a creeping separator. Over the women he held a peculiar fascination, they listened with eyes and tense, and the tears running down their cheeks, and all the while his talk was German Germany! Germany!

During the war years, Mrs. Aitken worked with the food ministry, flying out to Norway, and to Sweden. In Germany she lived with families in the bombed cities, which were just heaps of stones and rubble. For sheets she had three flour sacks sewn together. The place reeked with lice, vermin and dirt, and over all the stench of dead bodies. She told of how six Germans had been lured by the Ringless into a subway, which was blocked and flooded, and the drowned bodies remained, giving off the putrid odor.

Fishes in Mooring

On one of her trips to Norway where she landed at Oslo, she met a young Norwegian who had served at "Little Norway," Toronto, who afterward took her to his home after they had borrowed a jeep. As they neared the old home, the young fellow jumped from the jeep, and ran to meet the mother who thought he was dead. The pathos of that meeting was beyond words.

In 1947 Mrs. Aitken returned to see the families she had seen in 1945, two years after the war ceased to Germany she found the families there had the toughest time; families were in the place, the husbands in Canada. Young women were at loose ends, the future for marriage as the

In the fast, luxurious plane, no different from the old Dakota in which she had formerly in 1927 made the trips, she landed in her recent trip at Anchorage, Alaska, taking off the next day for Tokio, arriving at 11.30 a.m. but not allowed to enter. Only two classes were allowed, missionaries and business men. So she set off for Shanghai, where papers were published making her a salesman of chinaware, and returned to Tokio, where she was now allowed to enter.

Here she lived with a university couple who worked at manual labor. But the outstanding thing was the remarkable co-ordination of the family; the politeness of the children to the parents, and the parents to the children. The food was best clothing inadequate, but the home was spotlessly clean. Sixty per cent of what was earned was spent for food, which was high in price.

Obliterated the City

At Hiroshima the atom bomb killed 85,000; injured 100,000, and obliterated the city. Here Mrs. Aitken stayed with a young doctor and his wife, whose three children had been killed in bomb attack. They had no supplies, no instruments, no books, and no bandages. The only somewhat remedied when she returned home and told of the urgent need of these necessities.

What do the Japanese think about the bomb? The English think it is a wilful waste of life, but the Japanese look on it as the fortunes of war, saying, with a shrug, that had they had it, they would have used it. They also remarked that the Americans had rebuilt what they had destroyed. But what they never forgave was the sterile effect the bomb had on the women and growing girls.

The shanghai life was: rampages are dreadful. From three to five hundred children die nightly. One morning 89 children were picked up, all under five years of age, and carried off to the incinerator. In Shanghai life is cheap. Out of 6,000,000 more than 2,500,000 have no fixed address. There are no homes; they sleep under bridges, and anywhere. For food they eat what they can be found, and the only clothes they have are what they have on. They wash at the street hydrants, and are constantly on the move, thousands of them, with nowhere to go.

Pelping is a beautiful city, full of yellow sunshine, yellow houses, and people with bun gowns, and often called the "Bowl of Jersey Cream." But for all its beauty, it is run on the black market and exhorbitant prices asked for everything.

Famine Abounds

In the north country famine abounds. When asked at Tientsing what they though of Chiang Kai-Shek, she was told: "Never heard of the guy" which is not strange for a hermit without a newspaper; no buses; no radio; and eight out of ten cannot read or write. Only 1,000 are 1,000 miles from traffic. The greatest enemy here is hunger, and the average death age of men is 32 years, and that of women, 28 years. China is a land of abysmal poverty, and the only hope for them is the foreign missions. Out of a population of 468,000,000 only 2,000,000 are Christian and of these 1,000,000 are Roman Catholic, and 4,000,000 Protestant. Through the aid of nations, hospitals, schools and doctors are being provided, making life easier.

Mrs. Aitken visited Hong Kong, Siam, and Calcutta, in India, and found in these places that the poor were only reconcentrate of their class the other countries. In Calcutta 18, 22, and sometimes 32 persons live in one room—five families in one room. Slums and shacks, the open gutters are the toilets, with the night soil being sold for fertilizer. Since no fertilizer can be imported because of the lack of funds. This is the only source of revenue for the poor.

Italy Has No Money

Italy has no money, and so receives Canada's food, very cleap. The waiters live on what is left on the plates. The Mussolini legend is rising again, and the Russians are using this means to turn the minds from the Communist attack. They had no supplies, no instruments, no books, and no bandages. They have no heat, no medical when she returned home and told of the urgent need of these necessities.

What do the Japanese think about the bomb? The English

GUEST SPEAKER

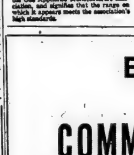
Sir James H. Ross, K.B.E., C.B. of Surrey, England, who will be the guest speaker at the open meeting of the Women's Canadian Club next Monday evening in Bridge Street United Church, will speak on "Cape to Cairo" with colored slides depicting the travelogue of his experiences in Africa.

Sir James was formerly First Deputy Under-Secretary of State in the Air Ministry, and is now Regional Officer for the British Ministry of Health, as well as having a long record of service in the Ministry of Agriculture, and during the war, in the Air Ministry. He attended the Peace Conference in 1919, and has travelled widely in Africa, Malta, Egypt and Transjordan, on special missions. Sir James is a delightful talker, with a keen sense of humor.

Twenty-Fifth Wedding Anniversary Featured By Lovely Gifts

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Reid, Trent Road, was the scene of a very happy gathering last Saturday evening, when a large number of relatives and friends met to surprise them on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

Early in the evening, the parents, sisters and brothers of both Mr. and Mrs. Reid arrived, bringing with them many beautiful gifts of silver, also cut flowers and a large three-tier wedding cake, beautifully decorated in white and silver. Later their friends and neighbors from Avondale gathered to add their congratulations and best wishes to those of the relatives.



Everyone was called to order by Mr. Percy Boulton, who capably acted as chairman for a short program, which was enjoyed by all. This consisted of community singing, led by Mrs. Everett Windover, with Mrs. Thomas Anger at the piano; a piano solo by Robert Lough, and a mock wedding in which the following took part—bride, Mr. Jack Stewart; groom, Mrs. Earl Bush; bridesmaid, Mr. Milton Robson; bride's father, Mrs. Jack Stewart; preacher, Mrs. Milton Robson.

Mrs. Stewart Lough then read an address expressing the high regard in which Erma and Leonard are held in Avondale, where they have lived for so many years, and Mrs. Windover presented them on behalf of the Avondale neighborhood, with a pair of covered silver entree dishes.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Reid expressed their thanks and appreciation and all joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows."

Delicious refreshments were served, which brought to a close a most enjoyable evening.

Delicious Fillings

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, (CP)—Make the most of those shiny green peppers before the first heavy frost whisks them off the market.

There are any number of delicious fillings which may be used to stuff a green pepper—an ideal luncheon or supper dish.

Home economists of the consumer section, Dominion department of agriculture, have a few tips on preparation of these autumn treats.

To prepare green peppers for stuffing, wash, cut a thin slice from stem end, scoop out seeds and veins. Drop the peppers into rapidly boiling, salted water and boil for five minutes. Drain thoroughly before filling.

Filling: one-half of an ordinary recipe (serving six) for cheese souffle or omelet makes an ideal and colorful filling for six large green peppers. The mixture puffs up and browns enticingly and the pale yellow of the souffle makes a fine contrast with the dark red or green of the vegetables.

Creamed left-over minced meat, fish or poultry makes a substantial filling for green peppers. Any condensed cream soup (undiluted) may be used in place of the heavy cream sauce — cream of mushroom soup is particularly good.

A colorful filling for green peppers is whole kernel corn, fresh cooked or canned, garnish of red pepper or pimento and a further to the color scheme.

Cooked vegetables, singly or in combination, may be added to a heavy cream or cheese sauce, seasoned well and used as filling.

Stuffed vegetables usually are topped with grated bread crumbs but for additional flavor you can use grated cheese or a combination of grated cheese and bread crumbs.

Bake the stuffed green peppers in a well, greased muffin tin if they are too soft to stand up by themselves.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Every Guest, Girl or Boy, Should Bring Birthday Gift

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been invited to a "Sweet Sixteen" birthday party. A girl is asked to invite a boy. Should each of these boys give the hostess a gift, as each girl is doing? The boy I invited is not very well acquainted with the girl whose birthday it is, but he is willing to do it (I will pay) any about his bringing a gift.

Rosetta M.

Since the boys have accepted the invitation to the birthday party, and since a birthday party of the "Sweet Sixteen" classification certainly calls for a gift from each guest, these boys should each bring the birthday-er a gift —even if the boys don't know the hostess very well, or at all. Some of the boys of the same group might combine and give the hostess a corsage for her to wear festively at the party, or for "party fodder" a box of candy or other sweets or assorted nuts. Others who don't know the hostess very well, like myself, might bring some trifle, an inexpensive favor, that will provide fun . . . perhaps an amusing something from the five-and-ten. A dime or a quarter or three-should . . . a little imagination and humor. . . a gay wrapping and a merry message enclosed. . . that's a good recipe or achieving a gift-that-is-a-simple gesture.

Planning a Difficult Processional-Combination

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

In my wedding party I am planning to have: a maid of honor and best man; three bridesmaids and three ushers; a flower girl; a ring bearer. Also I would very much like to have my sister act as, act as junior bridesmaid, and my brother, age 11, as junior usher. My father will give me in marriage. Will you please tell me the proper formation of the processional?

C. S.

This is quite an assortment of numbers and ages for your wedding party. . . not easy for a balanced processional, and not a very usual or interesting combination. In the first place, it is always best to have an even number of ushers, and an even number of bridesmaids so that the ushers may walk two by two in the processional and the bridesmaids may walk two by two. However, for your processional, this might be the formation: first, the ushers, two together, followed by one, alone; next, the bridesmaids, first two together, followed by one alone; next, the maid of honor, alone; next you might have two flower girls walking together (the flower girl you have chosen and your young sister rather than having such a young girl as junior bridesmaid); then, the ring bearer, alone; and last you and your father. This procedure omits the junior usher, which I suggest would be best, since this young brother would be too young to walk with the ushers in the processional. He might be given some responsibility in the plans for the reception.)

Daily Walk is Good for You

Take out time every day to guile at least a short walk Wear sensible shoes such as this pair with flexible leather soles Ideal for the city

By HELEN FOLLETT

If would seem as if Uncle Sam's daughters seldom walk if they can ride though we hear now and then of lovelies of the stage and screen who make it a point to get out and hoof it every day. Keeping fit, looking glamorous, is a part of their business.

Walking is an ideal exercise. It makes the latent stamina march, and when they march they put carnation blooms in the cheeks, sparkle in the eyes, help the skin to function, lift the spirits. A big return for a small beauty investment.

Deep Breaths

This brisk walker, who takes deep breaths as she strides along finds zest and glow in this form of muscular exercise. Her worries fly away on the wind. Worrying is distinctly an indoor diversion. Some women love to get the housework done so they can sit down for a nice long spell of worrying. Others hurry through the dishes and the dusting, get out in the open, air-wash their lungs. They feel alive while the housebound lady may feel dull, fatigued, little much of a born.

When walking, place the foot on the ground with slightly more weight on the toes than on the heels. Point toes straight ahead. Carry the body tall, spinal column fully extended, keep the head balanced. The tall pose tightens the muscular system holds the inner organs in place where they belong.

Wear sensible shoes with heels only medium high and with flexible, protective leather soles. It is no use taking this form of exercise unless your feet are comfortable, and they won't be unless shoes are precisely the right last, the right size, with support and no undue pressure any where.

If you would give yourself a complexion treatment have a brisk walk when the air is damp. Moist air and exercise form a beauty treatment that is effective, doesn't cost a cent ,is all to the good. Walk along fast enough to get you skin glowing. When you get home have a shower and cream your complexion.

Duties of the 'Senior Hostess' At Wedding Reception

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend of mine has asked me to be senior hostess at her wedding reception, which will be held from seven to nine P.M. in a private home. What are my duties? Fruit punch and cake will be served. Who finishes cutting the cake after the bride has cut the first piece?

Mary A.

To be really informed as to just what you are expected to do you should talk this over with the bride and her mother. Very often a friend (the bride may have you in mind for this pleasant responsibility) is asked to take over the cutting and serving of the wedding cake after the bride and groom has cut and shared the first piece. Or you may be asked, as one of your duties, to see that all the guests sign the Wedding Guest Book. Or, as "senior" hostess, you may be expected to supervise your co-hostesses, assigning the various duties.

BEAUTY

Reducing the Hips

Mrs. Hippy looks with envy upon the slender lovelies, recalls her young days when her figure was so slim that she looked as if she could slide through a crack in a door. She wishes she had caught her fat cells when they were few and annihilated them. If she had only done something when she first noticed that she couldn't pack herself into last year's frock.

Let her take heart and be cheerful. Thousands of women have taken off their body measurements through sensible dieting and exercise that were not arduous or exhausting. Adipose tissue is just a burden that one must carry around. It slows up activities, it means that one tires easily and it does not lend charm to the reflection in the full-length mirror.

There should be a cutting down of sweets and fats, a generous intake of fruit and vegetables to supply bulk and satisfy hunger. The woman who would reduce can have meat, eggs, fish that is not fat, vegetables except peas and beans, cottage cheese, buttermilk, unsweetened lemonade. Tea and coffee should be taken clear; cream and sugar are her enemies. Small meals at regular intervals are the approved procedure. No raiding the ice-box between meals or at bedtime.

While fat doesn't care much where it settles on the feminine frame, it is most likely to form larger communities on the mid-section. To reduce waist, hips and thighs, this exercise is considered first class and effective:

Take the soldier's position—chest high, abdomen flat, spinal column fully extended, feet fairly wide apart, hands out at the sides on a line with the shoulders.

Pause, rest and take half a dozen long, deep breaths

Lower the torso slowly until the buttocks rest upon the heels. Rise slowly, come up on the toes, down on the heels and repeat the first movement. You may take a tumble now and then, but in the course of time you will do these movements with agility. They pull hard on all the muscles from the waistline to the knees. On resilient, strong muscles fat cells will not linger.

Second exercise: stand tall. Take a long step forward with the right foot, extending your leg as far as you can, bending the knee and dropping the torso somewhat. At the same time extend the left hand forward as if pointing into the distance. While in this position tilt the hips downward as low as you can. Six times or more, back to first position, then repeat with the left foot, extending the right hand.

At the first feeling of fatigue, pause, rest and take half a dozen long deep breaths. Then at it again.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HE DIDN'T TELL HER THAT HE WAS MARRIED

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Ten months ago I met a man and we fell deeply in love with each other. I never knew he was married until last month, and when I heard it, I wondered why he never told me before. I am 20 and he is 37.

Now people are getting the wrong impression of me, but I love him too much to give him up. He has told me quite often that he would divorce his wife if I would marry him. He doesn't love his wife at all."

Please tell me what to do.

T.

Dear T.:

I am sorry, but I find it very hard to believe that any man who would allow a girl to fall in love with him under a false impression can be trusted. In other words, if he misled you on this most important point right in the beginning, what reason have you to believe that he is not misleading you now when he tells you that he doesn't love his wife and would divorce her and marry you if you agreed?

My mail is full of letters from girls who have had the same experience that you are having, and so far you are more fortunate than many of them in apparently not having been drawn into an affair. When you say that "people are getting the wrong impression of you" I take it you mean they are saying you are having an affair when actually you are not.

If you sincerely want my advice; it is to get out of this situation at once and break off with this man for good, before you find yourself suddenly in serious trouble.

Keep Your Thoughts at Home

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 18, and in love with a boy 18. I am sure he loves me, for he has told me so. He is the only boy I have loved and he is just my type, but we are exactly 165 miles away from each other, which means that I can't see him too often. He works on a farm and boards with the man he works for, so he is on his own.

He told me in his letters that he would come and visit me as soon as possible.

Please tell me how I can see this boy more often.

The boys "where I live are not my type, and none of them could take his place. So I say no to all of them who have asked me for dates. —Q.D.

Dear Q. D.:

Don't you think you are asking me rather a foolish question? How could I possibly suggest a way by which you could do 165 miles to see this boy, or he could do the same to see you frequently? I am afraid you will just have to be satisfied with his promise to visit when he can.

In the meantime, it is silly of you to refuse invitations from the boys who live near you. . . you would be very strange indeed if you couldn't find a few of them who were "your type." I don't believe you are so different from other girls of your age that you can't make friends with a lot of different boys. Don't be so childish as to overlook the opportunities for good times right around you while keeping your thoughts 165 miles away.

Black Boom

By Paul David Preston

Jason frowned at her, a severe old man.

"Miss Lillian, is yo' fully at yo'self, ma'am?"

"I know exactly what I'm doing."

What he saw was satisfying. Martin Deale not only had that intangible not highly esteemed something known as background, he had personal appearance. Features were well chiseled, forehead high, mouth firm (too firm, he sensed on occasions). He knew how to dress tastefully. He upheld everything the Mayfields stood for. He had been a family friend since infancy—an perhaps that was it! Perhaps he had just taken too much for granted where Lillian was concerned.

He sat down, reflecting on those points, and turned to his desk. Lifting a pencil slowly, he brought a portable typewriter up and pressently was deep in what he knew to be creative endeavor.

Not of the years that flow in endless rhythm,

Nor of the beauty which on every side abounds.

But of the golden moments—"

He struck out the third line and tried a new one. That, too, seemed forced, and he was impatient with it. Poetry wasn't coming easily tonight as it sometimes did. Once a month or so he could sit down for an hour and do a poem which he felt to be expressive and beautiful. A few years back, in fact, he had liked to imagine himself in the mold Edgar Allen Poe and still had hidden away in his desk some of the lyric trifle of that period. Now, though, he realized that he was distracted, he would go walking again under the half-moon light, seeking inspiration.

Inspiration of a sort came, especially when he turned from Webster Avenue into the more shaded and softer beauty which was North drinking it in. He held his head back to see the moon pattern through spring leaves. A locust some noisy frog in Mrs. Halton's lawn pool began calling "Ca-rank, ca-rank!" Martin smiled indulgently. He wanted to bring his easel and brushes to paint that pool scene again, and darned if he hadn't put that frog in prominently this time. He would do another avenue-of-trees study, too.

Suddenly he began whispering. "To him who in the love of nature holds communion with her visible forms she speaks various language." As suddenly he stopped. Damn it, why couldn't a man remember all of Thanatopsis? Both his mother and grandfather had loved that piece and had often quoted it to him, just as both of those aristocratic East Texans had themselves written poetry on occasions. Mrs. Deale had seen a few of her poems published, in fact. Martin had them all clipped, one of them framed over his bed at home. Both sides of his family had been literary, artistic folk, and he was proud of that.

He walked on down past Judge Brookfield's house, angled through the Wettermark grounds (old man Wettermark who swindled a firm so as to bankrupt it, back in 1898) past the McDavids and up the hill where Bob Gould lived so quietly for so long. Gray Horses' heads with hitching rings in their noses still stood on posts along the Gould front, enduring bits of yesteryear.

"If That reasons that Tower is crowding her, then it's high time I took action myself," Martin was thinking, suddenly the muse to the night beauties around him.

Somebody in a car turned a spotlight on him and he heard youthful laughter drifting away. High school kids. Full of Brass.

He resented their intrusion on his privacy. Other cars passed and he didn't notice them, but there were only a few pedestrians on this quiet residential street here at 9:30 or 10 at night. He turned to go back, wondering vaguely why some urge prompted him to walk again near the Mayfield home even though he hadn't wanted to visit inside it tonight.

He came within a block of the place when he thought he saw a motion in tree trunk shadows across the sidewalk. He gave no thought to that; he was still preoccupied; planning a definite step-by-step campaign for wooing Lillian Mayfield or rather for bringing his long case to an immediate showdown. He wondered whyever he had waited so long passively enjoying life and confident of its future. That contemptible Dallas Tower had forced in, and even Thad Monroe had aroused him immediately, whereas he himself—

"What is it?" he managed. "Who are you?"

He lifted an arm as if in defense, but a man on each side grabbed him.

"Take it easy," the gruff voice warned, "or I'll let you have it."

"What's the meaning of this?" Anger had replaced the quick surge of fear in Martin. He could not see his adversaries save as masculine forms, but he could feel an iron grip on each of his wrists.

"Keep your—face shut, or you'll never open it again," the gruff voice answered him profanely.

Rough hands began digging into his coat pockets Martin thought to jerk free and run but he realized that would be futile. Even if he escaped at the moment they would shoot him. His heart was pumping so fast, his mind was in such a fury, that he couldn't be quite speak again.

They found his wallet buttoned in his left hip pocket. He knew it contained about $28 and some identification papers. They found a ring off a finger and removed his wrist watch.

"All right, get out!" came the command. It was accompanied by a shove up the sidewalk. Instantly he heard the two men running in the opposite direction. They cut across a lawn and into an alley that led to the railway depot. In five minutes they could lose themselves in the shacks and warehouses of that district Martin knew.

He himself started off at a dog trot. He turned, almost automatically, through Mrs. Mayfield's driveway gate and up her walk. Lights and voices could be heard on the side porch so he opened the front hall door, called loudly and hastened to the telephone. Because he was already retired for the evening, Mrs. Mayfield came downstairs.

"What is it, Martin?" she sensed his excitement, "You were shouting—"

He was frowning impatiently at the telephone but he answered her. "I've been robbed!"

"Robbed! Martin!"

"Outside on this very street! Two strong-arm criminals. And I can't make anybody answer at the sheriff's home. He may even be in some other part of the county. There's no officer to call that I know of."

"Oh, dear!" Mrs. Mayfield was appalled. "The boom—I—it has brought in all manner of people."

"Oil madness!" he said through clinched teeth, to her and to others who had come now from the side porch. "Thugs and swindlers and all their ilk over-running the county. Crazy for oil money!"

"Why!" Mr. Mayfield looked distressed, and was almost whispering now. "And I'm a part of it I've already signed a contract. Tomorrow morning the men will—"

But the others weren't listening to her. Martin was arguing excitedly with the telephone operators.

* * *

Dr. Tower was one who looked up Martin Deale downtown next morning and offered sympathy for his being robbed. Dallas spoke in open forthright manner.

"Heard it down at the drugstore, Martin," he said, "and wanted you to know I'm sorry. You may have been seriously hurt. It there is anything I can do—"

"In which case I should have summoned some reputable physician, Tower!" He emphasized the concern yourself."

Dallas looked disspoointed. He eyed Martin keenly a moment, then spoke quietly. "See here, Martin, just why do you hate my guts? I've forgotten those little disagreements! I want to get along with people." It was inelegant man-to-man talk but it was sincere. "I came here a stranger and tried to —"

He turned and walked away. Dal Tower looked agradie-legged for a long moment staring after him. He had never met another man like Martin Deale. Martin was somehow unreal, an inaccurate characterization in a book. And yet human nature is what it is, Dal knew; unfathomable, full of contradictions.

Martin at the moment was going toward old Judge Brookfield's office in the bank building in answer to a personal invitation, and though he arrived nearly 30 minutes early more than a dozen men were already there. One and all greeted him with polite illness almost formal. There were inquiries as to health, regrets anew about the robbery. And there was no levity at all. Patently this was a meeting with a serious purpose. Martin took a chair next to Major Billy Bates and Edward Massenburg, Film Craig was there. So were Caswell Highbaugh, William C. Barry, Dr. Fonza Bane Ex-Mayor Rosenberry, Douglas "Tex" Hope the grade school principal, and others Martin had known for years. He hardly have selected a more distinguished group of townsmen in his estimation, and was augmented by a dozen more before Judge Brookfield arose.

"Gentlemen, Gentle-men!" The old judge thumped for order and spoke basso profundo. Conversation instantly ceased. Chairs were hitched around, men leaned forward attentively.

At graduation exercises at St. Michael's High School on Friday afternoon, the graduates entered the auditorium to the strains of the processional "To Christ the King", the girls graceful in floor length white gowns and corsages of red roses contrasting with the darker suits and white boutonnieres of the boys. When all were seated on a stage decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, the guests were welcomed by Leo Callaghan, the graduates entered, also expressed the gratitude of the school to the society for their donating prizes. Prizes offered by the Holy Name Society were presented by the President, Leo. Callaghan, R. Kitchen, Grand Knight, awarded the prizes donated by the Knights of Columbus, and Mrs. Kathleen Doyle, President, those given by the Catholic Women's League. In a few well chosen words each congratulated the members of the graduation class on their success. Miss Sharon Lucy, one of the graduates, then sang sweetly and feelingly, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise".

Valedictory Given

After the conferring of diplomas by Right Reverend J. F. Nicholson, P.A., the valedictory was delivered with charming ease and simplicity by Miss Edna Bashall. Regret was expressed at the unavoidable absence of Miss Barbara Mascaro, nurse-in-training at St. Joseph's Hospital, London. Frank Morrell, Assumption College, Windsor, and Harold O'Neill, now at St. Augustine's Seminary, who led his class with first class honors in all nine Upper School papers and was awarded a $720 scholarship by the University of Toronto. A vocal selection, "Where my Caravan has Rested," by St. Michael's High School choir, immediately preceded the highlight of the afternoon, the address to the graduation class by their pastor, Right Reverend J. F. Nicholson, P.A. In his address, Monsignor Nicholson spoke of the alarming condition of the world upon which the graduates were entering, conditions which can be successfully faced only by those whose faith is a vital element in their lives. In conclusion, Monsignor Nicholson asked the benediction of God on these students, that they might ever retain the high ideals implanted in them during their school years.

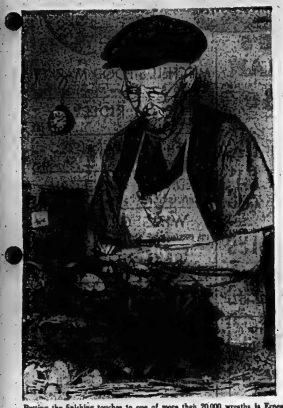
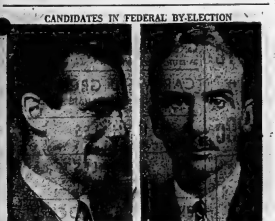
PLOWING MATCH CREATES TENT CITY



A tent city of 35 acres had 10,000 visitors on its first day of existence when the 36th annual International Plowing Match opened at Burford, Ont. Before the tent city folds up, more than 150,000 persons are expected to see the matches and the various exhibits of farm machinery and livestock.—CPC.

GIVE U.S. NAVY OPINION ON ARMS PROGRAM



U.S. armed forces are in the delicate position of having minor and major officers offering differing opinions publicly on the "invulnerability" of long-range planes and the wisdom of decreasing naval air strength. Some navy men have risked their career in condemning the subordination of navy power, say it would leave the U.S. powerless in case of war. One campaigner in favor of a stronger navy is test-pilot Capt. Frederick MacKay Trapwell, left, who told the U.S. Armed Services Committee in Washington that two navy "Banshees" could shoot down the B-36 on which the offensive power of the U.S. is based. He also said the B-36 could be brought down by radar. In the same vein, Admiral Arthur W. Radford, right, commander-in-chief of the U.S. Pacific fleet, said the B-36 would be useless and inadequate in the event of atomic war.—CPC.

More Pupils In Attendance In Sidney Area

The September attendance reports of the teachers showed an enrolment of 583 pupils in the Sidney Area as against 536 of a year ago, making an increase of 37. Most schools were able to accommodate them, but the large number at Avondale made it necessary to transfer a number of pupils to Quinteview School as a temporary measure.

The regular Board meeting was held in the Wallbridge School last Monday evening in order that it would not interfere with the Thanksgiving date. Members present: Chairman Jas. Campbell, J. W. Sargent, J. R. Harry, H. M. Rutter.

Reforestation Being Continued

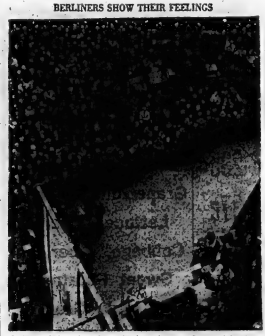
Enough trees are being ordered from the Department of Lands and Forests to plant another two acres of land and to fill in any spaces not covered on the island at Bayside this year. That part of the island planted this year has been fenced and will be used as an observation plot as well as a park. The remainder of the roll of wire will be used to repair schoolyard fences. The Quinteview and Bayside pupils completed the second half of their forestry project last week by taking part in the examination and forestry quiz conducted by the zone forester.

Sight Saving Material

On receipt of a letter from Mr. P. I. Timmins, Field Secretary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind requesting that sight saving material be purchased for a pupil in Hardge's School, the Board arranged to get it. It was pointed out that the Department of Education reimburses the Board 100 per cent for material bought up to $10. per year for each pupil whose eyesight is below normal. This pupil has just recently come to this school.

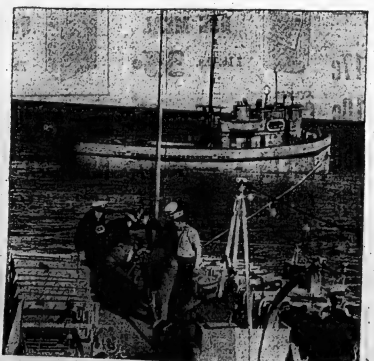
Mr. Sargent and the secretary were appointed a committee to attend a meeting called to discuss plans for the formation and operation of a county film council, which with the assistance of the National Film Board would provide projector and films for school and adult showings. There was a feeling that the membership fees to enroll 18 schools would go a long way toward purchasing a machine for the Area, providing that educational films would be available. The committee was to get all information possible as to service available, number of showings, and best means of co-operating to further audiovisual education.

Public Speaking Contests



Arrangements are being made for the public speaking contests sponsored by the South Hastings Educational Association and the township teachers' groups. This annual event has become increasingly important each year. Last year eleven Seniors (Grades 7 and 8) and seven Juniors (Grade 6 and under) took part in the competition at Wallbridge.

Tentative date for the Sidney schools was set for October 22th at Wallbridge, and the S. E. E. A. finals at Belleville, November 4th. Further announcements will be made through the schools and the press. The Sidney council have continued their fine support of this project by granting $15 toward prizes for the winners and contestants in the Sidney competition. This event is open to the public and all interested are invited to attend.



Attendance Banner

Johnstown school won the attendance banner for September with a percentage of 92.5, having lost only three pupil days during the month. Glen Ross with 90.2 per cent lost only one half day more. These marks are exceptionally good considering the fact that vaccinations and inoculations often result in lost time. The teachers and pupils are to be congratulated.

QUEEN'S VOICE CARRIED

In 1927, Queen Wilhelmina of Holland spoke for the first time to the people of Indonesia over radio telephone.

How's your goose step?

SOUND silly? Are you so sure? Hitler is dead but not his ideas. Some people would like to impose them on you.

Under new slogans individuals are forming committees and working to limit—and destroy—your freedom. Hiding behind appealing catch phrases, they wait the day when they can come out in the open and take over.

In the meantime they strive to win your support. They are asking you to put on your own chains. They dare not let you know their aims. They want you to believe and follow them blindly.

• • •

Newspapers are their first target. If they can destroy newspapers, they can enslave you. The fight is not so much against newspapers as against you.

If they could, they would control the contents of this newspaper as a means of controlling your mind. They are agitating for limiting the freedom of the press. They know that as long as this and other newspapers print facts and opinions freely you are informed. With information you can sit in judgment and decide what you want to believe.

Now you can read both sides of controversies. You can study contradictory statements. Those who would rob you of your liberties do not want you to do that. In their hands this newspaper would print only what they want printed. Their laws, their mistakes, their venality—none would be criticized. You would read what they told you and in time, without access to other information, you would accept your lot as those under Hitler did—and now do under Stalin.

• • •

A dictatorship can't live with a free press. And a free people can't live without one.

A free press is the bedrock under democracy. It doesn't belong exclusively to newspapers or to the government. You are an owner. It includes your right to write letters and circularize them. And your right to read what you want to.

To forget that is to invite trouble. You won't always be able to spot your enemies. They are too clever for that. But you can be alert. You can defeat their drive to take away your freedom by denying you knowledge of what is going on. By keeping informed, by voicing your own opinions and defending the other fellow's right to have his say, you can be free and assure the freedom of your family and children.

Your right to know is the key to all your liberties

RAWDON

River Valley W.I. Holds Exceptionally Fine Meeting

Rawdon—Mrs. Alex Bush was hostess for the October meeting of River Valley Women's Institute with over 30 adults and several children in attendance.

The president, Mrs. Harold Morgan, opened the meeting and roll call was answered with "Thanks for Canadian and Federal Government."

Mrs. J. C. Donohoe read several letters of thanks and gave the financial report.

Mrs. Gerald Richardson was appointed delegate to the area convention in Belleville and cars will be available for members to attend.

Donation Made

A donation of $5.00 was voted to the Canadian Institute for the blind. Plans were made for a dance in the community hall and a committee appointed to interview an orchestra.

The November meeting will be held on Wednesday, November 9th at the home of Mrs. Thomas Hanna.

Address on Citizenship

The program was based on "Citizenship" and was arranged by Mrs. Clarence Clark, who presided, stating that "The Intelligence of the people is the security of the Nation." She introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Arthur Duncan, of Hatawa, who gave an interesting address based on "International Relationship," remarking "one of the greatest responsibilities of your organization is to give responsible leadership in citizenship. There were 180,000 newcomers to Canada in 1948, and there will be that many more in 1949. These people watch us, Canadians, and think we are perfect examples of citizenship, our attitude toward neighborliness, friendship and willingness to help others sets a pattern for these strangers to follow."

Democratic State

He described Czechoslovakia, a small island in Russia's territory, that could be put into Lake Ontario with its 13,000,000 people. They had a democratic state formed in 1918 after being dominated for over 300 years. From 1918 to 1937 they enjoyed their freedom and then they were compelled to cease having democratic views. Today, the people in that land have a price on their heads. While homeland is always homeland to one and all, still many folk, who have been in Canada for nine years, found when they returned to their homeland that places and peoples had changed and they were eager to once again return to Canada. In this puppet state behind the iron curtain, less than 1,000,000 are red, the other 12,000,000 are under domination with the state telling you what to do, where to live, etc., and all pensions are given to members of the Communist party.

Development of Good Citizens

Each country has its own pattern for clothes and its own folk dance. He told of the social movement which has as its purpose the development of good citizens, and he pictured one of the vast gatherings held in Prague during the years of freedom. There are also many beautiful films which are worthwhile.

In closing, he said the responsibility as Canadians goes far beyond the Czech people, as it also applies to all other peoples who are in Canada. "Let's make them good Canadians and set them a good example." He closed with a lovely poem on the theme "We are thankful for each family circle and for we have in that lovely Canada of ours," and gave an appropriate toast to all the members of S. W. I.

Mrs. Chard voiced a message of thanks to Mr. Duncan and in the words of Columbus, wished that he too, would "Sail On" to greater heights.

Fine Program

Mrs. Earl Morrow was heard in a lovely piano solo "Schubert's Serenade." Mrs. Percy Maxfield-Ian contributed a humorous reading, "The Eighteen Day Diet."

A splendid pageant, "Maids of Several Countries" was presented with all wearing suitable costumes for the occasion with Mrs. Chard playing the musical accompaniment for each.

Countries Represented

England, Mrs. Ed Kent—she paid tribute to Mrs. Alfred Watt, who, in 1915 organized in Wales the first Women's Institute. At the present time, royalty are members of two flourishing institutes in that land.

Ireland, Mrs. Gerald Richardson, who predicted that someday the Irish in Canada will be the pride of our nation.

Poland, Mrs. Roy Bush—she said, "Don't judge all Polish people by one person who was perhaps a failure in your neighborhood. The Polish people have contributed much to Canada. Don't forget Paderewski, the great musician."

Norway, Mrs. Stanley Irvin—she told of the 31,000,000 of population and one of their main exports is Cod Liver oil.

Denmark, Mrs. Gerald Brooks—This country is made up of small islands and is famous for its dairy products, and is practically all rural.

Holland, Mrs. John Kane—this country has culture of its own as Dutch paintings are regarded as treasures in every museum. She told of the great care given to the graves of our loved ones who gave their lives in World War I.

Cuba, Mae Kent—On October 14th 1492 Christopher Columbus landed and this country supplies most of our citrus fruit.

New Province Welcomed

Mrs. Chard spoke of the ten provinces and welcomed the newest, Newfoundland. She said there was room for all under England's umbrella. All sang several appropriate songs as they gathered together beneath the large umbrella.

Various pictures and posters were passed around to further enhance adult education and citizenship. Quizzes on education and legislation were prepared by Mrs. Richardson.

The lunch committee served refreshments and Mrs. George Hesman expressed thanks for hospitality, program and the dainty repast.

A BIT ABSENT MINDED

Lawrenceburg, Tenn.—E. A. Cunningham, a busy man, walked to a mail box here yesterday, a letter in one hand and a dollar in the other.

He opened the chute—and mailed the dollar.

He waited at the postoffice and got his dollar back — then mailed the letter.

Phiat Senority Of Y.M.C.A. Lays Plans for Year

At an enthusiastic meeting held at the YMCA, Wednesday evening, the Phiat Sorority of Belleville was reorganized and plans laid for coming events. Doreen May was unanimously elected president and in a short speech after she had taken the chair, thanked the members for the high position they had voted her and expressed confidence that the sorority would have a successful year, closely sharing together in service, in athletics, and socially.

Other members elected to offices were Marie Marinoff, vice-president; Betty Gibson, secretary; and Betty Holloway, treasurer.

The meeting was opened by William Pope, program secretary of the YMCA, who expressed his willingness to cooperate in every way he could with the group. After the election of officers the new president, Doreen May, guided the meeting and a number of projects were put forward for immediate action.

The Phiat Sorority will hold regular Sunday evening meetings. For the first Sunday they plan to attend the Bridge Street United Church as a body while for the second Sunday they will review and discuss A. J. Cronin's novel, Shannon's Way. Other projects of a social, athletic or service nature are in the offing.

Previous to the meeting the Phiats played an exciting exhibition basketball game against a team of Belleville business girls, the latter winning 13-9. Play was very even throughout the game and checking was close, but the business girls showed a slight edge over their opponents in shooting form.

Following the game the Phiats went to the "Y" game room where they witnessed a movie short: "Champions in the Making" and "Sunland Fantasy". After a lively business meeting and discussion period the Phiats ended the evening with an enjoyable dish of ice cream.

DISASTER

Considered Watch Sufficient

Asked if he considered the night watch sufficient for the Noronic when she docked here Sept. 3, Capt. Reoch said:

"Yes . . . that standard practice."

"You were not asked that," said Mr. Justice Kellock. "Capt. Reoch your evidence here is for my benefit. You are giving me the impression that you are talking here for the benefit of someone else."

Capt. Reoch said he saw no reason for increasing a ship's watch in port unless there were warning of a hurricane or other emergency.

Had he been master of the Noronic when she docked here he would not have considered it necessary to increase the overnight watch for the safety of the 550 passengers aboard, he said.

Capt. Reoch said if the captain or first mate had considered they needed more men they could have asked for them if "they thought there was going to be a disaster."

Did Not Agree

He did not agree with the evidence of Capt. Taylor that he could not have ordered crew members off duty to remain aboard in port.

Capt. Reoch said he saw no reason for increasing a ship's watch in port unless there were warning of a hurricane or other emergency.

Had he been master of the Noronic when she docked here he would not have considered it necessary to increase the overnight watch for the safety of the 550 passengers aboard, he said.

Capt. Reoch said if the captain or first mate had considered they needed more men they could have asked for them if "they thought there was going to be a disaster."

The witness told the Commissioner Capt. Taylor possibly thought of cutting down expenses for the benefit of his employers and might do that without being instructed.

Capt. Reoch told C.S.L. counsel Frank Wilkinson the Noronic was equipped with an 8,000 compass and a $15,000 radar, "the same as the Queen Mary." He said it was compared with passenger ships on the Great Lakes, "no others have the same equipment".

He said the 36-year-old cruise steamship was "comparatively young", had top rating with Lloyd's insurance registry just like the Queen Mary or Queen Elizabeth.

Capt. T. S. Kane, commission assessor, told the witness he was not impressed by the Noronic's equipment and asked why more exits were not used to get passengers ashore.

Capt. Reoch said "if you mean the ramp built for the upper deck of the Cayuga . . . it would not fit."

The witness told Mr. Justice Kellock in his opinion the disaster was not unavoidable.

"What do you think might have been done to prevent it?" asked the commissioner.

Company Inquiry Not Completed

"I don't know for sure," said Capt. Reoch. "We are still carrying on our investigation just as you are holding yours here. We hope some information may come from your inquiry that might help us out."

He said cause of the fire remained undetermined but he himself was not convinced it started in the C deck linen closet where it first was detected.

Charles D. Whiteman, the Noronic's second engineer, testified he was off watch on the night of the fire. In an emergency, he said his post would be the engine room looking after the pumps, machinery and boilers.

He said that for drills he had been allotted to a lifeboat station but no fire hydrant.

He said he had received no instructions what to do in the event of fire apart from those contained on a company-issued card. He had no instructions about rousing passengers.

W. J. Bowles, the Noronic's 42-year-old second mate from Dorchester, Ont., said pre-arranged signals between the pilot house and engine room in the event the telephone failed, were "any thing over five or six bells".

CZECH REDS

2. Arrests in Prague and in the provinces of political suspects, who might be accused of undermining activity or sympathizing with Yugoslavia's anti-Soviet regime.

3. Implementation of a year-old promise of the government to find good apartments in Prague and other cities for workers. To obtain such places, pastors, nuns or so-called "non-essential" people have been seized and put in labor camps or shipped out of the capital with their families but often without their belongings.

Purge in Government Offices

4. Purges in government offices. Except in special cases these generally did not involve arrest but merely replacement by trusted Communist-trained personnel.

Western Embassy reports said Dr. Evzen Klinger, chief of the Foreign Ministry's Foreign Press section, had been jailed because of charges he was a former Trotskyist.

Nationalist Forces Abandon Canton, Resistance Ends

Attempting to Reach Escape Corridors Before Red Drive

Hong Kong, Oct. 13 (AP) — Telephoned reports from Canton said Nationalist forces tonight abandoned the South China city. Plans for all organized resistance ended within the provisional capital. Entry of communist troops now is awaited.

Exiles information from Canton said troops had pulled out of Canton, but this was coupled with reports the Nationalists had been ordered north to defend the city.

New Zealand Presbyterian missionaries told an Associated Press correspondent in Canton they had heard heavy gunfire around Kongtsuen, 10 miles distant.

But there was nothing as yet to indicate whether the Nationalists were quitting the city under military pressure or whether they were attempting to reach escape corridors ahead of the swift moving red troops.

No Nationalist Resistance

Communist troops last were reported driving directly down the Canton-Hankow railroad to within 30 miles of Canton.

As yet, Hong Kong has heard no reports of Nationalist resistance. Instead, 90,000 government troops in the Canton region face isolation by encircling reds and by insufficient shipping to escape to the sea.

The Nationalist government fled to Chungking. Acting President Li Tsung-jen left by plane for Kweilin, in neighboring Kiangsi province where an army of some 250,000 has been salvaged out of recent setbacks.

Li has been feuding with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, and there was speculation that he might not go on to the new refugee capital.

Only hope of Canton's defenders to continue the fight lay in escaping into southern areas of Canton's Kwangtung province, or evacuation by sea to Hainan Island and Formosa.

But red units were closing a giant pincer on the garrison, making it difficult or impossible for the Nationalists to slip into Kwangsi province. Insufficient shipping was available to transfer the bulk of the forces to the island strongholds.

Hope for Canton was dim. Like other major Nationalist cities, the refugee capital appeared ready to be plucked by the reds with hardly more than token resistance martial law was clamped on to prevent rioting and looting.

Grim, dingy Chungking, 600 miles northwest, was officially proclaimed the new capital, effective Saturday. All important government officials still in Canton, including Premier Yen Hsi-Shan, planned to leave by plane during the day.

Direct word from the city described the population of nearly 1,000,000 as tense and expecting the reds in three to 10 days.

It was no longer certain that government forces would be able to escape by sea to the safety of Formosa and Hainan Islands because of the lack of shipping.

Communist Gen. Chen Cheng raced to cut off the Canton garrison's overland escape routes east and west of Canton. Red troops at Tsungfa had only 35 miles between them and the South China metropolis.

Bypassing Tsingyun, 45 miles northwest of Canton, another red column closed in on the western corridor to Kwangsi province. This narrowed Nationalist chances of joining up with the main government forces under Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi.

STATE SECRETARY PULLS NO PUNCHES AGAINST RUSSIA

Calls Eastern Germany Republic Communistic

Washington, Oct. 13 — (AP)— State Secretary Dean Acheson's blast against the "Soviet masters" controlling Eastern Germany made it plain today that the United States is pulling no colored punches because of Russia's atomic explosion.

Speaking out for the first time since President Truman made his Sept. 23 announcement of the Russian atomic blast, Acheson referred to the newly-created East German state as an "autocratic communist regime."

At his press conference Wednesday, the secretary also brushed off protests from four eastern European communist governments, and assailed the current wave of arrests in Czechoslovakia as terroristic.

What he had to say publicly about communist developments in Europe lost none of the acid tone which had marked his comments before the White House semi-monthly announcement gave an urgent new turn to the east-west struggle.

Pledges Support

Denouncing the new East German government as "subservient" and controlled by Moscow-directed communists, Acheson pledged continued full support from the United States, Britain and France for the West German Republic which, he said, "in sharp contrast has a thoroughly constitutional and popular basis."

He noted that Soviet zone elections are reported to have been postponed for a year, and declared that "the new government and its Soviet masters are obviously afraid to risk the verdict of the people. He added:

"As long as an autocratic communist regime remains fastened upon the people of Eastern Germany and carries out Soviet policies under the protection of a large armed communist police force, it would be meaningless to speak of a peace treaty or an end of the state of war, or the withdrawal of Soviet troops."

DR. SHIELDS LOSES BAPTIST PRESIDENCY

DEAN W. G. BROWN

DR. T. T. SHIELDS

Dr. T. T. Shields, of Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, was ousted from the presidency of the Union of Regular Baptist Churches of Ontario and Quebec, a post he had held continously since he founded the organization 22 years ago. The Baptist convention in Toronto is believed to have voted against Dr. Shields as a result of his dismissal of Dean W. Gordon Brown from the Baptist seminary.—CPC.

Canadian and U.S. Tourists Prefer Museums to Night Life While Touring Great Britain

BY NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Canadians and Americans do not look for night life in Europe — they prefer museums, says the British Travel Association.

Historic buildings, rustic villages and theatres attract them most, with museums, concerts and athletic events next in order.

Night clubs, whether in London or Paris, are well down on the list of favored attractions.

"Most Canadians and Americans — and particularly Americans — tell us there is quite enough night life at home without seeking it here," an official of the Travel Association said. "They prefer to concentrate on things that typify British and European life."

French perfume is the most popular purchase. More than half of this year's North American visitors spend $1, while one-third of them purchased Swiss watches. French and Italian gloves and Italian leather goods and silks were the next most popular items.

Speak Highly of Cooking

Canadians and Americans generally speak highly of cooking in France, Italy, Switzerland and The Netherlands, but are only luke-warm about British cooking.

"Where visitors show signs of being ultra-fastidious about their food, we often direct them to restaurants that have French or Italian chefs," the official said.

Charge Will be Investigated by Stratford Board

Stratford, Oct. 13 — (CP) —A charge that a Stratford College Institute student wearing a cast for a broken leg was bullied by an army officer instructing the collegiate cadet corps is being investigated by the Stratford Board of Education.

The incident is said to have occurred last Friday while the cadets were doing exercises for the officer.

Trustees have been told that a grade nine student broke a cast on his leg when forced to do the exercises. The youth was said to have been in a cast all summer and, following the incident, was returned to hospital Tuesday for further treatment.

Principal Donald W. Scott said Wednesday that he strongly objects to "outsiders coming to the school and bossing the students around without any real authority." He added that the collegiate is not a military academy.

ONLY FEW MINOR CHANGES WILL BE MADE IN BUDGET

Rates of Personal Tax Will Remain the Same

Ottawa, Oct. 13—(CP)—A few minor changes may be made in the 1949-50 budget when it is resubmitted to parliament one week from today.

Finance Minister Abbott announced in the Commons Wednesday night that, barring unforeseen circumstances, he will reintroduce the budget at 8 p.m. EDT, Thursday, Oct. 20. It was first brought down by Mr. Abbott last March 22, but the session was prorogued April 30 without the budget having been approved.

The announcement to the House gave no indication whether any changes would be made in the original budget, but Mr. Abbott later told newspaper men that the budget will be "substantially the same."

Some political observers believed the leveling of taxes placed for reintroduction indicated some changes would be made although possibly of a minor character. They pointed out that otherwise he could have reintroduced the budget at any time instead of an hour when market and business notifications are closed.

As usual, changes, if any, to be announced by the finance minister will remain a closely-guarded secret until he makes his address in the Commons.

In the original budget, Mr. Abbott estimated the year's revenues at $2,477,500,000 and expenditures at $2,390,000,000 for a surplus of $87,500,000. The surplus the year before was $575,000,000.

Miners Refuse To Renew Contract For Two Years

25-Day-Old Coal Strike Shows No Sign of Ending

Pittsburgh, Oct. 13 (AP)—Government-prodded negotiations to end the 25-day-old coal strike continued today—despite another blunt refusal from the United Mine Workers to renew their contract for two years.

U.M.W. vice-president Thomas Kennedy says the union is willing to continue in these meetings until we get a contract."

There's no sign of collective bargaining in the strike of 450,000 C.I.O. United Steelworkers.

Federal negotiators also renewed their efforts today to get steelworkers president Philip Murray and industry leaders back at the bargaining table.

Ching is setting up similar meetings with U.S. Steel Corporation and other top steel producers. Then, he hopes to talk to Murray.

The veteran steelworkers' leader shows no inclination to give up his fight for a non-contributory pension and welfare plan. He insists the U.S. industry foot the exact recommendations of the steel fact-finding board and pay 10 cents an hour to finance the entire program.

Pensions are a big issue, too, in the strike of Lewis' 380,000 soft-coal diggers. Lewis set up a pension and welfare fund to provide them but the benefits were cut off last month.

Northern and western operators at White Sulphur Springs Wednesday offered to renew their contract until April, 1951. It expired June 30. Their chairman, Frank Amos of the Pittsburg Consolidated Coal Company, said renewal of the old agreement is their "best and final offer".

Saskatoon Man Elected Leader Of Conservatives

Regina, Oct. 13 — (CP)—Alvin Hamilton, 37, of Saskatoon, organizer for the Progressive Conservative party in Saskatchewan, Wednesday was elected its leader. He succeeds Rupert Ramsay, also of Saskatoon.

Mr. Hamilton was chosen over Ed Hudson of Moose Jaw, only other candidate. Mr. Hudson moved that Mr. Hamilton's election be made unanimous.

During the two-day convention, both candidates denounced any possibility of coalition with the Liberals in their efforts to upset the province's C. C. F. government.

Says He Parachuted From Military Plane To Win $5 Bet

Nashville, Ark., Oct. 12. (AP) —A daring young soldier, Pte. Howard A. Shihneman, may own the dubious distinction of being the first United States military prisoner to parachute from a plane.

Records on this sort of thing virtually are nil.

The 23-year-old Clinton, Ill., war veteran dived out of a C-82 —commonly known as a "flying boxcar"—at about 3,000 feet over Southwestern Arkansas, Tuesday afternoon. The plane was carrying a crew and ten military prisoners from Forbes Air Force base at Topeka, Kas., to Clarksdale Air Force base, Shreveport, La.

The spectacular break was engineered, Shihneman said, to win a $5 bet he doesn't expect to collect—and for a thrill. He said he didn't intend to escape; but had planned to report to Barksdale on his own.

Soft Shoulders On Highway Blamed For Fatal Accident

Bowmanville, Ont. Oct. 13 — (CP)—Soft shoulders on No. 2 Highway one mile east of here, were blamed Monday by a coroner's jury for an accident Sept. 18, in which four persons were killed.

The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Alec Lawrence of Oshawa and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Martin of Leaside.

U.S. Hunters Take Heavy Toll Canadian Moose

Maniwaki, Que., Oct. 13 (CP)— A closed season may have to be declared on Canadian moose in Northern Quebec to protect the dwindling herds from the guns of Canadian and United States sportsmen.

Game officials estimate that before the 25-day Quebec moose hunting season ends Oct. 23, more than 200 of the majestic forest animals will have fallen to the blazing guns of hunters.

"It is high time something was done to correct the situation," Game Warden Donovan McFaul said Tuesday night. He estimated that close to 150 Canadian moose already had been killed this month in the game-rich forests stretching north and west of here.

"The moose population has been decreasing very rapidly in the last five years," the warden said. "It is very noticeable."

The warden stressed that hunters, large numbers of them from the United States, were sticking rigidly to hunting regulations, which allows a hunter to "bag" only one moose.

"The hunters are doing nothing illegal, but we will have to do something to protect moose."

The heavy toll of Canadian moose is not new. Warden McFaul said the number of moose killed this year was about the same as those taken in the last two or three years.

They said there were only two possible solutions to the problem. The best would be to declare a closed season—make shooting illegal—in moose for about five years. The other would be to drastically reduce the number of hunting days.

Game officials said at least five years would be required to build [illegible] herds. They pointed out that moose increase much slower than do deer.

SIX SURVIVE MANITOBA CRASH

Six people walked away from this Bellanca after it crashed in northern Manitoba. They were rescued less than an hour after their forced landing. The craft, seen on its back, with floats in the air, dropped into the trees beside Smoky Lake, 35 miles northeast of Lac du Bonnet. A search plane took off when the plane was overdue and found it.—Central Press Canadian.

Has Only One Chance In Year to Win From Another Union

Toronto, Oct. 13 (CP). — A labor union can have only one chance within 12 months to win employees of a plant away from another union.

That was the effect of a ruling handed down yesterday by the Ontario Labor Relations Board. It dealt with an application by the Oil Workers International Union (C.I.O.) for rights to represent employees of Trinidad Leaseholds (Canada) Ltd. The employees now are represented by the International Union of Operating Engineers.

An application by the Oil Workers Union just prior to expiration date of the contract between the Operating Engineers and the company was dismissed. Shortly afterwards, before the oil workers and the company had time to discuss renewal of their agreement, the oil workers made a second application.

Bags of Feed Slashed by Boys

Young boys armed with army type bayonets caused considerable damage in a C. P. R. freight car yesterday by slashing bags of feed, police were informed yesterday.

The freight car was spotted at the freight loading shed along the track when the door seal was broken and the bags of feed slashed. No other damage was reported nor was anything reported missing.

Miss Elaine Chatell, 310 Coleman Street, complained that $13 had been taken from her purse, presumably at a local beverage room. The girl told police she had been out with another girl and two young men. She later found the money missing from her

THE STRONG PULLERS

Bridgewater, N.S. (CP) — A broad-shouldered team of oxen showed they aren't out-of date at the Lunenburg county fair here. The team of Earl Nunns, from Blockhouse, weighed in at 2,270 pounds and pulled 8,700 pounds through a muddy course.

How NESCAFÉ saves you money

● Today coffee costs you even less per cup when you use Nescafé than it does when you use ordinary coffee in cans or jars. Everywhere, smart thrifty housewives, faced with the soaring costs of ordinary coffees, are demanding Nescafé.

And what wonderful coffee you make with Nescafé! Rich, full-bodied coffee that's alive with flavour. Made in an instant in cup or coffee maker. Just add one cup of boiling water to each teaspoonful of Nescafé. No waste. No messy grounds to dispose of.

Nescafé comes in powdered form in airtight glass jars—4 oz. and 12 oz. sizes. Try Nescafé today.

More people drink NESCAFÉ than any other instant coffee!

"Nescafé (pronounced NES-CAFAY) is the exclusive registered Trade Mark of Nestlé's Milk Products (Canada) Limited to designate its Soluble Coffee Product. It is composed of pure coffee extract and added carbohydrates (dextrins, maltose and dextrose) added solely to protect the flavour.

Libby's Canada's Favourite TOMATO JUICE

Fresh-From-The-Garden

If you've ever stood in a tomato patch and enjoyed the reddest, ripest, juiciest tomato on the vine, you know the matchless garden-fresh flavour of Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice. And here's good news! The new pack is just in from the garden—at your grocers now.

Get in a supply.

Enjoy Libby's often.

Remember, Libby's is an excellent dietary source of vitamins A and C. When you consider that an insufficiency of these vitamins may lessen the resistance of the body to infection, you realize how important it is to include them in your diet regularly. What more pleasant way than in a daily glassful of Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice?

1949-50 BUDGET

Mr. Claxton said the extension of "functional" committees eventually would have the effect of breaking down the system under which the government assumed responsibility for measures. The committee inevitably would attempt to take over the operations of government.

Will Reintroduce Bndret

Other speakers included Clarie Gillis (CCF — Cape Breton South); Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—MacLeod); Rene Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw) and E. D. Fulton (PC — Kamloops).

At the House opening, Finance Minister Abbott announced he will reintroduce the 1949-50 budget next Thursday, Oct. 20, at 8 P. M. EDT. Few major changes in the budget, first presented last March 22, are expected.

Dr. Blair, reviewing the scientific advances in the field of medicine, said "We are positive now, for instance, that there is no reason why any child in this country should die of diphtheria.

"Scientists have discovered a method of immunizing a child against this disease.

"The time has come when a coroner's inquest should be held if a child dies of diphtheria. If an accident occurs on the highway and someone is killed, then a coroner's inquest is held and the whole affair is investigated.

"A child can die of diphtheria and the only formality is a certificate signed by the attending physician."

Dr. Blair said some of the main health problems are in the middle and later years of life. Heart diseases now were among the chief killers. There should be greater provision for research and treatment of cardiac cases.

Spirited drive should be made against cancer which is claiming between 14,000 and 15,000 lives every year.

Mental Cases Increase

Another major problem was in the mental health field where the bill for care and treatment now runs to about $500,000,000 a year. Canada, he said, has some 200,000 patients in mental institutions, half of them there permanently and the other half temporarily.

The number of mental health cases was increasing more rapidly than the country's population was increasing and that should be a cause for concern.

Dr. Blair said the committee proposed by Mr. Fleming would be useful in ensuring that the latest developments in medicine were placed at the disposal of every citizen. He expressed opposition to state medicine, declaring that in some countries it was proving expensive and was not achieving the objects for which it was established.

Mr. Claxton said that what opposition members really wanted was "government by committee" and notably by a committee of the opposition.

Parliament operated on the principle of government responsibility, he said, but it was clear supporters of the resolution wanted a committee to share responsibility with the government for legislation that would involve the meeting of public funds.

While Mr. Claxton said he was not trying to block further development in the four matters proposed for committee study, he observed that no other country in the Commonwealth had such a parliamentary committee as suggested by Mr. Fleming.

Contrary to System

Mr. Claxton said that once committees dealing with the operation of government were established then it was almost inevitably found that those committees attempted to run the affairs of the government. That was contrary to the Canadian system of government.

Proposals such as Mr. Fleming's, while apparently reasonable, should be questioned because they might strike at the fundamental roots of parliamentary government as it is known in Canada.

The government had to take a long-range view or solutions to many problems and make plans accordingly. If there were committees initiating programs of their own, he wondered how it would be possible to get a comprehensive program, aimed at helping all classes of the Canadian.

He suggested that the best time for Mr. Fleming to make his proposal would be when changes in the rules and procedure of the commons are under consideration.

Would Assist Ministers

At the outset of the debate, Mr. Fleming said health, welfare, social security and housing were subjects of the "highest importance" and should be considered by a committee. The four topics were allied, but in the past they had been dealt with piecemeal.

The proposed committee would not infringe of ministerial responsibility. It would be of assistance to the ministers.

Mr. Gillis said social security and housing could be looked into profitably by the committee. There was still much to be desired in national health. The federal government was making health grants to the provinces, but some of them were not spending the money.

Mr. Hansell said such health issues as state medicine were of great importance, and he questioned whether a government should take responsibility for policy of such an issue without parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. Thatcher said he would support establishment of a committee if it was to mean anything. Up to now the Commons had done nothing on the reports of committees on p rices, Indian affairs and a national flag at earlier sessions.

Mr. Fulton said a health committee would be helpful to the government and at the same time be urged that the committee set-up or the Commons be modernized.

NO BRITISH

Today's cabinet meeting was the first session of top government ministers since the pound was devalued.

The Prime Minister's announcement came at a moment when the Conservative party was holding its "biggest in history" annual conference in an atmosphere of "election fever."

The decision means that the government will go ahead in the next few months with the rigorous new austerity era made necessary by the devaluation of the pound.

It also means that the government will carry to the statute book the bill for the nationalization of iron and steel, and the parliament act, which will cut the House of Lords powers to delay legislation from two years to one.

The government had to decide whether, without a new mandate from the electorate, it could command sufficient loyalty from its followers to weather the economic rigors of the next few months and maintain the export drive at the high pitch required.

IN TASTE TEST WITH A WELL-KNOWN BRAND

A group of average housewives in a typical Canadian city were served two bowls of heated tomato soup that were identified only by the letters A and B, and asked to write down the brand they preferred. Nearly 65 percent voted Heinz FIRST for flavour. Less than 35 percent voted for another well-known brand, with one lone lady registering no choice.

Try this taste test on your own family. Heat a tin of Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup and a tin of any other brand. Serve half-bowlfuls of each and get your family's verdict. When they have tasted the wonderful difference, the chances are it will be true to one for Heinz.

If you have been buying some other brand for some time, buy Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup just ONCE. It will be the beginning of a long friendship.

DUT NO ONE WAS HURT MUCH

In a woods near Paris, movie critic Francois Chalais (right) and Willy Rozier, a film director, settle an "affair of honor" with a rapier duel. Cause for the duel was an article by Chalais which Rozier felt was harmful to the reputation as an actress of Maria Dea. Chalais received a slight wound in the right arm, which was enough to satisfy Rozier's "honor," but the men held to their original opinions as they parted.—Central Press Canadian.

Was Rundown; Suffered Stomach Gas, Indigestion

Had Bloated Feeling and Sour Acidity After Meals, Backache, Very Nervous, Tells How Syntona Helped Her.

When the stomach is out of order and food fails to digest properly, but ferments causing gas, sour stomach and a full, bloated feeling; when poor kidney action brings on night-rising, backache and rheumatic pain; when bowels are constipated and you suffer from poor appetite, dizzy spells, headaches and your nerves are on edge, try a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound and you, too, may find this medicine just what you need to make you feel like yourself again.

Here is the experience of Mrs. Dorothy Garlick, of 3 Mulberry Street, Hamilton, Ont., as told in a recent report:

"I was suffering with indigestion, sour stomach and constipation. After meals I would be troubled with sour acidity, gas and a bloated feeling. I often suffered from nervous and sick headaches. My nerves were so bad I couldn't get my proper sleep at night and I felt tired and worn out from the time I got up in the morning.

"After reading about other people being helped by Syntona, I got some and I am surprised how quickly it has helped my stomach. I had kept it up I finished the first bottle when I noticed I was not troubled with indigestion. As I kept on taking it the gas, sourness, bloated feeling cleared up entirely. Constipation is now relieved and I am not troubled with nervous and sick headaches. As a result I sleep soundly at night and my whole system feels fresh up and recovered."

Lord Boyd Orr Winner of Nobel Peace Prize

Oslo, Norway, Oct. 13 (AP) — Lord Boyd Orr, a 69-year-old Scotsman who believes wars can be prevented by creation of a world federal government and raising more food to prevent hunger, is the winner of the Nobel Peace Prize for 1949.

The Norwegian Parliament's Nobel Committee announced the award Wednesday night. Lord Boyd Orr, world food expert and practical farmer, who headed the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization from the time it was established in 1945 until April, 1948.

The prize, awarded from a fund set up in 1896 by Alfred B. Nobel, the inventor of dynamite, amounts to 150,292.62 Norwegian kroner ($21,889). It is awarded to persons deemed outstanding in promoting peace among countries.

Expressing surprise at his selection, Lord Boyd Orr told a reporter in Dundee, Scotland, that he would use the money to promote peace and world government.

He added: "The important thing in the world today is to get the nations to co-operate."

No Reason for Award

The Nobel Committee does not give reasons for its awards. The 69-year-old recipient, known as Sir John Boyd Orr until he was made a baron last year, said he believed the prize was given him for his proposals for a world food plan as well as for his work for a world federal government.

In September, 1948, Lord Boyd Orr was elected president of the World Movement for World Federal Government at a Congress of World Federalists in Luxembourg.

His plan to fight hunger calls for doubling the world's food production during the next 25 years. This would be accomplished through increased use of modern agricultural methods and reduction of soil fertility losses.

If carried out, such a plan would "bring contentment to people who are in revolt against their hunger and poverty," Lord Boyd Orr said.

Perfect Bridge Hands Reported

McHenry, Ill. — Bidding was fast and furious between the four women in a bridge game at the home of Mrs. Norman Eggert.

When Mrs. Julia Justen bid four spades, Mrs. Calla Freund sighed "I hate to give up five honors in diamonds," she remarked.

"Five honors!" echoed the other players. All four laid down their hands. All four had five honors—Mrs. Barbara Krause, the dealer in clubs; Mrs. Freund, her partner, in diamonds; Mrs. Julia Justen, her partner, in spades; Mrs. Elvira Justen, her partner, in hearts.

"I dealt and I assure you I did not stack the cards," Mrs. Krause told a reporter. "If I had, I would have dealt myself the honors in minimum spaces — not in clubs."

Twelve women at the bridge party will vouch for it. We never heard of such a thing around here."

Bridge experts at Chicago said it was extremely rare.

George Gee Fires Detroit To Opening N.H.L. Victory Over Boston by 2-1 Score

BY JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

George Gee, Detroit Red Wings' rugged centre, recovered his scoring eye and sent the Wings off to a flying start in the National Hockey League for their 10th year in a row.

The 27-year-old native of Stratford fired both goals as the Wings defeated Boston Bruins 2-1 before a crowd of 11,061 at Detroit Wednesday night. Both came after Paul Ronty's early tally gave Boston a 1-0 lead.

The Wings now have won their schedule - opener 10 straight times. The last time they were beaten in their season's first game was in Chicago in 1938.

The two points earned by the victory also put Detroit all alone on top of the standings. The league's other four teams don't start until later.

Ronty Puts Bruins Ahead

Ronty put Bruins ahead before the seven - minute mark, slapping John Peirson's corner passout behind goalie Harry Lumley. Gee rifled a 30-foot angle shot hon.; to tie the score 7½ minutes later, with Leo Reise drawing an assist.

The Detroit centre broke the deadlock at 3:26 of the final frame, popping home Ted Lindsay's goal-mouth pass on a play started by defenceman Red Kelly.

Jack Gelineau, the former McGill University goalie starting his first season in the Boston nets, looked good despite his loss. The 24-year-old rookie, brought up when Frankie Brimsek was traded to Chicago, handled 28 Detroit shots compared to Lumley's 23 saves.

Trophies Presented

In a between-periods ceremony, N. H. L. President Clarence Campbell presented Detroit with the Prince of Wales Trophy they won by finishing first in the regular schedule last season. Boston was second.

Campbell also awarded the Hart Trophy to Abel, Wings captain, as the league's most valuable player last season.

If you take Dick Irvin's word for it, the Wings won't end their 70-game schedule in first place this season. The Canadiens' coach last night picked Chicago (not his own team) to take the top spot.

After watching the Hawks work out in the Montreal Forum, Irvin said that Brimsek's presence in the Hawk nets is one of the factors that should see Chicago win the league title by 10 points.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 13 — (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies are high on first baseman Bill Glynn from Scranton, Pa., and Lasalle-Peru-Oglesby Junior College grid team in Illinois that won its last two games by scores of 68-0 and 86-0. F-P-O didn't punt in either game as that's their weakness, eh?

North Carolina U. is looking for the guy who bestirs into the publicity office and stole a stock of photographs of backfield star Charlie (Chocolate) Justice . . . probably some frustrated opponent who found out he is only way he could take the choo choo. Incomplete Pass

Cadet-midshipman Paul Olsavsky of the United States Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point, N.Y., and the publicity dept. both claim this is true. . . during the year at sea required of the Merchant Marine lads, Olsavsky carried a football on his journeys and at each port he hired someone to be a receiver while he practised passing. . . In France it was a Marseille dock walloper; in England, a former soccer player. . . In India out came the dock workers would accept his money. . . Paul finally sought out the boss stevedore and asked how come . . . "sorry, young officer," replied the Indian, "but my men are Moslems and therefore forbidden to touch pigskin."

Carpenter Wants Two Pitchers And Outfielder

Philadelphia, Oct. 13 — (AP) — Give Bob Carpenter two pitchers and a hard-hitting outfielder for Christmas and he'll predict a National League pennant for his Philadelphia Phillies.

It's still more than two months before Santa Claus puts in his annual appearance but the youthful owner of the Phils today affixed that we forward his requests to the jolly old gentleman.

1. An outfielder who'll hit over .300. He doesn't care whether he's a lefthander, righthander, or a switch hitter. All he has to be able to do is hit that apple hard and often.

2. A southpaw and righthanded pitcher. Of course Santa, if you'll guarantee they'll win 20 games each Bob wouldn't mind one bit.

And furthermore, if cash will help you produce what Bob wants, he is perfectly willing to shell out some of that.

But Bob is a little doubtful if Santa Claus, even with cash as an added inducement, can fulfil his needs.

Not for Sale

"There's several outfielders around that we would like to get but they are not for sale," said Carpenter.

"And as for pitchers," he added, "we may have my desires right in our center."

Carpenter referred to Jocko Thompson as the pitcher most likely to come through. And for his righthander he named Bubba Church, who won his last eight games for Toronto of the International Association.

"And we have not given up on Curt Simmons by a long way," declared the Phillie boss. "He may be three years or so away from greatness but he'll get there. Just look at southpaws like Lefty Grove and Vernon Gomez. They were not tops until they were much older than Simmons (Curt is 19).

Simmons is the pitcher to whom the Phils paid a bonus of $65,000 on graduation from high school.

Things Looking Up for Canadian Track Squad

BY JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Things are looking up for Canada's track men in the British Empire games at Auckland, N.Z., next February. They probably won't set the games on fire but chances of avoiding a "skunk" become brighter by the day.

For this, a vote of thanks should go to Jamaica, Trinidad, Australia and England. Advance information is that track stars of world or near-old-beating calibre from these countries won't be around at Eden Park when the week-long games open Feb. 4.

Against such opposition, Canada's track team which reads like a "who's who" of athletes who competed in the Dominion's 1948 Olympics, couldn't hope to get close. The Olympic showing proved that even our best athletes failed to qualify in any track event final.

Wint, McKenley Out

A big hunzah should go to Jamaica. Its two top stars—Arthur Wint and Herb McKenley —are passing up the New Zealand trip.

Wint, the brown flash with the 11-foot stride, ran away with the 400-metre Olympic title in the games' record time of 45.2 seconds.

Wint also is the fastest man in the Commonwealth over 800 metres, placing second behind Mel Patton of the U.S., in the 800 metres at the Olympics. He has stated publicly he "definitely" would not make the games.

Alan McCorquodale of England, fourth in the 100-metre Olympic final behind Americans, and McDonald Bailey, from Trinidad, who placed sixth, are non-starters. McCorquodale won't concern by the B.E. Games Association in England and Bailey hasn't the necessary cash to pay his fare from England to New Zealand.

Aussies May Help

There are indications, also, that Australia might help Canada's cause. The Aussie team won't be chosen until December but word is that there hot-shot track men won't be going to New Zealand.

Marie Cuerois, fifth in the 400-metre run at the Olympics, has gone to the U.S. to study, and Johnny Treloar, who beat Canadians in the preliminary sprint rounds, is a doubtful starter.

Ezzard Charles Defends Title Against Valentino

Ezzard Charles defends his N.B.A. heavyweight boxing championship against Pat Valentino, the San Francisco Samson, here tomorrow night. But his manager's eyes are set on more distant prospects.

Virtually ignoring Valentino, Jake Mintz talked today of a little defence for Charles before the year's end. And he didn't mean tomorrow night's 10-rounder which may pack 20,000 fans into San Francisco's new palace.

Charles is a 1-to-5 favorite Valentino. The odds even might have been a bit better but Cincinnati Negro climbs into the ring at 10 p.m. tomorrow (2 a.m. E.D.T. Saturday).

Mintz said he has no specific challenger in mind. He seemed to consider the Valentino fight already won.

Then, perhaps thinking suddenly of some $50,000 worth of unsold seats, he remarked that Pat has a chance.

"Any challenger does," Jittery Jake said. "Any time a champion steps into the ring he's in danger."

Mintz said Charles will give anyone a crack at his crown—if there's enough money in it. He hinted strongly at a December defence—but refused to go further.

Both boxers will taper off with shadow boxing today.

Advance ticket sales total $130,000—"and that's in the bank," is the latest report. The cow palace is scaled to a $180,000 to $200,000 gate. That would include 4,000 standees and some 16,000 in seats. All unsold tickets are in the $15 and $30 (tops) brackets.

Charles, a trim 181 pounds, gets $40,000—or 25 per cent of the gate. Valentino gets $8,500.

Barrie Flyers Blow Three-Goal Lead to Guelph

(By the Canadian Press)

Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior "A" loop know how it feels to blow a three-goal lead while their opponents move steadily ahead to tie the score.

That's just what happened to the Flyers last night before a hometown crowd of 3,000. After being held scoreless for two periods, Guelph Biltmores came roaring back in the third, rapped in three goals and kept the rampaging Flyers from breaking loose again during the scoreless overtime period.

In the night's other league match, Oshawa Generals shaded Toronto St. Mike's 3-2 in a bruising, penalty-riddled encounter in Oshawa arena. In all, referees handed out 32 penalties, most of which were protested vigorously by the offending players.

In the Barrie thrilled, Johnny Bobenie cashed in on a neat passing play to put the Flyers one up in the first period. Teammates Real Chevrelle and Rick Hogg made it 3-0 in the second.

The rout fell on Barrie in the third period. Herb Dickinson started the Guelph sniping when he picked up a loose puck and beat goalie Jim Baxley with a close-in shot. While Flyers had a two-man advantage, Bud Palmer broke away and made it 3-2. The tying shot came from Frank Battaglia during the closing minutes of the period.

Flurry of Penalties

The flurry of penalties at Oshawa was attributed to the keenness, but inexperience, of many of the players. There were no misconducts, but minor penalties were handed out for practically everything in the book, including fighting, drawing blood, holding, high-sticking, slashing, boarding, tripping, interference, having too many men on the ice and falling on the puck and holding it.

The first penalty of the game went to Wendt of St. Mike's and, while he was off the ice, Doug Towers scored for Oshawa from a scramble after an Oshawa game play. On a lone power play he tied the score. In the second period, Oshawa's Don Hall broke the deadlock with a screened shot and generals made it 3-1 early in the third on a tally by Robertson. A stick-handling sortie by Roy gave St. Mike's their second goal but nothing came of a determined Toronto bid to tie the score during the game's final minutes.

But for the 3,000 spectators much of the game's excitement stemmed from the penalties, 11 in the first period, 14 in the second and seven in the third.

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Edmonton, Oct. 13 — (CP) — Sport, particularly football, gives rise to many an anecdote on great moments. Coach Annis Stukus of Edmonton Eskimos in the Western Interprovincial Rugby Football Union took a guest column in the Edmonton bulletin to tell about his.

Thinking back on his 13 grid campaigns, many of them with Toronto - Argonauts, Stukus says his big moment came when he was named president of the One Minute Club.

"That was one organization we didn't want any part of, but over the years it gained quite a membership — unpopular as it was. There was only one way to obtain your entry into this select group — by getting crocked after being in a football game for only one minute! Easy but painful."

Honorary Member

Stukus first was an honorary member, lasting a little over the minute mark in a game with Hamilton Tigers before getting a kick in the temple that "left me cold until ten days and put me in the hospital for three days with concussion."

"I was the first to get it twice — did it so quickly that the total elapsed time came to considerably less than two minutes."

While playing Montreal, "Lew Hayman and me hold the game with instructions to call an end run . . . I took my turn tipped it off because when the ball came out to me as third man on the sweep, four Montrealers were waiting for me."

What Hospitality!

"I tried to beat them to the sideline, made it just in time as them hit me. The fourth got up just in time to put his toe right into the way of my face as I hit the ground.

"One play and they led me off by the hand with a two-inch gash under my right eye, a beautiful shiner and a very low opinion of Montreal hospitality.

"The boys elected me president right there and then. That was a great day."

Ramblers, Barons And Hornets Pick Up Victories

(By The Canadian Press)

Four games were played in the American Hockey League Wednesday night with New Haven Ramblers, Cleveland Barons and Pittsburgh Hornets picking up victories. Buffalo Bisons and Indianapolis Capitals played to a 3-3 tie.

The Ramblers outscored last year's champion Providence Reds 7-6 at Providence while Pittsburgh tripped Hershey Bears 4-2 and the Barons blasted Springfield Indians 6-1.

At Providence, New Haven spotted the Reds a 3-0 lead and then blasted home five goals in seven minutes in the second period to pick up their initial win this year.

Paul Deniis started the drive with a goal at 5.35. Wes Trainor delivered from close in at 8:49 and Steve Rymnak tied the score 23 seconds later. Buck Webster and Fred Brown followed with two goals and the Ramblers were never headed after that.

Cleveland took a commanding lead in the first period. Both teams scored once in the second and the Barons added another marker in the final frame.

Andy Barbe, Ray Hannigan and Bob Robertson netted one goal each to assure the Hornets of their first victory this year. They were defeated 3-2 by St. Louis Flyers in the league opener Tuesday night.

The other Pittsburgh goal was scored by Les Costello. Herbie Cain and Gordie Bruce accounted for the Hershey markers.

At Buffalo, a crowd of 5,546 saw Joe Lund, who started for the Bisons while on loan from Indianapolis last season, tie up the game for the Caps with less than eight minutes remaining.

Tom Cooper opened the scoring for Buffalo in the first period and Jerry Reid evened up the score before the end of the session. The Bisons went ahead again in the second frame when George Pargeter scored.

World Champs Buy Two Stars From Oakland

New York, Oct. 13 (AP)—New York Yankees, announcing they won't "stand pat" on their present world championship team, today bought two of the brightest stars in the Pacific Coast League.

No price was divulged but it's rumored the Yankees shelled out about $100,000 and five players for the two athletes, who were widely sought after by Major League clubs.

They will report for spring training next March.

"You never sit tight," Casey told newspaper men in his "kickless" final press conference of the season Wednesday.

"You can't afford to stand pat in this league. We're going to try to strengthen our pitching staff although it looked pretty good in the last week. Sure, we could use a couple of pitchers, I'd like to improve my outfield a little, too."

Jensen, 23, is the former football star at the University of California. He is a bonus player, Oakland owner C. L. (Brick) Laws, in besting 14 big league clubs in his services, lured him at the close of the college baseball season last spring with a bonus of $40,000 plus three-year contract at $15,000 a year.

In 125 games with the Oaks, Jensen batted .361 this season. Included in his 132 hits were 21 doubles, seven triples and nine home runs. He drove in 78 runs.

Martin, 21, hit .277 for Oakland when Stengel's club won the pennant in '48 and topped that figure to .284 this year. He hit 29 doubles, three triples and 13 homers this season and drove in 81 runs while batting in eighth slot.

Strathspey Wins Cesarewitch at Odds of 25 to 1

(By The Canadian Press)

At least, that is how it seemed to about 25,000 racing fans at Newmarket, England, who watched J. V. Rank's Strathspey stride to victory in the first half of the autumn double. Rank is a brother of . Arthur Rank, British milling magnate and movie mogul.

What made the race like a movie script was the classic riding of veteran Eph Smith who handled the winner just as if he had been rehearsing the scene for hours. Everything worked out to schedule.

Smith nursed the four-year-old along under wraps for the greater part of the 2¼-mile course over Newmarket Heath while Blue Coral and Ben Fair Speech made the early running. Strathspey's time was three minutes and 50 4-5 seconds.

Eddie Dyer will be back as manager next year, but some player changes are in store for the St. Louis Cardinals if deals can be arranged.

Owner Fred Saigh still smarting over the collapse of the Cardinals in the final week of the baseball season that cost them the National League pennant, left no doubts about Dyer's status.

"I am completely satisfied with Dyer, and he will manage the Cardinals in 1950," Saigh said at St. Louis.

Although Dyer's two-year contract doesn't expire for another year, there had been some speculation that he might be replaced. The Cards lost out to Brooklyn in the pennant chase by one game.

Saigh disclosed he has already sounded out four National League clubs on possible player trades. He observed it might be difficult to arrange for trades since other clubs hesitate to strengthen a pennant contender.

Tony Golab, plunging star of the Ottawa Rough Riders, received word Wednesday that his mother, Mrs. Michael Golab, of Windsor, Ont., had died in a Detroit hospital.

Golab, in a full leg cast at R. C. A. F. hospital in Ottawa due to injuries suffered in last Saturday's game against Montreal Alouettes, will be unable to attend his mother's funeral.

The Ottawa player's left leg was placed in a cast Wednesday. He is suffering from a badly torn cartilage and the cast runs from his ankle almost up to his hip. In addition, his right elbow was placed in a splint. It was dislocated in the same game. He will be confined to hospital for two or three weeks.

Sammy Renick, former jockey who lost a $30 win ticket on a 72-to-1 shot at New York's Aqueduct Aug. 31, got it back Wednesday and collected $3,850.

Renick purchased one of the two $50 win tickets sold on the horse Orange Sun. After his brother, Joe, booted the long shot home on top, Sammy couldn't find his ticket.

Jerry O'Grady, head of the truck police, returned the lost ticket to Renick. O'Grady didn't disclose how it had been recovered.

The Wayne county prosecutor's office said Wednesday night no evidence of negligence has been uncovered in the Detroit ring death of Talmadge Bussey, Detroit lightweight boxer.

Assistant Prosecutor John Rice said there was nothing in them to indicate that the fight was a mismatch or that Bussey was not in good condition for the bout.

Senior 'A' Loop Cut to Four Teams This Year

Toronto, Oct. 13. (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association Senior for a campaign, opening Friday night, takes on a new appearance this season.

The circuit is cut to four teams, the hapless Stratford squad sitting out the year after a dismal 1948-49 season. And a lot of newcomers will be seen around the circuit, with a 50-50 mixture of veterans and rookies in prospect.

All four teams see action on the opening night, Owen Sound Mercurys come to Toronto to tackle Toronto Marlboros, last year's champions. Hamilton Tigers play host to the Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen.

The goaltending jobs reflect the change in playing personnel. Pat Boehmer of Kitchener, a star in the Junior O.H.A. when he played with St. Michael's College and Toronto, will be in the nets for the Marlboros. He replaces Howie Harvey, who has retired from hockey.

Bev Bentley With Dutchmen

Another member of the famous Bentley family, Bev, will play with the Dutchmen. Nephew of Doug and Max Bentley, Bev played last season for Regina Caps in the Western Canada League where he had the lowest goals-against average and won the most valuable player award. He succeeds Marcel Pelletier who has joined Quebec Aces in the Quebec Senior Hockey League. Even reliable old Art Childs is facing a tough fight for the goal job at Hamilton. His rival is Bruce Dale.

The Mercurys will have Bob Gillson as goaltender, Tommy McGrattan having gone to Brantford.

Hollett Starts 17th Season

Coach Joe Primeau of the Marlboros has a strong scrub in prospect. "Flash" Hollett, starting his 17th year in organized hockey, is assured of a berth on defence. He also has Al Buchanan, Johnny McLennan, Johnny McCormack, Bill Johnson, Chuck Blair and Scotty Muir. Bob Hassard will be starting in senior ranks this season, along with newcomers Gord Hannigan and Frank Sullivan.

Owen Sound is banking heavily on newcomers, with eight of them with regular berths on the team. Chief question marks seems to be down the centre as Tommy Burlington and Mike Shabaga of last year's team now are with Saskatoon Quakers. Still available from last season's roster are Art Hayward, Doug Gallagher, Jack Ingoldsby and Buck Forsythe. Scheduled for a defence spot is Bill Alum, last year's coach. Coaching chores are being taken over by Jack Markle.

Tigers Really Firing

As far as Hamilton is concerned, the rugged show put on in practice by the "tired old men" has put heart into the club. Said Manager Percy Thompson: "Don't know how they do it, but they are really flying."

The Dutchmen have at least one promising newcomer in the lineup in Dick Wray who tied for the scoring leadership of the Manitime League last year with 69 points with Saint John Beavers. Bill Walsh and George Blake are on hand from the disbanded Stratford Seniors along with Wally Hnatiuk of Brantford, a former pro.

South was laddered into a grand slam bid of seven hearts; decided by cash. Opening lead from west was a small club. First look makes you think of four losers.

There are three kings to worry about. All three of them could be on the wrong side from your standpoint. Adds from these there is a losing third diamond and a losing third club to contend with.

Actually then, there are five losers to make your life seem miserable at the moment. By the laws of chance, you could hope to save one or more of them. But not all five.

Even if you trapped all the unseen kings, you still see two losers; a third diamond and a third club. Not a very encouraging prospect for taking all 13 tricks. But they can be had.

South won the first trick by covering what east played. Careful trump play disposed west of all his hearts. A diamond finesse to the south queen worked. The remaining south top club was cashed.

South then led out all his trumps except one. This left each hand with only five cards. In south were a spade, a trump, diamonds A 7, club deuce. Dummy kept three spades and two minor sightposts.

East must clean house to two of his best guides, two of his best diamonds, one of his best clubs. Only thus will he have a stopper in each of the suits now being threatened by declarer and dummy.

At this crucial point in the proceedings, south leads his last trump and shuffs dummy smallest spade. Lay out the cards on a table top and see what happens to east. A dog it shouldn't happen to.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 13 — (AP)— Want a first-class, prepaid vacation in Europe, staying at the best spas and hotels?

Watch, kid. And it's available to you at no cost and little obligation—provided you're a top-flight film star.

Take Joseph Cotten. In the last year or so he has made three pictures in Europe—in London, Vienna and Italy. But he isn't complaining about constantly packing up his duffle-bag, or whatever movie stars pack up.

Italy Hotel

Vienna was the most inconvenient place to work, said the actor. "We had black bread and cheese for breakfast while Vanji, Orson Wells and I made 'The Third Man,'" he relished.

But in Vienna he had the only milk he tasted in Europe. It was flown from Denmark.

Conditions were pleasant in Italy, where he just did "Secret Interlocutor." Ingrid Bergman and Joan Fontaine were filming "Come Home, Naples, Capri, Florence and Pompeii.

Cotten didn't even groan about England, where he spent nine austere months. "You soon find what you put in your stomach is not too important," he remarked. Canada Review

"Christopher Columbus" (Rank) is Britain's version of the founding of the United States. Too much of the film deals with the dull court machinations, leaving the actual discovery with little punch. Fredric March's fine portrayal and some good sea shots are the sole bright things in the film. Strangely, the hot-blooded Spaniards in the picture all sound like stuffy Britons.

U.K. Advertisers Omit to Specify Retail Outlets

Toronto, Oct. 13 (CP) — The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association in a statement Wednesday said that at the recent C.D.N.A. meeting in Halifax publishers expressed great concern over the "apparent lack of understanding" by United Kingdom manufacturers or correct merchandising practices in Canada.

The statement said the meeting "deplored the present practice of many United Kingdom advertisers who omit to specify in their advertisements the names of retail outlets where their goods may be purchased" and added that the advertisements mislead many Canadian consumers with assurances of goods being "available at all good stores" when as this not the case.

The statement said surveys showed distribution of many advertised products in the principal cities of Canada was extremely spotty, and, in some instances, non-existent. The statement concluded: "The newspaper publishers felt that this inaccuracy tends to destroy public confidence in United Kingdom advertising in general. The C.D.N.A. considers that continuance of this practice is detrimental to the sale of British consumer goods in Canada."

Mystery Man' Sought in Case

Vancouver, Oct. 13—(CP) — The Vancouver Sun said Wednesday in a newspage story a "mystery man" is sought in the case of Joyce Monasterski, 25-year-old cashier who disappeared on a downtown street Sept. 17.

The body of a young woman found on the rocks of a West Vancouver beach Saturday has been tentatively identified as that of the missing cashier.

Eva Teslak, who occupied a two-room suite with the missing girl, said the man visited her last week, but refused to give his name.

"He pumped me for information, and left without giving his name." Miss Teslak said. "He identified himself as a friend of the family."

BRITISH AIRLINES' LOSSES

London, Oct. 13 (Reuters) — Britain's three government-owned airlines lost more than £8,000,000 ($27,900,000) in the year ending last March, $7,000,000 less than the previous year, it was announced Tuesday. British Overseas Airways Corporation lost £2,764,685, a reduction of £210,904. British South American Airways lost £1,132,052 an increase of $711,601.

FEED THE BIRDS

Portage La Prairie, Man. (CP) — Wild life at the Island Park bird sanctuary won't go hungry this winter. A tag day raised $350 to provide food.

Little Benny's Note Book

Us fellows were talking about different subjects such as Sid Hunt's birthday party 2 weeks from next Saturday, and I said, I wish Sid wasn't mad at Glasses Magee,

Sure, heck, Glasses is allways the funniest one at a party, Puds Simkins said and Shorty Judge said, And besides he'll bring his dart board with him, so we have something reeily exciting to do in case they play too many dum games.

Well hay, how about us being peace makers and getting them to speak to each other again, Puds said. They had an argument about something so, all we have to do is settle the argument and get them to shake hands and make Up,, he said, and I said, Sure, let's go and ask Sid what they were arguing about.

And we went and rang Sid's doorbell and Sid came to the door and I said, Hay Sid, is it true you and Glasses don't speak to each other on account of having a fierce argument?

Sure it's true, Sid said, and Puds said, What was it about?

Darn if I remember, it was 3 days ago, Sid said.

And he shut the door xgain, and pretty soon Glasses came home from a errand with some packdrops, and Shorty Judge said, Hay Glasses, what was the argument you and Sid Hunt got mad at each other about?

I can't remember exactly, Glasses said. All I know is that I'm never going to speak to him again until he apologizes, he said, and I said, Well heck, he don't remember either, so how's he going to apologize?

That's his business, Glasses said. Being the sad end of the subject and proving if you always asked people exactly why they don't like each other, there would probably be more questions than answers.

Windsor Streets Flooded to Depth Of Two Feet

London, Ont., Oct. 13 (CP)—Heavy rainstorms lashed most of Western Ontario Tuesday night and continued until late Wednesday morning. Traffic was slowed up on the highways and in one city, Windsor, flooding streets to a depth of one to two feet.

The total rainfall in London was 1.94 inches.

It was the heaviest October rainfall in 56 years in the Windsor and Detroit district. Hundreds of basements were flooded.

Weather Bureau reports at Windsor set the rainfall for the 24-hour period ending at 7.30 A. M. Wednesday at 3.33 inches, a record for October. The nearest thing to the deluge occurred in 1893 when the precipitation was 2.58 inches.

NEHRU TO SPEAK IN OTTAWA COMMONS

President Truman (left) is shown greeting Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, on the latter's arrival at Washington's National airport aboard the president's personal plane, the Independence. The plane was sent to London for Nehru's personal use. In addition to the chief executive, members of his cabinet and the cream of the diplomatic corps were on hand to greet the Indian leader. While on his "good-will tour", Nehru will visit New York, Boston, Knoxville, Tenn., White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Chicago, Madison, Wis., and San Francisco. After the U.S. tour, Nehru will visit Ottawa to speak in the House of Commons.—CPC.

B.C.I. Seniors Down Albert By 26-0 Score

By DON ROSE

On a muddy field B.C.I. Tricolor Seniors clashed with Albert College in a Bay of Quinte District, O.R.F.A. game. Excellent ball was played in spite of Mother Nature's humid conditions. The old rivals bunted hard to the rig'ht to sing the victory song and the B.C.I. boys were in bone warbling. Ted Early, Kingston and Vern Goyer kept the boys in order.

Red Townsend's squad was on receiving end of the kick-off and booted the ball down the field, but Albert intercepted an aerial pass. A series of downs followed with little progress. M. Massey received a third down kick and made a staggering run to put B.C.I. in scoring position. Massey clicked with a quick forward, D. Walmsley hooked to the 12 yard line and L. Dowsett followed with another buck for the first touchdown. Convert was not made.

The same fast pace continued in the second quarter. B.C.I.'s L. Faulkner snatched a basketball pass. A number of bucks put them in a passing position. The pass, a 35 yard high one over the line was pulled down again by Faulkner, flashy endman. Varley dropped one through the pillars for the convert. (11-0).

Play Slows Up

Half-time rest seemed to slow the game down (maybe the boys cooled off). Albert College were desperate and kicked when chance allowed. R. McMillan and B. Varley made outstanding runs, but Albert held firm (for the quarter anyhow).

In the fourth quarter B.C.I. turned mobile and touched three times. The collegiate plunged the ball to Albert's 15 yard line. M. Massey left-half, bucked for one. Failed to convert. Later in desperation Albert kicked from their 3 yard line but J. McBride made a direct run for 25 yards for another counter. There was again no convert. George Locke, quarter back, and Dowsett made gains which put them back on Albert's 20. Walmsley bucked again to the 10, but all was lost for an offside play. A plunge through the line by Massey put the pill on the 1 yard line, on the third attempt of this play a bullet pass was drawn in by Massey. Again no convert because of the slippery ball! Losses for Collegiate followed but game ended in a "skonk."

NEW SURGICAL TECHNIQUE

New Orleans, Oct. 13 — (AP)— A new surgical technique for exposing the pancreas — one of the body's most important organs but also one of the most difficult to explore in time of trouble—was announced today. Professor Ian Aird of the University of London reported that the operation allowed, for the first time, complete exposure of all surfaces of the gland.

EATON'S Announces

A New Lower Price on These

Well Known Cellulose Mops

One of Our Biggest Selling Lines At A Saving Price

All across Canada housewives have been saving themselves work and time with these mops and now EATON'S offers them at a lower-than-ever price. Cellulose sponge mops are important to modern housework — they perform not one job but several — use them to wash, dust, clean windows, shampoo rugs, apply liquid wax and many other household tasks. Added to their versatility are their performance features — without wetting or dirtying your hands you can wring the mop nearly dry — without stooping or kneeling you can scrub or apply liquid wax, getting into those hard-to-get-at corners. Replaceable head is another money-saving feature. Complete with rust-resistant wringer and wooden handle.

Bell Telephone Co. Asks for 20.6 P.C. Rate Increase

Residence Service in City Would be 50-65c. Higher

OTTAWA, Oct. 14 (CP) — The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, which operates 1,560,000 telephones in Ontario and Quebec, today applied for rate increases averaging 20.8 per cent.

The company asked the Board of Transport Commissioners for increases on local and long-distance rates estimated to yield a total of $23,900,000 a year, of which the company estimated it would net about $14,200,000 after taxes.

The application asks that the revised rates be made effective December 1.

They would apply to service given through all standard types of telephones.

The proposed rates do not represent a flat increase of 20.6 per cent; they vary with different types of service.

Greatest increases would be in exchanges with the largest number of telephones, and all exchange rates are graded according to the size of the exchange.

Higher Long Distance Tolls

On long-distance tolls, the company proposes to hoist the initial-period charge by five, 10 or 15 cents, depending on the distance involved and the type of call. Some person-to-person, night and Sunday calls would be increased by 20 or 25 cents. There are no increases for station-to-station calls under 10 miles.

The proposed boosts for domestic rates vary, in Montreal, Toronto and Quebec, the increase would be 65 cents a month for a two-party hand telephone.

In Hamilton and Ottawa, it would be 60 cents; London and Windsor, 40 cents. The increases are down through smaller communities to 25 cents in exchanges having 500 or fewer phones.

Toronto, Montreal Rates

For individual business phones, the Montreal and Toronto rate would jump from $7.35 to $12 a month. In Quebec, they would go from $5.10 to $9.50. For Hamilton and Ottawa, they would move from $5.85 to $9.50. For London and Windsor, it would be from $5.10 to $8. The lowest category would move up from $2.85 to $5.

Miscellaneous equipment and services presently would be subject to higher changes, though some reductions are proposed. Rate of directory line rates for extension hand telephones served through private branch exchanges.

The application notes that no company received its last general rate increase in 1927, and it states that in the last six years Bell's operating expenses have increased 153 per cent against a rise of 125 per cent in operating revenues.

BRILLIANT FLASH IN SKY PUZZLES ONT. RESIDENTS

Blinding Light at Timagami 200 Miles North of Toronto

Toronto, Oct. 14 — (CP) — A strange and gigantic flash in the sky, described as blinding at Timagami, 200 miles north of here, puzzled Ontario residents today.

The blue-white blaze of light, which one Timagami observer said remained a monstrously magnified short-circuit, occurred at midnight EST. It was also seen at the Dunlap Observatory at nearby Richmond Hill and by a control officer at Malton Airport, 17 miles northwest of here.

All observers stressed the strangeness of the light. One witness said it looked like a comet, another like a rocket. There was no immediate indication whether the phenomenon was natural or man-made.

Air force and army officials at Ottawa offer no explanation. An army spokesman said the army was not carrying out any exercises that might account for the flash.

Bluish-white Flash

Walter A. Rukeyser, mining engineer on a visit to Timagami, first reported the flash. In company with several friends, he saw the midnight sky "brilliantly lit up by a bluish, white flash."

"I've never seen anything quite like it," he said. "There was a sudden burst of light . . . I looked up and saw a snake-like flash . . . it was like a short-circuit, the biggest short-circuit I've ever seen. It remained perhaps six or seven minutes in the sky and the flash the sky remained brightly lighted.

"A tremendous area was covered. A luminescent glow covered the sky. Gradually, at the end of about five minutes, it began to die down. It had the appearance of a Chinese cracker."

No Sound With Flash

No sound accompanied the light, said Constable James Tappenden, who saw it at Cobalt, 30 miles north of Timagami.

"And it wasn't northern lights," said the provincial police officer. "I've seen them before. It was something I can't explain. I was walking down the main street some time after midnight when the sky lit up . . . it's the flash seemed to hang on, for maybe a minute or two. It gave like lightning."

"It was like nothing I've ever seen," said Gene Stone, police officer at Malton Airport. He said he plotted the course of the flash which he said was a light blue, tailing off to white blue. It shot from about due north to north-northwest, travelling either in the east, at about a 45-degree angle.

"It seemed like a skyrocket that didn't explode," he said. "It vanished at about 45 degrees above the horizon. It had a band about eight to nine times the width of a shooting star.

Impressive Ceremonies Mark Opening of $200,000 Hospital

Bancroft, Ont. (Special) — Monument to the efforts of a community-spirited populace, the new $200,000 Red Cross Hospital was officially opened here yesterday with simple yet impressive ceremony.

An army of distinguished guests headed by the Hon. Russell Kelley, Ontario Minister of Health were present, and introduced by Mr. Walter E. Wiggins, honorary president of the Bancroft Red Cross Board. The guests were formally welcomed by Reeve Theodore Tyron.

The hospital, built at a cost of $200,000 and combined beauty with utility, is considered one of the finest in this district. It is situated on outskirts of Bancroft on the east bank of the York River nestled in a pocket with scenic hills about it.

The institution represents the combined financial effort of the people of North Hastings, the Ontario Government and the Canadian Red Cross Society, each contributing one-third of the cost. The two story structure contains twenty-two beds and every facility including operating room, case room, emergency and X-ray services. It will serve not only the people of Bancroft and district but the many tourists who take up the summer residence in this area.

The building is 150 feet long, has a centre section of stone and two wings of frame construction. It is fully fireproof. The centre section contains the offices, nurses dining room a fully modern kitchen. The second floor is used entirely for the staff and contains eight bedrooms a beautiful staff sitting room. The color scheme throughout the hospital building is in pastel shades of green and peach-colors soft and cheery for the patients.

Started in 1947

The wings include one four-bed ward, six two-bed wards, four private rooms, one children's room, nursery, a fully-equipped operating room, a case room and an out-patient department for emergencies. The plans of the hospital were drawn by Mr. Charles B. Dolphin, a well-known Canadian architect. The general contractors were Hill, Hume and Francis Ltd, of New Liskeard, Ontario. The building was started in 1947 and in March 1948 the laying of the corner stone was observed by some four hundred persons. This new and modern hospital will replace the present old-fashioned hospital which was erected in 1926 and served Bancroft and district from then until now. In recent years the building was found to be inadequate to handle the increasing number of patients.

NORONIC GUARD DID NOT REPORT NIGHT OF FIRE

Claims Failure Due to 'Slip-up'

Toronto, Oct. 14 (CP)—Three foot high cartons for refuse were kept in linen closets aboard the cruise-steamer Noronic before burned with heavy loss of life in Toronto harbor Sept. 17, the federal commission inquiring into the disaster was told today.

This evidence was given by W. E. Brown of Port Arthur, Ont., one of two of the Noronic's special officers whose duties were to patrol the ship. He said that refuse picked up by the maids on their last rounds would be put into the linen closet cartons.

Evidence earlier in the inquiry, now in its 12th day, testified to having located the fire in a linen closet on the port side of C deck.

Brown said that at sea refuse was dumped overboard. In port, porters were supposed to take the contents of the cartons in D deck. Per Noronic special officer order said that due to a "slip up" he failed to report for duty on the night of the fire. He went to sleep immediately after he returned from a visit ashore.

Brown said he had spent six seasons as special officer on the Noronic. On the night of the fire he went ashore at 7 p.m. E.S.T. and returned at 11 p.m.

"When did you go on duty?" asked Commission Counsel J. W. Pickup.

"I didn't go on duty," replied Brown. "They was a slip-up and I wasn't there."

The witness said he went straight to his room on D deck on his return to the ship.

"Did you go to sleep?

CANADA'S PART IN U.K. BACON MARKET OUTLINED

Plans Made to Buy Irrigation Company

Ottawa, Oct. 14. (CP)—Canada's position in the United Kingdom bacon market and government plans to purchase the Canada Land and Irrigation Company in Alberta were outlined Thursday in the Commons by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

The government, he said, has approved purchase of the irrigation company at Medicine Hat for $2,250,000. The irrigabel area of land involved is approximately 110,000 acres.

"The reason for the purchase is to enable the Dominion to carry out a more active program in resettlement under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation program," he said. "The intention is to move farmers from dust lands in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba where crop production is unsatisfactory, due to continued drought conditions."

He indicated that construction work on two other western water developments are still some distance away. He said the Dominion is not yet in a position to sign an agreement with the Alberta government on the projected $20,000,000 St. Mary River irrigation plan in that province because Alberta wants the federal government to assume too big a share of the cost.

He declared, too, that some $2,000,000—the amount in this year's estimates—will have to be spent before it can be determined definitely whether construction can proceed on the proposed $90,000,000 South Saskatchewan River irrigation project.

Has No Responsibility

In exchanges with opposition members from the two provinces, he declared that the federal government has no responsibility in the field of irrigation. That was a matter under provincial jurisdiction. However, the government was contributing to the projects because the expenditures were high and it was possible that

Conspired to Teach Forcible Overthrow Of Government

Find Five Defence Lawyers Guilty of Contempt of Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP) — The 11 top Communist leaders in the United States were convicted today of conspiring to teach forcible overthrow of the United States government.

Immediately after the verdict, five defence lawyers and one of the defendants were convicted of contempt of court.

Mrs. Thelma Dial, foreman of the jury, in announcing the verdict said, "we find each and every one of the defendants guilty."

The jury entered the courtroom after deliberating exactly seven hours.

The maximum penalty possible for each defendant is 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

Thanked by Judge

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina thanked the jurors, eight women and four men and said:

"Before I discharge you, I would like to tell you a few things. I need not tell you of the importance of this case, as stressed by counsel for both sides. I tell you now when you leave here do not discuss with anyone, anything about this case, about the deliberations, about anything that has to do with the case from the beginning to end.

"Do not discuss the case with your friends or members of the press, magazine writers or anyone who seeks to solicit from you any information about the case."

Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party who acted as his own counsel, was the defendant judged in contempt.

The five lawyers convicted of contempt were Harry Sacher of New York, Richard F. Gladstein of San Francisco, Louis F. McCabe of Philadelphia, George W. Crockett, Jr., of Detroit, and Abraham J. Isserman of New York.

No date was set for sentence of the Communists. Sentences were set at once for the lawyers.

Sacher and Gladstein received six months, Crockett was convicted under nine specifications and sentences to four months on each, to run concurrently. McCabe was given 30 days. Isserman was sentenced to four months.

Dennis was sent to prison for six months on the contempt charge.

The contempt judgments came as no surprise. Throughout the trial Judge Medina frequently warned the lawyers and Dennis about their conduct.

The jury was sent to bed at 11:45 P.M. Thursday last night, still in disagreement after more than five hours deliberation. Then the case at 4.53 P.M. Thursday after a nine-month trial that started last April 17.

The eight women and four men were ordered to return their decision at 10:30 A.M. today.

Eight of the defendants went home with their wives, to cheers and applause of their sympathizers. A ninth man was kept under outside the Federal Court building. The other defendant, Dennis, was held during out-of-court hours for contempt.

Not a Witch Hunt

Judge Harold R. Medina warned the jury that the trial was not intended as a witch hunt or book-burning trial. It was a trial of 11 men accused of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the U.S. government by force.

"Do not be led astray by talk that thought control or putting books on trial." Medina said in a two-hour and 15-minute charge to the jury. "Such issues are before you here.

Mushrooms Sprouting Everywhere In 17th Century Mansion in Wales

Llandilo, Wales, Oct. 14—(CP)—Mushrooms are sprouting in the dining-room, billiards-room, library, wine cellar, servants hall, kitchen and stables of a 300-roomed mansion.

Outwardly the mansion retains its 17th century charm and grandeur. Inside it is a mushroom farm.

Rich, antique farm lore has been replaced by tier upon tier of mushroom beds. Gilt mirrors surrounding the large ballroom throw back the images of dusty piles of boxes, for the ballroom now is the main office and packing station.

"Next year these will be mushroom beds in the main bedrooms on the first floor," said Z. Spencer Davies, one of the three British ex-officers operating the business.

The officers met for the first time when they were being demobilized from the Polish Resettlement Corps. They decided on mushroom growing and after months of searching acquired the old mansion.

This year they have produced 30,000 pounds of mushrooms.

FOREST WEALTH BEING DEPLETED STATE MEMBERS

Destruction Blamed on Timber Operators, Care less Sportsmen, Cigarets

Ottawa, Oct. 14 (CP)—Timber operators, careless sportsmen, cigarets and insects were blamed alternately in the Commons Thursday for destruction of Canada's forest resources.

A. Wesley Stewart, (L—Charlotte) said he believes the timber now being cut is "a greater menace to the forests. In his native New Brunswick they have been reducing forests to slash and it would be 100 years instead of 50 before a new crop could be cut.

Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L—Portneuf) said many sportsmen are careless with camp fires and he suggested that they at least heed the posters which warned that one tree can take 1,000,000 matches, but one match can destroy 1,000,000 trees.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) said he was amazed at the number of forest fires blazed on cigarets. He suggested an investigation be made to find out how many could be blamed on cigarets, if the number was large then cigaret manufacturers should be prohibited from putting saltpetre and other chemicals in the tobacco to make it burn faster.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Oct. 14 (CP)—Synopsis: There is considerable cloudiness over most of Ontario today with some light rain falling just north of Georgian Bay. This weather is associated with a complex disturbance and a cooler air which is moving across the province. It is Saturday this cool air is expected to be replaced by slightly warmer air bringing clearing skies and a little higher temperatures to all Ontario forecast regions.

Windsor Castle Guides Not Allowed To Tell Fanciful and Amusing Stories

By NORMAN CREBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Windsor, England, Oct. 14—CP —Guides at Royal Windsor castle have been forbidden to tell "fanciful stories" to tourists — particularly tourists from North America.

An American visitor, annoyed one of the guides pulled her leg when she inquired if the ghosts were ghosts in the castle. The stories he told her, she said, were altogether discredited as "pure invention."

To combat this tendency, castle officials have issued a new official guidebook, to which guides must adhere strictly.

The new book deals solely with factual information and, in fact, unadorned by romantic or fictitious language.

"If guides obey their instructions it will mean, an end to all these fanciful and amusing stories that were once so popular with guides and public alike," said J. S. Lesbie, Windsor historian.

Old-time visitors to the castle view this tendency with regret. They remember how the ancient remparts used to ring to the laughter of visitors enjoying oft-rehearsed tales of Henry VIII and his wives.

How do the guides themselves react to the change?

"Tours will not be nearly so interesting," said one. "Visitors come here for pleasure as much as enlightenment. We regarded it as a duty to tell them certain things, and most visitors enjoyed our jokes.

"I can't imagine why anyone should object to a little harmless fun," said another. "Our anecdotes were usually legends, like the origin of the Order of the Garter.

"What's wrong with telling visitors that it was instituted by King Edward III after he had seen a ball in the castle. Many historians say it is true, so why ban it?"

Another sore point with guides is that tipping has been banned and any breach of the rule will mean "instant dismissal."

Henceforth their average wage will be about £6 ($18.50) a week.

Previously they often made as much as that in one day's tips.

Quads Continue To Thrive in Incubators

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 14 —(CP) The quadruplet daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gravelle of Garneau continue to thrive in their hospital incubators while their father ponders his housing situation.

The birth of the quadruplets Thursday suddenly made a five-room wartime house too small for the Hungarian-born couple. Marguerite, 26, had two children, Sandra, 6, and Kenneth, 4, by a former marriage.

Housing accommodation in this prosperous Northern Ontario steel city is as scarce as in other parts of the province, and Gravelle is faced with six children. The 34-year-old Hargreaves, an assistant repairman at the Great Lakes Power Company plant here, told an interviewer:

"We'll just have to manage somehow."

The quadruplets, first in this city's history, were born within 20 minutes. The heaviest baby weighs three pounds seven ounces, the smallest three pounds ounces, and the lightest of the four tipped the scales at three pounds three ounces.

Only Scattered Cases

Only scattered cases of quadruplet births are recorded in all Canada in recent years. There were two in 1943, one in 1944 and two in 1937.

But one of the world's most famous multiple births, that of the Dionne Quintuplets in May, 1934, took place some 285 miles east of here at Callander, Ont.

Two Constables Asked to Resign After Inquiry

Toronto, Oct. 14 (CP)—Inspector Sidney Hunter of the Ontario Provincial Police has been "exonerated" of charges of maladministration of his office, Attorney-General Porter announced Thursday following the release of an inquiry report.

Mr. Porter said the inquiry was launched by Deputy Commissioner R. T. Deyell of the Provincial Police after 14 constables charged Hunter with maladministration of office and requested transfers from his district.

Two of the constables — Lyle Smith and Hugh Robertson—were found to have "infringed the disciplinary code of the Provincial Police force", the report said and they were asked to resign.

Mr. Porter said the inquiry revealed that the two constables had "incited dissatisfaction among other members. The 13 other policemen have now withdrawn their applications for transfer and will remain in the Ottawa district under Inspector Hunter.

Surprise Visit Made

The maladministration charges were laid after Hunter made a surprise visit made by Insp. Hunter on Aug. 28 to the detachment offices in Ottawa after a report that the Provincial Police radio station in Ottawa could not be contacted, the report said.

Insp. Hunter reported evidence of lack of discipline and reprimanded the constables on duty. One of them was Const. Smith. The report said the inspector had found one of the constables asleep on the desk and the other sitting with his shoes off.

CAPITOL THEATRE MANAGER INSTALLS NEW CANDY BAR

A compact but completely equipped candy bar for the convenience of patrons, the first of its kind in a conventional movie theatre in this city, has been recently opened at the Capitol Theatre with theatre patrons quickly availing their services of approval.

MRS. HERBERT McCABE WOMEN'S CHAIRMAN FOR COMING DRIVE

Mrs. Herbert McCabe, who was unanimously elected to act as Women's chairman for the Community Feather campaign about to be launched in this city at an organization dinner held Thursday evening in the Y.M.C.A. is to be in charge of the canvassers for the various residential districts of the city. Mrs. McCabe will be stationed at the headquarters during the campaign and any workers who could give a little of their time to help this worthy cause could call her at that location or at her home address. It is hoped that the full canvasser list can be completed by the first of the week so that collections can be made promptly.

CERTAIN CAR GIVEN WIDE BERTH ON LOT

Other motor cars at a local manufacturing plant parking lot are giving a wide berth to, these days to a certain small car of English make.

It seems the local plant worker who drives back and forth from Stirling each day had a misfortune one day this week which was both nauseating and long lasting. The misfortune was in the form of a skunk that left a very liberal calling card.

MONGREL COLLIE IN CITY FOUND

A male, part-collie, part-police dog, yellow in color, is at the pound of city poundkeeper, Thomas Thorne. The animal was picked up when found wandering with no collar or dog tag. If not claimed by its owner within the next 48 hours, it will be despatched in the usual manner.

Fire Fighting Equipment Viewed by Many Citizens

Every piece of fire fighting equipment owned by the Belleville Fire Department was called out last night — but not to fight a fire.

They were called out in a parade which was all in the program for the observance of the fire prevention week launch is being held all this week. Clanging of fire bells and the howling of fire sirens brought residents to the windows and to street corners to see the parade of fire machines.

Heading the parade was the 9th Anti-Tank Pipe Band, but after the parade got off to a start at the Upper Bridge the sirens took over for the length of Front Street.

Following the band came a truck loaded to capacity by local Boy Scouts who are assisting in fire prevention week by searching for fire hazards. Then in progressive sequence came the fire fighting equipment dating from 1890 vintage right down to the present.

Hand-drawn Hose Cart

Just for this special occasion the department from somewhere produced a hand-drawn hose cart that must have been in mothballs for well over half a century. Seated on the cart and surrounded by red water pails was the white-whiskered and white-uniformed "chief", while the cart itself was hauled by sturdy red-shirted and brass-helmeted firemen — date: 1890.

Then came the first ladder truck owned by the department, purchased back in 1926 and which is still operative. Next in line was the first city-owned fire pumper bought in 1935 and then the small hose truck procured in 1941. The balance of equipment in the parade has been purchased for the department within the past year, being the second pumper, 1948; the fire chief's car, the new aerial ladder and the third pumper, bought in 1949.

Members of the city council fire committee rode with the parade. One car carried placards directing attention to the Belleville Fire Fighters' union, while another carried publicity for the "Make Fire Prevention Week Fire Prevention Week."

Belleville Stores Carry Goods For Every Home Requirement

Belleville and district shoppers have no need to travel to Toronto, to Kingston or some other centre outside their home city limits to purchase their requirements.

On the contrary they can procure almost anything they may require right in Belleville and at prices comparable to those in a larger centre.

And Belleville merchants are out to prove it next Friday, Saturday and continuing all next week they are staging a "Buy and Shopping in Belleville Week" with special sales features being offered. In order to encourage the shoppers to do their shopping in Belleville a series of contests has been arranged, winners of which will receive valuable cash prizes in merchandise or cash vouchers.

Especially it has not always been the case but business development in the city during recent years has made it possible for practically every type of merchandise from women's apparel right down the list to household equipment and farm needs to be purchased or obtained right in Belleville.

Courteous and friendly sales personnel are anticipating an arduous if serve-making shopping a delightful experience. Also pur-

Harvest of Waters To be Celebrated By Unique Service

An unique service, possibly the only one of its kind to be held in this district, will be held on Sunday afternoon, October 16th, in St. John's Anglican Church, Point Anne. Since many of the parishioners there are fisher-folk, the service will celebrate "The Harvest of the Waters" or "Thanksgiving for Fisheries".

The church will be decorated in the Cornish fashion of fisherfare. In the nave, fishing-nets and tackle, decorate the walls with crossed oars between the windows. In the chancel, there will be buoys, life belts and seine. In the sanctuary, before the altar, a ship's anchor with ship's lanterns, dimly burning and on the altar rail, will be all of which shall have religious significance for the day.

A special sermon, appropriate for the occasion, shall be preached by the rector, the Reverend E. M. Caldwell. The combined choirs of the Anglican Church, Bonarlow, St. John's, Herchimer Ave., with the girls' choir of St. John's, Point Anne will render suitable music, celebrating God's gifts to man from the waters.

Newsboys Leave For Holiday at Niagara Falls

Faces aglow in anticipation of a wonderful weekend, fifty-three Ontario Intelligencer newsboys and newsgirls left the city today for Niagara Falls where they will be the guests of the management till Sunday.

The boys and girls were picked part of a three a newspaper contingent representing beside the Ontario Intelligencer, the Kingston Whig-Standard and the Peterborough Examiner.

They were all over-joyed when the bus carrying the Kingston contingent rolled into the city, the Belleville newsboys and girls boarded a Rawson bus for Toronto, the first stop. Five were sent by private car, an overflow from the bus capacity. At Port Hope the Peterborough bus and met by the Peterborough bus and all three vehicles rolled into Toronto.

The entire party was made up of 53 newsboys and girls from Belleville, 35 from Kingston and 11 from Peterborough with the Ontario Intelligencer contingent was under the direct supervision of Circulation Manager Dick Cowan.

The party will have supper in Toronto this evening and leave immediately for Niagara Falls where the entire "Uncle Tom's Cabins" motel has been reserved for them.

The boys and girls will return to their respective cities on Sunday.

Two Picton Men Hired a Taxi, Had No Money

It may not have seemed such a bad idea at the time but two Picton men who Thursday evening hired a taxi to take them to the Prince Edward county seat and then had no money at the end of fare, will have all next week to consider the matter.

The two men appeared in court today on drunk charges and on their plea of guilty were sentenced to eight days in jail.

The local Checker Taxi reported the men had hired a car to take them to Picton and then were unable to pay their fare.

Two out-of-town men appeared on charges of vagrancy both pleading guilty. Sentence was held his release, while the other who had been unable to pay for a 75-cent meal at a local restaurant, was sent to jail for four days.

Announcement of the funeral which will take place at Bonarlow is made in this edition.

MRS. FLOSSIE MacDONALD (Point Anne)

Mrs. Flossie MacDonald, wife of Mr. Manson MacDonald, died at her home in Point Anne early Friday morning. She was in failing health for some time.

Born Mrs. MacDonald, who was in her 52nd year, was born at Consecon, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly. The greater part of her life was passed in the Point Anne district. She was a member of St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Point Anne.

Surviving her are her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Gordon (Elsie) Casselman, 6 R.D. Trenton; two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Thompson, Belleville and Mrs. W. C. MacDonald, Brockville.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, until Saturday morning, then at her late residence in Point Anne; the funeral announcement is made in this edition.

Police Blotter

Theft of a small mantel radio from the apartment of Mr. H. Boothby, 202 Front Street was reported to city police today. The theft was discovered when it was taken from the apartment during the absence of the family, which believed to have been made with the use of a skeleton key.

John Bunnett, Bonarlow, last night reported the theft of his motorcar from where it was parked on the post office. The car was recovered this morning where it had been abandoned on Everett Street.

Community Chest Workers Hear Spirited Talk

Ernest Maltury, Field Supervisor of the Child Welfare Branch, Provincial Department of Welfare, addressed nearly 100 workers who gathered in Bridge Street United Church last night to receive last minute instructions as they prepared for the city-wide canvass of the 3 in 1 Red Feather appeal of the Belleville and District Community Chests in which the Children's Aid Society, the Victorian Order of Nurses and the Y.M.C.A. are the participating members. He urged the workers to insure that the light of happiness be kept in the district by a successful conclusion of the Campaign which is a week hence to obtain the total objective of $18,000.00.

Other speakers included, John W. Deacon, president of the Y.M.C.A., T. D. Ruston, president of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Charles L. Hyde president of the Children's Aid Society. Each of them explained the indispensable below-cost services of the organization represented. J. C. Anderson also appealed to the workers to do their best in the campaign now in progress. Mrs. Herbert McCabe was the unanimous choice of the meeting to direct the workers' division, J. K. Shortt gave sound advice to the workers and explained the use of the materials with which each of the city is supplied.

It was made known that the three participating agencies obtain a large share of their finances by minimum charges which each made for the services they each receive rendered day and night under all circumstances throughout the year. Such fees helped to retain the self-respect and develop the character of the individual who felt some share in paying his way. However, whether or not a fee is paid these agencies strive without ceasing to make healthier, happier citizens.

Because these services represent expenditures far greater in amount than received in fees and charges to the amount of $18,000.00 the Red Feather appeal is made to understanding citizens to wipe out this deficit and enable the organization to balance its budget without the necessity of approaching the community at any of these important services.

H. W. Ackerman is the chairman of the Chest presided.

IN MEMORIAM

SEMARK—In loving memory of Mrs. Annie Semark who passed away Oct. 14, 1945, also Mr. Charles Semark who died October 22, 1947.
Always remembered by Mrs. L. Fry and the girls.
Love's greatest gift—remembrance.

SEMARK — In loving memory of my mother, Annie Semark, who passed away October 14, 1945.
No one knows how much I miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
I have suffered since you left me,
Left me here to bear the blame,
In my heart your memory lingers,
Sweet memories I will keep,
There is not a day dear mother
That I do not think of you.
Ever remembered by your son Allen.
O14

SEMARK — In loving memory of my dear mother Annie Semark, who passed away three years ago Oct. 14th, 1946.
Please God forgive a silent tear,
What we miss and long for mother
We can't say
There are others, yes, I know
But what we miss and I loved her so.
Three years ago I had to part
With the dearest loved with all my heart
The world's so deep it will not heal
Only those who have lost know how I feel.
A kind mother, kind and true,
No one on earth will I miss you,
Sadly missed and deeply remembered by her daughter Rose, son-in-law and grandchildren.
O14

SEMARK — In loving memory of a dear mother Annie Semark who passed away October 14th, 1946, and Charles Semark who passed away October 22nd, 1947.
Those who we love go out of sight
But not out of mind
They are cherished in the hearts
They left behind
Lovingly remembered by son Jack and family.
O14

SEMARK — In loving memory of a dear mother and father, Annie Semark, who passed away October 14th, 1946, and Charles Semark who passed away October 22nd, 1947.
Memories are golden, rest in sleep,
We loved you dearly and always will keep.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Oct. 14—(CP)—Industrials weakened for the first time in four sessions on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. A slightly easier tone appeared in market leaders, following recent strong gains that have carried the average price level to the highest point in three years.

Golds and Base Metals moved narrowly on a slightly firmer tone and Western Oils steadied from early weakness.

Volume for the first four hours, was 856,000 shares, about 121,000 shares less than Thursday's similar period.

Slight selling appeared at the close in Industrials, Thursday and continued slowly today. Papers showed fractional losses and agriculturals and textiles also eased. Steels and Utilities were higher. Most losses were in key issues.

A handful of junior golds turned briskly for some slight gains. Upper Canada Mines, a feature in recent sessions, spurted upwards for a 15-cent gain at $3.85. Hudson Bay and Quemont were fractionally higher in base metals.

Western oils opened lower but mid-session support recovered the losses and pulled Calgary and Edmonton up to a new high at $7.

Toronto, Oct. 14 (CP)—Produce prices quoted on the spot market this morning follow: churning cream, No. 1, 60 cents fob, 64 delivered.

Butter prices were unquoted.

The egg market had a slightly firmer tone this morning, particularly grade A large. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: grade A large 63, a medium 53-54; A pullet 41-42; grade B 53; grade C 33-36. Wholesale to retail: grade A large 68-69; A medium 57-58; A pullet 45; grade B 55-56; grade C 40-41.

HOGS

Toronto, Oct. 14 (CP)—Hog prices were quoted only to truckers at Stratford today. Grade A brought $28.56.

Prices at Hull, Quebec, dropped 25 cents to $28.75 for grade A dressed hogs.

BELL TELEPHONE

Costly Equipment

During the past four years, there has been a 57 per cent increase in the number of telephones in service in Belleville, and the number of local calls per day has risen 96 per cent, G. W. Proctor, Bell Telephone manager here, said today in revealing the record-breaking public demand for service which has required the addition of specially-made and costly equipment. "Long distance calls originating here have increased by nearly 70 per cent in the same period," he said.

There are now more than 7,400 telephones in use in Belleville as compared with some 4,700 four years ago. Local calls average 34,700 per day against 25,200, and long distance calls have reached a daily average of 1,840 or 750 more than in 1945.

Facilities Enlarged

In order to meet this unprecedented demand for service, the company has continuously improved and enlarged its facilities.

Extensions were made to the local switchboard here in November-December and March 1948, and an extension to the long distance switchboard was also made in the spring of 1948. During the past four years, ten major cable and wire projects, affecting every part of the city, have been carried out in order to improve telephone service here.

Rate Comparison

	Present	Proposed	Increase
Residence
Individual line	2.85	3.50	.65
Two-party line	2.35	2.85	.50
Extension telephone	.90	1.00	.10
Business
Individual line	4.10	6.25	2.15
Two-party line	3.25	4.25	1.00
Extension telephone	1.15	1.25	.10
P.B.X. trunk	4.70	9.25	4.55
P.B.X. extension telephone	1.35	1.25

Until hand telephones are available in quantity sufficient to supply all who desire them subscribers who presently have wall telephones will temporarily pay 35 cents less, and those having desk telephones 18 cents less, per month.

Long Distance Rates.

It is proposed to increase the initial period charge for long distance calls by 5, 10 or 15 cents, and slightly increase the revolving end on whether station-to-station or person-to-person service is requested. Some person-to-person, night and Sunday calls would be increased by 10 or 25 cents. There are no increases for station-to-station calls between centres less than ten miles apart.

NORONIC GUARD

"Yes, I figured I would have an hour and a quarter before going on duty."

Worked Two Shifts

Brown said he should have been on duty from 12.20 A. M. until 8.20 A. M. He also worked a day shift — from 11.30 A. M. to 3.30 P. M.

The witness said the ship's master, Capt. William Taylor, gave him special instructions about fires. He told of being asked to check the fire alarm stations and of once finding a hammer missing. On another occasion he found a nozzle missing from a fire hydrant.

Brown said he was instructed to report any absences at fire drills. At Duluth in 1948, he said he had seen the first officer pull three bells from their banks after they had failed to appear at a drill.

The witness said he had been about 1 a.m. On post-season cruises it was 3:30 a.m.

The witness said that normally he was roused to report for his night tour of duty by the Noronic's other special officer.

"It was the first time in my six years on the ships that this had ever happened," Brown said referring to not having wakened in time to report for duty.

Awakened by voice

He said he was roused from sleep by the sound of a woman's voice asking "which way will I go." I put on my uniform and ran out as quickly as I could.

"... When I reached C deck I saw three men at the after doors with a hose. There was another hose no one was using and I picked it up. Then I saw a woman at the window of stateroom 467."

Brown said he dropped the hose, pulled the shutter from the window and helped the woman through. She told him another woman was in the cabin and he played a hose into the flaming ".. A passenger came along and I told him: 'there's a woman in there.' He said, 'there's people in a lot of rooms' and he went on forward."

Later two crew members helped him rescue the woman while he played a hose into theflaming stateroom.

"I took the woman back to the entrance to the crew's stairway and left her there 'On-shore' deck. She was alive, but lived only two hours after they got her off ship."

The witness said he had to kick open the door to the crew's stairway on his way to C deck. It had jammed.

Saw Captain With Hose

Brown said he saw Capt. Taylor and two crew members with a hose.

"He (the captain) was there all the time and he told me 'smash in these other windows'." At another stage when he was near the captain, the witness said the fire was like "a furnace".

He said he had the impression of hearing the klaxon alarm amid the "commotion and din" he heard on leaving his quarters after he awakened.

Brown said he waited until there was "no sign of life" aboard before abandoning ship. When he left, the captain and another crew member were still on board.

He had "no idea" at the time of the loss of life. From where he had been working, he was unable to see scenes such as "people jumping from the ship and "things like that". He thought all persons aboard had got off safely.

Brown said there was a carton for refuse in the linen closet on the port side of C deck where previous witnesses testified to having located the fire.

He said contents of ash trays were not dumped into cartons but were put into metal containers which were emptied overboard.

The witness told Mr. Justice H. L. Kellock, the commissioner, he could not be sure whether he had looked inside cabin 463 after rescuing women from 467.

The commissioner, noting that a Mrs. Buckley who occupied 463 was listed as missing, asked:

"Was your primary consideration in playing the hose into those cabins keeping the inside walls wet and the fire from spreading rather than try to enter and get those people out?"

"It never entered my mind that there were people in ther."

The fact was he found this woman in 467 didn't change your mind?

"No."

Thrown Overboard

Brown told C.S.L. counsel Frank Wilkinson this ordinarily refuse was thrown overboard. This could not be done in port when the practice was to carry it to D deck.

Asked why he should suggest, then that there was refuse in the linen closet, Brown said:

"Well, there would be what the maids collected on their last round of the rooms." This would be about 7:30 p.m. The porters were supposed to remove this refuse to D deck and if they were doing their duty there should not have been refuse in the linen closet, he said.

As a disciplinarian, the Noronic's master was "very strict" Brown said. He described the efficiency of the ship's crew in 1949 better than in other years.

STONE CRASHES WINDOW OF TRAIN, WOMAN HURT

Toronto, Oct. 14 — (CP) — Mrs. Gordon Henrich of Kitchener was the victim of an odd and painful accident Wednesday night. A stone, about the size of an egg was thrown through the window of the train in which she was sitting as it stopped at a west-end station here and splinters of glass were showered on her face.

She continued her journey after being given medical attention.

RED FEATHER APPEAL

Your community is that part of the world with which you are in closest contact, the place that influences you most and over which you yourself have most influence.

And the Community Chest is an effective agency which is at work today. Many centres have these drives to organize and weld socially and financially the efforts of the people interested in civic welfare and progress.

The appeal of the Community Chest of Belleville and District is being heard by every citizen and has gone out on behalf of the three participating agencies, the Children's Aid Society, the Victorian Order of Nurses and the Young Men's Christian Association.

These organizations are approximately seventy-five per cent self-supporting deriving funds from minimum fees charged for the indispensable services they are rendering night and day in all circumstances throughout the year. Whether or not a fee is paid these agencies work without ceasing to make happier, healthier citizens and to make the community a better place in which to live.

The organization of the Red Feather 3-in-1 appeal has been adopted for efficiency of operation, economy of administration and for the time-saving of the hundreds of volunteer canvassers and thousands of generous contributors and for the opportunity it affords many hundreds of other citizens to share in the wider field of community service.

This year's campaign for the Chest is to raise $16,000 which represents the deficit over receipts for services which must be met to carry on the minimum of services and to permit the organizations to balance their budgets.

There is no duplication of services and the program is wide.

How closely do these organizations touch the minds hearts and bodies of those who need such service and of those who feel the need of the aid?

Here is the story of the great work undertaken by these three for the sake of those who need this aid:

Study of the neglected child, the broken home and the unfortunate girl, pre-natal instruction for the sake of the mother and the child, visitation of the sick, camping, health and physical education, organized recreation and supervised play and swimming, leadership training, character and personality development, counselling and citizenship training.

Who does not see in this plan the greatest importance for the individual and for society? How much is summed up in the aims of the agencies!

Now these agencies face rising costs of operation and materials as do many services without an appreciable increase in charges. This fact makes the success of the campaign imperative.

A generous response to the canvasser's call or the sending of a donation direct to the chest headquarters in the Y.M.C.A. building is urged upon everyone.

WHEN LEAVES AND ROADS ARE WET

This season of the year is one of the most enjoyable for driving since the landscape is so attractive in its coloring and there is a sense of fulness and richness about everything.

But the fall of the leaves brings an additional reason for careful driving for the fallen leaves lie everywhere on the streets and roads and it behooves a driver of a motor vehicle to exercise the greatest caution to make sure that he has control of the car or truck for in the autumn where there is often moisture or rain to make the roads or streets slippery the addition of leaves to the hazard is great. A slower driving is advised to prevent skidding which may prove very dangerous.

Leaves themselves offer a temptation to children. Often they play in them on the lawns. That is not dangerous but when they play in them on the streets there is the possibility of accidents under certain conditions it may be that the driver may not see a child partly covered with leaves.

Caution is a golden virtue now and at all times. It can preserve life and it does assure drivers and others of security.

A man of understanding finds less difficulty in submitting to a wrong-headed fellow than in attempting to set him right.—Rochefoucauld.

We affect to laugh at the folly of those who put faith in nostrums, but are willing to try ourselves whether there is any truth in them.—Hazlitt.

OCTOBER AND THE ARTISTS

I'm glad I'm not an artist when October tints the trees,
To be saddened by the glory all around him that he sees.
It must set the heart to aching when the bumbleo woodland patch shines with gold and scarlet splendor which his skill can never match.

October must be trying to the artist as he views
So much of perfect beauty which he knows his brush must lose.
It must set the mind to brooding to see charm you cannot catch
And have pictures all around you which your skill can never match.

The artist is a lover, with a furious desire
The exquisite touch of nature for his canvas to acquire.
Since I know the ache of failure, and what hopeless yearning means,
I am glad I'm not an artist when October paints the scenes.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By Billy Rose

A little before nine, the phone rang.

"Gloria Falls calling Dr. Van Kyck," said the operator.

"Speaking."

Then was the usual click and go-ahead-please, and then: "This is Dr. Haydon at the Gloria Falls" hospital. A boy was brought in a little while ago with a bullet in his chest. He's hemorrhaging badly and the pulse is pretty weak."

"I'm 60 miles from Gloria Falls," said Dr. Van Kyck. "Have you tried Dr. Mercer at Wheatfall?"

"He's out of town," said Dr. Haydon. "The reason I'm calling you is that the boy happens to come from your city. He was spending the weekend with relatives here and shot himself playing with a .22."

"You say the boy's from Albany?" said Dr. Van Kyck. "What's his name?"

"Arthur Cunningham."

"Cunningham . . . well, there are a lot of Cunninghams around here. Know his father's initials?"

"Anyhow, Doctor, I'll get there as fast as I can. He's bleeding pretty badly, but I think I can make it before midnight."

"I think I ought to tell you the kid's parents are poor and there isn't much dough in a fee."

"That's all right," said Dr. Van Kyck.

A few minutes later, the surgeon's car stopped for a red light on the outskirts of Albany. A man in a brown leather jacket opened the door and climbed in.

"Drive straight ahead, mister," he said, "and don't make a fuss—I've got a gun."

"I'm a doctor," said Van Kyck, "and I'm on a call."

"Never mind the talk," said the bandit. "Drive, I tell you."

A mile out of town the man in the leather jacket ordered the doctor to stop.

"Start walking back toward Albany," he said, "and don't turn or I'll shoot."

As Dr. Van Kyck leaned forward to start the engine, the bandit's car pick up speed and, when he finally turned, the tail-light was out of sight.

It took a half hour to find a phone, and by taking a taxi, he made a taxi company to send out a cab. At the hospital he found the next train to Gloria Falls wasn't until 12:10.

It was after 2 when the surgeon reached the hospital. Dr. Haydon was waiting for him.

"I did my best," said Van Kyck, "but my car—"

"It was good of you to try," said Dr. Haydon, "but the boy died an hour ago. We couldn't stop the hemorrhaging."

As the two men walked past the waiting room, Dr. Van Kyck suddenly stopped. On one of the benches at his head in his hands, was the man in the brown leather jacket.

"Cunningham," said Dr. Haydon, "Meet Dr. Van Kyck. He came all the way from Albany to try to save your boy."

Chungking Last Outpost of Retreating Regime

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

The fortunes of the Chinese Nationalist regime seem to ebb.

The great southern seaport of Canton — nationalist capital — emergency capital of the harassed Nationalist government — has been abandoned by Chiang Kai-Shek's forces in face of the onsweeping red military machine from the north.

The Nationalists once more have left their capital to retreat to the ancient city of Chungking. This is, in a sense, the end of the line, the last outpost of the retreating regime.

Chungking is the capital which the Nationalists occupied in the early days of the Second World War.

How much longer can the Nationalists hold out in face of such misfortune? Over in Bucharest, Rumania, the Communist-dominated governments in China the "greatest defeat for world reaction and imperialism." This journal, which is the mouthpiece of the political commissars, also links all communist countries, predicts that the red victory in China will promote revolutions in India, Burma, Indonesia and other Asiatic countries.

Well, communist victory in China certainly would have tremendous effects not only in Asia but around the globe. But let's not be hasty in jumping to conclusion. What will constitute victory in China?

Must Have Co-operation

Victory means not only the smashing of the enemy military strength but the establishment of a government which really can govern. That means a government which has the co-operation of China's 500,000,000 people, for you can't handle that many folk without their co-operation.

On that basis the communists have a way to go to march before they even get a glimpse of success. What they see now is a mirage — a mirage of quick and easy victory. Seymour Topping, AP correspondent now in Hong Kong and wise in the way of the Orient, sums the thing up thus:

"To make China a communist state on the Russian pattern will require an effort that will make the accomplishments of the Soviet revolution look like small potatoes. The Chinese communists have undertaken a radical program for China. If their Agrarian Policy splinters against China's practical problems, their regime will go down, many western observers predict."

This conclusion isn't reached by devious or complicated reasoning. It is that any government in China which attempts to make quick changes in the country's economic structure will be unpopular. That so because it will be necessary to tax heavily a people already existing on a low standard of living. This must be done to finance industrialization and public works, and maintain a huge army and bureaucracy.

Personal Health Talks

AMEBIC DYSENTERY IS EVERYWHERE

In the title of this Article, I have intentionally used the term "dysentery" although the term fails far short of indicating the entire picture of the disease correctly titled "Amebiasis." I fear that a great many persons do not know that "amebic dysentery" is but one phase of the disease properly known as amebiasis, and amebiasis is a disease caused by a parasite which gains entrance to the bowel through the medium of food or drink. Many persons have the notion that the disease is confined to the tropical regions. They are surprised when they learn that it is known in the Arctic region.

The "dysentery" phase of the disease usually lasts but a few days, and is in most respects similar to any other form of diarrhea which persists over a period of days. Following this, although a temporarily known as "amebic colitis" rather than amebic dysentery may persist for years. I dislike to enumerate symptoms of disease in a health column but I seem to have incurred the necessity of outlining a few here. Vague abdominal pains, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, constant fatigue, constipation, nausea and loss of weight are a few, any person may have any or all of these symptoms and not have amebiasis! There is probably no one runs into in talking about symptoms. Too many people like to fit themselves into the picture. Anyhow, the symptoms are of practically no value in the matter of making a diagnosis. The diagnosis can be established only by demonstrating the presence of the parasite in the bowel.

Amebiasis is everywhere. While it is much more common in tropical countries, the over-all incidence of it in the United States has been estimated as high as ten percent. It is spread from person to person by lack of proper sanitation. The most culpable carrier is the "chronic" amebiasis who has the disease. An epidemic of, it occurred in Chicago which was traced to faulty plumbing.

The parasite can resist freezing and can live at least a week outside the body. Adding chlorine to water in the amounts usually used in drinking water does not dispose of the parasite. The parasite is destroyed by boiling or boiling. The parasite is commonly found in vegetables which have been exposed to or contaminated by bowel contents. Flies also act as carriers. Careless food handlers may carry the parasites on their hands and thus contaminate food.

The diagnosis of the disease can be established only by finding the parasite in microscopic examination which may have to be repeated several times before it can be considered conclusive. It is essential in this examination that the stool be examined immediately owing to the fact that the parasite soon loses form to put it largely and somewhat loosely, and in certain forms does not long survive outside the body. A simple "negative" result is of no value.

Serious complications develop if amebiasis is allowed to run on unchecked, sums the thing up thus:

"To make China a communist state on the Russian pattern will require an effort that will make the accomplishments of the Soviet revolution look like small potatoes. The Chinese communists have undertaken a radical program for China. If their Agrarian Policy splinters against China's practical problems, their regime will go down, many western observers predict."

This conclusion isn't reached by devious or complicated reasoning. It is that any government in China which attempts to make quick changes in the country's economic structure will be unpopular. That so because it will be necessary to tax heavily a people already existing on a low standard of living. This must be done to finance industrialization and public works, and maintain a huge army and bureaucracy.

in some cases. Abscess of the liver is one. These complications most often develop in persons who are subjected to constant re-infestation.

Prevention is of the great importance. The elimination of food handlers who have the disease is a monumental job. While cooking destroys the parasite, subsequent handling of the cooked food by a carrier re-creates the possibility of contamination. Needless to say, all raw food should receive the greatest possible amount of attention to insure its safety when eaten.

Although no statistics are available to estimate the value of the precautions, the use of certain iodine-containing drugs as a prophylactic appears to be based upon solid ground.

Treatment of the disease is usually effective although a low mortality rate seems persistent. The disease is a constant menace to the health of all people and rigid standards of sanitation and hygiene will be necessary to eradicate it.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Alkaline Your System?

I take vitamin B complex and vitamin D. Is it true that if I alkaline my system it will make the vitamins more effective? I take a quarter of a teaspoonful of magnesium citrate several times a day and upon going to bed. (M. L.)

Answer—No, but constant use of magnesium will favor development of the manifestations of calcium deficiency. These are described in the booklet The Calcium Story. For copy send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope.

Goose Flesh

My mother once suggested a remedy for gooseflesh, but I did not see it. (Miss W. W.)

Answer—Gooseflesh, dryness, roughness and "dirty" appearance of the skin, alligator hide, fishskin, nutmeg grater skin, the condition generally responds to an increase in the intake of vitamin A, say one 25,000-unit capsule of vitamin A after food twice a day for a month, then one a day for another month or two.

Nails Like Washboard

My nails are ridged like a washboard. (Mrs. H.)

Answer—Nutritional deficiency. Supplement your regular diet with the three minerals and three vitamins as described in pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks, mailed on request if you provide stamped self addressed envelope.

Thief Steals 48 Shoes All for Right Foot

Oneonta, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Shoe salesman M. L. Holt wondered today what the thief who stole three cases of samples from his car would do with the loot.

It included 48 shoes, all for the right foot, and $40 worth of woolen socks, none of which match.

FOUR-LEGGED FARMERS

Kvaangbotn, Norway—(CP)—A farmer in this district has developed a four-legged potato-weeder. Tired of weeding his potato patch, he purchased several reindeer and set them to do the job. The animals ate the rows nibbling chick weed, as potato plants do not appeal to reindeer's taste.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

FOUNDED UPON THE ROCK

Any reader of the New Testament who comes across Jesus' parable of building on the rock or sand and upon the rock is struck with the loneliness of the illustration. During the postwar building boom, we have seen examples of houses built upon the sand. Houses lacking skill or integrity have been hastily thrown together foundations in sandy or marshy areas, or on hasty made fills. After a year or so, their owners have been distressed to find cracked walls, sagging floors, and falling ceilings.

If this illustration is up-to-date, it is also extremely relevant to warning his hearers, of course, not about their residences, but about their lives. By the comparison He impressed on them the insecurity of lives founded on anything but upon the love, and other Christian virtues.

We all know the importance of these foundations for our homes, but we do not always realize the tragedy of lacking them. Sad indeed is the home-owner who discovers his house is improperly built. But his loss is merely financial; he may start again in a new house. His ex-wife with our lives, however. So we must lose no time in building foundations that will withstand the storms that lash when the rains descend, and the floods come, that the tempests of our lives are truly founded upon the rock.

Hospital Donors

Private rooms—Mr. Mackenzie Robertson, Belleville; Mr. Walter E. Wiggins, Bancroft; Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Adams, Deloro; Mr. and Mrs. Clarke T. Rollins, Coe Hill.

The two semi-private wards — By residents of Dungannon and Faraday township, The Children's Ward, By Bancroft Chapter No. 157 Order of The Eastern Star.

The Electrolux—The Lesaide Red Cross Branch.

At present, the hospital will be staffed by Miss Ruby Franks who is in charge, assisted by four graduate nurses and a certified nurses assistant.

Miss H. Singer, superintendent of Outpost Hospitals, has been here in Bancroft for the past two weeks arranging the hospital for this opening.

Years Of Effort

Yesterday's opening ceremonies climaxed years of effort on the part of public-spirited villagers. One-third of the cost of the hospital was derived from residents of Bancroft and the surrounding district.

Among those who worked hard, unheralded and unsung, to raise the necessary funds was Mrs. Gordon Jones who, as far back as ten years ago, wrote letters to some 150 persons across section of the district, asking for financial aid.

There is Jack Follis, who organized the showing of movies and raised money through his organization of volunteer villagers which collected and sold old iron, tires and junk.

Cpl. Stan Painsteer of the Ontario Provincial Police with band manager Jack Hahn pleaded the hospital case before the Hastings County Council and received a grant of $2,500 from that body. In turn they visited the Ontario Department of Health about a grant, and got it.

There was Miss Langman, former head of the then Red Cross Hospital who joined forces with Mrs. Jones in all kinds of weather driving a borrowed truck and gathering food donations for the hospital.

Dr. D. Rouse, village dentist, took time out and plenty of it to put his shoulder to the fund-raising wheel. Yesterday the hard working dentist glowed with justifiable pride at the opening ceremonies and he summed it up in the terse comment, "The new hospital is a credit to the Red Cross and to the whole community".

Flag Raised

Mr. Leslie G. Stringer, Ontario Red Cross Commissioner from Toronto raised the Union Jack and Red Cross flags on the newly-erected flag pole on the hospital grounds. Mrs. R. W. Blatherwick, president of the local Red Cross board, unveiled the hospital name plaque "Bancroft District Red Cross Hospital". This was followed by a dedication prayer by the Rev. C. S. Wright, rector of St. John's Anglican Church of Bancroft.

Miss Ida Brand, director of Outpost Red Cross Hospitals in Ontario of Toronto, officiated at the cutting of the ribbon which was across the main entrance of the hospital. Later those present were escorted through the new spacious and modernly-equipped hospital by students of the North Hastings High School. After the tour of inspection the guests attended an afternoon tea at St. John's Parish Hall as guests of the local Hospital Auxiliary.

Thursday evening a capacity crowd was in attendance at the Red Cross ball held in the North Hastings High School auditorium, music being supplied by the Bancroft Troubadour seven-piece band. The hostesses for the dance were Mrs. G. W. Jones, Mrs. O. W. Anderson and Mrs. R. W. Blatherwick.

Official Guests

The following guests were present at the opening: The Hon. Russell T. Kelley, Provincial Minister of Health; Leslie R. Stringer, Red Cross Commissioner; Miss I. B. Brand, director Outpost Hospital Department; Mr. Roscoe Robeson, M.P.P.; Mr. Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P.; Mr. S. McCarry, Warden of Hastings County and many prominent residents of the district.

MARMORA

Bear, Two Cubs Seen Crossing Road at Bonarlaw

Marmora.—While driving a passengur to the C.P.R. station at Bonarlaw on Tuesday, Mrs. Clara Smith, who was accompanied by her granddaughter, Margaret Ann Smith, saw a large black bear, and two cubs stop out on the road.

The car had crossed the C.N.R. track which crosses No. 14 Highway, about two miles south of the village and passed over a knoll to a place where an old road leads out to the highway. The bear and her two offspring were ambling, slowly, along this old road.

The mother was of large size and the cubs were about as large as a medium sized dog. The old bear would: stand on her hind legs and look around occasionally.

A few weeks ago, while driving to William Bonter's at Crowe Lake, Mrs. Smith saw a large wolf leisurely cross the road.

Board Listens To Father on Son's Case

Stratford, Oct. 14 — (CP) — The Board of Education Thursday night discussed the case of John Boyden, 13-year-old collegiate student who is alleged to have been forced to take army cadet exercises with a cast on his leg, but after hearing the father it laid over the whole matter for further investigation.

The student was said to have broken the cast during push-ups and to have required further hospital treatment.

A. W. Boyden, father of the youth, told the board he was preferring no charges, and "All I want is this man brought up and told not to do it again." He referred to the sergeant - major - instructor involved in the case, and who was called from Walkerton to Stratford to be questioned by army officers from London.

WEDDINGS

MOSHER—MEAGHER

Attractively decorated with pink and white gladioli, Church of the Holy Name of Mary, Marysville, was the scene of a pretty Autumn wedding on Saturday, October 8, when Mary Margaret Meagher, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Meagher, became the bride of Patrick Joseph Mosher, B.A., Windsor, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Mosher of Lakefield, Ont.

The Rev. I. J. Donoghue, P.P., officiated and the acolytes were Bernard and Joseph McCann bridge.

The wedding music was provided by Mr. William Hanley, of Read, who was also the soloist and sang during the Nuptial Mass "On This Day", "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was a picture of loveliness in her wedding gown of imported French lace, over bridal satin which was fashioned with high neckline of illusion marquisette, and outlined with scalloped detail; a tightly fitted bodice buttoned down the back, bouffant skirt with bridal satin, joined by a scalloped line to lace at the skirt front, and tapering to a wide border on the full length fan shaped train which was fashioned from the long waistline, the long sleeves ending in lily points at the wrist. Her fingertip veil of imported French tulle illusion with scattered satin bow knots fell from a halo headdress of satin and tulle with clusters of orange blossoms at either side. She carried a pearl rosary, the gift of the groom and her shower bouquet was of deep red Butterfly roses.

Miss Joan Lollar, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Theresa Moher, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, dressed in similar gowns of yellow and orchid faille taffeta with matching bonnets. They carried nosegays of Sweetheart roses and mauve and yellow mums.

Mr. John Meaghar, brother of the bride, was groomsman, and Mr. John Moher and Mr. Francis Fowler acted as ushers.

The wedding dinner for about fifty guests was held at the Hotel Quinte, Belleville. The bride's mother received in a two-piece street length dress of navy blue crepe with pink accents and navy accessories, and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who also wore a two-piece gown of navy blue taffeta and corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

For a wedding trip to Ottawa, Quebec, and the Laurentians, the bride chose as her travelling costume, a navy and English glen-plaid dressmaker suit, mus-rat coat with brown accessories and corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Mosher will take up residence in Windsor, where the groom is a member of the High School teaching staff at Assumption College.

Guests were present from Toronto, Peterborough, Linwood, Belleville, and Kingston.

MUMBY—YOUNG

Marmora. — A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's parsonage, at 4 p.m., on Saturday October 8, when Blanche Keitha Young, second daughter of Mrs. George L. Young, of Marmora Township, and the late George Young, was united in marriage to Harry Mumby, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mumby, of Campbellford. The Rev. G. D. Young officiated.

The bride wore a blue gabardine suit with grey accessories, and was attended by her sister, Bernice, as bridesmaid, who wore a grey suit with black accessories.

Following a trip to Kingston, Ottawa, and Ogdensburg, Mr. and Mrs. Mumby will reside on his farm in Rawdon Township.

Miss P. Hamilton Entertains in Honor Of Niece's Birthday

Mountain View—Miss Pearl Hamilton, Reg. N., entertained at a dinner party on Sunday evening in honor of her niece, Elizabeth Pearl Hamilton, of Belleville, on her fifth birthday.

Other guests besides her parents were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Denyes, of Smithfield and Mr. William Hamilton and Kenneth, of Napanee.

C.W.L. IN SESSION

Brideat11,Now70 Gives Advice To Couples

St. Petersburg, Fla., Oct. 14. (AP)—A bride at 11, a mother of nine at 23, and a grandmother 30.

That's the story of Mrs. Olive Litz Mails. Now at 70 she has this advice for married couples.

Don't run home to mama everytime something goes wrong, shoulder your own burdens, and forgive and forget.

Mrs. Mailtz and her first husband met at a party and married three days later. He was 31—her senior by 20 years. The marriage lasted 53 years—until his death.

Four years ago, she married again.

Christ Church A.Y.P.A. Entertains Jr. Group And New Members

The Senior A.Y.P.A. of Christ Church entertained new members and the junior group at their fellowship meeting on Wednesday evening.

Gay decorations, novelty dances, and refreshments all helped to make the evening s very gals occasion. Jean Lambe and Doug Tufford, convened the evening's entertainment, ably assisted by Gwen Rundle and James Wright.

During the serving of refreshments, President Jean Greene, welcomed all new members to the A.Y.P.A. and cordially invited all the Young People to the Corporate Communion and breakfast at 8:00 a.m., and the dessert supper at 5:00 p.m. to be held at Christ Church Parish Hall on Youth Sunday, Oct. 16.

C.W.L. Entertains At Annual Tea and Graduation Dance

Following the graduation exercises on Friday afternoon last, in St. Michaels auditorium, the Catholic Women's League, under the convenership of Mrs. T. Morrell and Mrs. J. Lucy, entertained the graduates, their parents and friends at afternoon tea.

The tea table, presided over by Mrs. H. O'Neil, was centred with a beautiful bouquet of varicolored asters and fern. These were flanked by green and white tapers (the school colors) in triple candelabra.

Mesdames Byrne, W. Grant, R. Flynn and W. Doyle replenished the tea table. A number of high school girls served.

The affair proved to be a delightful one and those present expressed their thanks to Mrs. K. Doyle, president of the C.W.L.

On Friday evening, the League again entertained the graduates at a formal dance in Tobe's Country Gardens which was pretty decorated for the occasion with large baskets of Autumn flowers, leaves and ferns.

In the receiving line were Mrs. K. Doyle, president of C.W.L., and Mesdames Lucy, Morrell, Finkle, and Flurey, conveners. Mr. J. Mosher, and Mr. Bushall were in charge of admission and the guests were presented with programs by Messrs. E. Finkle and Molloy.

The many beautifully gowned young ladies and escorts danced gaily to the smooth rhythm of Bill Arnold's orchestra. Of interest to all were the spot dances which were won by Miss C. Purhan and Mr. Jim Cox; Mr. W. Doyle and partner, Mrs. Ernest Cowan; Miss D. Jones and Mr. Larry Knox. The prizes were given out by Mr. E. Finkle and Mr. T. Flurey.

At midnight, refreshing beverages were served by Messrs. H. O'Neil, W. Foley and Molloy and after which another hour of dancing was enjoyed.

After the home waltz, the happy guests wended their way to the cloakroom in charge of Mr. Byrne and Douglas Foley, bringing to an end another C.W.L. annual graduation dance.

FOUND DAVID'S GROAT

Connail, Argyllshire, Scotland —(C)—Dr. D. M. Connan found a coin which has been identified by experts as a groat of the reign of David II, 1329 to 1371. The coin was presented to Oban Museum.

G.I.A. Holds Afternoon Tea, Homecooking Sale

A pretty Autumn tea and sale of homecooking was held under the auspices of G.I.A., in the home of Mrs. A. W. Buck, 223 Albert Street, on Wednesday afternoon. The home was beautifully decorated with dahlias, 'mums, and snapdragons.

The tea table was daintily appointed with its centre of red salvia and silver. Mrs. J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. E. Taylor, Mrs. R.J. Orne, Mrs. D. Fisher, Mrs. R. Muirhead, and Mrs. W. T. Hammett presided at the tea table. They were assisted by Mrs. A. Clarke, Mrs. H. C. Batchelor, Mrs. H. Brown, Mrs. M. Boyds, Mrs. W. Hart, Mrs. A. Bigonaise, Mrs. A. Vanstone, Mrs. E. Jerome, Mrs. C. Fisher, Mrs. E. Pigden.

At the home-cooking table the conveners were Mrs. W. G. McGee, and Mrs. N. Robb.

The President, Mrs. L. Grey, received with the hostess, Mrs. A. W. Buck and Mrs. George Wilson invited guests in tea room. Mrs. W. Morgan was treasurer.

Miss Joan Lollar, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Theresa Moher, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, dressed in similar gowns of yellow and orchid faille taffeta with matching bonnets. They carried nosegays of Sweetheart roses and mauve and yellow mums.

"I KNOW THE SECRET OF REORGANIZATION AND YOU'LL KNOW SOON"

5 Anniversaries To be Celebrated On Same Day

Picton, Oct. 14—Tomorrow is a day of anniversaries for the Turpin family. Mr. and Mrs. William Turpin will be marking their Golden Wedding, their daughter, Mrs. Andrew Williams, a grandson, Herbert Franklin and a great grandson, Alex Downey, all of Toronto, will celebrate their birthdays, while a son, Augustus, and Mrs. Turpin, Picton, will mark their eleventh wedding anniversary. All members of the family will be together here for the weekend to mark the five anniversaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Turpin were born in England, coming to Canada 40 years ago. Most of their lives have been spent in Picton. He is at present confined to bed and Mrs. Turpin is in good health. They are members of the Anglican Church. They have a family of six, Augustus of Picton, Thomas Ottawa, Mrs. Harold Franklin and Mrs. Andrew Williams, Toronto, Mrs. Leonard MacDonald and Mrs. William Norton, Picton. There are 12 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Plenty of Ducks

A record number of hunters is expected to set marksmen shivering with flame and thunder tomorrow morning as the duck hunting season opens. Seldom have so many ducks been seen on the lakes and bays. Hunters believe that there was a record hatch of young, and that birds are more congested as many marshes are dry. Patridge hunting has been good this week. Many local hunters went to North Hastings but some who remained in Prince Edward got as many birds. Heavy foliage on trees is said to have spoiled many shots.

Due to the increasing amount of work connected with the Prince Edward Children's Aid Society, the staff has been increased, duties whist Audith continues as superintendent. Miss Clara Lang, who has completed a refresher course at Toronto University, will be assistant, and Mrs. R. D. Byers is the new secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Kerr have returned from a 7,000-mile motor trip during which they visited his brothers and sisters in Wilmot, Ontario, through the southwestern States as far as Las Vegas, Nevada. They visited Salt Lake City, Boulder Dam and the Grand Canyon.

Says U.S. Working On Plan to Raise Price of Gold

Washington, Oct. 14—(AP)—Representative John Taber (Rep. N.Y.) said today he has heard that the Truman administration is working on a scheme to increase the price of gold and devalue the dollar."

He didn't say, in a prepared statement, where he obtained his information, but said that was his "understanding."

The Truman program," Taber said, "calls for so many more expenditures that our deficit for the current fiscal year is bound to be $5,500,000,000."

The effect of a devaluation program, he continued, would be to "help create inflation, increase the poor man's taxes and reduce his purchasing power" and "make us suckers for the foreign gold producers."

Three P.E. Areas Have Been Closed To Duck Hunters

Closing of three district areas in the Prince Edward county district for the hunting of migratory birds was announced today by Federal and Provincial authorities.

In each of the three areas authorities had discovered baiting activities. The areas will be posted with signs and will be closed for hunting for the entire season.

Areas closed for hunting include the marsh running from No. 14 Highway southeast to the north side of Hoffs Island; the Bloomfield marsh on the road leading from Bloomfield to West Lake, and the waterfront on the north side of West Lake from Wellington to one mile east of Wellington.

Officials stated that in each of the above three areas grain had been found scattered to attract the birds.

TELEPHONING BURGLAR

Kitchener, Oct. 14 (CP)—A burglar who always telephones in advance is at work here. Several victims of break-ins have reported to police that they were telephoned numerous times days before the robbery. The caller would hang up when the phone was answered. Then one night when they were out, their homes were robbed. Police say the burglars used the telephone calls to find out if their potential victims were home.

Every year rats cause $11,000 damage in the metropolitan Toronto area.

"Hams" Transmit Personal Messages For Visitors at Match

Brantford, Oct. 14. (CP)—Members of the Brantford Amateur Radio Club have provided an unique service at the International Plowing Match. Free of charge, they are transmitting personal messages for visitors at the big agricultural event.

Since the match opened on Tuesday, the enthusiastic "ham" operators here delivered greetings to persons in Holland, British Columbia, Scotland and British Columbia.

MOCH CHOSEN PREMIER

Paris, Oct. 14. (AP)—The National Assembly early today approved Socialist Jules Moch as the next premier of France by the narrow margin of 309 votes.

An official announcement said 311 votes were cast in Moch's favor and 223 against. He needed a bare minimum of 310 votes.

The 620-seat Assembly was recessed to 619 by the resignation of one deputy Thursday making 310 instead of 311 the minimum necessary for approval.

The announcement of the tally came after almost three hours of turmoil occasioned by the protest of an absentee vote. Moch's margin was the lowest vote of approval given by the Assembly to an incoming premier in post-war France.

Two Batchelors Found Slain On Their Farm

North Battleford, Sask., Oct. 14 (CP)—Apparently victims of a double axe-slaying, the bodies of two aged bachelors were discovered Thursday on their farm in the St. Walburg district, some 70 miles southwest of here.

All available Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers launched a manhunt after passersby discovered the bodies of Sam Jones and James Bailey, both about 65.

Police were reported to be seeking a 30-year-old man who had lived near the victims for about 20 years. A boundary feud was hinted as a possible motive.

Farmer Saves Life By Pushing Stumps Of Legs into Fire

Olustee, Okla., Oct. 14—(AP)—A farmer was alive today because, his doctor said, he had the courage to push his bleeding and amputated legs into a fire.

C. B. Hughes, 32, lost both legs Thursday when he tried to free his arm pinned in a hay binder.

He attracted his wife's attention Thursday night as "fair", fire to a bale of hay.

Doctors described his condition Thursday night as "fair". They said his arm will be amputated later.

Hughes' wife said he pushed his legs — severed below the knees—into the flame to stop their bleeding and relieve the pain.

Marquess, Fiancee Leave for New York

London, Oct. 14. (AP)—The dashing Marquess of Milford Haven left for New York today with Mrs. Romaine Simpson, American divorcee whom he plans to wed in Washington next month.

The 30-year-old peer, a cousin of the King, took his fiancee aboard a boat train for Southampton to embark on the liner Queen Elizabeth.

Mrs. Simpson, who is 38, self-consciously flashed her engagement ring for reporters and photographers and said, "I am wearing it for the first time—we only bought it yesterday."

It is a large ruby, circled by 20 diamonds, in a gold mounting.

Chas. A. Maguire, Former Mayor Of Toronto, Dies

Toronto, Oct. 14 (CP)—Charles Alfred Maguire, 74, former mayor of Toronto, died suddenly here today.

He was a past president of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association and former chairman of the Toronto Hydro Commission.

Entering city council as an alderman in 1909 he was a member of Board of Control from 1917 to 1921, and served as mayor of Toronto in 1922 and 1923. He had not been active in recent years.

Mr. Maguire was confined to hospital some weeks ago after breaking his hip in a fall, but later was removed to his home, and was considered to be recovering when he suffered a heart attack and died suddenly.

Moviedom Wars On Crime Element In Hollywood

Hollywood, Oct. 14 (AP)—The United States motion picture industry has declared war on criminal elements in the film capital. And it is planned to steer newcomers to the movies on a straight moral course.

The recently-formed Motion Picture Industry Council, comprising nine major Hollywood guilds, labor and management groups representing some 33,000 individuals, announced the new program today.

The council adopted a resolution asserting "the Hollywood area long has been made a special target of extortionists, shakedown artists and other criminal elements who seek to entrap, and prey upon, the unwary and the unwise."

While it said the Hollywood crime rate is "considerably lower than in comparable communities elsewhere," it added this is "insufficient" and promised its cooperation to all law enforcement agencies "to further reduce or completely eliminate this source of notoriety, disrepute and public jeopardy."

KILLED INSTANTLY

Brantford, Oct. 14 — (CP)— Frank Casey, 26, of nearby Echo Place, was killed almost instantly early today when struck by a car as he crossed the street near his home.

Police said the car was driven by George Depalmo, 38, of Brantford.

Casey's wrist watch was found in the gutter about 50 feet from where he was struck. It was badly smashed and the workings could not be found.

Boy of Ten Hero, Saves Child From Strangling

Toronto, Oct. 14 (CP)—Bobby Paxton, 10, is something of a hero, but it took him all day to prove it to his parents. Nobody paid much attention when the lad babbled at the supper table about saving a little boy's life Tuesday, and it wasn't until Thursday his parents found he had saved two-year-old Jimmy Brown child got him loose and called a doctor. It was a narrow escape; the doctor said, a few more seconds and . . .

HOUSE IS ROBBED WHILE ATTENDING FUNERAL

Whitby, Oct. 14—(CP)—While Lillian Fine attended a funeral of a relative here Thursday, her home was broken into and robbed of $100 in cash, clothing and jewelry. The room of Lillian Garfield, who lives in the same house, was robbed of $70 in cash and clothing.

AMATEUR RADIO OPERATORS WILL MAKE TEST

Toronto, Oct. 14 — (CP) — Fifteen amateur radio operators here will test, during the week-end, service they would give if all other communications systems in the area failed in times of emergency. The local men will work with amateurs in other Canadian cities and with Red Cross divisions across Canada.

500 Liberal Delegates Settle Down to Business

Montreal, Oct. 14 — (CP) — More than 500 Young Liberal Federation of Canada delegates settled down to business here today after being warned not to rest on laurels of past successes.

The delegates, representing 10 provinces, are attending the Federation's third biennial convention.

At the first general session Wednesday, delegates were told that the Liberal party in all the provinces needs "renovation."

J. O. Asselin, chairman of Montreal's executive committee, said "The strength and solidarity of the Liberal party in the Maritime provinces and the newfound evidence of Liberal strength in Newfoundland provides grounds for understandable gratification."

The Liberal party in Quebec, however, must make important decisions "with respect to its future organization and other matters."

"What is true of Quebec is also true of Ontario and no less is it true in other parts of Canada," he added.

The 15,000-member Federation established in Winnipeg five years ago to replace the 20th Century Liberal Club, co-ordinates the activities of all Young Liberal Associations, clubs and other bodies across the Dominion.

Two Men Slain, Five Wounded In Poker Game

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 14 (AP) — Two men were slain and five others were wounded, one severely, early Thursday when two gunmen attempted to hold up a poker game in a downtown cigar store.

The gunmen fled after firing more than a score of shots at the 10 men who, Police Chief Harry Nelson said, were playing cards in the rear of the store. Later one of the gunmen, wounded in the hail of bullets, was captured and removed to a hospital.

Nelson identified the dead men as Theodore Raines, 43, a Muncie restaurant owner, and Dewey Wills, 54, an unemployed laborer.

Nelson identified the captured gunman as George E. Gratzer, 27.

Nelson said Ralph Frazier, owner of the cigar store, was severely wounded from a bullet in the stomach. The others wounded in the shooting were Glen Castle, a machinist, Tom Cook, and John Stewart.

Crops Throughout Ontario Good Says Report

Toronto, Oct. 14—(CP)—Crops throughout most sections of Ontario were good as harvesting and fall plowing operations continued this week, the Ontario Agriculture Department's crop report said Thursday.

In northern sections of the province, however, the general yield was down although the weather during the past week was ideal for harvesting.

In southwestern counties, the apple harvest is well under way with excellent quality reported. Late showers benefitted wheat crops in Halton county and the soil there now is in good condition for plowing.

Field work in many sections of southern Ontario, notably Haldiman and Oxford counties, is being held up by wet weather. Planting of fall wheat continued this week and was completed by some Lambton farmers.

The apple crop is of record proportions but growers report poor demand.

Warm weather in Central Ontario has advanced the growth of fall wheat and has given winter wheat an excellent boost.

Warm weather this week was excellent for crops throughout most of eastern section of the province. Fall plowing is continuing and some fall wheat still is being planted in Lennox and Addington counties.

Improved pastures have benefitted cattle and improved the production of milk. In Renfrew, more rain is needed to fill wells and creeks.

Crops in northern counties are not as good as in other sections of the province. Pastures in Temiskaming are reported poor and the root crop harvest there is small.

Conditions in other northern counties, however, are not quite so bad and recent good weather has improved crops. Cochrane West farmers still are harvesting and threshing.

FOREST WEALTH

Rev. Dan McIvor (L—Fort William) said there has been a "free discussion" around the lakehead in recent months on the ravages caused to the forests by the spruce budworm. He expressed hope that an experimental station would be established in the area to help combat the insects.

Resolution Adopted

The discussion occurred on a resolution to a bill enabling the government to establish national experimental areas and enter into agreements with the provinces on protection and development of forest lands. The resolution was adopted and the bill was introduced and given first reading.

Resources Minister Gibson said the government does not intend in any way to invade the jurisdiction of the provinces, to whom it turned over the natural resources in 1930. Purpose of the Bill, he said, is to help in a constructive forestry program by "close cooperation and agreement with the provinces."

The legislation was praised by most members, but Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) said the measure contemplated setting up "just a small research area to spend government money for the benefit of those who are exploiting the forest, for profit."

He also criticized export of unfinished wood products and said "we should process our own wood and thereby create industry." In the Maritimes, perhaps 80 per cent of pulpwood output went to the United States to be processed and returned as finished goods.

Other speakers included Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel), acting Progressive Conservative leader, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, G. W. Fraser, (PC—Peterborough West); Gordon Higgins (PC—St. John's East), and H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West).

Started Too Late

Mr. Graydon said he hoped the bill would serve to "bring to an end some of the wastage that is so apparent in this great national heritage." If any criticism could be offered to the legislation it was "that we have started a little too late in dealing with one of Canada's greatest assets."

Mr. Fraser said the government was 30 to 50 years too late in bringing down the legislation.

Mr. Low said the bill "begins a new era in the preservation of our rich natural resources." Joint Dominion-Provincial Board of Reforestation of the eastern slope of the Rockies probably would set a national pattern for carrying out provisions of the measure.

Mr. Herridge said the government's program should prevent undue exploitation of forests and see to it that waste products were utilized. Dr. Gauthier suggested that an organization be established to gather up the waste products for charitable institutions which could distribute them to the poor.

Mr. Higgins said he approved of the bill, which should be of great value in bringing down the production cost of newsprint, Newfoundland's greatest export. He asked that a forestry research bureau be established in Newfoundland, in view of the comparative value of its forest industry, which had brought $40,000,000 a year into the Canadian economy.

WEST HUNTINGDON

Presentations and Farewell Tendered Departing Neighbors

West Huntingdon—Mr. and Mrs. German Wright have taken up residence in their new home in Belleville and on Tuesday evening friends and neighbors gathered for a farewell party in their honor. The event was also held in honor of their son's recent marriage and to welcome to the community his bride. The Reverend W. H. Walker was chairman for the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Walker led in the community singing and Miss Shirley Pounder contributed two duets. Mrs. John Wallace gave a reading. Short addresses were also given by Mr. Jack Gay and Mr. Vincent Farrell.

Mrs. Robert Gay read the address and Mr. and Mrs. German Wright were presented with a Kenwood blanket and sheets.

Mr. Barton Haggerty read the address for the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright who were also presented with Kenwood blankets and sheets. All graciously thanked the donors for their kind thoughtfulness and gifts.

Little Barbara Wright's school chums also remembered her by presenting her with a couple of handsome pictures and the community also by giving her a pen.

ROSLIN

Little Friends Honor 7th Birthday of Hazel Slingerland With Gifts

Roslin.—A delightful party was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Slingerland in honor of the seventh birthday of their daughter, Hazel.

Fifteen little playmates played many games and contests. Little Margaret Bates and Richard Emerson were winners of the bottle and pig contest which caused much fun.

A fine o'clock the guests entered the dining room which was decorated with balloons and bowls of fruit and candles.

Misses Shirley Reid, Reta and Frances Slingerland served refreshments of sandwiches, salads, jellies, ice cream and cake.

After the refreshments were over, Hazel opened her many pretty and useful gifts, thanking all for their kindness and then the little guests departed for home each carrying a toy balloon after thanking Hazel and her parents for the lovely party.

ELDORADO

Eldorado—The Eldorado and Bannockburn Women's Institutes held their fall sober meeting at the home of Mrs. Bosley on Tuesday with a good attendance.

The president Mrs. Charles Carman opened the meeting. The roll call was answered by "Your Favorite Name for Boy or Girl".

Correspondence was dealt with and business discussed. It was decided to charter a bus to go to the Royal Winter Fair, also that $10.00 be sent to the blind. Mrs. Cecil Blackburn was to go as delegate with Mrs. Gen. Palmer as alternate for the first day of the Institute Convention to be held in Belleville, and Mrs. Russel Empey and Mrs. Beryl Bateman, for the second day.

It was decided to hold a Halloween party in the Orange Hall on October 28th.

Mrs. Arthur Robinson was convenor and opened her part of the meeting with the motto "Let Our Watchword be Co-operation." The Theme "Citizenship, and What is it." was given by Mrs. Geo. Palmer. Mrs. Bert McCarty gave an interesting paper on "Citizenship in the Home."

A number of the ladies then gave the "Current Events." The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Beryle Carman.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants and a social half hour enjoyed by all.

FOXBORO

Foxboro—Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fair spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Eggleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Gowsell and Bonnie moved into their new home in Belleville on Monday.

Birthday Honored

A pleasant afternoon was spent on Tuesday when a S. A. group of ladies and some neighbors and friends assembled at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Christie, where she celebrated her 79th birthday.

Mrs. Daniels had charge of a program of a varied nature—Readings on "Thanksgiving" were given by different ladies and Mrs. C. Wilson contributed a solo "Happy Birthday" and "She's a Jolly Good Fellow" was heartily sung and all went to the dining room where a bounteous repast of sandwiches, cookies, ice cream and birthday cake were enjoyed. Later the guests departed wishing Mrs. Christie many more happy birthdays.

Canada's Honey Crop 31 PC Lower Than Last Year

Ottawa, Oct. 14 — (CP)—Word to the sweet-toothed Canadian. Canada's honey crop is 31 per cent lower than last year.

And, according to bee experts, you don't blame it on the bees. As usual, the guilty party is that universal bugit of abuse, the weather man.

Bureau of Statistics reports place the 1949 crop at 31,500,000 pounds, sweet-toothed the near-record production of 45,145,000 last year and the lowest since the honey-short year of 1946, when only 23,185,000 pounds were produced.

In Western Ontario, for example, where the largest percentage of Canada's honey is produced, production dropped about 30 per cent from 15,738,000 pounds last year to 10,855,000 this year. Blame it on the drought of late June and July, which cut productions per-colony to 60 from 95 pounds.

Production for Ontario with 1948 output in brackets was Ontario, 10,855,000 (15,796,000).

See Handwriting Beer-Wine Sale In Restaurants

Kitchener, Oct. 14 — (CP) — Norman Nicholson of Hamilton, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Niagara branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association, Wednesday night warned a group of twin city operators that "the handwriting is on the wall for the sale of beer and wine in restaurants."

Mrs. Margaret MacFie, also of Hamilton, president of the branch, said hotels were opposed to the granting of licences to restaurants, but "we have to be able to compete to stay in business."

Mr. Nicholson told the Association would seek a wider and more equitable distribution of licences than now exist in the "big five" cities in Ontario — Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, London and Windsor.

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

God Makes History

By ROY L. SMITH

Men write history, but God makes it.

What we read in the history text-books is no more than the observations men make after God has moved upon minds and consciences of the nations as a consequence of which they have acted.

A Nation That Deserved Defeat

About the middle of the eighth century before Christ a highly discerning aristocrat made an appraisal of the little Hebrew kingdom of Judah and found it full of bribery and crookedness, immorality, injustice, oppression, lust, and money grabbing, and in the most stern and courageous fashion he pronounced a doom upon it in the name of God.

There were those, among them some professional religious leaders, who condemned Isaiah because his indictment to make the nation face the truth. They accused him of "mixing in politics," or, "preaching economics, and of having departed from the "old fashioned religion of their fathers." But the clear eyed prophet went on insisting that no nation with such sins upon its soul could ever hope to enjoy the help, or approval of a God of righteousness who loved honor, justice and mercy.

A Nation's Best Defenses

There was a time during World War II when the vast hordes of slave laborers were an asset to Germany. They mined the coal, manned the machines, and performed the menial tasks of the nation allowing Germans to go to the front lines to fight.

There came a time, however, when every imprisoned laborer became a liability who struck at Germany from the rear. The Impressed Dutch, French, Belgian, Norwegian and Polish workers who had kept the war machine running at the point of a gun now became the greatest hazard of the Nazi organization.

Any nation which oppresses one class at the expense of another, which refuses one group of human beings their God-given rights, which debauches a segment of its citizens in order to raise revenue for the support of its government, which loiters in justices and countenances wrongs, is building up an underground movement inside its own citizenry which will eventually prove to be its undoing.

The Moral Law Cannot Be Outwitted

The Sunday School lesson for October 16: "God And the Nations," Isaiah 10:21-26; 10; 13; 19:19-25; 31.

There was never a moment in all the long terrible struggle of World War II during which the law of gravity was ever suspended. There has never been even a fraction of a second during which the atoms and molecules have been able to escape their controls. The principles of economics go on working in their inexorable way regardless of the artificial and legal devices which governments set up.

With equal positiveness it can be asserted that neither has the moral law been outwitted. There was a day when it seemed that Mussolini and Hitler might overthrow the governments that had been dedicated to human rights. They stood athwart the cross-roads of the world with limitless empire stretching out ahead of them, and all the race of terrors.

But where are the tyrants today? The ghastly sight of Mussolini's body being kicked about the street, and the fantastic tales of Hitler's last hours are ghoulish evidence of the fact that God is not permanently mocked. The moral law stood up and the tyrants went down.

The Moral Law Is Impartial

The victors will be well advised, however, if they will remind themselves that the moral law of the universe which brought the Fascists and Nazis down to their doom will work with equal effectiveness in the case of any man or nation that defies its fundamental principles.

The laws of chemistry and engineering know no favorites. They perform with a perfect impartiality. And the God who wrote those laws of the material world also wrote the moral laws of the spiritual world, and in all cases he proceeds with the same inflexible impartiality. There is both promise and warning in that fact.

Goodman and baby, Marilyn, of Frankford, at Mrs. C. Goodman's.

Messrs. Roy and Arthur Boldrick called on Mr. George Boldrick, Wannamaking, one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Dent, 2nd of Thurlow, were recent callers at Mr. Lorne McKenzie's.

Mr. and Mrs. Gould and Dennis, 3rd Thurlow, spent Thursday evening at Mrs. C. Goodman's.

25 Extra Charges Laid For 'Breaking'

Toronto, Oct. 14 — (CP) — Some 25 additional charges of housebreaking have been laid against Gordon Montgomery, 26, who was remanded in court for a week Thursday on one charge.

Police said Montgomery admitted breaking into about 50 houses during the last two years. It is suspected that more charges will be laid shortly.

END WOOL RESTRICTION

Canberra—(CP)—For the first time since the end of the war, Japan can now buy top grade Australian wool. At the request of U. S. occupation officials, restrictions on the kind of wool purchased by Japan are to be lifted.

Yoke of Oxen Easy to Work With Says Owner

Brantford, Oct. 14 (CP) — A Northern Ontario bachelor farmer is staging his own individual kind of plowing show at the 36th Annual International Plowing Matches. Each afternoon he demonstrates for 30, minutes how to plow with a yoke of oxen.

Hubert Caruthers, 34, brought his oxen — believed the only ones in Ontario — down from his 365 acre farm in Nipissing district, where he uses them on bush work and for clearing land.

"They're all right when you get used to them," he says, "and they are very good to work—gentle as kittens."

The 10-year-old yoke—whom he calls Tony and Bruce, although they will not answer to their names — has a total of 3,600 pounds and have horn spreads of at least 4½ feet. They have been a regular feature at the International Matches since the end of the war.

CANADA'S PART

from them some sense of the whole of Canada might result.

He made the statements during continued study of the expenditure estimates of his department. It was also during that study that the question of the future of Canada's bacon market in the United Kingdom was raised.

Canada, he said, is anxious to retain a part of the United Kingdom bacon market. However, Britain's shortage of dollars, highest domestic prices and highest domestic consumption were reducing exports drastically.

Only 30,000,000 lbs. Sent

(The 1949 Anglo-Canadian Bacon contract calls for the shipment of 160,000,000 pounds. So far only about 30,000,000 pounds have been dispatched. Officials believe no more than about 50,000,000 or 60,000,000 pounds will be sent during the current year. Britain is paying for Canadian bacon out of Marshall Aid funds at the rate of $38 per hundredweight for No. 1 Wiltshire sides.)

Mr. Gardiner said farmers have been able to get seven cents a pound more for their dressed hogs on the domestic market than they could under the U.K. contract. As long as they could get those prices the government was not going to worry about getting the farmers to produce more hogs for dollar-short Britain.

Anxious for Contracts

However, the government was anxious for bacon contracts with the United Kingdom so when she is in a better dollar position imports will come from Canada.

During the free-swinging discussion, the minister said the Canadian government would be resentful if Canada advertised bacon and other products in the United Kingdom. Britain was buying food from all parts of the world and he could understand the position if consumers, as a result of an advertising campaign insisted on products from Canada.

He reiterated he favors establishment of a world food pool in years of plenty to take care of needs in poor crop years and said that in his opinion such a project would not prove too costly.

There were other developments during the day.

At the House opening, Transport Minister Chevrier said the plight of Canadian ship owners and operators "is serious" and the government is giving careful consideration to the situation. The situation resulted from high operation costs of Canadian vessels, higher construction costs, higher freight rates and currency devaluation.

Members gave first reading to a bill enabling the government to set up national forest experimental areas and enter into agreements with the provinces on protection and development of forest lands. The legislation met with almost unanimous approval.

Clarity Govt. Power

Also given first reading was a bill amending the Fish Inspection Act to clarify the federal government's power to carry out inspections.

In brief debate, Fisheries Minister Mayhew said his department is watching closely attempts of United States fish interests to block Canadian exports of fresh fish to the United States.

Replying to Gordon F. Higgins (PC-St. John's East), Mr. Mayhew said the United States fishermen had tried last year to get the Canadian import quota on fresh fish reduced. He presumed they now were trying do the same.

Mr. Mayhew said his department will do everything possible to protect the interests of Canadian fishermen from coast to coast. He made that statement when asked by Howard Green (PC—Vancouver-Quadra) what was being done to help Canadian fishermen meet reported increased competition from Russia in the salmon market.

St. Peter's Y. W. Club

Mrs. Ken West was hostess to the Young Women's Club for their October meeting. The roll call showed an attendance of 16.

The devotional period was opened by singing. Mrs. B. French read the scripture lesson from Philippians 2: 1-13. There were also two short readings.

The business session was conducted by the President, Mrs. R. McCoy. Plans were made for a home-cooking sale to be held in the very near future in Blue's vacant store.

A short program included a poem "Thanksgiving" by Mrs. Ken Nicol; a reading, "Pioneer's Next Door" by Mrs. Jas. Watson and a piano solo, "Apple Orchard" by Mrs. Ken Conner. Mrs. R. McCoy and Mrs. Earl McCoy, assisted in serving refreshments.

Object to Words In Anthem Placed In Cornerstone

London, Oct. 14 — (AP) — The Protestant Truth Society kicked up a fuss Wednesday about a song by opera composer Benjamin Britten.

It disliked the song because it includes the words "Ave Maria," traditional Roman Catholic prayer to the Virgin Mary.

It asked Prime Minister Attlee not to seal the composition into a cornerstone he was laying. He went ahead and did so anyway.

The cornerstone ceremony was on the site of London's £2,000,000 ($8,500,000) concert hall on the south bank of the Thames. The hall is being built for the 1951 Festival of Britain.

Underneath the stone went a set of present-day coins, a London Times for today, civic documents — and a copy of the score of the anthem played at the Earl of Harewood's Sept. 29 wedding to commoner Marion Stein. Especially composed by Britten, the anthem is called "Amo Ergo Sum" — "I Love, Therefore I am." The Earl of Harewood is the King's nephew.

The Protestant Society called the anthem "objectionable and mariolatrous." Mariolatrous means worshipping the Virgin Mary.

Price of Peace In Mine Strike Called 'Fantastic'

Soft Coal Operators in U.S. Challenge Lewis' Figures

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 14 — (AP) — Soft coal operators today labelled John L. Lewis' price of peace in the United States mine strike as "fantastic."

Lewis said his demands for a new contract would add 30 or 35 cents a ton to the cost of producing coal, but that could be absorbed out of $1 a ton average profits of the industry.

George H. Love, spokesman for northern and western commercial operators, promptly challenged the Lewis figure.

Love said the pit owners had their "backs to the wall" in the race for markets against competitive fuels like gas and oil.

More Customers' Needed

"What we need is more customers, not creations," Love told reporters after hearing a recording of a 75-minute press conference held Thursday by Lewis.

The United Mine Workers boss, in addition to announcing for the first time the package cost of his undisclosed contract demands, suggested that the government could end the four week walkout of 400,000 soft coal miners by seizing the pits.

President Truman said at his White House conference that he had no immediate plans for taking over the coal mines but that he was looking into his powers.

Council Assesses Outside Bakers $150 Licence Fee

Tweed—At a recent meeting of the municipal council a by-law was passed assessing outside bakers a license fee of $150, annually, for the right to peddle bread from house to house. The by-law had the endorsation of the entire council and was passed to protect local bakers from outside peddlers infringing on their territory. This does not affect outside bakers offering their product for sale in local stores.

It is possible that at the next meeting the by-laws affecting the licensing of tobacco dealers, bowling alley proprietors and plumbers, may be amended by the council, as they wish to protect local tradesmen as much as possible.

Assessment Appealed

Garrett D. C. Morton (clerk) said there are a number of appeals against the assessment this year and these will be heard by the council at an early date. Chief Clayton Spencer said he will be the only municipal employee affected under the Employees Pension Plan and a policy will be taken out for him.

Granted Rebate

Dr. M. B. George was granted a rebate on his business tax for 1949 and Bill Deline was also given a rebate on the building he dismantled in June.

Eliard Clarke complained that large trailer-trucks parking in front of his premises are creating a problem. He thought a by-law should be passed forcing them to park on side streets. Mr. Clarke said the trucks were left by the drivers for a considerable time. The council promised to consider the matter.

New Addition Ratified

A by-law was passed ratifying a new addition, in 1950 to Tweed High School at a cost of $80,000. The addition will include two classrooms and an assembly hall. Household science, home economics and technical subjects for boys will be taught in the new part of the building.

Council also passed by-laws approving expenditures of $80,000 for an addition at Madoc and $1-60,000 for a new high school at Maxmora. All municipalities in the centre Hastings school area will share alike in the cost of school construction in all centres.

Joins New Firm

Ray Woolfrey, who has been manager of the "Blue Circle" office in Hamilton, has joined the staff of A. M. Rayburn Insurance Agency in Tweed. Mr. and Mrs. Woolfrey and son Richard have moved into the home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ford on McGowan Street. Mrs. Woolfrey is the former Miss Frances Marrin. Both served in World War II. Mrs. Woolfrey with the Nursing Corps, and Mr. Woolfrey with the Signal Corps.

Miss Margaret Mahoney has joined the staff of the Ontario Hydro office in Tweed and will look after the clerical work for Mr. George Dunbar, the local district Hydro Inspector. Miss Mahoney's home is in Campbellford. Mr. Dunbar has been inspector at the Tweed district office for the past several months.

FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE SLIPS TO POST-WAR LOW

Foreign Trade Mounts To All-Time High

Ottawa, Oct. 14 (CP)—Canada's foreign trade swept to an all-time high during the first eight months this year, but the favorable trade balance fell to a post-war low.

Bureau of Statistics figures show that the country exported and imported $3,788,490,000 worth of goods during the eight-month period, exceeding the previous peak of $3,000,500,000 last year.

But the favorable trade balance slipped to $93,700,000—the lowest since pre-war 1938.

It appears skimpy when compared with such war-time balances as $1,139,400,000 in 1944 and $1,206,400,000 in 1943.

It is even lower than the $131,600,000 balance in 1947—the year the government slapped on the export controls against the United States in an attempt to conserve Canada's dollar and gold reserves.

Some of those import barriers now have been lifted. Just how much effect the remainder have is shown in the increase in imports from the U.S. of from $1,170,000,-000 in the first eight months of 1948 to $1,312,600,000 in 1949.

Even though exports to that country also were increasing—from $892,900,000 in 1948 to $923,-700,000 in 1949—Canada's traditional deficit with the U.S. continued climbing.

The deficit for the first eight months was $389,100,000, greater than the $277,100,000 deficit last year but not nearly as big as the 1947 deficit of $644,500,000.

Anglo-Canadian trade also appeared to be climbing, but Canada's favorable balance dropped to the lowest since 1946.

Despite dollar shortages, the U.K. bought $471,700,000 worth of goods this year, compared with $469,100,000 last year.

Trade with other countries yielded stimulating results. The cumulative eight-month balance in Canada's favor amounted to $219,800,000 against $198,300,000 last year.

Baby Elephant in Zoo Jostles Girl Assistant

London, Oct. 14 (CP)—Dumbo, baby elephant at London zoo, has become a woman-hater.

In care of male keepers, Dumbo's a honey. But once handed over to girl assistants in the children's section, she starts jostling.

"Dumbo weighs 400 pounds," said one of the girls. "Push from her can be painful."

NEHRU BEGINS BUSY TOUR SCHEDULE

President Truman steps aside and asks Pandit Nehru, India's prime minister, to precede him to the Speaker's platform at Washington National airport after the Indian leader's arrival, early this week. In his welcoming address, Mr. Truman praised Nehru as "the loved and respected leader of a great nation of free people."—Central Press Canadian.

NOSE-TICKLER

COURT OF APPEAL CONFIRMS RAJK DEATH SENTENCE

Convicted of Treason Against Hungary

Budapest, Oct. 14 — (AP)—Hungary's Court of Appeal today confirmed the death sentence decreed for Laszlo Rajk, former Communist Foreign Minister who was convicted of treason and attempts to overthrow the government.

The court also confirmed the sentences passed upon Rajk's codefendants—death for two others, life imprisonment for two and a nine-year jail term for the fifth. The sentences were imposed June 24 by a Budapest People's Court.

Scheduled to die with Rajk are Dr. Tibor Szonyi, 46, a former member of parliament who directed the Hungarian Communist party's Cadre system supervising the rank-and-file members, and Andras Szalai, 32.

The six convicted men, with two others being held for a court-martial, confessed to charges that they plotted with American and Yugoslav agents to overthrow Hungary's Communist regime and put the country under the dominion of Yugoslavia's Premier Tito.

Both Tito and the U.S. government have denied any connection with the plot.

The Appeal Court confirmed the life sentences imposed on Laszlo Szirmai, 37-year-old Yugoslav who had been councilor in the Yugoslav legation in Budapest, and Pal Justus, 44, former member of parliament and vice-president of the Hungarian radio.

Also confirmed was the nine-year prison term given Milan Ogurinovic, a Hungarian citizen of Serbian origin described by the government as a Hungarian spy.

The People's Court had ordered two other confessed conspirators held for court-martial because they were military personnel. They were Lt.-Gen. Gyorgy Palffy, until his arrest commander of Hungary's army as its chief inspector and the highest ranking army officer in Hungary, and Col. Bela Kiraly, commander of the Budapest police.

Red Czechs Plan State Supervision Over Religion

Will Make Bishops, Clergy Paid Servants of State

Prague, Oct. 14. (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist-dominated parliament today adopted by unanimous show of hands two bills aimed at imposing strong state control over religion, especially the Roman Catholic Church.

The measures were:

1. A church control bill which would make all clergymen and bishops civil servants paid by the state and grant the government full control over all church appointments, finances and administrative affairs.

2. A bill for the establishment of a new cabinet ministry to supervise church affairs.

Harsh Verbal Attacks on Vatican

The parliamentary action was preceded by two hours of speeches sharply attacking the Vatican and the Roman Catholic hierarchy which is headed by Archbishop Joseph Beran of Prague.

The bitterest attacks were delivered by Communist Minister of Justice Alexei Cepicka and Father Joseph Plogbar, a suspended Roman Catholic priest who serves in the Communist-led government as Minister of Health.

The Minister of Justice warned that when the church control measures become law No. 1 the government would tolerate no opposition to them.

Bishops and priests who attempt to resist these measures would be "broken as enemies of the State", Cepicka declared.

Cepicka lashed into Archbishop Beran, who says he has been "interned" in his Prague palace since June 19 when Communist backers drove him off his throne in St. Vitus Cathedral.

Fire Drill Tests In All Schools Are Satisfactory

That fire drill in local schools is practised to a high degree of efficiency was indicated this morning when in connection with Fire Prevention Week, tests were conducted by Chief Gerald Vance.

The fire chief reported that the tests in all schools, including the Ontario School for the Deaf, were entirely satisfactory with pupils clearing their classrooms in almost record time. In the tests a total of 4,014 pupils orderly vacated their classrooms at the sound of the alarm.

Following are the times which the various schools took to clear classrooms: St. Michaels, 620 pupils, 1 minute, ten seconds; Bellepilla, 1 minute, ten seconds; Belleville Collegiate, 1,013 students, 1 minute, 45 seconds; King George School, 363 pupils, 48 seconds; Queen Mary School, 530 pupils, 55 seconds; Queen Alexandra 55 seconds; Queen Alexandra School, 345 pupils, 55 seconds; Queen Victoria School, 097 pupils, 1 minute, 15 seconds, and the G. S. D., 337 pupils, 1 minute and 15 seconds.

Pupils in all public schools in the city, at St. Michaels, the C. I. D. and several outlying public schools are taking part in the essay writing and poster drawing contest that is being held in connection with the observances of Fire Prevention Week. The winners in the contest will be announced next week.

Prizes to be awarded to winning students in the different schools are now on display in the window of the T. A. Tucker Company, Front Street.

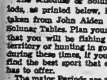
'Bonehead' Play Costs McGill Saturday's Game

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Oct. 14 — (CP) — McGill Redmen may well be the "darkhorse" threat of the Intercollegiate Football Union but from a birdseye view they'll probably end up in the same position as last year — in the cellar — if they continue to pull any more "bonehead" plays like the one that cost them the game against Western last week.



Acquisition of new blood and some concentrated teaching of football fundamentals for the first time in many years promise to put "old McGill" back in the grid picture this season. But already the same old "squawks" about bad refereeing are being echoed through the staid university's corridors.

Hec Crighton is the target of Coach Vic Obeck's post - game tears. Crighton, the umpire last week's Western-McGill slaughter, is charged by Obeck with having failed to recognize the Redmen's surprise play — an onside kick. On each occasion the alleged play was tried Crighton conducted men were run by the Montrealers and awarded a penalty against the Redmen.

This gripe may well be justified, but from past experience Obeck should know that it is impossible to mastermind the little man with the whistle.

From the sidelines it appears that McGill missed the taste of victory through their own "bonehead" strategy. Leading 13-8 with less than five minutes remaining, elected to kick off after Western romped to their first touchdown.

The kick immediately boomerranged with Western moving the length of the field to chalk up another major and win the opening game of the season.

The schedule or Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration. This week is for Oct. 16 to Oct. 22, D.S.T.

Canadiens Open Home Season In Rugged Fixture Defeating Chicago Black Hawks by 4-0

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal Canadiens got off to a flying start in the young National Hockey League season with a perfect box score record—four goals, no errors.

And sharing the Rocket's hour of glory was big Bill Durnan, whose shutout may well be the start of a string that will carry him to his sixth Vezina Trophy in seven years. The 34-year-old, ambidextrous native of Toronto was flawless in the Montreal goal as he repeatedly swept back the best the Hawks had to offer.

The game, the first of the schedule at Montreal, moved the Montrealers into a first place tie with Detroit Red Wings, who defeated Boston Bruins 3-2 Wednesday night.

Rookie Gilles Dube, the Sherbrooke Saints scrubber player who was reluctantly let go by the Montreal Canadiens after being signed to a contract by the Montreal Canadiens after being signed easier in the big league than he expected. The 21-year-old winger Dube, who was on the left flank of a line with Richard and Elmer Lach, scored one goal and assisted in another. Another youngster who played against Dube in the Quebec Senior Hockey League, Gerry Plamondon earned a goal and an assist.

Jump Into Early Lead

The Montrealers jumped into a 1-0 lead in the first period after little Billy Reay set up Plamondon on a lone effort from the Chicago blueline.

Richard, who sank 30 goals last season, scored halfway through the second session on a play with Plamondon. Defenceman Bob Goldham of Hawks was serving a two-minute tripping penalty at the time.

Richard notched his second goal late in the final period with Dube assisting. With less than a minute remaining, and Chicago mustering five men well into Montreal territory, Dube took the puck in his own end, raged a pass to Richard and skated the length of the ice to rap home his first N. H. L. goal.

Canadiens will get a chance to move into first place Saturday when they tackle New York Rangers at Montreal. Detroit Red Wings end Boston are home Sat. last year's Stanley Cup winners, Toronto Maple Leafs make their 1949-50 debut against Chicago Black Hawks at Toronto.

BY TREVOR ICETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Oct. 14 — (CP) — The old saying that "the pen is mightier than the sword" must also extend to the typewriter.

By his own admission, Dmi Bisonette resigned as manager of the Toronto Maple Leaf Baseball Club partly because Gordon Walker, Toronto Globe and Mail baseball reporter, criticized Bisonette's strategy in a late-season game at Montreal. Bisonette, as quoted by Walker, complained that the criticism caused Toronto fans to heckle him heartlessly in the Leafs' next home game.

"It's amazing that a grown man, such as Bisonette, who has been performing in professional sport for 30 years, could permit himself to lose all self-esteem after reading one critical review of his work," writes Jim.

"The home-town customers had been yelping at Bisonette for weeks before Walker wrote the story in question."

Others Take It

It's too bad Bisonette didn't keep his decision secret for a few days until he had the opportunity to read some of the criticism Burt Shotton has been subjected since his Brooklyn Dodgers blew the duke in the World Series, says Jim.

"After all, Shotton at least had managed to win a National League championship with those same Dodgers. But in the past two days, Shotton has been assailed as everything from a numskull to an old curmudgeon. It has been said publicly that he is too old for the job and should retire immediately. It has been written publicly that he is an old fuddy duddy who doesn't know how to get along with the press or the paying public."

"In short, Shotton, who has just finished winning a National League pennant, has been dismissed as a bum."

The Deaf Heard

Bisonette was popular with newspapermen, players alike, says Coleman, and recalls a chat with the Leaf manager at the pre-season "meet the ball club" dinner.

"One of the local scribes warned Bisonette that the third-base wolves were particularly vicious in Toronto," writes Jim.

"Aw, that won't bother me," laughed Bisonette, "I'm deaf in one ear. If they start yapping at me, I'll just turn the deaf ear to the stands."

Toronto Leafs Picked to Win NHL Over Wings

By JACK SULLIVAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

It is Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings one-two in the 70-game National Hockey League marathon which winds up March 26. And, as last year, New York Rangers are headed for the bottom slot of the six - team circuit.

What's how 17 sports writers from the six N. H. L. cities called it in the Hockey News poll conducted just before the 5½-month scramble started. The blue-shirted Rangers would be a tremendous surprise if they struggled home any better than fourth place according to the writers' crystal-ball reckoning.

There was a bit of ballot battle between Leafs and Wings for the first spot and, probably because Leafs beat the Wings in four straight for the Stanley Cup last year, they received the nod.

For the record, here's how the poll went:

Toronto: nine firsts, seven seconds, one third. Detroit: six firsts, seven seconds, four thirds. Montreal: one first, two seconds, six thirds, seven fourths, one fifth. Chicago: one first, no seconds, five thirds, seven fourths, one fifth, three sixths. Boston: no firsts, one second, one third, two fourths, 10 fifths, three sixths. New York: blank on the first three places, one fourth, five fifths, 11 sixths.

Danny Found

Danny (C form) Lewicki has bobbed up again. The 18-year-old player is working as a Canadian National Railways apprentice at Stratford.

A week ago today the National Hockey League and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association put the finger on him and suspended the left-winger from hockey. Danny's crime: He refused to sign a pro contract with Toronto Leafs as set out in the C form he signed with Leafs last July.

None of the principals has said anything for publication since the well-publicized heave-ho.

There must have been many cocked eyebrows when Danny named $15,000 a year for two seasons, plus a $2,500 bonus as his playing price for the Leafs. But it wasn't too startling in view of statements made about his playing by Conny Smythe, the Leafs' managing director, a few weeks ago.

Praise for Danny

Danny attended the Leafs' hockey school at St. Catharines, and Smythe said this of Danny and George Armstrong, who played for Toronto Marlboros, Leaf farm amateur club, last year:

"They're the best pair I've seen together since Charlie Conacher and Harvey Jackson. And that's a 20-year span."

Of Lewicki alone, he said: "He looks more to me like Aurel Joliat than anybody I've seen."

Veteran Coaches, Simmons, Brucker Fired by A's

(By The Canadian Press)

Philadelphia Athletics Thursday fired veteran coaches Al Simmons and Earle Brucker in the first major decision the American League Baseball Club ever has made against the wishes of Connie Mack.

The handwriting on the wall seemed plain for all baseball to read: The 86-year-old owner manager no longer is the shoo-lute boss of the club he helped found.

Dismissal of the two coaches, a complete surprise to them and to Philadelphia fans, was announced as having been ordered by the club's board of directors.

And in a tight-lipped statement Connie said:

"They (Simmons and Brucker) both are wonderful fellows and I thought they did a fine job for me.

"But the board of directors decided we could do without them and they have the final say in running the ball club."

The directors are Mack's three sons, Earle, Roy and Connie, Jr.; Benjamin MacFarland, grandson of the late John Shibe who founded the club with Connie, and Robert Schroeder, one-time Shibe Park hot-dog hustler who never has worked for any other organization.

Continuing their policy of disposing of surplus material, Brooklyn Dodgers Thursday announced at New York the sale of pitcher Paul Minner and first-baseman Preston Ward to Chicago Cubs for an undisclosed sum.

The latest National League transaction boosts the total of players sold by the Brooks during the last two weeks to six, only one of whom was on the Dodger roster this season.

Ezzard Charles Favored to Win Over Valentino

San Francisco, Oct. 14 (CP) — Stocking could crown a new heavyweight champion tonight but probably will not. The odds favored Ezzard Charles to successfully defend his National Boxing Association title against the challenge of Pat Valentino in their 15-round fight at the San Francisco power palace.

The fight is scheduled for 10 p.m. PST (1 a.m. EDT Saturday).

Charles has beaten the most solid contenders in his stride so far probably will not. The odds favored Charles to successfully defend his National Boxing Association title against the challenge of Pat Valentino in their 15-round fight at the San Francisco power palace.

The fight is scheduled for 10 p.m. PST (1 a.m. EDT Saturday).

Charles has beaten the most solid contenders in his stride so far this year, unimpressed by the challenge of Joe Louis.

In some respects, however, Valentino fits into the category of a fairly strong challenger. He lost close decisions to Jimmy Bivins and fought two crews with Joe Maxim, both of whom extended the limit-holder plenty, although decisively.

Aside from the remote possibility he could turn in a fourth set victim of Valentino's punishing body attack, Charles figures to get the decision. He is the superior boxer, is much faster on his rival, and has proved he can take a knockdown punch and come back to win.

The match, whether won in stride or the hard way is something of a financial windfall for Charles. It will be worth $40,000 to him, win, lose or draw. The guarantee is $25,000 and for him silence he joined the pro ranks in 1940.

Valentino is the first San Franciscan to fight for the heavyweight title since James J. Corbett whipped John L. Sullivan in bett whipped John L. Sullivan in 1892. Corbett's victory was celebrated here for months. Valentino, unimpressed by Charles, says his friends can't help celebrating late tonight.

Last-minute ticket sales were expected to double the gate receipts somewhere around the $150,000 mark. The new park seats 16,000 customers. There also are 4,000 standing room tickets.

Pat Valentino Rated Fifth in Heavyweights

Washington, Oct. 14 — The National Boxing Association apparently doesn't give Pat Valentino much of a chance in his fight tonight with Ezzard Charles.

Announcing Thursday the final ratings for 1949 in all boxing divisions, a day before Charles tackles in San Francisco with Valentino, a California hopeful, the N. B. A. said:

"Charles is the undisputed heavyweight champion of the world. He has evidenced a willingness to meet any contender who might rear his head."

As for Valentino, the N. B. A. rated him only as an "outstanding boxer," with a fifth-place rating.

The logical contenders to capture Ezzy's throne, the N. B. A. says, are Lee Savold, New Jersey; Bruce Woodcock, England; and Jersey Joe Walcott.

The only Canadian listed in the N. B. A. ratings is Arthur King of Toronto, Canadian and Empire lightweight champion, named as an outstanding boxer in that division. Ike Williams of New York is lightweight champion, and the only logical contender listed for the lightweight crown is Freddie Dawson of Illinois.

Rugged Rocky Graziano, who draws as many customers to his brawls as Jake Lamotta, N.B.A. champ, was rated sixth in the middleweight division. That's an odd situation because the "Rock" is supposed to be the man who is going to provide the stimulant needed to get boxing out of the doldrums.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Tak. . . Tak. . . Imagine after writing that grand story about our versatile friends in Picton, up pops the traditional devil in the fact that Davy Young, Picton umpire had to be escorted from the field of battle in the 8th inning.

The above yarn in a report from Picton that the said Young, in his capacity as plate umpire in a game between Picton and Strathroy, who were in the throes of a four-of-seven series for the Intermediate "A" championship of Ontario, called a "bad one" at third base. The report further states that the Picton "Crowd" were unanimous in its view "Davy" the protective way to prevent him from being torn to pieces by an infuriated fandom.

* * *

We do not know what actually happened due to the fact that we with the best of the hustlers and hustler were speeding northwards holiday-bent to Algonquin Park. But knowing naturally of an inquisitive nature we delivered a bit deeper into the circumstances than perhaps our position warranted.

* * *

And we did get the information. Dave Young, always in the estimation of this corner, and as far as that goes, this district, was and is, we believe, one of the most impartial, unbiased and honest officials in the woods. Davy Young, the umpire in the thick of the woods. Davy it is alleged, operating in this neck of the woods. Davy it is alleged, operating as a plate umpire, did, as previous rules and regulations covered, call a bad one. It said when the situation called for it. That's baseball.

* * *

As we understand the story, Young raced to third base and rendered a decision that was anything but popular with the home-town fandom. And Picton, like any "home-town" fandom not only roared its disapproval on Umpire Young's decision, but also invaded the diamond with perhaps mayhem on their minds and hearts.

* * *

All of which may be forgiven, insofar as the Picton fans are concerned. Their team, one of the old timers since 1932 to succeed in championship membership, were battling a powerful contender in Strathroy, Central Ontario champions. It was a battle Strathroy team, Western Ontario champions. It was a battle Strathroy team, Western Ontario champions. It was a battle royal between champions. And when the titular chips are down, anything can happen.

* * *

But the Ontario Baseball Association, so we are told, backs its officials to the hilt unless their interpretation of a rule is wrong. Which rarely happens.

* * *

Unfortunately for Umpire Young, the powers-that-be selected to appoint another umpire. Perhaps this fact will be selected to appoint another umpire. Perhaps this fact will teach, or rather suggest a lesson to the fans.

* * *

But the funny part of the matter is, this inasmuch as the Picton fans are a bull over the situation, Umpire Davy Young was said to be, by impartial observers, absolutely right in his decision.

* * *

Six teams will face the barrier when the Belleville district Hockey League gets under way this season. Included are Northern Electric; Trenton RCAF; Trenton Canada National Railways Team, Belleville Bakers and Canadian National Railways Diesels. HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Love in bloom for progressive squeezes is not a sign of youth. It comes from being chained to a bridge table after taking all 13 tricks in a deal that has two definite losers.

With only one such loser, a clever player still has hopes. When no other helping play can be found, he resorts to a squeeze. With two such losers it may take a series of squeezes; a progressive squeeze.

South was declarer at a grand slam contract of seven hearts and took the first eight tricks. His own hand is now in the lead when all four players hold the remaining cards shown here:

NORTH
♠A 9 3
♦8
♣5

WEST
♠8 7 6
♦6 5

EAST
♠K Q
♦K J
♣K

SOUTH
♠4
♥3
♦A 7
♣2

Among his five cards, east is protecting all three side suits. For a moment it looks as if he will be successful in taking at least one trick. Either in spades or diamonds or clubs.

South could ruff a dummy spade and make his third dummy spade good. But he would then have entry trouble to dummy. So what will he do with his own second diamond? And where will he put his club?

Right here south leads his last trump and shuffle the smallest dummy spade. This puts problem right into the east lap. East must let go of his cards. The question is which?

If it is a spade, dummy's two spades are good. If it is a diamond, both south diamonds are good. So, he sheds his club king and makes the eightpot of clubs a best.

Dummy wins a club and east is squeezed again. A diamond shed gives south two good diamonds that squeeze east again. A spade shed gives dummy two good spades that squeeze east again.

You may never see this far ahead in the midst of a bridge game. But you can use this deal to stump your friends some dull evening. Or when you run out of other things that make them dizzy.

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 14 — (AP) — Here's another worry for Hollywood—President Truman is not much of a movie fan.

Through an official source, I submitted a list of questions about the President's entertainment habits. Here, in part, is the reply: "I hate to disappoint you, but there is little I can tell you about the President's movie habits. The reason is that he is not very much of a movie-goer.

"He likes to see a newsreel now and then in the movie projection room of the White House. Usually present with him are a few members of the White House staff.

A Reader Writes

From reader Don McAnally of Toledo, come some pertinent remarks on barriers against tourist visitors by film studios:

"Industry has learned that it is good public relations to open its doors to visitors. . . the fact that doors are opened, that visitors are wanted and welcomed, creates favorable public reaction — the very thing which most studios want most, especially—now, to build attendance and profits. It seems to me that the studios are taking the wrong approach to what could be a great trade builder.

Little Benny's Note Book

It rained all day Saturday, being the worst day it could happen, and after lunch pop said to ma, My dear, this is an ideal time for me to sort out the magazines in the store room and put aside the ones I want to save and throw the rest away.

Well, it's about time, ma said, and pop said, it's more than that, my dear, it's exactly and precisely time. I've been waiting for a rainy Saturday to do the job, and now I have it. In other words you see an executive mind at work, he said.

There must be litterly hunderds and hunderds of old magazines up there, ma said, and pop said that's right. There will soon be a noticeable change in that situation.

I sincerely hope so, but there's libel to be many a slip between your good intentions, ma said, You're not in the store room yet, she said, and pop said, I'm on my way. The next hour or 2 will tell a remarkable tale of intelligent activity and tireless industry, he said.

And he went up in the store room and stayed there, and when it was nearly time for dinner ma called him, saying, William, it's time to get washed up.

I'm glad to hear it, my dear, I'm ready for a good shower, pop said.

And he came out of the store room, and ma said, Did you get them all sorted?

Well, in a way, pop said. A couple of them are all reddy, he said, and ma said, Do you mean a cupple of piles?

No, a cupple of magazines, pop said. The first two I opened happened to have very intriuting long articles that I want to save, and I read them over to make sure, so I've got that match behind me, he said, and ma said, Oh, snich a man.

M'aning him.

Black Boom

By Paul David Preston

"Gentle-men, you are well aware of the purpose of this assembly." the judge resumed, then in characteristic manner went on to state the purpose anyway. "We are assembled to consider ways and means of preserving the established beauties and the better traditions of conduct enjoyed in Rangeville and which are now threatened with utter disruption."

"I refer-r-r-r," he was rising to his usual oratorical manner, "to the damnable infiltration of certain social forces caused by the development of petroleum, a development which burst upon us with the explosive suddenness of a European bombshell, and which is leaving an almost comparable path of disturbance in its wake."

He paused, also as usual, for applause at what intuition told him was a likely point for it, but this audience wasn't yet sure of his expertness. Only nods of approval were seen.

Undaunted, the judge spoke for 40 minutes covering history from the Revolutionary war onward and setting up some philosophical genus. Perfect attention was given on him. He concluded by advising that a Guardianship Society be organized to bring about the city and county laws restricting the inroads of oil development to certain prescribed areas.

Applause did burst then. Hearty applause.

"Our beloved streets must be unsullied, beyond what is already done, by the nefarious stench of oil!" shouted the judge now. "A church is already ruined. cotton yard is gone. There are no ordinances to prevent it and some say that ordinance would be unconstitutional, but I say to you, gentle-men, that all is—ALL is law, mind you, stems from the body politic. Those who are governed have a right to do the governing! If our present mayor and city commission is unable or unwilling to keep dil wells from defiling our very bosoms, then we can demand emergency recall!"

When they eventually got to the mechanics of organization it was the Judge himself who nominated Martin Deale for secretary, "to begin at once keeping detailed minutes of these proceedings." And Martin was thus the first officer elected. His robbery last night and his resultant stir about it was at least part reason for his prominence. He accepted with a speech made in keeping with his position then moved to the front table to begin work with pencil and paper.

With nominations then opened for president of the Guardianship Society, Dr. Jonas Bane arose to nominate "that flower of southern and Texas womanhood, Mrs. Millicent Mayfield, in the full and confident belief that she deserves the honor as one most worthy of it and most likely to command prestige."

Martin's face brightened happily. He stood up to lead the applause, and in half a minute Mrs. Mayfield had been elected by acclamation. A "cabinet" of seven was then chosen to serve with her, and Martin—with growing enthusiasm for this new cause —arose to suggest that they bow to a local custom in electing Mrs. Mayfield of her election, and perhaps continue their discussion in her fine old colonial home. That motion, too, carried unanimously.

Judge Brookfield suggested that they walk. A delegation of almost 30 leading citizens walking down the street would serve as initial their strength and determination, said he, shrewdly. Perhaps a few others might join them enroute And the Mayfield home was only six blocks out North Marshall.

The men were in high spirits as they walked. Judge Brookfield, too portly and too dignified for speed, set the pace and led them in conversation as well. Martin walked near him. Of course people stared. Motorists turned in their seats to gaze curiously at them. A few dogs barked. Presently a comet's tail of children tagged them, and behind scared housewives began to telephone. The delegates themselves were impervious to all this, however. They were audibly admiring their streets and suggesting just where—on the far edge of town—should be set a line beyond which no more oil wells might be bored.

Then all at once consternation seized them.

They came past Mrs. Halton's great hedge of cape jasmine and privet to Mrs. Mayfield's front gate—and beheld workmen erecting a thing of steel right in the middle of the Mayfield lawn itself!

Four trucks stood nearby, and piles of eight-inch iron pipe had been dumped. The steel thing was a skeleton already up more than 25 feet.

"A derrick!" Martin Deale breathed. "An oil derrick, right in Mrs. Mayfield's yard!"

"Gentle-men!" said Judge Brookfield, quietly, holding both hands high to command attention. "Any further discussion here would be most unseemly. I suggest that we return to my quarters, forthwith."

Immediately the delegation headed back toward town. The men had a sense of embarrassment even resentment; they had elected Mrs. Millicent Mayfield president, and although it had been in her absence they felt that she had betrayed them. The widow of Dan Mayfield, of all people, to permit an oil derrick on her lawn! It was unthinkable.

There had been almost 30 delegates, and an equal number of just plain curious folk had gathered with them. Some were grinning, some looked extremely sober of face. Little snatches of discussion and counter-discussion were heard from the group even as it walked back down the shady avenue to town.

"Everybody's oil mad! Everybody!"

"—broke in the Wiggins house at night and—"

"Prices shooting sky high while—"

"—and three out of every four people are strangers within—"

"—the town water pressure is getting dangerously low."

"—hold-ups and robberies, even young Martin Deale who—"

"Money is one thing but respectability must—"

ALL OPPOSITION PARTIES AGAINST RAISE FOR JUDGES

Force Formal Vote In Commons but Lose 88 to 32

Ottawa, Oct. 15 — (CP)—The three opposition parties in the parliament are solidly against increasing the salaries of Canada's Supreme Court Judges.

Their feelings on the matter were expressed in the Commons Friday when they forced a formal vote on a government resolution giving notice of a bill to increase the salaries by $5,000 each. However, the resolution went through — the government members voting 88 to 32 against the Progressive Conservative, C. C. F. and Social Credit groups.

Reasons for the opposition varied. G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West) said: "The dignity of the Prime Minister when judges or any other public employees are more than he does — $23,000.

The legislation will increase the salary of Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret from $20,000 to $25,000 a year and, others from $18,000 to $20,000.

E. D. Fulton (PC — Kamloops) argued that the time has come for the government to give close scrutiny before increasing judicial salaries. In almost every case judges were well paid and received substantial pensions.

Attendant Killed By Mental Patient

London, Oct. 15 (CP) — An elderly attendant at the Ontario Hospital here was bludgeoned to death Friday night by an unidentified 34-year-old mental patient wielding a rubber floor brush.

Charles H. Yelf, about 63, apparently was attacked by the patient while he was in the hospital superintendent Dr. G. H. Stevenson, said early today. Other mentally-ill patients, the only witnesses of the attack, were unable to aid the victim.

Yelf was on duty when the attack took place. An attendant from another ward heard a commotion and rushed to the scene but Yelf was beyond aid.

The patient, it was reported, had been in institutions for 10 years and had not previously shown any violence.

"It was not a very heavy weapon" said Dr. Stevenson, "so one would ever dream it could do the damage it did."

Yelf had been an attendant at the hospital since 1941.

It has not been decided whether an inquest will be held.

SENTENCE INCREASED

Victoria, B.C., Oct. 15 (CP)— British Columbia's appeal court Friday increased to four years a two-year sentence imposed on Lloyd Prestage, convicted of possessing and circulating $10 bills.

Crown Counsel Gordon Scott, appealing the two-year penalty, complained it was not severe enough to deter others from doing the same thing.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Oct. 15 (CP)—Synopsis—All indications point to a fine weekend with little or no chill weather in the southern part of the province is expected to continue with higher temperatures looked for in northern regions. There is still some palpitation on over Southern Ontario but this is expected to disappear Saturday in all but the extreme southeastern section of the province.

Sunday's weather will be sunny and warm in all except the James Bay regions where increasing cloudiness is forecast.

HOUSE MEMBERS AIR VIEWS ON DIVORCE ISSUE

Government Benches Offer No Solution

Ottawa, Oct. 15 (CP)—Quebec divorce — one of the perennially tender spots of parliament—caused its annual flutter in the Commons Friday night.

There were a number of suggestions—none from the government—as the Commons discussed 47 private bills which must be passed by the Commons to make that number of Quebec divorcees official.

Quebec and Newfoundland are the only provinces in Canada which have no divorce courts. As a result, any divorces must come directly before parliament. Proceedings in the diverse to be discussed by a Senate Committee, passed by the Senate and then sent to the commons.

Invariably the bills result in protests when they reach the Commons. Friday night was no different.

3,200 Workers At C.G.E. Plant Stage Sitdown

Peterborough, Oct. 15 — (CP) — Some 3,200 production workers will decide this weekend whether they will return to work Monday at the Canadian General Electric Company plant, where they staged a sitdown strike Friday.

The plant normally is closed Saturday and Sunday. The workers' bargaining agent, the United Electrical Workers (C.I.O.), will meet Sunday to consider the next move.

The work stoppage Friday started at 1 p.m. Workers remained at their benches until the 5 p.m. quitting time.

The sitdown followed a lengthy dispute over an arbitration board decision awarding wage rates for 30 girls in the plant's induction motor winding division.

The union claims the arbitration board ruling required the company to restore former piecework rates. The company contends that the board's decision does not mean this and that it can be put into effect.

The arbitration decision was handed down last Feb. 28 by a board presided over by Judge A. Brunet.

REDUCE LENGTH OF BOUNDARY

Troy, N.Y., Oct. 15 (CP)— Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada Friday will address at the convocation observing the Sesquicentennial of the state's 125th anniversary, drew laughter from students and, cognizance when he said he is precise length of the U.S.-anadian border: 5,536.6 miles.

Mapping Program of RCAF Pays off, 859,000 Miles Mapped This Year

This year, the air force mapped 859,000 square miles. It wasn't as much as the 911,000 square miles mapped last year, but the new tri-camera mapping system will be jammed into operation maps of eight-miles-to-the-inch, is running out of territory.

Introduced about three years ago, the tri-camera system has covered an immense amount of Arctic territory previously unmapped. Canadian army explorers made the vague maps now adorning their offices.

The new maps will be accurate at least for the present generation by airplane. They are turned out from the air photos taken by Nos. 61 and 405 squadrons of the air force, which this summer ranged out of bases as far spread as the Yukon and the Labrador.

This year, the photo establishment at nearby Rockcliffe — unmatched in the world — produced 170,000 feet film snapped over areas hitherto inaccessible to a total of 784,000 prints were made from the film taken and by the end of the calendar year, the total will extend beyond 1,000,000.

Ten years ago, only a few mines and resources department men ever mapped will be jammed before the photos taken this summer can be developed and examined. It can take years to before the results can be translated into maps.

But by 1951, the tri-camera system should have become so fast which would have been impossible for many years by any other method. Because of defence considerations, speed is important.

The speed stems from cameras set in a Lancaster aircraft in such a way that three simultaneously-snapped pictures tumbline to form a horizon-to-horizon strip. With this equipment a Lancaster can scoot along a strip for hundreds of miles, taking automatic pictures. Each strips is 16 miles apart.

Reciprocal Defence Purchases Advocated by St. Laurent In Address at Troy, N.Y.

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 15 (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada Friday night urged that the United States and Canada work out an agreement for reciprocal defence purchases.

He suggested such a program could be possible under a peculiarly-equivalent of the 1941 Hyde Park agreements which launched the giant exchange of arms between the two countries during the war.

"Without some arrangement for reciprocal defence purchasings with the United States, Canada cannot make the most effective contribution to the security of this continent and the North Atlantic area," the prime minister said.

"And our aim in Canada is the greatest possible co-operation for our common security consistent with the maintenance of our independence as a nation."

He spoke at a convocation observing Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's 125th anniversary. The Canadian Liberal leader received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

In Washington, high U. S. government officials, particularly in the Departments of State and Defence, today studied the text of the Prime Minister's address. They expressed keen interest in it but were non-committal since Mr. St. Laurent's proposals exceed the sphere of U. S. government policy.

One ranking member of the Senate armed services committee, Senator Styles Bridges (Rep. N. H.), said he felt that the Prime Minister's plea emphasized the "need for mutual co-operation in the defence of this continent."

Bridges added that he hoped a joint Canadian-U.S. arms scheme can be worked out satisfactorily and each country assigned its responsibilities."

Both Would Benefit

Frank H. Plant Re-elected Pres. Electrical Assoc.

Ottawa, Oct. 15 (CP)—Frank H. Plant of Ottawa Friday was re-elected president of the Canadian Ontario Municipal Electrical Association.

Mr. Plant, chairman of the Ottawa Hydro Electrical Commission, was returned together with his entire slate of officers at the final session of the association's annual two-day convention.

Other officers approved by delegates Friday expressed opposition to consumers in 50 cycle areas paying higher rates for power converting municipally and privately owned equipment to 25 cycle areas". The resolution was handed to Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission chairman Robert H. Saunders, who addressed the gathering.

Mr. Saunders said he would meet with the delegates to discuss the situation with a committee to be named by the association. Also joining in the discussion, he said, representatives of the Georgian Bay district.

Other officers returned to office included H. B. Tulby Picton, first vice-president; S. J. Baker, Cobourg, second vice-president; and Stanley H. Gooderham, secretary treasurer; returned as directors were G. S. Matthews, Peterborough; E. J. Hanna, Kemptville and Dr. R. A. Patterson, Kemptville.

Presence of Schachts Rouses Protests In Duesseldorf

Duesseldorf, Germany, Oct. 15 (AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht and don't want Hitler's financial wizard, Hjalmar Schacht, around. Schacht and his wife arrived in Duesseldorf on a visit, from their home near Lorraine, in the British occupation zone. Thereupon 500 local residents staged a riotous demonstration Friday protesting Schacht's presence. The county ordered it leave the area immediately.

SUGGESTS BRITAIN ASK RUSSIA FOR SECRETS

London, Oct. 15—(AP)— Phil Piratin, a Communist member of parliament, suggested today that Britain should ask Russia for atomic secrets if the United States keeps mum on the subject.

He said: "I dare say Prime Minister Attlee in the House of Commons Monday when the Prime Minister "will consider approaching the Soviet government" on the subject of atomic energy.

SEVEN MADE HOMELESS

Newmarket, Oct. 15 — (CP) — Fire of unknown origin Friday night left a family of seven homeless when their four-room frame house burned on the outskirts of Holland Landing, 40 miles north of Toronto. The family — Roy Bellar, his wife and five children — were visiting at the time and the only casualty was the family dog.

Expert's Opinion On Cause of Fire Will be Given

Toronto, Oct. 15 (CP) — A medico-legal expert's opinion of the cause of the Hotel Carlton fire is expected to be given next week at the federal inquiry into the cruise ship disaster.

The inquiry, which adjourned late Friday until Monday after 12 days of testimony, likely will hear Dr. Keith Boyd Rogers, Toronto medico-legal expert, who made an investigation on behalf of the Ontario Fire Marshal.

The commission presided over by Mr. Justice J. C. Anglin of the Supreme Court of Canada was told Friday that the officer responsible for patrolling the ship as fire watcher was asleep at the time the fire started in the crew member, Special Officer Russell Brown, 58, of Port Arthur, said he went to sleep after the watch ended immediately after his return from a visit ashore and did not report for his watch.

The watch started at 12:20 a.m. E.S.T. Witnesses have placed the start of the fire at 1:30 a.m. E.S.T.

Brown said his duties were similar to those of a hotel detective and included fire watching. Under the inquiry the records aboard the Noronic was for the first time produced when a fire marshal from the Ontario department of labor, Toronto, the other special officer, was asked if he had any duties connected with fire prevention. He replied: "No, sir."

First Year In Six Years

Brown attributed his failure to stand watch that night to "an unfortunate slip-up". He said:

"It was the first time in six years on the ship that this had ever happened."

Brown said he first learned of the fire when he heard a woman's voice shouting: "Fire! Fire! I go!"

Special Officer McPhadden of Toronto, who followed Brown to the witness box, said he told Brown in Cleveland that he would be ashore the night the ship would be in Toronto.

"Are you sure you told him?" asked Mr. Justice Anglin.

"Yes, sir" McPhadden said.

McPhadden, back on the ship before the fire started, said that during the blaze he rescued two women passengers, and then helped fight the fire with a hose.

Drive-Yourself Firm To Rent Cars At Malton Airport

Toronto, Oct. 15. (CP)—Air travel is fast, but it sometimes is difficult to get from a suburban airport, where you arrive, to the city. Air travellers to Toronto soon will be able to overcome this delay by pulling up at Malton airport, drive Government-approved application for a drive-yourself firm to rent cars at the suburban Malton airport. The traveller just steps into his brief-yourself automobile, declares he wants a car, and drives back in time to catch his outgoing plane.

U.S. COMMUNIST PARTY FACING FIGHT FOR LIFE

All Members Convicted Placed Behind Bars

New York, Oct. 15.—(AP)—Eleven of the country's top Communist leaders, were behind bars today in the United States facing a fight for its life.

They were convicted Friday as planning violent revolution against the country they professed to love.

The historic verdict, which defence lawyers said would be promptly appealed, cast a long shadow over the future of the Communist party in the country.

The powerful London Daily Worker said the verdict has virtually made the party "illegal in the United S t s."

"For the first time in the history of the U.S.," said the London Daily Worker, "it has been declared a crime merely to be a member of the Communist party."

However, the Communist Daily Worker, in New York, said the party "has not been outlawed" and that "no American people would defend its "absolutely constitutional Marxist-Leninist" functions.

Miss Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, a party national committee member, denied that the verdict would drive Communists underground. She said the party will still "operate as usual."

Demand Stronger Crackdowns

But some reaction in Washington was that the verdict put the party outside the protection of law and there were demands for stronger crackdowns on Communism.

Representative Bhurr Harrison (Dem., Va.), of the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities, said the verdict stated that the "Communist party is an illegal conspiracy."

But it appeared that the cautionary attitude would prevail in the hour of decision for the Communist party. The final say rests with the U. S. Supreme Court.

The convicted Communist leaders face the possibility of up to 10 years each in prison and $10,000 fines.

They will hear their sentence next Friday.

Judge Judge Harold R. Medina refused them bail. They went to jail within the hour of the verdict.

The Judge then sentenced their chief counsel, Abraham Denais, who acted as his own counsel, and their other lawyers, to from Seven to six months for contempt during the trial.

William Z. Foster, ailing chairman of the Communist party, was not in the courtroom when the 11 leaders. But illness prevented his trial.

19 ESTONIANS ARRIVE

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 15— (CP)— Twelve Estonian refugees are en route to Ottawa by train today on the last leg of a journey that took them from Sweden to Ireland, Newfoundland and finally, the Canadian mainland. The Estonians arrived here early today by plane from Gander, Nfld., after having been detailed by immigration authorities.

Three, Including Rajk, Executed On Treason Counts

Conspired to Overthrow Hungarian Government

Budapest, Oct. 15 (AP)—Laszlo Rajk, former No. 3 communist in Hungary, was executed today for treason, a foreign ministry spokesman announced.

Rajk, once Hungary's foreign minister and also his country's former police boss as interior minister, was convicted by a three-judge people's court on Sept. 24. It was charged he conspired to overthrow the Hungarian government, with American help, and substitute for it a regime subservient to Premier Tito of Yugoslavia.

The death sentence imposed on Laszlo Rajk, who confessed freely at his trial, was confirmed only yesterday by the same court of appeals which affirmed the life imprisonment sentence pronounced last February against Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty for treason.

Hanged with Rajk, the spokesman said, were Dr. Tibor Szonyi, 45, former director of the Hungarian communist party's cadre system, supervising the party membership; and Andras Szalai, 32, Szonyi's deputy. Rajk was 40 years old.

A highly reliable source said the executions were carried out at 6 a. m. today.

The Budapest court yesterday also confirmed prison terms pronounced against three other Rajk's co-defendants. Lazar Brankov, 37, a Yugoslav who has been a member of the Yugoslav delegation in Budapest, and Pal Justus, 44, former ambassador to the Hungarian radio, got life sentences. Milan Ognyenovic, a Hungarian citizen of Serbian origin, got nine years. The government said he was a spy for Yugoslavia.

GAMBLING DENTS CARDIFF, WITH TEARS

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 15 —(CP) —A Welsh baronet's gambling debts will be paid — nine years after his death.

Sir David Llewellyn, coal magnate and racehorse owner, gambled heavily in daily doubles. When he died he left unpaid bookmakers £175,000 ($542,500).

The executors decided that all of the just creditors would be paid. Slowly they accumulated the money and Friday — until Friday when they announced there was enough money to pay up.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH SAYS INQUEST

Montreal, Oct. 15 — (CP) — Coroner's court Friday ruled accidental death in the case of Jean Charles Labrosse, 19, a fugitive from the penitentiary at Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

Labrosse, who escaped from the institution while two men had escaped from the jail attempting to commit a burglary.

Cold War Centres on Control Of Germany, Says News Analyst

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Prime Minister Stalin has sent a message of congratulations to the leaders of the new Soviet-dominated East German republic which he characterizes the advent of this regime as a "turning point in the history of Europe."

That sweeping statement may be window dressing for a formal recognition. It's one which we shouldn't dismiss lightly as just another bit of political propaganda.

Germany is the key which will unlock the door to peaceful development or the door to trouble.

Russia has been attempting to try to read Stalin's mind, he is figuring on the ultimate unity of the eastern German republic and the democratic western republics which comprise the country. The western allies are going all-out to attract the eastern German republic into the western German government. The Russians, working through the German government, are equally bent on winning over west Germany.

And the side which wins this battle will have won the cold war.

The answer is that with such a development we shouldn't have a corollary a Russo-German "alliance" which likely would dominate the possibility of war. It would create the combined strength which Hitler failed to say in his message of congratulations:

"There is no doubt that the existence of a peace-loving, democratic Germany, allied to Germany, along with the existence of a peace-loving Soviet union, excludes the possibility of war even in Europe, makes an end to European militarism, and makes impossible the servitude of European countries under world imperialism (meaning U. S. economy)."

It's easy to see why the cold war centres on Germany at this time. The western allies are going all-out to attract the eastern German republic into the western German government. The Russians, working through the German government, are equally bent on winning over west Germany.

And the side which wins this battle will have won the cold war.

SURPLUS REDUCED DURING SEPT. SAYS MINISTER

Abbott Attributes Deficit to Reductions in Income Tax

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—Red ink showed up in the government's accounts in September, stripping off part of a rising budgetary surplus.

The government went into the red to the extent of $15,417,300 last month, cutting the six-month surplus to $279,200,000.

Finance Minister Abbott, in his monthly accounts statement, attributed the September deficit to reductions in excise tax and personal income tax rates announced in the last Budget.

Slightly offsetting this was an increase in corporation tax.

In his budget speech last March, Mr. Abbott told the government was aiming for a surplus of $87,— 500,000 for the fiscal year, ending next March 31, compared with a surplus of $575,000,000 in the 1948-49 fiscal year.

September's revenues totalled $173,998,300 down from the $192,— 783,744 in the same month last year. Expenditures climbed to $189,415,600 from $174,858,781.

In the six-month period revenues declined to $1,240,806,376 from $1,314,766,783. Expenditures increased to $941,393,564 from $864,— 291,783.

Corporations Pay More

Income tax collections during the last six months dropped to $333,845,021 from $403,813,413— but collections from corporations climbed to $289,689,191 from $234,— 003,114.

Heavy Demand For Gun Licences Says Issuer

It possibly can be all blamed on the weather, but for some reason there is a considerably greater interest this year in hunting activities.

Eddie Thomas, local issuer of gun licences, today stated there was a heavy demand for licences with approximately 1,000 having been sold to date this year. This number is roughly nine-third greater than at the same time last year.

The duck hunting season opened with a big bang this morning as the shots were heard before the crack of dawn to hide in marshes along the Bay of Quinte. At noon today none of the hunter had returned home to report their luck.

Obituary

WILLIAM BRAY
(West Huntingdon)

William Bray, West Huntingdon, died in the Kingston General Hospital early Saturday morning after an illness of three weeks' duration.

Born in England, the late Mr. Bray was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Bray and two days ago reached the age of 76 years. NEW MIRACLE DRUG

When you read about some new remedial agent that research scientists have discovered, do not expect to find it ready and waiting for you on the pharmacist's shelves.

The published report may precede by weeks or months the date on which the drug can be released for medicinal purposes. Research workers will continue to subject the new substance to use after test until they are entirely satisfied with its effectiveness.

Only after these hurdles are passed and the problems of mass production and shipping are solved will the drug be available for use as your physician may direct.

It takes time and labor to develop a new drug of this character. Many necessary scientific safeguards slow its progress to the pharmacy's shelves. As soon as these requirements are met, your pharmacist will have the new drug available, just as he has all the other amazing new medicines that have been developed these past few years.—Reprinted from a copyrighted advertisement published by Parke, Davis & Company.

Remarkable Progress Made On Veterans' Homes in East End

It's going to be a happy Christmas after all for one group of local war veterans and their families who are now without adequate living accommodation.

For by that time the first six or eight veterans' rental homes on the County Home property south of No. 2 Highway will be ready for occupancy. This was stated during the week by the Bay Shore Mortgage and Housing Corporation housing administrator and was further corroborated by the housing contractor.

The construction superintendent for Zellers Contracting Company who are building the 100 rental units stated yesterday that it was hoped the first units would be ready before the Christmas holidays. First digging on the project was commenced on August 28th.

Remarkable Progress

A visit to the housing project yesterday afternoon revealed that remarkable progress has been made. Practically all the foundations have been dug while the foundations are going at at the rate of three and four per day. Superintendent of works than a quarter of the 100 rental units are underway with the roofs already on nearly a dozen.

First houses that will be ready for occupancy will be a series of eight five room bungalows at the south end of the project and running parallel to the C.P.R. railway.

Production Line Technique

True production line technique has been introduced at the housing project to speed building operations. Approximately 100 men are now engaged in construction work which starts with prefabrication of sidewalls, partitions and other framework on special jigs. The completed sections are then conveyed to the foundation where they are erected.

Three separate contractors, including Zellers, are at work on the different phases of the project. Pouring of foundations is being done by DeFosse of Trenton; Zellers are doing the actual construction of the housing units while Port Hope Construction, Ltd. will underway with the installation of sewers.

Maria Laskaris To Give Recital

Music lovers of Belleville eagerly look forward to the graduation recital of Maria Laskaris, an honor graduate of St. Michael's Music Studio, who merited distinctive praise in the A.R.C.T. Teachers and Solo Performers' Course, last June.

The premier presentation of this young artist is on November 8, at the Collegiate auditorium, and gives to the citizens of Belleville the opportunity to hear and enjoy their home talent.

William Argue Begins Practice Of Law in City

Recent graduate of Osgoode Hall in Toronto, William Argue, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Argue, 238 Charles Street, has commenced practice of law in the city. He is associated with S. Gordon Jones, K.C., 236½ Front Street.

A navy veteran of the last war, Mr. Argue attended Belleville schools, Albert College and Queen's University before he enlisted in the Royal Canadian Navy in 1941. He graduated with an Arts degree at Queen's in 1940.

While with the Navy he was engaged in mine disposal work in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany and on his return to Canada was engaged in the same type of work on the West Coast. He received his discharge in 1945, and went to Osgoode Hall the following year. He was articled to the law office of R. A. Pringle in this city.

500 Children In Fire Drill At Theatre

Fire drill practice was extended to the theatre this morning as 500 children moved in an orderly fashion from the McCarthy Theatre as local firemen made a test in connection with the observance of Fire Prevention Week.

With the sound of the fire alarm the entire 500 children attending the regular Saturday morning theatre club program, moved out of the theatre in 45 seconds flat. Fire Chief Gerald Vance stated it was very unusual for fire drill to be given at a theatre.

School children are entering very enthusiastically into the essay writing and poster drawing contest which is being staged in conjunction with the observance of Fire Prevention Week. The number of children participating is considerably above that of last year, it was stated.

This year the contest has been extended to permit children in four count yschools to participate. Besides the schools in the county township, Foxboro, Cannifton and one on the Kingston Road, and one in Sidney township in Irishtown, are included this year.

Prizes being offered for the prize winning essays and posters are on display at the T. A. Tucker Company window on Front Street.

Premier Meets Belleville Man By Chance, Learns He is Son Of Major Who Saved His Life

Toronto, Oct. 13. (CP) —A chance meeting between Premier Frost of Ontario and a young school teacher at Sturgeon Falls, Ont., last summer, started a chain of events which enabled the premier to pay off a moral debt of 31 years' standing.

In 1918, when the premier was fighting in the trenches of France, his company commander, Maj. George Musgrove, was instrumental in saving his life. The major was killed in action later before Mr. Frost was able to thank him. But he never forgot the major's name.

When the Premier was introduced to W. J. Musgrove, a Belleville School teacher, this summer, he questioned him and found he was the son of the major and that his mother was still alive in Hanover, Ont. Recently Mr. Frost and his wife visited Mrs. Musgrove. Mr. Frost was at last able to pay his respects and express his appreciation for what the major had done for him back in 1918.

SURPLUS REDUCED

Thus, while the government showed a surplus of $131,904,469 less taxes from persons, it got an extra $64,698,077 from corporations.

In the expenditures field increases were noted in payments to provinces for rental of taxation fields by the federal government, higher appropriations to the resources department and for settlements for family allowances and old-age pensions.

In the six months period, payments to provinces for taxation rights increased to $47,037,948 from $43,236,526.

Government spending on baby bonuses amounted to $147,181,040 —sharply up from the $134,450,-039 last year.

Aborigines Keep Tribal Secrets, Scientists Mum

By ANTHONY WHITLOCK
Canadian Press Correspondent

Darwin, Australia, (CP) — A team of Australian scientists and an American photographer left Brisbane last August to explore remote part of Australia's great Northern Territory and to record the social secrets of a primitive tribe of Australian aborigines.

The party recently emerged from this tropical land of salt pans, crocodile-infested rivers and desert with nothing to show for their journey.

Back at Australia's most northern port, the scientists, headed by Prof. Adolphus P. Elkin, noted Sydney University anthropologist, told the white community that they could not reveal anything of what they had learned about tribal rites because they had promised the natives they would keep their secrets.

Their attitude reopens one of Australia's strangest mysteries concerning life in the far outback. Northern Territory people who have spent their lives in this lonely land know of similar scientific missions which set out to discover tribal secrets and returned with sealed lips.

The Territory people remember the scientists from the Adelaide Museum who lived with the blacks for seven years so that civilization would know the facts about tribal rites. He finally captured the blacks' confidence so much that they initiated him into the tribe. Two years later he returned to Adelaide but refused to tell anyone the secrets he had learned.

Australia's well-known outback poet, William Hatnery, has written hundreds of poems about the blacks in the territory but has never betrayed the secrets he knows. He says he would never dare discuss them with a white man.

"Sacred" Says Author

Xavier Herbert, who won the Australian 150th anniversary novel prize with his book on the territory called "Capricornia," won't talk about the tribal secrets either. Like Harney he has lived with the natives for years. But to inquirers he says gruffly: "They are too sacred. Mind your own business."

No one knows what it is about the aborigine or his rites which makes scientists, journalists or novelists keep the secret. There are 13,000 full-blooded natives living in the 523,620 square miles of the Northern Territory. Australians know that they wander making any attempt to grow crops, that they are the best trackers in the world and that their social code is strict and often harsh.

These primitive men survive in a pitiless land only through their extraordinary skill and prowess with their weapons. With a piece of hardwood like a tapered truncheon the black can knock a goose from the sky. With his killing boomerang he could smash your thigh at 300 yards.

He can track a man over clay baked hard as rocks, over hills, creeks, mud flats and car tracks a month after his quarry has made the trail. The Australian Army used him during the war when they found he could hear and see approaching Japanese planes long before a soldier with powerful binoculars.

Efforts to civilize these black men of the Territory have mostly failed. Frustrated missionaries and anthropologists have called them: "The only black race which has conquered civilizes that one western civilization has nothing to offer."

MAORI'S ORIGIN

The aborigines of New Zealand called Maoris, are'n branch of the Australian race, having emigrated from the eastern Pacific prior to the 14th century.

A DEADLIER WEAPON

Pistols were fairly common by the middle of the 19th century.

REV. S. E. LARMAN

Rev. Sidney E. Larman, B.Th., of Strathroy, who will preach at the 76th anniversary services at Holloway Street United Church on Sunday, October 16. In the evening Principal Rev. Dr. Bert Howard, the staff and students of Albert College will attend. Albert College choir will augment Holloway Street Church choir at both morning and evening services and will be under the direction of Maurice Sinnett. Mr. Sinnett will sing solos at both services.

MT. PLEASANT MISSION BAND

Rawdon. —Mrs. John Mulheron entertained Mt. Pleasant Rawdon, Sunbeam Mission Band at her home on Thanksgiving, Monday afternoon.

Miss Anna Scott presided and gave the call to worship and dedicated the offering. All sang several hymns which included "All Things Bright and Beautiful". Miss Eleanor Smith read Psalm 100, and the leader gave a talk on "Thanksgiving". She also told the children an interesting story about a little girl, who learned to be thankful.

Following the program all enjoyed a period of recreation after which refreshments were served.

Women's Institute Observes Grandmothers' Night

MARMORA — Grandmothers' Night was observed by Marmora Women's Institute at the October meeting held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. James Thomson.

In the absence of the president, the Vice President, Mrs. Percy Gray, presided over a large attendance of members.

The roll call "Something I learned from my grandmother" brought responses interesting and amusing. Following adoption of minutes, the financial statement was given by Mrs. W. G. Chrysler. The form for the application for the legislative grant having been received, the branch decided to apply for the same as in previous years.

Tag Day

Mrs. E. E. Prentice drew attention to the Red Cross Aid Tag Day which will be sponsored by the branch next Saturday and appealed for volunteers to assist her that evening, following the afternoon tagging by selected girls.

Mrs Prentice also gave out wool and materials for the layettes members and other baby outfits, including diapers.

Mrs. Gray brought in the matter of the branch being represented at the Area Convention in Belleville with the result that Mrs. L. R. Green was named delegate, with Mrs. Prentice, Mrs Mabel Brady, as alternate.

An invitation was received from Springbrook Women's Institute for the branch to put on the entertainment "The Kitchen Band", as presented so favorably in Marmora a few months ago. The cast will accept the invitation for a date in November to be later arranged.

Nice Program

Mrs. Frank Grant read a paper prepared by Mrs. L. R. Green, on the month's motto "Life is like a garden, dig and delve the seeds you sow".

Mrs. L. R. Ruddle followed with a poem on "The Rich Man and Lazarus", which her grandmother used to recite. An "Alphabet" contest held by Mrs. Edward Forte was won by Mrs. H. J. Nayler. After the meeting closed the committee in charge served refreshments.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

RUSTY BLACKBIRD

Being so well acquainted with the crow, you know that not all blackbirds are Blackbirds. You may not, however, be aware that Blackbirds are not always black.

The Rusty Blackbird is a good example of this. True enough, in spring Mr. Rusty is rather black, lacking somewhat the iridescence of the Grackle. But at that time his wife is slate-grey; and now, in autumn, every member of the family, mother, father, and children, have earned the name "Rusty." Their caps are red, bordered by a light eyebrow line; many feathers are rusty-tipped; and underparts are closely barred.

Those of us living in southern Canada have small opportunity of seeing Rusty Blackbird when they are nesting, because they usually spend just months of our cultivated areas. The nest is said to be made of grasses or moss, either in a tree or on the ground, in swampy woods near lakes or streams. Wading along the edge of the water, they snatch up water-beetles and other insects. Especially in the fall, weed seeds and waste grain are also eaten.

It is when in migration that Rusty Blackbirds can be seen in large numbers. Then they pass through, often in huge flocks of mixed Blackbirds, but may be identified when close at hand by their pale yellow eyes. Grackles are the only others with similar eyes, but their considerably larger size and long, keel-like tails prevent us from confusing them with the rest of the Blackbirds. The average length of a Rusty is 9 inches the size of a small robin. The male redwing's bright epaulets are distinctive; the female reminds us of a large Sparrow, heavily striped. The Cowbird averages only 7½ inches, and has a very much shorter bill.

Rusty Blackbirds must be hardy because the snow is sometimes still lying on the ground when they are moving north in the spring, and they are in the last Blackbird flocks to go south in the fall. In late October you may come upon a group. They spend the night roosting in a marsh, or on bushes that border open water. Their call note is a loud, characteristic "chack." Strangely enough, even at this season when other songs are scarce, you have a good chance of hearing a Rusty sing "koo-a-lee"; though you will doubtless hardly consider this a song but just a creaking rather penetrating noise, something like the sounds made by a rusty hinge. Gurgles and chokes mingle with the whistled notes.

Are all Birds' heads alike?

PARROT TULIP FANTASY

Parrot tulips are so called because of the resemblance of the bud to a parrot's beak. The flowers are large with curious twisted petals, and have green tints intermingled. They come in many beautiful colours. As cut flowers they are unsurpassed.

Tulips are natives of South Eastern Europe, and have been cultivated since mediaval times. Plant in groups in well-lined soil, enriched with bone-meal. Asure good drainage. Plant four inches deep, and six inches apart. Set on a trowel full of coarse sand. Mulch lightly in winter after the ground freezes. Do not cut off leaves after flowering, these are necessary to allow sap to return to bulbs so they will mature properly. Raise and separate bulbs every two or three years.

HYDRO SITUATION IMPROVED

The Weatherman continues to act in a kindly manner and Jupiter Pluvius offers rain not very rarely.

The weather indeed has been encouraging, it might even be said to be co-operating with considerable importance in adding to the body of water in the great reservoirs of the north country held for its release and transformation into electric energy at the time needed.

The Province is fortunate in possessing this great development of electrical power for the welfare and progress of its people who are pleased that the situation is better than that existing according to Hydro Commission Chairman Robert Saunders.

He paid a tribute the other day to the merchants for their co-operation for the successful upholding of restrictions.

This year there is more demand for power and light and the supply is greater. The chairman noted what has been apparent to all and has pleased everyone—that there has been much greater fall of rain this year than last year before and at this time.

The situation last year was serious as everyone realises for everyone remembers the restrictions and controls which were found necessary at that time. Municipalities which last autumn came to know what allocations meant have the hope that such will not be necessary and that the situation will continue to improve until the great new power projects now under way are brought in.

QUADRUPLETS

In Sault Ste. Marie there took place on Thursday an event which found its place among the major news stories of the day, the birth of quadruplet daughters to Mrs. Eileen Hargreaves of that city.

Such an event will always be news even as the birth of a single baby is an event of importance in any country or any community.

It is natural that such a blessed event should always absorb public thirst for news for the family is the foundation of everything that has to do with the human race.

The Hargreaves family will be in the nation's eye for quadruplets are rare. Everyone will hope that they will all enjoy the best of health and that their lives will run smoothly, unmarred by dire events. Early reports indicated that the four girls are all expected to live.

WALK LIKE RAG DOLL, ADVICE

The chief reason for the increasing number of mental crack-ups, according to medical experts, is the increased nervous tension brought on by the pace of modern life. Capitalizing on this, a few persons are making very good livings by teaching other people how to relax and so rid themselves of tension.

Such a person is Jo Miller, who works with leading U. S. executives for something like $100 an hour. He is hired, say, by major league baseball teams for as much as $3,000 a month to teach their ballplayers how to relax.

One of the chief bits of advice by this high-priced expert is: walk like a rag doll, loose and easy, and you'll increase your job efficiency 100 per cent. He has developed a whole series of tricks for easing one's nervous strain, physically and mentally. One of his favorites is to have his clients arrange to lie down sometime during the day with pillows under their knees and arms as well as under the head. This enables them to "sprawl out" in the full sense of the word.

He contends high pressure executives to curb their jangled nerves simply by stopping in the middle of their tasks once or twice a day and turning to something totally different. For instance, he recommends that engineers pick up articles in the theatre and read them during regular working hours.

During the day, says Miller, you should let your jaw sag until it touches your chest a couple of times, mentally saying "let go, let go." You may look foolish, but he insists you'll feel less tired at the end of the day's work.—Woodstock Sentinel Review.

Perfect happiness, I believe, was never intended by the Diety to be the lot of one of His creatures in this world; but that He has very much put in our power the nearness of our approaches to it is what I have steadfastly believed.—Jefferson.

THAT AGE OF WISDOM

Time was when I was very small and fancied that I knew it all,
That nothing more to learn remained, my father often said:
"Be very sad that boys must grow to learn how little they know
When Time has taken wisdom off and left them doubt instead.

"Make much of now, my son," said he, "for only once so wise you'll be.
With every day that follows on your confidence will shrink.

"In time—perhaps within the year—what's true will not be quite so clear,
For wisdom's not as lightly gained as now you seem to think.

"This age of wisdom won't endure, nor will you long be quite so sure.
Nor will you be so proud and wise throughout your days again.
So show your smartness while you may, for you will learn in the years ahead
That those who do, and know, the most are always humble men."

LOOKING BACKWARDS

20 YEARS AGO

October 15th, 1929

The needs of the local Y.M. C. A. this year total $6,000 and in order to secure this amount a campaign has been launched with an enthusiastic number of workers in charge. There are five divisions under the leadership of H. W. Ackerman, B. J. Jennings, Charles Hance, A. W. Lamb and George Griffin.

New Air Camp is a boom to Belleville. When the Dominion Government decided to move the flying training camp from Borden to a new site near Trenton the Ivan Rio district received the greatest impetus to sport in its history. The flying officers, mechanics and helpers about the airport are all sportsmen, and their boys being letter men from various universities in Canada and the United States.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

In Scotland and the north of England, the thumb stick has been popular for generations. For walking in the country, a thumb stick is every bit as comforting as the family Bible.

In length, it should just reach from your thumb to the ground. Its top consists of a simple crotch, the stubbier the better, for your thumb rests there. A good, straight thumb stick is a hard thing to find, and you have to search out and cut most of the walking sticks for the trade in the British Isles. Hazel is the favored for beautiful specimens of the finger-walking sticks, but ash, blackthorn, holly and various fruitwoods, shall be light and strong. For they get good service for them from men like Ben Cox, whose little shop opposite Selfridge's in Oxford Street, is one of the most famous in the world.

When walking with a thumb stick, you grasp it about ten inches or so from the crotch, and use it like a light staff as you stride along. But when you come to a hill or a slope, the thumb stick becomes a miraculous thing, like an extra leg. You shift your grip up to the top, setting your thumb in the crotches, but all often too thick slanted back, you go up a hill like a feather. The Scottish shepherds use them more commonly than crooks. Men like the late Lord Tweedsmuir made collections of them. In Canada, they are becoming popular amongst trout fishermen on the trailing line, for generations they are every bit as good as your second wind on a portage.

Hunting for thumb sticks in the woods is a fascinating hobby. Maple and ash yield the best crotches, but are often too thick to make good sticks. They should be little thicker than your little finger. Such woods as ash, ironwood, elm, have the best quality though you can hunt for hours in the annual wind plant life of the woods as you notice on an ordinary walk.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE WORLD'S BEST HOPE

Most people when they think about God think only of what God can do for them, but what God can do with them. They are always seeking gifts, not rewards seeking fellowship, or soldiers anxious to display brave and resourceful leaders.

But look out over the world and ask yourself how God is ever going to make anything out of this sorry mess, unless men will get to work and are willing to be used by the dynamic and humbling enterprise of doing the impossible. If we will praise and reward, let us say away to the top, and from his needy. If we long for the thrill of leadership, let us forget about lifting burdens from the backs of our brothers. Work of this sort has to be done by people who forgot themselves.

Jesus told his friends that unless they became bondservants they could not be qualified to be in his kingdom. He placed all his hopes and built his kingdom on the disposition and efforts of humble men. But they were men whom God could use. Through them He could work. They were not always thinking of what God could do for them; they were thinking of what God should do something with them and through them.

There are not many who have this willingness, but that little remnant constitutes the world's best hope.

Washington Spotlight:

Canada, U.S. and U.K. Moving Closer in Development of A-Energy

By GEORGE KITCHEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Oct. 15 — (CP) — Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom are reported here to be moving quietly closer to full partnership in the development of atomic energy for war or peace.

Exploratory discussions to this end were held here last month by negotiators from the three governments and will be resumed in the near future, probably sometime in November.

The discussions are another phase of the continuing meetings on atomic relationships which the three countries have held since the war, but this time the emphasis is on steps to coordinate wartime co-operation on atomic matters.

Trade Minister Howe, the minister responsible for Canada's atomic development, was the Dominion's principal negotiator last month and probably will become here again when the discussions resume.

As part of a continuing study, the talks were planned long before the three governments learned of the Soviet atomic explosion.

A cautious report of "good progress" came out of the September meeting and observers here interpret that, if Congress is willing, there is a good chance of a three-power agreement early next year providing for these things:

1. Full interchange of scientists and of information between the three countries, possibly with a few specific types of atomic detail still to be kept secret.

2. Long-term assurance that all three countries can get uranium ore from the Belgian Congo, apportioned according to their needs.

3. A joint three-power atomic program under which each country could do the kind of atomic development for which it is best fitted. This might mean, for example, that the United States would concentrate on atomic weapons, Britain on the peacetime atomic power plants, and all three perhaps, on production of fission-able materials.

Any such agreement would require approval by the United States Congress. This might take the form of legislation to amend the McMahon Atomic Act, which now forbids the exchange of atomic information, or a joint Congressional resolution granting broad new powers to President Truman.

Bar Still Most Promising Milestone on Route to Commons

By H. DENT HODGSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Oct. 15 — (CP) — Admission to the bar still is the most promising milestone on the route to parliament.

Being a farmer is next best, but there's practically no limit to the number of professions which might lead to the "M.P." after a man's name, or a woman's either, although this is an all-male Commons.

A survey of the professions of members of the new parliament shows 81 lawyers in the 363-seat House of Commons. Some 45 are farmers, 20 are merchants and the rest range from gentlemen to plumbers.

Prime Minister St. Laurent in his election papers described his occupation — naturally enough — as "Prime Minister of Canada." Opposition leader George Drew described himself as "barrister," M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, marked down "National Leader," and Solon Low, Social Credit leader, party, wrote simply, "Gentleman."

Eight others listed themselves as gentlemen. Nine called themselves publishers or managers. Eight were teachers, but one described himself as an education-ist.

In the new House there are six doctors, six manufacturers, six "agents," four accountants, four insurance salesmen, and three ministers, civil engineers, salesmen, lumber dealers and contractors.

Three are dentists, sales managers, mining engineers and miners, and a hockey coach — Bucko McDonald, the Liberal member from Parry Sound-Muskoka.

How versatile can a Commons gal get? Here are some of the other listings:

Secretary, insurance broker, translator, textile dyer, chiropodist, grain broker, woodsman, explorers and others who have had plenty of experience with "exposure" is almost entirely negative, that is to say, they have not suffered from any particular disease in consequence of severe exposure. Their experience once the experience of your first-aide philosophers in getting caught in draft is getting your feet wet or going without your overcoat is laughable, or at any rate I got a chuckle listening to your funny recitals.

WINNIE CAUGHT A COLD

The Other Fellow's Products Are Unsatisfactory

Aunt Polly reported from Nice, France, that Winston Churchill had completely recovered from the cold he caught basking on the Riviera. No doubt he got his feet wet.

It is remarkable how well Aunt Polly knew just where the great war minister caught it.

Old fogies whose thinking, if they do any thinking, about the nature and cause of the respiratory diseases is channeled and fossilized, cannot help but assume that their beliefs about the effects of "exposure" to cold, damp, drafts of wet feet and insufficient clothing are established by universal experience. Old times, both medical and non-medical, took the same attitude in regard to malaria fever, malaria and other diseases, the nature and causes of which they did not know.

The truth is that no one has been able to prove anything about that is, by properly controlled experiments upon human subjects that "exposure" in the common sense of the word predisposes to respiratory disease of any kind or measurably impairs any immunity the individual has against any such disease, as knucklesdede like to say, "lowers resistance."

If any physician or health authority cares to contradict my statement about this I'll be happy to print his or her statement provided it responds to more than one, and I'll print or withhold the name of the physician, as he or she wishes. It is a matter of professional courtesy to submit the manuscript to the physician for his or her final approval before I give it to the public.

As for universal experience the testimony of soldiers, sailors, lumbers, fishermen, woodsmen, explorers and others who have had plenty of experience with "exposure" is almost entirely negative, that is to say, they have not suffered from any particular disease in consequence of severe exposure. Their experience once the experience of your first-aide philosophers in getting caught in draft is getting your feet wet or going without your overcoat is laughable, or at any rate I got a chuckle listening to your funny recitals.

Salesman for steel utensils condemns aluminum utensils as being unsanitary. (Mrs. A. S.)

Answer—The salesman for aluminum utensils, should come right back at and condemn steel utensils, then the two should get together and condemn copper, iron, tin, glass etc. Aluminum utensils have proved sanitary in our home ever since Topsy was a colt.

Raw Egg Delusion.

I take a raw egg every morning, and have a time getting it down. Cold. In the past two years did I realize that cane and pretty packages do not always hide some healthful food...and that refined, white bread is only cheat-food compared with the whole-wheat, your teachings, (Miss D. M.)

Answer—How did you ever get anyone to eat in there? My teaching is that egg cooked as you like it is delicious, nutritious and most digestible.

A Million Kinds of Iodine

One druggist laughed at the idea of there being more than one iodine. (Mrs. E. W.)

Answer—I'll assure you try to buy iodine the druggist so often says "Yes, ma'am, which kind do you want? Do you like it more strengths and forms . . ." Send stamped self-addressed envelope and ask in writing to instructions for taking an Iodin Ration.

Boy Stutter

Son, aged 5, has recently started to stutter quite a lot. (Mrs. N. V. C.)

Answer—Send stamped self addressed envelope and ask in writing for pamphlet which tells how to correct Stuttering. If the boy is naturally left-handed you must not force him to use right (s) do-not interfere or permit anyone to interfere with his use of the left hand.

Your Nails and Malnutrition

Cause of white spots under the finger nails. They appear under all the nails and go away only when the nails grow out. (Mrs. O. W.)

Answer — a manifestation of nutritional deficiency, due to your faulty diet and too starchy foods and hence lack of sufficient vitamins and minerals to maintain vitality. Send for my basic health diet described in detail the way to Vita. For copy send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope. Or supplement your present diet with the three minerals and three vitamins described in pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks, mailed on written request for same self addressed stamped self addressed envelope.

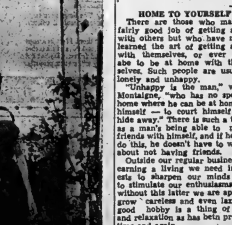
TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

HOME TO YOURSELF

There are those who make a fairly good job of getting along with others but who have never learned the art of getting along with themselves, or ever being able to be at home with themselves. Such people are usually lonely and unhappy.

"Unhappy is the man," wrote Montaigne, "who has no spot at home where he can be at home to himself — to court himself and hide away." There is such a thing as a man's being able to make friends with himself, and if he can do this, he doesn't have to worry about not having friends.



Outside our regular business of earning a living we need interests to sharpen our minds and to stimulate our enthusiasms, for without this latter we are apt to grow careless and even lazy. A good hobby is a thing of rest and relaxation as has been proved time and again.

Anyone can learn to be home to himself, or himself. Walt Mason, whose prose-poems were once household readings all over America, had a hobby which consisted of his garden in La Jolla, California, where he spent many hours of two other writers who had a similar place, this home to themselves and yet contacting a multitude through their writings, but left those quiet hide-aways.

When you are home to yourself you can be yourself, free and honest. You can self-examine and self-criticize. You can formulate a plan of life. You can talk things over yourself. Many a one has done just this in the quiet and solitude of some secluded spot. Such is the responsibility for his own success or failure in life he can always be near his own best counsellor and adviser.

We are very free to open up our mind and heart to anyone in whom we have confidence, and whom we know have loyal, but we fail to open up with our own self. In early life Benjamin Franklin made a daily practice of self-examination, and self-instruction. This procedure undoubtedly added to the worldwide usefulness of this great statesman.

Simply at home to yourself—that should really mark an ever and one of great importance in your relationship to life. Arrange the hour. You may meet a friend who may become your friend!

Accident Prevention Only One Phase of Good Production

"What is a human life worth? What is a man's leg worth or his arm or his hand or his foot or his eyes Which of you would dare place a value on a human life?" asked R. B. Morley, General Manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, speaking at a dinner meeting of the local division held at the Hotel Quinte last night. "The compensation of injured workers can never be entirely just, no law can fix an injured man's compensation accurately on his past earnings or his future prospects," he added.

Mr. Morley pointed out that the first ten claims against the Workman's Compensation Board set the pattern for the next two and a half million which were to follow. He stated that 82 per cent of the claims made in 1948 fell into the same category as those first ten claims of 1915. "This thing will go on through the years unless there is more complete cooperation," he added.

He pointed out that a plant could not operate without co-operation. You must have co-operation in production and accident prevention is simply one phase of good production," he stated. Workman Always Pays

"Let us consider who pays in case of accidents," he said. He showed that first of all the workman pays both with physical suffering and mental anguish and sometimes with life itself. Mr. Morley pointed out that the family of the workman must pay.

He continued by showing that the employer must pay through compensation costs, through plant damage through first aid costs, through the cost of replacing and training of injured men, for confusion and lost time following an accident and for lowered morale through fear created.

He pointed out that the consumer must pay through the increased cost of goods due to accident cost.

"It has been estimated that the hidden or indirect costs equal four times the amount of compensation paid," he stated.

Must Use Safety Devices

He went on to point out how useless it was for management to buy safety devices if they were not used. He stated that any foreman who did not see that such devices were used to prevent accidents in his department was not only failing in his duty but was also failing in one of his best opportunities to keep down production costs.

Mr. Morley stated that rules and regulations alone could not prevent accidents but only the observance of sound rules could cut down the accident toll in industry. He pointed out that the aim was "Education and cooperation rather than legislation and compulsion".

Before concluding Mr. Morley showed what was being done in the way of accident prevention by citing some figures. He pointed out that in 1920 the compensation board paid for 40,907 cases of which 2,686 were permanent disabilities and deaths. He pointed out that in 1946 there were 102,290 claims with the same number of disabilities and deaths. He showed that in 1948 there were 161,733 claims with only 2,439 disabilities and deaths. He pointed out that with the astly increased number of employees covered since 1920 that the death and disabilities had been lowered and that this in itself showed that prevention was working.

He pointed out that accident prevention was chiefly the responsibility of management. "Let us all know the hazards, find the hazards and correct the hazards," he concluded.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. George Sinclair and the appreciation of the members was expressed by Mr. Fred Ehler.

FOXBORO LADIES' GUILD

An enjoyable and profitable afternoon was spent at the County Home on Wednesday afternoon by the Foxboro Ladies' Guild, when they held their Thanksgiving meeting. In honor of a former member and organist of the church, Mrs. John Jacques. Fourteen members were present, and Miss Spencer, president, opened the meeting with call to worship and singing of a Thanksgiving hymn and prayer by Mrs. Joby. A lovely service of Worship "We Thank Thee", was taken from the Presbyterian Record and followed by several ladies taking part.

A duet "Does Jesus Care?" was rendered by Mrs. Johnston and Miss Nellie Bell. Roll call was responded to by a verse of Thanksgiving. Business discussion followed. The November meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Bell.

Refreshments were served and a warm welcome extended to Mrs. York and her helpers for their kind hospitality. A social time was enjoyed by all.

Three of the Sault Ste. Marie quadruplets are doing well, the fourth, according to Doctor John McDonald, is not doing as well as expected. Shown here in their incubator, they prove they have lusty lungs, remind visitors of kewpie dolls. — Central Press Canadian.

Figuring in fours now is C. O. Hargreaves, surprised and happy father of Sault Ste. Marie quadruplets, born Thursday. Here he offers proud grandfather, Kendall Knight, cigars in quantity. He expected twin boys.—Central Press Canadian.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

From Toronto we've come back with another pet story. It seems a woman saw her big black pussy sick and meowing with pain under the back porch. She phoned the veterinary, persuading him to rush to the scene. The doctor gave pussycat a hypo and took him off to hospital . . . Meantime, the sick mistress phoned her husband at the office to tell him the sad tale. She got hourly progress reports from the hospital on Jemima's condition . . .

Promptly at six o'clock, a healthy big black cat sharpened his claws on the screen door, needing for his evening saucer of milk. The sick animal turned out to be somebody else's cat By the way, it did get better.

Have you read about an English woman who became a Canadian Indian by her marriage to a most intelligent Indian guide? Consequently, she is considered, like her husband, a ward of the King and has no privilege of voting . . .

Mrs. Gisela Commanda, the Indian by Marriage addressed the Ontario Recreation Association recently. She was not discussing the rights of Indians, but giving the delegates ideas on how to attract more tourists by utilizing the folklore and the culture of the Indians.

A member of the Canadian Author Association, Mrs. Commanda, writer and research worker, has prepared three manuscripts about Indian life. She is using her knowledge of 40 crafts in her teaching position at Toronto's Central Technical School. Her summers are spent on the reservation.'

Surely we boasters of the Dempster way of life will shortly wake up to the fact that we must practise a little more democracy right on our own doorstep by revising Canadian laws with regard to Indians. Let's at least be democratic before criticizing other forms of government.

Do you hate to tackle the oven grill after a delicious session with pork chops and salmon steaks? It really isn't half as onerous a job if you place a sheet of brown paper to fit into the pan before grilling the chops. When they're browned, all you have to do is remove the brown oily paper and the pan is easily washed off.

AutumnTea, Sale ByAlbertCollege Guild Enjoyed

Nature was most prodigal with her palette yesterday afternoon in the making of the beautiful carpet before the old Manor House where Albert College Guild held their Autumn tea and sale of home cooking. So many lovely colors were intermingled, the golden aureolin, burnt sienna, raw umber, scarlet, madder, vermillion, emerald green, cadmium orange, Indian yellow, with splashes of brown pink, and here and there brown ochre and a drop or two of neutral. A wondrous carpet, fitting complement to the loveliness within with its soft green walls, assaultux bordered ceiling, and masses of Autumn leaves, bronze mums, graceful ferns, and orchid-tinted Michaelmas daisies.

Receiving at the door were Mrs. W. S. Northcott, president of the Guild; Mrs. Bert Howard and Miss Jessie Wills, and in the spacious parlor, Mrs. H. Ackerman, Mrs. C. Morgan, and Mrs. W. H. Finkle.

In the dining room was the daintily appointed tea table with its lace cloth, its silver tea service, centered with a large bowl of bronze 'mums, interspersed with ochre-tinted zinnias, and flanked on either side with twin pairs of silver candle holders with tall green tapers.

Those Who Presided

Those who presided during the first part of the afternoon were: Mrs. M. B. Weese and Mrs. H. Clarke, and in the latter part, Mrs. F. Deacon, Sr., and Mrs. V. Morrison. While those who served from 3 to 4.30 were: Miss H. Sulman, Mrs. Charles Hyde, Mrs. L. Hodgins and Miss Ivy Hodgins, Mrs. B. Simpson, Mrs. T. Franklin, Mrs. A. MacDonald and Mrs. D. Howell, and from 4.30 to 6.

Replenishing the often emptied plates were: Mrs. H. Peaterly, Mrs. F. Foley, Mrs. W. McMillan and Mrs. R. Bateman.

At the home cooking table in the study, with its background of Autumn leaves and flowers were Mrs. S. Hibbard, the convener, and her assistants, Mrs. F. Counryman and Mrs. I. Hefkey, who were kept busy wrapping up the delicious pies and cakes, buns and cookies, and all manner of good things to eat. There were green tomato pickles, grape jelly, grape jam, canned apple sauce, a tempting veal loaf garnished with sprigs of parsley, a jelly roll that would melt in the mouth; little gems of cakes with green tops, surmounted with a walnut meat, (which tasted just as good as they looked) an angel cake that took wings and flew away as soon as it touched the table, hermits, brownes, jiam-jams, and a gorgeous orange cake topped with mounds of shredded cocoanut, and a high-meringued lemon pie that vanished as if Mandrake, the magician had been present. All in all, a lovely exhibition of the culinary art which seems to have reached its acme in Belleville.

Over this splendid afternoon tea and home cooking sale were the two conveners, Mrs. F. Moon, and Mrs. B. Howard, to whom much appreciation and credit is due.

Founder of Youth For Christ Speaks On the Will of Life

Wednesday evening the auditorium of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle was filled to overflowing when the Rev. Reinhold Barth of Chicago, founder and director of the Youth for Christ movement, and Mrs. Barth, former dance band blues singer now WMBI staff singer in message and song the story of a Saviour's redeeming love for lost humanity.

Following the opening prayer by Rev. J. S. A. Speaman of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and the singing of "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder" by the choir of mixed voices, with Miss Dorothy Mitchell, at the piano, the Evangelists, Mr. and Mrs. Barth were introduced to the congregation by the president of the Youth for Christ, Mr. Robert Brown.

Several musical numbers were rendered, including the singing of Sankey's well known hymn, "There Were Ninety and 99 Nine" by Mrs. Barth, who sang with such appealing sweetness, and colorful degree of shading, making of the hymn a vocal picture, which will not easily be forgotten. Mrs. Barth also sang two other lovely numbers, "Precious Lord, Hold My Hand" and "Only Believe and Live".

Master Kenny Graham, of the Salvation Army, gave a fine rendition by cornet of "The Church's One Foundation", and the choir, under the splendid, but the prompting leadership of Miss Ferne Gerry, due to the illness of the regular leader, sang with much feeling, "Peace, Be Still".

Mr. Barth took his message from the Scripture which he had previously read, John 4:13-14: "Jesus answered and said unto her, Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again but whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

Fascinating Story

"This story," said Mr. Barth, "is one of the most fascinating in the life of Jesus. It shows the character, charmed. It is also one of the 'musts' of Jesus' life—one of the imperatives. As in the story of Zacheus, the same 'must' appears: "today I must abide at thy house." he told Zacheus. It was Zacheus' last chance for salvation as Jesus was on his way to Jerusalem to offer His life a ransom for many.

So, here, too, the same 'must' appears. To the woman at Sychar's well, it was her last chance. Jesus would never more pass that way."

In speaking to the woman of Samaria, Jesus overstepped several things that were anathems to the Jews. The Samaritans were a mongrel race; also, Jesus to a woman of ill-fame. Jesus fulfilled the prophecy which said: "He maketh himself of no reputation". He lowered himself to lift her up. He had to show her her sin to overcome her bitterness of soul. This He did with loving tact.

In making the application to modern days, Mr. Barth pointed out that there are several wells from which we draw water that whosoever drinketh shall thirst again: the well of worldly pleasure; the well of worldly wealth; the well of pride. "Man's thirst is spiritual. Earthly wells do not quench that thirst. Water is representative of the Holy Spirit who is the agent of salvation."

At the conclusion of the meeting at the well, the woman of Samaria said: "Sir, give me this water," the receipt of which caused a turning from her sin, and that of the city of Samaria. Even as Jesus must needs have gone through Samaria, concluded the speaker, even so "must" He go through Belleville, and through every city where the people need the water of life eternal.

Young Couple Recipients of Lovely Gifts

Stirling.—On Friday evening, about 175 friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Sarles to honor their daughter, Barbara, and her husband, Mr. Jack Gregory, on the occasion of their recent marriage.

Rev. W. H. V. Walker was chairman for a program which opened with Mrs. Hiram Rodgers and Mrs. Roy Eggleton leading in community singing. Readings were given by Mrs. Hamilton Donnan, Mrs. L. Rodgers and Mr. Philip Carr, while Misses Aileen and Evelyn Cooke contributed a duet.

Mrs. Leslie McKeown read the address from the community and Rayburn Woods and Leslie McKeown presented the newlyweds with a 26-piece set of dishes, and a linen table cloth and flower bowl from the charivari gang.

Mrs. Hiram Rodgers read the address from the Women's Institute and Mrs. Henry Cooke presented the bride and groom with a water set from the Institute.

Mr. Donald McKeown presented them with a wool blanket from the girls at the garage where Jack is employed.

Jack and Barbara thanked their friends for the gifts and invited them to visit them in their new home.

"For They are Jolly Good Fellows", was then sung, after which brief speeches by Oliver Sharpe, Frank Woods, Hiram Rodgers, Will West and Volney Richardson were given.

Refreshments were served, and a social time enjoyed.

Plunging Neckline for Men Latest Design -- Yoo, Hoo, Boys!

Paris, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Plunging purple necklines and all—the new look for men has been unveiled in Paris.

It's all because tailor Gaston Wallenet tells the man today is in a state of "vestimentary inferiority." Wallenet yesterday showed an audience of 500 what he would do about it.

Four young men from the Conservatory of Dramatic Arts, there were no male fashion models to be had—turned and walked about to show 16 such confidence-boosting ensembles as:

Ginger-length coats;

Alligator skin shoes with inch-high crepe soles;

A purplish prune-colored dinner jacket with "plunging neckline" — plunging to the middle of the stomach.

An equally prune-hued fallcoat, with opera cape of lighter purple sporting an elaborate antique silver chain clasp.

Old Asian Culture Found in USSR

Moscow — (Reuters) — A Russian expedition has discovered traces of an ancient culture which flourished between the third and fifth centuries in the Soviet central-Asian republic of Kara-Kalpak.

The expedition found ancient texts written on wood, sculptures and paintings in the fortress of Toprak-Kala, capital of the Chorism Empire which was conquered by the Arabs in 712.

Prof. Sergei Tolstov, director of the ethnographic Institute of the Soviet Academy of Science, led the expedition.

Junior Farmers, Junior Institute Hold Divine Service

On Sunday night last at 8.00 p.m., DST, Thurlow Junior Farmers and Junior Institute held a divine worship service in Cannifton church. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, fruits and vegetables for the Thanksgiving service. The church was filled to capacity. A choir, composed of 22 members, contributed two anthems while Miss Marilyn Eggleton was soloist singing "Bless This House." Miss Ann Clare, in her capable manner, was organist.

Call to worship was given by Gerald Eggleton, president of the Junior Farmers. Miss Shirley Badgley led in responsive reading. John Huffman had prayer, Miss Muriel Clare, president of Junior Institute, read the scripture reading. Douglas Ross gave the address, choosing as his topic "Privilege Means Responsibility." Members of other clubs in the county were present. The offering was donated to "Save the Children" fund.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Rawdon. — Mount Pleasant church hall was crowded with Autumn leaves in all their varied colors, potted plants, baskets of fruits and vegetables for the Thanksgiving service on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Malcolm Sharp presided at the piano. The Rev. H. C. Vachon gave a special Thanksgiving message. The W.M.S. Autumn Thank-offering amounted to over $27. The two bands also received several donations to carry on their work.

Say it With Cauliflowers

Everyone is quite familiar with the many delightful ways in which cauliflower may be used but it may be a surprise to some that the green stalks around the cauliflower are delicious in their own right and, incidentally, make a head of cauliflower go twice as far. So, when buying a head of cauliflower consider it as two vegetables, the head as one and the stalks and cuttle leaves as the other.

Cauliflower, a member of the cabbage family, is not a new vegetable since for centuries before being grown in Canada it was cultivated along the Mediterranean. It came to this continent via England.

Select Carefully

When buying cauliflower, it is wise to look it over carefully to make sure it is of high quality. The head or "curd" should be snowy white since a yellowish or brown colour indicates exposure to the sun and usually a strong flavor. The head should be smooth and compact, not rough-surfaced, spread or divided by leaves. Looseness in the head usually indicates over-maturity. The outer stalks and any leaves should be green and fresh looking. If wilted, the cauliflower is probably old or has been improperly shipped.

The amount of cauliflower to buy varies depending on whether it is to be served as a main dish, as a vegetable or in combination with other vegetables. To serve six, as an accompanying vegetable, choose a cauliflower weighing between 3 and 3½ pounds.

The home economists of Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggest several ways of using both the head and the stalks of cauliflowers.

BOILED CAULIFLOWER

1 medium head cauliflower (3 to 3½ lb.)
Boiling salted water

Remove outer stem and leaves of cauliflower. Wash thoroughly and place, head down, in cold salted water, and soak for 30 minutes. Drain. Cook, covered, head up, in a small amount of boiling salted water just until stalk is tender. Drain well and serve whole or in pieces. If desired buttered bread crumbs or grated cheese may be sprinkled over the top of the cauliflower or any of the following sauces poured over. Yield: Six servings.

SAUCES

1. 1¼ cups medium cream sauce seasoned with ¼ teaspoon nutmeg.

2. 1½ cups medium cream sauce with ½ cup grated cheese added.

3. 1 can condensed mushroom, celery or cream of pea soup without ½ cup grated cheese added. Cheese may be cheddar or process (plain or pimento.)

SCALLOPED CAULIFLOWER

1 medium head cauliflower (3-3½ lb.)
1½ cups of any of the above sauces
Buttered bread crumbs, grated cheese or diced bacon.

Cook cauliflower in boiling, salted water until just tender. Drain well and separate into flowerets. Place in a greased baking dish, pour hot sauce over top, sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs, grated cheese or small pieces of bacon. Place in a very hot oven, 425 degrees F., until crumbs are brown or cheese melted. Yield: six servings.

FRIED CAULIFLOWER

1 medium head cauliflower, broken in flowerets
2 egg yolks
½ cup milk
¾ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt

Cook cauliflower in boiling, salted water until just tender, about 15 minutes. Drain well. Beat egg yolks until light, add milk, then stir in flour and salt.

Beat batter until smooth. Dip each flowerets in the batter then drop into hot fat 380 degrees F., or deep until golden. Serve plain or with a sauce. Yield: six servings.

CAULIFLOWER STALKS AND LEAVES IN CHEESE SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
Few grains cayenne and black pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1½ cups milk
1 cup grated cheddar or diced process cheese
3 to 4 cups cauliflower stalks and leaves, cut in thin strips
Buttered bread crumbs

Cut cauliflower stalks and leaves into thin strips about 2 inches in length. Cook, covered, in one cup boiling, salted water 35 minutes or in pressure cooker 15 minutes. Drain. Melt butter in top of double boiler. Blend in flower and seasonings. Add milk slowly, stirring until melted. Add cooked cauliflower. Place mixture in a greased baking dish, top with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F., until crumbs are browned. Yield: six servings (3 cups).

Women's Activities

WALLBRIDGE L.O.B.A.

The regular meeting of Wallbridge L.O.B.A. No. 1108 was held on Monday evening, in the Orange Hall at Wallbridge. Sister Margaret Hinchliffe, W.M., took the chair and Sister Freda Fair presided at the piano.

Sister Margaret Hinchliffe, W.M., welcomed Sister Hollo from Holloway L.O.B.A., and Sister Pearl Woods from Belleville L.O.B.A. who were visiting with the members of the Wallbridge L.O.B.A.

Sister Hazel Wannamaker was elected Secretary, having been absent last meeting due to a very painful scald on the hand.

Sister Helen Fisher won the draw.

Sister Marjorie Woods, Treasurer, gave the report for the past month. Receipt for that time totalled $81.82.

Sister Margaret Hinchliffe, W.M., then closed the meeting. The lunch committee served refreshments while a social hour was enjoyed by all.

CHRIST CHURCH PARISH GUILD

Christ Church Parish Guild held their regular monthly meeting in the parish hall on Tuesday, with the president, Mrs. F. E. Hickey, presiding. The meeting opened in the usual manner with Mrs. Horace Wilkins at the piano.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and adopted, also those of the rectory and remembrance committees.

Following a short business session, the Rev. J. Grant Sparling, led the meeting in a study of the opening chapter of the Gospel according to St. John.

The president extended the thanks of the meeting to Mr. Sparling for the instructive study period.

Mrs. A. W. Jordon then presented the Parish Guild with a beautiful hand crocheted tablecloth and the gift of a friend of the Guild. Mrs. Jordon also delighted the gathering with a most appropriate reading.

Various other Christ Church organizations shared this happy meeting including St. George's Guild, W.A. branches and Contact Club.

Miss Florence Fitzgerald closed the meeting after which the social committee served a refreshing cup of tea.

ST. ANDREW'S AUXILIARY

On Tuesday afternoon the St. Andrew's Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society held their annual Thank-offering. There were present women from the auxiliaries in Picton, Demorsto, Trenton, Foxboro, Roslin, Burnbrae, Stirling and Madoc, who were welcomed by Mrs. J. G. Hornsby.

Mrs. Mantle, the president, presided and opened the meeting. The theme was centred with the service, women from Picton, taking the devotional period using the text "It Shall be Bitter. . . . But Sweet", as subject for meditation. Mrs. Bailey of Foxboro, gave "Current Events", gleaned from "The Glad Tidings", and Mrs. Peck of Stirling, a reading, urging an optimistic outlook through Trust in God.

The offering was dedicated by Mrs. John Craig, and Mrs. H. Brown delighted all with a solo.

Mrs. D. L. Fleming, president of Kingston Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, was the special speaker, who gave an interesting account of the General Council held in Grace Church in Calgary. It was eighteen years since it had met in the West. The women from the East travelled together and were welcomed with true Western hospitality and were given a trip to see the mountains at Banff and Lake Louise by the city.

Mrs. Fleming found the discussions and reports most interesting and helpful. She spoke of the exhibit of work done by pupils of the Indian School at Birtle, Manitoba, and the work done by deaconesses in Peace River and other parts of the West.

Miss Laura Pelton's address on her trip to the overseas mission, was outstanding. Mrs. Fleming stressed the fine Christian character of the women she spoke to the Council and their devotion to the missionary cause and said she came home feeling very proud and be proud to belong to such an organization".

A vote of thanks to all who had helped was moved by Mrs. McCullough, the Rev. Mr. Hornsby closed the meeting and a social time was then enjoyed.

Club Activities

ENERGETIC CLUB

The regular meeting of Hollowway Street Energetic Club took place at the church on Friday evening.

The devotional opened with a hymn in keeping with Thanksgiving. Harold Baxter read the Scripture and Vivian Corm read a meditation on prayer.

The club enjoyed very much three lovely numbers sung by Mr. Maurice Sinnet, accompanied by Mrs. Hubbs at the piano. Oscar Wager gave a very interesting talk on "Acts of Religion in Rituals". Mrs. Hubbs then favored with two enjoyable piano solos.

After a few games delicious refreshments were served by Barbara and Milt Burke and their group who were in charge of the evening.

The meeting closed with the friendship circle and the Mizpah benediction.

CANADIAN GIRLS IN TRAINING GROUP

The regular meeting of the Tabernacle United Church C.G.I.T. group was held in the church parlors with the worship service being conducted by Miss Ruth Bailey, president group. (The Intermediate group.)

The call to worship was read by Gail Jerome. Jean Young was pianist for the night. Marilyn Wood read the Scripture text. After the scripture a poem was read by Joyce Woodward. A short talk was given by Mrs. Bailey, leader, Miss Mabel Chapman based her talk on "Jesus Christ is Good In Everyone", which was followed by a prayer.

Mrs. Murdock, the honorary president, took the chair. Following some routine business the election of officers took place.

The officers are as follows: President, Wanda Young; Secretary, Barbara Wood; Vice President, Ruth Bailey; Pianist, Carolyn Brown; Press Reporter, Gary Jerome; Pianist, Joyce Woodward. The social convener is the groups, which will take turns.

A series of Bible Studies which was put on by Mrs Shirley Taylor's group. (The Senior group.)

It was decided that Miss Joan Hadwen's group, (the Junior group), will take the worship service, the following week on the 18, and Miss Hazel Chapman's group will be in charge of the games.

The groups than went to their group's rooms. After by studies and working on their projects, they were dismissed.

The group has, four leaders and one visitor, present. The visitor was Mrs. Weir, leader of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church C.G.I.T.

Miss Laura Pelton's address on her trip to the overseas missions, was outstanding. Mrs. Fleming stressed the fine Christian character of the women she spoke to the Council and their devotion to the missionary cause and said she came home feeling very proud and be proud to belong to such an organization".

A vote of thanks to all who had helped was moved by Mrs. McCullough, the Rev. Mr. Hornsby closed the meeting and a, social time was then enjoyed.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Mother should write formal name in register P.T.A. attendance

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When we mothers attend P.T.A. meetings we are asked to sign a paper for our child's grade to show which class has the highest 'parental attendance'. Most of the mothers sign their names as "Mrs. John Jones". Is this correct? Or should we sign Mary L. Smith?

F. M.

In this circumstance the mothers are correct to sign their name "Mrs. John Jones". This form of name is not a signature in the sense of signing a letter . . . it is, and should be, the formal name which is written for identification.

She should write the first note of thanks to her friend's mother

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A few days ago I went to visit a girl friend in a nearby city. I stayed one night and the next day, in the afternoon we went to the movies, and I had to leave early to catch my bus. Of course I had written my host's name and address properly. Should I write her a letter or a note? (We are both 17 years old.)

B. A.

Yes, you should write her at once, explaining that you were sorry to have to leave so early, thanking her adequately for her kindness and hospitality. Then tell her what a happy time you had, mentioning special features of your visit . . . for example, how delightful it was to meet her family and to take their charming friend into your home; how much you enjoyed their lovely, comfortable guest room; and thank her for taking you to the movies.

But also remember: your first note of thanks should be to the girl's mother, the hostess of her home, telling her your appreciation of her hospitality, and also mentioning especially the delightful features of your visit with her and her family. Such a note should be written to the hostess of the household for every overnight visit. And this pleasant habit of writing your words of thanks for a visit is a most important one for you to acquire at your age!

Groom-to-be must not cotaribute to wedding expenses

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married soon, and would like to know if my parents are supposed to pay for the wedding reception, or am I. My fiance says that if I have to pay for it, he will help me. Would it be proper for me to let him help pay for it?

Terry

The tradition is that the bride's parents, if they are financially able to, pay for the wedding and the wedding reception. If they are not financially able to pay these expenses, or for some reason are unwilling to pay them, you, the bride-to-be, must plan the type of wedding that you yourself can pay for. With a minimum budget you can plan a very simple, small wedding in your church or chapel, and at the reception in your home afterward, serve only the cake and wedding punch and something cold for the drinking of the toasts. But you should not permit the prospective groom or his family to pay the expenses of the wedding and/or the reception.

Cutting the wedding anniversary cake

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our wedding anniversary is to be next month, and we are planning to have a celebration at which we will have an anniversary cake. How is this cake cut, how shared, how served?

K.

The "bride and bridegroom" cut the first piece of the wedding anniversary cake and share it with each other. . . just as they did at the original wedding reception. After this, if there are very few guests, the "bride", the hostess, may, if she wishes, cut the cake and she herself serve it to the guests. Or she may ask a friend to take over this pleasant responsibility. Or she may plan to have a servant or caterer's assistant do this.

BEAUTY

OIL MANICURE FOR BRITTLE FINGERNAILS

You are all dolled up for the evening. Cute hairdo fresh from the beauty shop! New dress and shoes. But — a fool thegernail wants to split or break why can't it choose a time when it won't show and madden you!

Brittle laions may be due to a diet deficiency or to sluggish circulation, although women who are afflicted with them blame the dryness la due to plain crudeness on the part of one's claws. At any rate, a balanced diet is a good thing for a woman, and there's nothing like massage for health, well-being and a colorful complexion. And it has been determined that the free use of oils or creams on the fingernails, together with gentle rubbing to build up the blood streams in the underlying flesh, will help to correct inherited conditions.

Let us suppose that you, my friend, have inherited that nail suicidal tendencies. Some night when the dishes have been washed, the floor tucked into bed, and the Pappy is listening to a radio program that you don't endure, give yourself an oil manicure.

Remove the nail polish. Then shape your nails. Use a long, fine-grained flexible file, sweeping from sides to centre then rounding the point until you have a neat, oval line. Don't saw down at the sides to cut the flesh, a practice that will make the fingers look clubby. That is unworthy method of protection. Very long nails are no longer considered smart.

Pass the orangewood stick under the nail eaves to bring out little snags that the file has missed; cover the nails with emery board to produce a smooth edge.

You are now ready for a vigorous, soapy hand-washing with a brush. Don't hurry. The longer the soaking, the better to soften the cuticle. While your fingers are in the water, use the nail white pencil under the eaves, forming clear-cut lines.

Dip the fingers of your left hand in warm mineral oil. After a few minutes massage each nail. Use the orangewood stick carefully to lift the flesh around the nails, doing small circles with the stick. Do not cut the cuticle, just snip off any hangnails you may have flushed up. Treat the right hand. Then soak the fingertips again in the warm oil for five minutes.

The next hand-washing must be thorough, so every bit of oil is removed. The slightest bit of oil means that your polish will not endure.

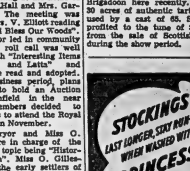
Women's Institute

PLAINFIELD W.I.

The October meeting of the Plainfield W.I., was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Donald Hall and Mrs. Garfield Hall. The meeting was opened by Mrs. V. Elliott reading a poem "God Bless Our Woods". Mrs. C. Pryor led in community singing. The roll call was well answered with "Interesting Items of Plainfield and Latta" and minutes were read and adopted.

In the business period, plans were made to hold an Auction Sale at Plainfield in the near future. Members decided to charter a bus to attend the Royal Winter Fair in November.

Mrs. C. Pryor and Miss O. Gillespie were in charge of the program, the topic being "Historical Research". Miss O. Gillespie told of the early settlers of Latta and Plainfield which was very interesting.



Mrs. C. Pryor gave a paper on "Early History of Hastings County, Thurlow Township, City of Belleville, Village of Plainfield and Surrounding Community". This paper was very interesting and amusing and was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. C. Platt gave a "Thanksgiving Story" which brought the meeting to a close.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses and their helpers and a social hour was spent. The attendance was thirty-four.

ACRES OF IT

Vancouver — (CP) — More larkian than was used by battling Scots at Bannockburn was whirled around in the hit stage show Brigadoon here recently. Some 30 acres of authentic tartan was used by a cast of 65. Scotland profited to the tune of $100,000 from the sale of Scottish items during the show period.

What Price Biologists?

The committe member returned home with a triumphant smile on his face. He and his fellow-members had put their heads together, pored over some maps and selected a site of a new recreational dam.

The necessary bill had been drawn and it was passed by the legislative bodies. Of course the recreational dam was merely a small rider in an over-all flood-control program. It would cost about half a million dollars to build, but what's a half a million these days?

The announcement of the proposed recreational dam came to many of us as a shock. The location, as help me, was twelve miles upstream from the mouth of one of our excellent trout streams.

I called the state biologist. No, he had not been consulted. Had any ecologist been consulted when the site was selected? He didn't know.

Alternative Plan

So I called on the committee member. With me I had enlarged topographic maps and complete details showing two sites for recreational dams in this area, both of them in valleys through which flowed warm-water streams. Either dam could be constructed for about one-third the cost of the proposed dam.

Had the committee, I asked, had biological advice when the present site was selected?

"I beg your pardon," he answered.

So, I put it in words of one syllable. No, of course he hadn't. What's the matter with the site we selected?

I explained about trout migrations, damage to bottom life and increased water temperatures. He hadn't considered those angles.

"Any half-baked engineer," I told him, "can build a dam. It takes the Lord Almighty to make a trout stream."

We were lucky. After we had enough noise in the right places, plans for the proposed recreational dam were shelved indefinitely. But the committee members does not speak to me any more. Moreover, I'll trade a committee member for a trout stream any old day.

Ignorance To Blame

The English sparrow and the starling were brought to this country by well meaning people. You know the result. Those folks didn't consult biologists either.

The summer residents brought home house cats to the island of Martha's Vineyard. The cats were left there when the cottages were closed in the fall. Now the heath hen is extinct. Those people did not consult biologists. Neither, evidently, did the conservation department. Not until it was too late.

A laity who moved to Florida thought it would be nice to plant water hyacinths in the lake right near her home. Today hyacinth control is costing many state governments a great deal of money. Too bad she didn't talk to a biologist before those first plantings were made.

And so it goes, straight across the board. Well-meaning people do untold damage, purely because they don't find out about nature and what possible damage may result from their altruism.

The state governments and the federal government have on their payrolls trained scientists whose jobs are to see to the best interest of wildlife management.

The average sportsman sees fish only during the fishing season and his close observation of game is limited to the hunting season. Our professional biologists live with fish and game twelve months of the year.

Given Reprimand

When the recreational dam, about which I spoke earlier, was relegated to the files, I was taken to task rather severely at a sportsmen's meeting.

"Why just think," said my critic, "we could have had musky fishing right here in our county."

In my own defense I explained that it requires about thirty acres of water to feed one musky. The proposed dam was to impound less than two hundred acres—a nice home for six or seven musky.

Another fellow spoke up. Even if musky were impractical, there is no reason why we couldn't have some lake trout fishing in the new dam if it were built.

I set this fellow straight, too. Lake trout live in deep waters—50 to 200 feet down, where they can find their preferred 43 degree temperatures. The proposed dam would be 20 feet in the deepest area and summer temperatures run into the high sixties and low seventies.

I'm not sure that either of these fellows know what a profession biologist does for a living. Yet they would call just the same, with loud uninformed criticisms. Snap judgments.

Another thing—those in the high places are all too prone to use their authority to back up snap judgments regarding outdoor matters.

Take Wisconsin, for instance. The conservation department of that state wants to reduce the deer herd by having an open season on doe. They have too many deer for the available supply of winter food.

No sir, says the voice of high authority. You'll shoot no does in this state. I'll lay you a reasonable wager that he has never tramped through the deep snow to a deer yard to see fawns and small doe starving because they can't reach the high browse.

The powers-that-be in our state put a stop to a comprehensive program for rehabilitation of our ruffled grouse. The biologists were knocking down second-growth weed trees on state-owned land to provide grouse food and cover. It worked out swell as far as it was allowed to go.

As I say, we have competent biologists on the state and federal payrolls, in matters that lie within their field, why aren't they consulted? Who, in the name of common sense, is best qualified to make recommendations for the proper management of wildlife and natural resources?

Incidentally, speaking of biologists, a good many of the field men use the Solunar Tables to help them make their studies of wildlife behavior. All creatures are more active during solunar Periods than they are at other times. Thus, by keeping track of the daily Solunar Periods, these men can be in the field at times of peak activity.

Bird Wanderers Often Rest on Ships When Blown off Migratory Routes

Written For The Canadian Press
By PERCY GHENT

European Birds are occasionally found in America and birds native to the Americas are sometimes found in Europe. On such discoveries, ornithologists on both sides of the Atlantic discuss these ocean-crossing birds with profound interest.

How do these wanderers from their native haunts manage to get across thousands of miles of ocean?

Some of them undoubtedly go by steamship. Prof. Richard M. Saunders, department of history, University of Toronto, and one of Canada's best known "birders," has just returned from a trip to Holland. On both eastward and westward voyages, he says, land birds presumably blown far from their normal fall migratory routes by winds beyond their strength to conquer, alighted on ships he sailed on.

Hundreds of miles from the nearest land there were such unusual guests aboard as robins, a pine siskin, two Baltimore orioles, a cedar waxwing bobolink, flicker, bank swallow, and most amazing of all, Cape May and Blackburnian warblers.

These warblers hopped cheerfully among coiled ropes, in the life-boats and in the dusty places where stray crumbs might be found. One evening a stormy petrel—very much at home at sea of course—flew into the middle of a poker game in the main lounge. That was on the outward voyage, Oddly, a migrant shore bird whose taste was for bridge and not poker, flew into another card game on the homeward trip. A pigeon hawk perched on a windlass, and a noble peregrine falcon, were other avian visitors during the voyages.

Most of the birds arrived by night, when the ship lights, like lighthouses, served as lures. Longest stay aboard by any other bird was three days by the robins. Most of the others had their rest calls measured by hours. Then they flew away, landward.

Walking over the fringe of the Florida Everglades, a Canadian visitor saw a blow-adder coiled in the sunshine. At its middle there was a pronounced bulge. When the snake was killed and carefully dissected, the bulge was found to be a mocking-bird, and the bird was scarcely cold.

Another small Florida snake that managed to squeeze through the bars of a bird cage left for an hour or two in the garden sunshine, devoured a canary. The extra girth created by the canary made it impossible for the snake to leave the cage, and it was destroyed.

X-rayed just after it had swallowed a frog, a rat snake coiled inself into the close resemblance of a question mark. Inside the coils at the top of the question mark was the still intact skeleton of the frog showing in clearest detail. And the snake's head making the lower point of the query was pointed toward the frog.

Agricultural Minister Answers Member for South Hastings

Early in the week, Frank S. Follwell, M. P. for South Hastings requested of Hon. J. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture an explanation from the government with respect to the apple crop in the province and particularly the Bay of Quinte, Prince Edward and Northumberland county areas.

Mr. Gardiner replied to the member and the following extract from Hansard is herewith given:

Mr. Follwell: Mr. Chairman, from what the hon. member has just said, I understand a deal has been made between the government of Canada and the government of the United Kingdom for $3 million worth of apples. No doubt that matter negotiated this agreement. It is my understanding also that those apples are to be purchased in eastern Canada and western Canada. The minister knows that the constituency from which I come embraces the counties of Northumberland and Prince Edward, and is very good apple country. Would the minister be kind enough to explain to me, to my constituents and neighbors why the apples are not purchased in Ontario but from the other sections of the country? I am sure he has a good explanation. Would he care to answer that?

Mr. Gardiner: Mr. Chairman, the general position is that we have been trying to take care of the apple producers since 1932. I believe a fair job has been done and the apple grower will acknowledge that. In the first place, back in 1938, we started in attempting to arrange for the sale of the apple crop in Canada. In so doing, we found that the apple growers of Ontario and Quebec had exported very few apples. Most of their apples were sold in the central part of Canada.

In the first year, it was arranged that that market was not to be interfered with except under permit. Then there was an attempt to deal with the surplus apples of Nova Scotia. Later on the department was asked to deal with some of those of British Columbia as well, and we undertook to do that, in the way of entering into that arrangement at the beginning of the year. At that time it is necessary to 'continue similar arrangements from that time until now. It was found as we went along that it was not necessary to have such restrictions put upon the sale of apples out of the central provinces because all of the apples of the central provinces found a fairly ready market in the eastern of those provinces; and it was found that in most years a considerable quantity of apples could be allowed to move from the maritime provinces to, say, Montreal and from British Columbia into cities right across western Canada. That was because of facts that I do not think it is necessary to discuss tonight any further than to refer to them. But the general position was that each of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec was entitled pretty much to its own market as long as it could supply it, and it could not supply if these apples came in from other parts of Canada. The prairie provinces were left entirely to British Columbia.

Nova Scotia which produces most of the apples in the maritimes found it extremely difficult to find a market anywhere except in the west, but they were allowed to get into the central part of Canada, or in case we could arrange a market for their apples in the United States or, as we did for a few years during the wartime, arrange a market for the greater part of their product in Great Britain. We were able to do that during most of the years of the war, but when we got down to the end of the war we found it even more difficult than during the war itself to obtain a market in Great Britain. On a previous occasion I recited the reasons for that fact, and I probably would only excite some political discussion if I were to recite them again tonight, so I shall say as far as another occasion.

Nevertheless, we did get into the position last year where we took over 200,000 barrels of Nova Scotia apples. At one time we thought it might be a good thing to give the apples away. Some exception was taken to that course, so we put some of the apples in cans and dehydrated some of them. Finally we sold all of those apples that we could sell. Then when we found that we could not sell any more, we advertised right across Canada. In all the charitable organizations of the country and in hospitals, the fact that we had these apples and were prepared to provide them free of cost other than, I think, the freight to have them shipped to those institutions. We finally disposed of the apples in that way at a cost to the government. I just recite these facts in order to show that the central part of Canada has not been left entirely out of the picture. We have kept the surplus apples off the market until such time as they have had an opportunity to supply any market that there is. We have not even given apples away until it was found that the position had been fairly well taken care of in so far as the purchase of apples was concerned. We now come down to that year.

Britain did not want any apples. I was over there in January and told them about the hundreds of thousands of trees that had been pulled out because they would not buy the apples. I must say that that statement obtained more circulation in the press of Great Britain than anything else I ever said in that country. They thought it was a rather difficult position to see Canadians in, after what they had done during the war, where the people were called to pull out hundreds of thousands of trees simply because the British could not take the apples. The Minister of Trade and Commerce went over there a little later and was able to prevail upon them to put $1,500,000 into buying, as they thought in the beginning, Nova Scotia apples. I do not think they had in mind any other apples at the time they made that decision, but because of the story that had been circulated with regard to pulling out trees and doing all these things to try to suit our position to the new developments. They agreed to that, conditional upon our putting $1,500,000 into the purchase of apples too.

The people of Nova Scotia are still asking us to do for their apple crop this year something similar to what we have done in other years. We suggested to them that we thought, before discussing that question, they ought to take part of the offer the British had made and that $1,500,000 offered to take $1,500,000 worth of those apples at 80 per cent of the 1948 price. They said they thought that they had been too high-hat year, that all had been too high that year before, and that the price which was being asked this year was too high; but they said they were prepared to take $1,500,000 worth of them at the 1948 price. As will be recalled, that was the year when Britain took a considerable part of the apple crop of the maritimes and of British Columbia.

We discussed the matter with the apple producers of Nova Scotia at the annual meeting and we thought that it would not be a bad thing, from the point of view either of the present or of future possibilities of marketing apples in Great Britain, if we accepted that conditional offer at 80 per cent of the 1948 price. They were divided in their attention. Now I understand that, when they examined into the varieties that they had this year to say that they have not been prepared up to now in order to supply this season the total quantity of apples that the British are prepared to take from them. They are reserving the right to decide later on a certain proportion of the amount that is required. British Columbia has agreed to take up its proportion of the apples, and to ship at the prices that have been mentioned. I understand that in the area that is spoken of, down around Northumberland, they feel that they would like to get part of this contract. I am given to understand that if they are prepared to take the price that is offered by the British for the apples, namely 80 per cent of the 1948 price, there probably will not be much difficulty in their selling part of those apples. Up to now it has not been indicated to us that Nova Scotia is prepared to do them all up. I think there must be some limitation upon the time during which they will be required to take them up; and if they are not prepared to take up a reasonable part of the quantity at the price which is indicated, and if there are others standing by who say they are prepared to put the apples up at those prices, I think the government would be in duty bound to accept their offer to do so and to see that the apples are sent forward. That is the present position in connection with the matter.

I wish to say without any hesitation that we are desirous of getting out of the apple business just as fast as we can. We have said to the people of Nova Scotia: If you can get prices that at a price which is sufficiently good to make it unnecessary for you to accept the British offer, then we are not so sure that you are having any great difficulty in marketing your apples. When I look at the figures which indicate that we are selling in Canada now more apples than we marketed altogether inside and outside of Canada in the last year before the war, I am beginning to think that there may be something in their contention that they can sell their apples to better advantage in Canada than they can by sending them to Britain under the offer that Britain has made. And I would be a little afraid that, if that is true of Nova Scotia, it will be true of Ontario as well, and perhaps more so, and we may find it a little bit difficult to get apples in those prices.

Finn Parachutist Dies Trying to Fly With Leather Wings

—Helsinki, Oct. 15 — (Reuters) —Viktor Andro, a Finnish parachutist, was killed Thursday when he attempted to fly with leather wings after jumping from a plane at 8,000 feet. He fell without opening his wings. It was believed he had suffered a heart attack shortly after the leap.

DIDN'T WISH TO BE RESCUED

Mrs. Helen Schwandt, 44, struggles to free herself from the firm grasp of rescuing firemen after she had carried out a threat to jump from a ledge of her third-floor apartment in Chicago. The woman was taken to the hospital for observation. After she threatened to leap for some time, the woman finally made the jump, wearing only underclothing, and she was caught by firemen who were waiting below with a safety net.—Central Press Canadian.

HOUSE MEMBERS

Members discussed the bills during the whole hour devoted to private measures. They didn't get around to voting on any bills.

One objection is that parliament is now in place to deal with divorce cases.

However as Works Minister Fournier said, the British North America Act provides for a petition to parliament by anyone wanting a divorce.

Mr. Fournier emphasized that he is opposed to divorce in principle. He said the people of Quebec are opposed to divorce and prefer to have their cases handled through parliament rather than a divorce court.

Not All Opposed

He expressed belief that the Commons or government should not attempt to force on the people of Quebec something they do not want.

Angus MacInnis (CCF — Vancouver East) took exception to the minister's remarks. Not all the people in Quebec are opposed to divorce, he said, or else there would be no divorce bills before parliament.

At least a minority in that province believed in divorce and the rights of such a minority should be respected. Mr. MacInnis was not specific as to how or what some way should be found to deal with Quebec and Newfoundland divorces which were presented to them coming before parliament.

J. R. Browne (— St. John's West) said there have been no divorces in Newfoundland up to now and he hoped there would be none in the future.

The former district judge said he has dealt with married couples who are about to break up. He has effected reconciliation in some cases which would probably never have come about if divorces were made easy.

T. L. Church (Ind. — Chicoutimi) expressed strong disapproval of divorce in any form and said it is a shame and a disgrace for representatives of the people to "go against the will of God and destroy families" by passing these bills.

—Gen. G. R. Pearkes V.C. (PC — Nanaimo) endorsed Mr. Gregson's remarks.

Don't Like Procedure

"I rise as a Protestant with some feeling of repulsion that we should be asked to pass these divorce bills without due consideration," he said. "I feel humiliated that through the last parliament I sat quiet while 30, 40 and sometimes 50 divorce bills were adopted.

Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) said he felt the Exchequer Court rather than parliament should handle Quebec divorce cases.

Howard Green (PC-Vancouver Quadra) said he felt as a Protestant member of the Commons is "disgusted with the procedure of passing divorce bills." For one thing, the cost is people petitioning for divorce was higher, "The whole procedure is one grand farce and is beneath the dignity of parliament."

Irvine Studer (L-Maple Creek) said he would like to see some other provision made for handling these bills than in the form of personal judgement on something of which he knew nothing.

Divorce discussion followed an afternoon sitting almost entirely devoted to justice matters.

Boost Judges

The Commons voted $8 to 32 in favor of a government resolution boosting Supreme Court justices' salaries by $5,000. The C.C.F. Progressive Conservatives and Social Credit members opposed the resolution.

A Bill embodying the salary increases later was introduced by Justice Minister Gerson.

Another bill modernizing procedural matters involved in operation of the Exchequer Court of Canada was given third and final reading after Mr. Gerson giving the Deputy Minister of Justice the added formal title of Deputy Attorney-General.

Explaining government policy on irrigation, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the government was not taking over control of the main dam in the larger project. On subsidiary projects for these dams, the government believed the cost should be divided somewhere close to 50-50.

Of the provincial share, a certain amount could be regained from farmers benefitting from the irrigation developments.

PROVINCIALS TAKE OVER

Almonte, Oct. 15 (CP)—A contract to have the Ontario Provincial police force take over policing of this eastern Ontario town was signed today. The own council Friday night. The take-over agreement is effective Nov. 1. Up to the present, Almonte has hired its own constables.

Agnus MacInnis (CCF — Vancouver East) urged that the standard of living of the people be raised before consideration be given to increasing judges' salaries.

Inducement Necessary

Justice Minister Garson said, however, that "some very substantial financial inducement" is necessary to get men of the highest ability to pull up family ties and move to Ottawa as Justices of the Supreme Court. The increased salaries were in line with the increased responsibility resulting from abolition of appeals to the Privy Council.

The Commons, which devoted most of Tuesday's afternoon sitting to justice matters, wound through a long procedural discussion before getting on with the principle of the measure to increase the salaries.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) started it when he protested against the practice by the government of omitting the amounts of money involved from such resolutions.

He argued that it is the right of the House to have such information. He was supported by his own leader, M. J. Coldwell, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, Mr. MacInnis, John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre), Howard Green (PC—Vancouver-Quadra); Mr. Fulton and W. J. Browne (PC—St. John's West).

Mr. Coldwell contended that Mr. Garson had tried to give the information was a "violation of the age-old privileges" of the House. Mr. Low said it "struck at the ills of me" see Mr. Garson's reasoning.

Mr. Garson's argument was that the money details need not be given at whatever time it may be would be "delighted" to give them when the bill proper came up for discussion.

Works Minister Fournier supported Mr. Garson but suggested that to cut short the discussion, Mr. Garson give the information. Mr. Garson did.

Affects Exchequer Court

After giving first reading to the bill to increase the salaries, the government moved amendments to the Exchequer Court Bill. The bill was given third and final reading.

The Exchequer renewed discussion of the fact that a person must get permission before suing the crown. Mr. Diefenbaker agreed with A. L. (Pat) Casgrain (PC—Quebec West), who raised the matter a couple of weeks ago, that his statute is outdated.

He said that there have been occasions when permission was refused. Mr. Diefenbaker cited a case of Indians in Saskatchewan who asked permission to sue a government department in 1936 or 1937.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked assurance from Mr. Garson that permission would not be refused in future. When the minister declined to commit himself, Mr. Diefenbaker said it was added reason for abolishing the whole statute.

There was virtually no discussion of another justice bill—this one to give the deputy minister of justice the rank of deputy attorney-general.

Mr. Garson said that while he is attorney-general as well as justice minister, his deputy justice minister is not also deputy attorney-general.

"BULL" SESSION

The amendment, which was given third reading, will relieve Mr. Garson of some of the power work that he now must do. He assured the Commons it involves no added expense.

Gigantic Flash Remains Problem For Astronomers

(By The Canadian Press)

That gigantic flash of light in the Northern Ontario sky Thursday night remains a problem for top astronomers who believe it must have been "a very large fireball — or meteor."

While the blinding blue - white flash continued a top topic in northern communities, astronomers are awaiting more detailed reports of observers. They seek to chart its course and possibly discover fragments from another planet.

"There is not much doubt about what it was, from descriptions given," said Dr. Peter Millman, the Dominion Observatory's top expert on meteors, at Ottawa.

A "fireball" is a large meteor, a piece of stone or metal entering the earth's atmosphere where it is ignited by friction with the air.

The blaze apparently was strongest over Timagami, a town 50 miles north of North Bay, but it was seen as far away as Toronto and Buffalo, New York, 250 miles south of Timagami.

Walter J. Scherzer, managing director of the Trebor mine near Timagami, was on a Timagami street talking to friends when the flash appeared.

60,000 Feet Up

"It was a blinding light, and it seemed to be about 60,000 feet up," he said. "The main light lasted for a minute, but there was a fluorescent glow with a corkscrew effect which lingered in the sky for about five minutes."

The bluish-white flash appeared to be horizontal. It was silent. Others agreed that the big flash was just that — over in less than a second — but that the light in the sky remained several minutes, covering a tremendous area before it died down.

Constable James Tappenden of the Ontario Provincial Police at Cobalt, 75 miles north of North Bay, said the flash "came like lightning, but there was no noise, not a sound." It definitely wasn't due to the northern lights, or aurora, which he has seen many times.

The airport tower at Buffalo received three reports from that area of persons sighting the flash and it was charted at the Dunlap Observatory just north of Toronto.

Ezzard Charles KO's Valentino In 8th Round

San Francisco, Oct. 15 (AP) — Lean Ezzard Charles successfully defended his National Boxing Association heavyweight title Friday night when he knocked out Pat Valentino, mop- haired San Francisco challenger in 33 seconds of the eighth round of their scheduled 15-round match.

Charles weighed 182; Valentino 183½.

The first heavyweight championship battle held in this city in 40 years, it was a slambang fight that had a record crowd of 19,580 fans cheering wildly at times.

Charles, a swift-footed and sharp-punching Cincinnati Negro, crushed the title hopes of the latest challenger to his crown with a smashing right to the jaw. Valentino, who had exchanged blow for blow in furious rallies, went back and down with a thud. He tried to stagger to his feet but fell back, a groggy and beaten man.

Referee Jack Downey tolled off the count of 10 and Charles had successfully defended for the second time the title he won last June.

After defeating Jersey Joe Walcott to win N.B.A. recognition as the successor to Joe Louis, Charles stopped Gus Lesnevich in his first title defence.

The crowd was the largest ever to see an indoor fight in California and the gate receipts of $167,870 established a new mark for the state.

Although he was counted out on the canvas, Valentino went down fighting. He gave Charles a convincing argument during the early part. He had a margin in the second and third rounds when he scored heavily on the champion's midsection.

Charles had the option of a $40,000 guarantee of 35 per cent of the gate receipts. Net receipts were expected to run close to $130,000.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

New York, Oct. 15 — (AP) — Fuller explanation dept.—or why Branch Rickey can get prices like $60,000 for Preston Ward and Peni Mimmo . . . A big league executive and another club's scout were discussing bonus payments in World Series headquarters . . . the exec was moaning because one of his men hadn't gone above $4,000 to sign Bruce McKelvey, the Southern California U. catcher, said "If you like him for $4,500, you have to like him for $6,000." . . . "Yeah," agreed the scout, "and if you like him for six, you gotta like him for 10 or 15. You can't set a deadline."

Apparently they follow the same line of thought in buying players from other clubs. If they really want an athlete, there's no deadline on the price. And if price really is an object, they don't want him very badly.

How would you like to be peddling Babe Ruth or Letty Grove in such a market? . . . Remember when the Yankees bought Ruth for the unheard sum of $125,000, plus players, or when the A's paid a whopping $100,000 for a minor league pitcher named Grove?

Conny Smythe Thinks Canadiens Will Win Loop

(By The Canadian Press)

Conny Smythe thinks his Toronto Maple Leafs are a solid playoff club but he isn't saying how they'll make out in the National Hockey League's 70-game schedule.

At a press conference at Toronto Friday on the eve of the Leafs' first home game tonight against Chicago Black Hawks, the Toronto Club's boss picked Montreal Canadiens as the team most likely to come charging down in front during the scheduled season, lengthened by ten games this year.

He liked the Canadiens because they have more players of all-star calibre than the other clubs. With more chances to score, a sharpshooting player like Maurice Richard would score often enough to win some extra games. He remarked that the rocket was a greatly relaxed athlete this year and if "Elmer Lach holds up the Canadiens will come first."

He put his finger on one weakness of the Toronto team.

"No other club is sitting on a blockbuster like we are," he said. "If anything happens to goalie Turk Broda we'll be up against it."

Continuing to unload their second-rate performers at the rate of two a day, Brooklyn Dodgers Friday announced the sale of Marvin Rackley to Cincinnati Reds and Carl Whitman to Philadelphia Phils. Both are outfielders.

"No other players were involved," a Dodger official said in making the announcement. "We received an undisclosed cash consideration.

At New York, Hugh Casey, veteran relief pitcher, got a 36th birthday present Friday—his unconditional release from the world champion New York Yankees.

The Yanks cut loose Casey and sent reliefer Ralph Buxton to Kansas City in a deal by which Paul Hinrichs, righthanded bonus pitcher, moves from the Blues to the parent club.

Casey, hero of many Brooklyn Dodger victories, was picked up Sept. 4 after Pittsburgh Pirates let him go. He joined the club too late to be eligible for the world series but appeared in four games and 7 2-3 innings during the last month of the season. He had a 1-0 record.

Fullback Bob Sandberg, plagued by injuries until Friday at Winnipeg he intends to quit football after this term with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Sandberg joined the Western Football Union team three years ago and was a standout in the thrilling 1947 Canadian final when Bombers bowed to Toronto Argonauts.

A former University of Minnesota player, the towering Sandberg has been bothered through this season with knee and leg injuries.

Kid Gavilan, Cuba's aspirant to the world's welterweight championship, Friday night administered a decisive defeat to Beau Jack, former lightweight titleholder, in a blistering 10-round battle in Chicago stadium.

It was the Cuban's first bout since he was knifed in a street altercation in New York's Harlem district several weeks ago.

Cornwall Calumets raised the curtain on the 1949-50 Eastern Canada Hockey League season at Cornwall Friday night by thumping Hull Volants 10-1 before 2,500 fans.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By TREVOR ICETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, Oct. 15—(CP)—Boxing's responsibility for men killed in the ring, a subject that perfectly encompasses sports, is in the air again.

Talmadge Bussey, a Negro boxer who made several appearances in Canada, this week died from injuries suffered in a bout in Detroit. Last week, Enrico Bertola, the heavyweight boxing champion of Italy, died after a fight in Buffalo.

Doug (Windsor Star) Vaughan, commenting on the situation, writes:

"Sport is not, and never was meant to be, a legalized form of manslaughter. We are not pointing a finger at Luther Rawlings, who was Bussey's opponent, or Leo Oma, who was in the ring against Bertola.

"The men to blame are the men in charge of boxing who remain stubbornly blinded to the fact that human lives are being sacrificed and still make no attempt to do anything about it."

No Protection

Shortly after the Italian heavyweight's death, Vaughan suggested in his column that a headgear or a similar protective device be worn by boxers to help absorb crippling blows.

"We realized then, as now," he writes, "that nothing probably would be done."

Tales of Knute Rockne's pregame pep talks with his Notre Dame football team are legend. But Canada, too, has a man who spoke to his team as well before a game that his words have become something of a classic. He is Ted Reeve, now sport columnist for the Toronto Telegram, and the occasion of his inspiring message was a pre-game chalk-talk to the team he was coaching Queen's tricolor squad.

Craig (Brockville Recorder and Times) Swazye recalled the pep-talk and recorded it in full recently for the benefit of his readers:

"There is a football season starting, something you will remember the rest of your life. You are young, you are strong and full of beans. Your friends and your folks and thousands of other people are going to be watching you do your stuff.

"There will be a lot of other husky young guys in blue sweaters running the other way for a swell battle. It is Autumn, the grass is green, the sun is shining and boys, if you don't have fun out of the next six, eight or 100 weeks, you will never have fun if you live to be 100.

"Go out there and enjoy yourself. That's what the game is for, . . and knock those other guys bowlegged."

Hamilton Tigers Win First One From Dutchmen

(By The Canadian Press)

A lot of new hockey talent stepped on to the ice last night and 12 coaches saw the results of the way they had shuffled players and worked in new ones to prepare for the 1949-50 Ontario Hockey Association season.

Some of them had reason to be pleased after the six games, but others undoubtedly will continue to re-arrange their players.

Hamilton Tigers, in the senior loop, hammered out a 3-1 victory over Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen, whipping in two last-period goals after a tight first two periods. At Toronto, senior Marlboros swamped the Owen Sound Mercuries 7-1.

In the junior series, four games indicated that the team emerging Ontario champions at the end of the season will have to battle through some pretty tough opposition.

Toronto Junior Marlboros fought to a 2-2 overtime tie with Guelph Biltmores, Stratford Kroehlers eked out a 4-3 victory over Owen Sound and in a rough game which saw 15 penalties, including two majors to each team, handed out in the first two periods alone. Even St. Michael's College Majors, who never were serious contenders in last year's race, fought stubbornly before falling 5-3 before Barrie Flyers, 1948-49 Ontario champs.

The only lop-sided junior score of the night was registered at St. Catharines where the Teepees swamped Galt Black Hawks 15-2.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By MICHAEL O'MARA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, (CP) — Twickenham stadium, home of rugby football, just like Lord's Cricket Ground, headquarters of the summer game —will soon have a "trademark' weathervane.

The Twickenham vane will depict a silhouette of Hermes, winged-footed messenger of the gods in classical mythology, passing a rugger ball to a youth in modern football garb. Goal posts form the background.

The Rugby Union hopes to have the vane, designed by Kenneth Daglish, installed on the south stand by Jan. 21, date of the England - Wales international match, first of the 1949-50 season at Twickenham.

The weather vane at Lord's, designed by the late Sir Herbert Baker and erected with a new grandstand 20 years ago, shows Father Time, his sickle and hourglass over his shoulder, sweeping bails from the stumps of mortal cricketers.

Globe-trotting is over for Toronto-born Eric Chitty who has ridden in motor-cycle races in a dozen countries and four captains West Ham's speedway team.

Eric won't make his annual trip to Australia for the speedway season there this winter. Instead he has bought a house for his wife and family at suburban Woodford—"My first real home since 1930."

Eric started competitive riding when he was 18. For 20 years he has been in the bumping saddle or travelling with his bikes. He stopped keeping a log book when it passed the 100,000-mile mark a long while back.

Last year he broke his leg in three places while riding in his last meeting in Australia and has only recently returned to the English tracks.

But he hasn't quite got over the urge to see new places and things. When the English season ends, he's off for a six-week caravan holiday in Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and Italy.

The electric totalisator board played a dirty trick on punters at Newbury race course.

Backers noticed with glee that Charity Concert, a 9-4 favorite in the bookmaker's ring, appeared on the indicator at 10-1. With one accord, the needy and greedy dashed to back the animal on the tote.

It duly won but the tote dividend was only a bit better than even money. The backers could have had bigger winnings by betting in the books.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

To my fellow Canadians

On Monday, October 17th, for the fourth time, a new series of Canada Savings Bonds is being made available to the people of this country and I want to personally bring the merits of these popular bonds to everyone's attention.

The habit of personal saving is important, not only for the security, comfort and training in prudence that it gives to the individual but also for the stability that it gives to industry and the nation as a whole.

By the Payroll Savings Plan and other methods of regular instalments, everything possible has been done to make systematic saving easy for everyone.

Having no speculative features, Canada Savings Bonds are the safest and surest investment that you can make, because they are at all times worth every cent you put into them. They are truly an investment in Canada and in yourself.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"Bunny" Dunlop, Whipper Watson and Pat Flanagan figured to re-create the thrill of the Fred Atkins-Hard-as-Nails Hanniwan duo last night and for the second successive time went down to defeat.

Officially that is.

It was the second time the four-some had met in a grueling tradition of "rassle", and it was the second time that the Watson-Flanagan pair said 'Uncle'.

But not through any fault of their own.

For clearly and distinctively, Whipper Billy Watson, and his co-partner in "rasslin' crime", one Pat Flanagan had "it so scorch over this vaunted duo of Fred Atkins, and Hardboiled Hannigan" that the Memorial Arena reeked with the aroma.

For the "Whipper" at times took matters over in his own hands and literally heaved the hated opposition out of the ring, long and bloody barrel. And the faithful loved it, even as you and I.

For that is the way it happened. This (Australian) Atkins, that is, myriet, teamed up with one, Hard-boiled Hannigan, whom we presume hails from a section in the United States, (how the hell they talk with each other is beyond our guess) and the pair staged one of those exhibitions that actually smelled but nevertheless gave about 2,000 of the faithful something to go home and talk about.

On the other hand Whipper Watson and Pat Flanagan dispersed themselves to the best of their agile ability. It was definitely their night and their way, unofficial verdict, as thousands howled.

True, they were defeated as the rules and the referee go. Sunny Boney especially imported for the occasion. one the best showmen in the "rasslin' business", gave out with a fine exhibition.

"Bunny" as he his wont, wasn't foolin'. As a matter of fact when things weren't running exactly to his liking, the venerable "Bunny" berserk, all things of the past, and took unto himself the prerogative of a referee and administered lamely remedies the offending mug in the jaw, which most of the time to this faithful's tense delight, was one Atkins.

Fred Atkins, a scientific wrestler, and yet one of the best wrestlers to come out of "Australia" had better go back to his native kangaroo section. For there is where he belongs. Atkins with his whining and unsportsmanlike tactics, belligerent ideas has not made too many friends in Belleville.

Oshawa Generals Lose to Stratford By 4-3 Count

Stratford, Oct. 15 (CP)—Waging a staunch defensive in the third period, after outplaying their rivals in the second period, Stratford Kroehlers won a hard-fought 4-3 victory over Oshawa in the opening junior A O.H.A. competition here Friday night.

Fifteen penalties were imposed in the first two periods, including four majors, two to each team, for staging a brief brawl after the first period had ended. Those penalties cooled out the youngsters, and no penalty was handed out in the third.

Bill Berwick of Oshawa led the scorers with goals and one assist, while Hal Kewley assisted on two Stratford counters.

Frank Hooper got the Generals' third mark in the last frame when they scored twice and displayed Kroehlers.

Denny Flanagan of Kroehlers nicked the only goal of the first period. But it was in the middle stanza that Stratford put the game on ice with goals by Benny Draper and Cliff Anderson, while Berwick notched one for Oshawa to give Kroehlers a 3-1 margin. Doug French's marker in the third on a lone sortie proved the winning one.

Toronto Leafs Start Long Grind Against Chicago

(By The Canadian Press)

The last two National Hockey League Clubs get into the act tonight.

With the other four clubs already started on the longer-than-ever, 210-game schedule, Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers make their debuts. The Leafs meet Chicago Black Hawks in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens. The Rangers tackle the Canadiens at the Montreal Forum.

It's the start of a double stint for both Leafs and Rangers. Both take part in the next matches of the four-game weekend. Toronto going to Detroit to meet the Red Wings and New York clashing with the Bruins at Boston.

Once all six clubs have launched their 70-games-a-team schedules, the rallbirds may have some idea of how they compare with the long grind that culminates in the Stanley Cup playoff next April.

So far, by virtue of opening victories, the Canadiens and the Red Wings are top dogs. The Wings inaugurated the season Wednesday night by edging Montreal 2-1 in Detroit and Canadiens followed up at home Thursday night by blanking Chicago 4-0.

That Chicago victory incidentally made Canadiens Coach Dick Irvin look something of a false prophet. Irvin had just selected the Hawks, bolstered by obtaining Goalie Frankie Brimsek from Boston, to win the N.H.L. League championship by 10 points.

Irvin conceded after the game, however, that he didn't mind looking bad on that one.

The Leafs went arrive in Toronto from their training camp at St. Catharines, until a couple of hours before game time tonight.

Right Winger Bill Ezinicki, out with a swollen ankle, will be the only regular missing action.

Outside of Goalie, the Hawks will also show a newcomer in Jim Bedard, young rearguard up from Kansas City.

Canadiens meantime announced the signing of two players. One was Rip Ripelle, leftwinger who apparently changed his mind after deciding to retire rather than play with the Habitants. The other was Jacques Leon, leftwinger who will report to Cincinnati of the American Hockey League, Canadiens farm team.

Picton Athletics Held Hitless By Strathroy

Strathroy, Oct. 15 (CP)—Wally Beggs, the will-o'-the-wisp and the willowy arm, is the hero of this town today. Beggs, a 21-year-old student at Mitchell Sts., mainstay of the Strathroy Royals mound staff turned in a no-hit effort Friday as the Royals trounced Picton Athletics 5-1 in the third game of their best-of-seven series for the O.B.A. Intermediate "A" championship.

The Royals took the first two contests, played at Picton last week, by scores of 3-1 and 3-2. The fourth till will be played here today.

Beggs moved the visiting batsmen down with regularity after the first inning when two bobbles by shortstop Art Ronan gave the Picton aggregation its ons and only run.

After the opening frame,* in which four Picton players stepped up to the plate, Beggs hurled a "three-up, three-down" game. Only 28 Picton players faced him.

Beggs' excellent exhibition was no fluke, he sent 12 of the Picton batters down via the third strike and not a man reached first base on a free ticket. As a matter of fact after the two half of the first not a Picton man reached first.

Frank "Iron Man" Dyer, who pitched his way to victory against the Royals at Picton last Friday and Saturday, was the victim of the Strathroy batting power. They collected a total of 10 safeties off the pluckt Picton righthander, including three doubles—by Ronan, Jones and Galbraith and a triple by Galbraith. Dyer fanned one and walked a like number.

This town was in a festive mood even before the game. All the stores were closed by three o'clock and school students were given the afternoon off in order to see the contest and close to 3,000 fans were on hand.

Rouyn, Que. — (CP) — Although almost sightless, Jack Prince, former miner, has carved a home and small farm for himself and wife from the bush in this northwestern Quebec mining district.

When a mine blast five years ago took his sight he was left him with only the ability to distinguish night from day in his left. Prince moved to Rouyn, though, a Quebec colonization settlement, 14 miles east of his thriving mining town.

He and his wife, both middle-aged, have hacked 18 acres of clearing from the bush and this fall will plow for their second crops.

The pair were settled under the supervision of the Quebec colonization bureau. With only a little money to his credit, Prince moved his family to the new site.

CHURCHILL LAYS

so much harm and robbed it in large measure of the fruits of its victory."

The audience, many of them women in evening dress, cheered and many a Churchill ended his 90-minute address with a promise that a Conservative government, if the party is returned to power next year, would make "every carry forward that great social revolution which has covered the life-time of the oldest of us here."

The choice lay between Socialism, which has created class hatred, and Conservatism, which would "liberate the genius and initiative of our race."

Looking tired and paler than usual under the floodlights which beat down on the flower-banked speakers' platform, the wartime prime minister said Britain is fighting for her life almost as in 1940.

"We will never welcome bad news but because it is to party advantage," he said amid cheers. But that peace of Socialism had led to "unbridled expenditure" which had caused Britain's finances to "become out of all relation to half-staff and lowered her prestige all over the world."

The audience broke into sustained applause when Churchill mentioned the "vast expenditure ($1,200,000,000 before devaluation) he said Canada had advanced Britain since the war. They also cheered his promise to put a full stop to "extravagance whose "clumsy and costly grip" had chilled British industry.

Broke Little New Ground

In the rest of his speech Churchill broke little new ground. He reviewed the Conservative platform of peacetime and reiterated his faith in the empire.

"I hope all conservatives will call it the British Empire and the Commonwealth of Nations and not the British Empire as they learn. There is our first thought and dream and aim."

In general, the conference was dominated by the feeling that Britain faces a great emergency and in such circumstances Britons look to Churchill. Many delegates pleaded with the platform to keep party truce. Elections must work harder and longer for no extra money. Others wanted a declaration that conscription are not sacrosanct. But the assembly applauded first with a statement in their election program that Conservatives will "endeavor faithfully to maintain the scope and range" of social services.

Applause greeted every expression that the Tories are gaining more working-class support. This was demonstrated by the rousing ovation accorded Bob Bullbrook, 32, who styled himself as a gas worker from Old Kent Road. Speaking self-consciously in salty cockney dialect, Bullbrook was cheered all the way to his seat after a speech that ex-workers were a lot better off before industry was nationalized.

and a strong determination to succeed, Prince set to work.

He and his wife made his way about the roads and the farm by following his horse and his dogs and the little path he has worn in front. During the last five years he has become sufficiently accustomed with his land that now he has little difficulty making his way.

Some months ago Prince started with his land that now he has little difficulty making his way.

Some time ago they suffered another blow. Their son was drowned at a picnic. Warm-hearted Mrs. Prince, with a soft spot in her heart for children, has made her house a haven for neighborhood youngsters, their merry voices and laughter brightening the near-pioneer surroundings.

The Quebec government pays Prince and other settlers $75 an acre for clearing land, said Mr. Prince. This is one of the few means of revenue they have.

Mingan Seigniory Purchased by Quebec Govt.

Quebec, Oct .15. (CP)—Premier Duplessis announced Friday Quebec government's purchase of the 900-square mile Seigniory of Mingan, originally a present from King Louis XIV of France to settler Francois Bissot, later a holding of the British-controlled Labrador Company.

Purchase of the wild but wealthy St. Lawrence North Shore Seigniory of Mingan was authorized during the 1949 legislature session, and cost was $500,000 paid in cash to the Labrador Company.

With ownership rights the government obtained Minganghan's 1,000,000 acres, all mineral, potable, hydraulic resources of 1,000 horsepower, and possible mineral riches.

It boundaries cut out more than 200 years ago as a feudal settlement for Bissot, father-in-law of Louis Jolliet, and the United Nations would set up an advisory the council comprising Egypt, France, Italy, Holland, the United States and two native representatives.

Eritrea, which, has a coastline 1870 miles along the Red Sea, would be divided under the American plan, between Ethiopia and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

The United States would have Italian Somaliland — on the Indian Ocean east — brought into the United Nations trusteeship system with Italy as the administering power.

Solution for Disposition Of Italy's Pre-War North Africa Colonies in Sight

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Lake Success, N.Y., Oct. 15 — (CP) — A solution finally is in sight for disposition of Italy's pre-war colonies in North Africa.

United Nations experts on colonial topics quietly predict the U. N. General Assembly this session will call for independence of Libya—the largest of the three separate colonies which made up Mussolini's African empire.

The Assembly's decision will in effect be an ultimatum because the four big powers agreed to accept its recommendations when they turned the tricky problem over to the U.N. in 1945. It will be the first U.N. decision.

While disposal of Libya is almost assured, experts express belief that the Assembly session will again have to struggle with the fate of the other colonies—Italian Somaliland and Eritrea.

The Italian colonies debate was the longest and toughest the first Assembly session when an Italian plan came up narrowly defeated.

At the present session, with the cold war now on, the debate is moving fast and a final compromise decision is expected next week.

As in almost every U.N. deliberation, the United States and Russia have taken widely different views.

The Soviet plan calls for immediate independence of Libya with a share of all foreign forces and military personnel within three months. The Russians would give part of Eritrea to Ethiopia — victim of Mussolini's aggression—and put the remainder of the country under the U. N. trusteeship system along with Italian Somaliland.

Aimed at Britain

"The withdrawal of forces" phase of their proposal is aimed directly at Britain, whose forces with those of the Commonwealth liberated the area in the Second World War and now administer the three colonies with the exception of the Fezzan, a small section of Libya where French troops are stationed.

Britain's general policy statement at the opening of the debate this year indicated a view similar to that expressed in the United Nations' formal proposal submitted this week.

The U.S. plan calls for independence of Libya — which has important Mediterranean ports within three years with Britain and France to continue administration during the period leading to independence. The United Nations would set up an advisory the council comprising Egypt, France, Italy, Holland, the United States and two native representatives.

Eritrea, which, has a coastline 1870 miles along the Red Sea, would be divided under the American plan, between Ethiopia and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

The United States would have Italian Somaliland — on the Indian Ocean east — brought into the United Nations trusteeship system with Italy as the administering power.

Unwrap a pack of good bridge players and what have you got? Nothing but players who think they can win a championship title. And any one, two, or four of them can.

There are bridge tournaments to fit every type of player and to please each one with the type of play they prefer. Mixed pair, open pair, individual, team of four, and such.

Tournament play is fast becoming popular. The fact that all tables play the same hands gives players a chance to prove they are good. Or learn why others do what they do.

In a recent match came the deal you see here:

NORTH
♠A K 8 2
♥10 8 3
♦A 8 4 2
♣K Q

WEST
♠9 8 3
♥K Q J 8 5 4
♦10
♣J 8 4

EAST
♠J 10 7 6
♥9 7 6 2
♦Q J 9 7
♣9 5 2

SOUTH
♠Q 6 4
♥A 7
♦K 6 5 3
♣A 10 7 6 3

At least two tables reached and made six no-trump. The bidding went like this:

SOUTH	NORTH
1 C	2 S
2 NT	4 NT
6 D	6 NT

The immediate jump takeout by north was a promise of at least six tricks, two sure among them. With a count of six in his own hand, south quickly realized they had at least 12 for a possible slam.

There was no hurry to reach slam, however. The jump insists on keeping the bids open to at least a game. So, south had no fear of his two no-trump bid stopping at this point.

The four no-trump bid is convention asker of aces and kings. Six diamonds is Horse Sense convention answer for showing two aces and one king. Thereafter, saying six no-trump was to be expected.

West started off with an opening lead of the heart king. Even if the clubs break, only 11 tricks seem possible soon enough. Decide how declarer got his 12th trick. No stopping him.

AT THE McCARTHY — Water is more precious than gold or love. Glen Ford and Ida Lupino discover in "Lust for Gold." Columbia's fabulous but true story of the lost Dutchman Mine, closing today at the McCarthy Theatre.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 15 (AP) — Vaughn Monroe's bobby-socked fans wouldn't recognize him.

I found him on a western set out Republic way and he looked nothing like his smooth bandstand self. He was rigged up in a western outfit with a set of studio-made chin whiskers that made him look like a Smith brother (the handsome one).

The warbling maestro is here to play a cowpoke in "Singing Guns". He is lined up against such formidable talent as Ella Raines, Walter Brennan, Ward Bond and Jeff Corey. I asked him how he felt about acting with such competition in his first leading role.

He admitted being worried, but said he wasn't unprepared.

Rides Well

"I haven't done any roles," he pointed out, "but our business is largely a matter of acting most of the time."

He has been riding horseback most of his life, so that's no problem. However, his debut in the picture was almost his last scene. On location at Sedona, Ariz., his horse suddenly reared in the first shot. A hatchet fastened to the saddle slashed Monroe's wrist, missing a tendon "by an eighth of an inch". Three stitches were needed.

Aside from that incident, he finds movie work satisfying. He'd like to make one or two pictures a year, but no more.

No Work

"When I come out here to make a picture, the boys in the band have to lay off," he explained. "I feel an obligation to them."

Another concern is his children. He's not sure how he'll be received at home as a romantic horse opera star.

"I did a test at 20th-Fox last year in which I kissed a girl," he said. "When I showed the film at home, my seven-year-old daughter thought I shouldn't have kissed the girl. She wouldn't look at the test the second time I ran it."

Hope, B. C. — (CP) — The sleeping princess awaiting the touch of the 'prince's magic kiss could have a modern parallel here in this town in the lower Fraser Valley.

Founded more than 100 years ago as a Hudson's Bay post, Hope has been stirring restlessly in recent years. Its full awakening may come when the "magic kiss" is applied with the opening of the $12,000,000 Hope - Princeton highway.

Tourist traffic will flow east through here en route to the Okanagan and the Kootenays. Tourists from eastern points will be able to make a six-hour drive from the Okanagan to the coast.

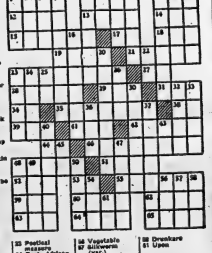
Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was waiting for the Wednesday Mystery Hour to begin on the radio, saying to pop, I hope this isn't going to bore you, William. I know as far as mystery shows are concerned, you're usually raddy to throw up the sponge before I've heard enough to barely wet my appetite, she said.



I've got a little mystery of my own that you might clear up for me, pop said. The last 6 mysteries you've listened to, including the one you just heard half an hour ago, were each about a man taking out insurans on a woman's life and then locking her in a car in a garage to be asfixiated by monoxide gas. They were all as exactly alike as 6 ocreems in the dark, and yet you listened to each one with the same wrapped attention. That's the mystery to me, he said.

Why, William, each one was absolutely diffrent from all the others, ma said. For instance the one lastie was about a mac setting insurants on his step dawter before he killed her, but last nite the merdered geri was the man's niece, she said, and pop said Well then by golly you got you, because another insurants merderer did away with his niece just 3 or 3 days ago.

That was intirely diffrent, because in that story the insurants policy called for dubble indemnity, ma said. And the day before yesterday the merderer didn't even use the garage. He jumped out of the car just as it went over a high cliff into the sea. And furthermore his niece wasn't his neice and neither was his step dawter. His' wife was, she said, and pop said, My dear, I owe you an apology. The plots were as different as 6 peas in a pod, he said.

I'm glad you admit it, ma said. Being the end of the subject.

African Odyssey For Polio Funds

Johannesburg — (CP) — Seventy-two-year-old Victor Cornelius Maximillian Jensen is to ride 2,000 miles through South-West Africa on two specially-trained cowboy horses, collecting money for the Fight Polio Fund. He says he will take karakul skins, cash and cheques from the farmers of South-West Africa, whom he knows intimately.

A former wild animal trainer, Mr. Jensen has been sleeping on a concrete floor at his Johannesburg home as part of the training for his gruelling trip.

As another means of raising funds, when he returns, Mr. Jensen will issue a challenge to any rider in the Union to race on horseback from Kimberley to Johannesburg.

DISCOVERED JAMAICA

Jamaica was discovered by Columbus in 1494, and remained in the possession of Spain until it was taken by the English in 1655.

Drove Royal Train, Work Shown on Film

London — (CP) — William Arthur, 65-year-old engineer who has taught hundreds of locomotive men he has never seen, has retired after 47 years of footplate service.

But even in retirement he'll go on teaching. For Arthur is the "star" of a film made for British railways to teach young engineers and firemen.

Arthur, who once drove the Royal train, spent his last week-end away from home, on the footplate of a Leeds express and arrived in London 38 minutes late because o frack repairs. He says British trains nowadays don't travel much faster than they did 30 years ago.

He and Mrs. Arthur's first retirement move will be to look for a small country cottage — as far away from a railway line as possible.

NAME PERPETUATED

The term "maverick" for stray cattle is derived from a Samuel Maverick, who took advantage of the U.S. Civils War to steal any cattle he found straying.

STIRLING

ST. PAUL'S W. A.

Stirling—The regular monthly meeting of St. Paul's United church Women's Association was held at the home of Mrs. C. L. Hatton on Tuesday afternoon with a splendid attendance. The president, Mrs. W. T. Elliott, presided over the business portion of the meeting. The visiting committees, Mrs. A. E. Good and Mrs. C. Pitman, reported 29 calls made during September. Mrs. N. Wescott and Mrs. W. T. Elliott will be calling committees for October. Mrs. J. S. Thompson presented a complete financial report.

Miss Della Caldwell gave a very interesting report of the W. A. exhibits and prizes won at the Stirling Fair and the president and Miss Caldwell thanked all the ladies who contributed their fancy work etc. An invitation from the Trinity Church Guild of Frankford to attend their open meeting was accepted.

Plans were made for the bazaar afternoon tea, sale of fancy aprons, knitted goods, home cooking and items produce to be held in the church parlors on November 17th. The W. A. decided to procure 100 Scripture Text calendars from Homer-Warren Co. of Toronto. It was also decided to give $200.00 to the general fund of the church for the Thanksoffering.

Thanksgiving Program

The program of the afternoon was directed by Mrs. G. Meggison, convener of the program committee, and was appropriately designed on the theme "Thanksgiving." All Thanksgiving hymns were sung during the program. Mrs. C. Wright read the scripture lesson, 90th Psalm followed with the reading "The Master of the Harvest" by Mrs. Meggison, Mrs. W. L. Fox led in prayer. Two splendid readings were given, one by Mrs. Morley Ayhart on "The First Thanksgiving" and the other by Mrs. K. Belcour, on "Thanksgiving Day."

Mrs. Meggison spoke for a few minutes on the description of church architecture and church life as she saw it during her visit to California last winter which proved of great interest to her listeners.

During the social period a very dainty luncheon was served by the committee in charge. Mrs. Lorne Watson voiced the appreciation of all the ladies present to the hostess Mrs. C. L. Hatton, to all who took part on the program and to the entire committee in charge.

St. John's Ladies' League

The October meeting of St. John's Ladies League was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Morrow. Mrs. Reg Coombes, and Mrs. Gerald Richardson assisting. There were 21 members present. The meeting was opened by the president Mrs. Norman Woodley. Home Life

Mrs. Reg Coombes took the study book in dealing with what Dr. Hereford Bishop of Norwich says about "Man in the Home." Summed up, this chapter stated that the Lambeth Conference found that home life today is threatened because few people really know what marriage is for and how it should be managed. The church must see to it that young people should be given proper preparation before they marry and that they must be helped by this preparation to understand what they are undertaking. 2nd. The church must teach that the stability of the home and care of the children are the things that really matter. 3rd. The church must make its stand against the idea that divorce doesn't matter even if this means making very strict rules against the re-marriage in church of those who have been divorced. 4th. The church must do everything it can to care for those who have suffered through the breakdown of their marriage, and genuinely want to make a fresh start.

Mrs. Ken Morrow read a paper which had been prepared by Mrs. Richardson who was unable to be present on "Thanksgiving" An interesting poem "Old Apple Trees," was read.

Character

Mrs. Edgar Morrow read a splendid article by George Matthew Adams entitled 'Just to Have Lived," which stressed the point that the only substantial thing about a life is character. Just to have lived and done the best in our power with what abilities we have is to have lived a successful life.

The president closed the meeting Refreshments were then served. by Mrs. Morrow, and her assistants, followed by several delightful musical selections by the hostess and a song beautifully sung by Mrs. Cherry.

Mrs. Morgan on behalf of the league members moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Morrow and her co-hostesses. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. R. Lyons.

Black Boom

By Paul David Preston

Presently they were like a floating, humming group of bees migrating, staying close together and growing oddly belligerent as they moved. Each man wanted to express his observations and opinions and did so. Others nodded, some swore with agreement.

"There's even a move on foot to pipe gas right down all the streets and to do every dwelling," said one man, "in spite of the danger and smell of the stuff."

Like a jury they filed back and sat down. The judge, near Martin at the front desk again, was wiping his glasses and scowling when Martin stood up to make a somewhat nervous but vehement speech. If he spoke a little too bombastically he was only imitating his elders here.

"—and so I say," he concluded, "let's sponsor a larger and public meeting to demand a return to sanity, to restrict the mad rush of activity and force enactment of laws to guard the heritage that is ours. And let's do it without delay. Let's take a few hours to spread the word, sound the locals, then go right back here."

He made it definite, and again there was hearty applause.

The speed with which an oil derrick could be set up was incredible, the people of this town already knew. On Mrs. Mayfield's lawn trucks had been arriving before dawn, and immediately workmen were scurrying fast. An unholy clanking so defiled the neighborhood at first that the Mayfields kept strictly inside. For one thing, it was necessary to pacify old Jason, who moulted indignantly about it all morning. Mrs. Mayfield finally had to "talk straight" to him for the sad state of her financial affairs. He was brought almost to tears. He refused to serve the table at noon but sulked on the back steps staring into space.

As for Lillian, she tried valiantly to ignore the noise on front. Baby Bill, under mother's orders stayed inside too but peeked constantly out the window. Dozens then hundreds of passersby outside paused to look at the proceedings on the lawn, and the telephone brought many inquiries from distracted friends. To these latter Mrs. Mayfield had to maintain a dignified cordiality saying just so much and no more. It added to the strain.

Following established routine she and her two girls went to their rooms to lie down at 1:30. Normally they would arise about 3 or 3:30, refreshed. At a little after two this day, however, Mrs. Mayfield heard Lillian running water in the bathtub. Still wide awake herself, she got up and went into Lillian's room.

Lillian stood near her closet door, undressing. She spoke first.

"Aren't you going to get your rest, mother? You need it."

"Aren't you?"

"I wasn't sleepy." The slender Lillian was unclad now and her mother studied her form.

"You look as if you have lost some weight, dear."

"I have. Seven pounds."

"I told you that you were not eating well. You must."

"I eat all I want. It's just the weather, I guess."

Millicent Mayfield's lips worked in and out, worriedly. She sat on the edge of Lillian's bed. The girl's face was long, too long, as she slipped a blue chenille robe around herself and knotted the belt cord. It had been long for days, Mrs. Mayfield knew. Long, which meant sober. Utterly unlike the vivacious person that had been Lillian Mayfield.

"Honey, aren't you and Thad both just so excited?" Mother tried to force a mood. "You never mention it."

"Oh. Oh, yes of course, mother. He's an awfully nice boy."

"Yes."

Lillian puttered in and out of the bathroom. She had cut off the water. She draped herself into her robe over the dressing table bench now and began to trim her nails, listlessly. She didn't say anything so her mother opened another conversational tack.

"Dr. Tower never comes out any more, does he? Do you see him downtown? he must be very busy."

"He is busy. Dr. Watkins said he came here at the opportune moment. He won't do any of the gambling on oil leases and-and-and-all that kind of speculation. He works hard and is building up a marvelous practice. He—"

"Is he?"

"Yes. Did you hear about the floater's family, mother?"

"No, dear. Tell me?" she had received Lillian noticeably.

"Eleven of them, coming in hunting work, and the mother having a baby right in their old trailer without a top. Dallas spent nearly 24 hours with them and didn't even send them a bill."

"Hmmm! What else did he say!"

"He didn't say that. It was Dr. Watkins told me."

"I see."

"He even sent them a lot of groceries and some clothing, mother."

"Dr. Watkins? It's just like him dear."

"No, mother! Dallas. But Dr. Watkins heard about it, and was he proud of Dal!"

"Hmmm."

"What?"

"Hmmm!"

"I say what did you say, mother."

The workmen outside, already noisy, had suddenly begun anew clacking and clamoring in a crescendo so that even with the windows closed the mother and daughter could hardly understand one another.

"It's so awful dear. Try not to—try to ignore it. What else did Dr. Watkins say?"

"Oh, a lot of things. He said Dal ought to specialize in surgery. Said he had quite a talent, and Dal wants to."

"Why don't you invite him out to dinner some time, then?"

Lillian looked up, surprised, dangling her scissors.

"But mother, Thad is—"

"That's so. Oh, dear! I keep forgetting! Losing out lately, honey. I'm so distracted! Still, it wouldn't look right, would it, Thad and Marlin—you had such a lovely group of friends until the oil well—now Marlin's dog was a happy and peaceful."

"What did you say?" Lillian had to raise her voice again.

"I say I want you to be happy, dear. You and Baby Doll. It's what your father and I always strived for. You are happy, aren't you?"

Lillian ignored that, resuming work on her toe nails. She might have been pouring a trifle, or might not have heard the question.

Mrs. Mayfield studied her daughter at a long minute there, wondering, worrying. Of course Lillian was not happy. It was all a pitiful tale. And right at the time when she should have been in the clouds. The oil was to blame for it, the oil and the Mayfield's money worries. The oil had been a curse. Mother had letting Lillian know about the money. Dan Mayfield had always said the girls should be above such things, should be for gaiety and laughter and songs, dancing and playing and beautifying the world. It was as if she had been disloyal to their daughters, forcing unseemly financial worries into them this way. Mrs. Mayfield felt definitely ashamed.

"Don't you worry dear," she suddenly said to Lillian, "we expect to get enough money to have the wedding you have a right to expect. Your father would demand it. I will do my—"

Lillian glanced up in surprise again.

"I wasn't thinking about weddings."

Her mother talked over the interruption. "—do my best to see that you are not embarrassed dear. That young Steve Buford, the lawyer said I could expect good returns, The geologists feel that our prospect is excellent. Of course, here on North Marshall—"

"It's too noisy to talk, mother. After I bathe I'm going out and watch them. No earthly use of trying to hide inside this way."

Lillian left her dresser and walked to the window, opening the shade with positive even decisive motions.

"There's a whole crowd of people out front. mean—people. Towns people, not workmen. Whatever can they want?"

The note of alarm in Lillian's voice was unmistakeable.

Mrs. Tower strode up the stairs two at a time and entered the offices he shared with elderly Dr. Watkins.

"Doctor," he greeted, politely, "there's some kind of excitement out at the Mayfields. I wondered if you didn't want to go?"

Dr. Watkins removed his glasses. "Excitement, son?"

"Rather important, I gather on the street. Riot or something. I think maybe you'd better."

The old doc was quite human. He got up at once, carefully taking his black bag as if to cover his unseemly curiosity. Of course if there was actual need—]

They did not hurry. For one thing the old gentleman wasn't capable of running around any more, and Dallas courteously set his own pace slower as they walked to Dal's car.

"The Mayfields, hmmm," Dr. Watkins was musing aloud. "A fine family. Fine young woman head of it son. I sent you out there first thing. You liked them, didn't you? Eh?"

"Yes, sir."

"You sort of cottoned to Lillian?"

Dal might have smiled, but did not.

"Well—yes, matter of fact, But—"

". . . ."

"She spoke most highly of you, son. Several times."

"Did she? Did she, doctor!" Dal was suddenly alert.

"Why, yes! I assumed that you and she were friends right along. But now that I think of it, you haven't mentioned her in some time. You have been very busy, Dallas, I know. You started out making friends well. But you really haven't seemed as happy here lately. How many girls have you met? A young man needs girl friends. I had hoped that Lillian—"

"Oh everything's okay, doctor."

The older man studied him a moment, then turned away frowning. "Dallas, you must feel free to talk personal matters over with me any time. You have no relatives here. I am almost three times your age. I have no sons of my own."

They were on North Marshall street, now and all at once they beheld the crowd. It was not a riot, as word-of-mouth rumor had it. It was peaceful enough, but it held portent. Both doctors were astonished next by their discovery of the derrick, yet neither commented. Dallas breathed a "whew!"

They instantly began to recognize people. After they had paced and walked quietly over they saw many of the town's citizens apparently gazing incredulously at the new derrick and talking about it. Others were coming up, some in cars and some afoot, several actually running. Already there were 300 or more and as Dal quickly noted, they seemed to be divided into two factions.

"Miss meeting, all right!" he said incredulously to Dr. Watkins. "Oh! There's Lillian!"

He hit his companion and walked to her at once. Then he saw Thad Monroe standing near her. He smiled cordially at both.

"Hello, Dal!" Lillian spoke with surprising heartiness. "Gee!"

"Tower," Thad nodded, quietly polite. "Come out to see the fun?"

"Yes. What is it about, Thad? The mob scene." He eyed the other young man, wondering how to re-capture his friendship. When he had offended Lillian a few days back he apparently had ostracized her friends as-well. And he didn't understand it. He didn't understand why Lillian refused to listen to his explanations, for that matter. The stupid, drunken girl in the dance hall had been no fault of his, and- yet—

"Sort of a show-down meeting," Thad answered. "There's a whole oil versus them as don't. If you get what I mean."

"It's awful," Lillian said, but her first spirited tone had suddenly been replaced by a reserved manner again, as if she had suddenly remembered. "Mother is in tears."

"Hmmm! And a derrick right here!" Dallas looked appraisingly at it. "Virtually finished, too. They'll be ready to spud in soon, That?"

"Looks like it."

"I see. Then the point is, these people don't want an oil well on this lawn, On this street, say. That it?"

Thad nodded.

"And so they have come out to protest, eh?"

"Yes," Lillian said. "But mother had to—had—well, business is business, Dr. Tower, and—"

"Surely," said he, kindly, holding her eyes. There he suddenly beamed with his old irresistable grin, trying deliberately to break Lillian's reserved manner again. "But listen, Miss, a moment ago you—say, would you take me to your mother? She's a charming somebody and I haven't seen her in quite a time. Please do!"

RASUTO MURDERS CONTINUE

Stories of ritual murders in Bantuland, South Africa, have caused a police investigation that has resulted in 50 natives being sentenced to death but has not stopped the murders. Shortly after two native chiefs had been hanged for murder, the body of another mutilated corpse was discovered. This Bantu woman, implicated in one of the deaths, signifies native mentality in saying she considers ritual murder a natural appeasement of supernatural forces.—Central Press Canadian.

ANOTHER WELCOME VISITOR

CANTON NORMAL UNDEROCCUPANCY OF CHINESE REDS

British Steamship, Anhui, Caught in Artillery Duel, Three Killed

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Oct. 17 (AP). — Canton slipped quietly into the widening orbit of red China today, and nationalists asked 'where next?'

Some quarters predicted twin communist drives to knock out the government once and for all—one against Chungking, the nationalists' capital, the other one against Kunming nearly 400 miles southwest.

The reds already threatened several minor nationalist positions along the east coast. Official reports said the communists in a big amphibious operation established a beachhead on the northern corner of Amoy Island, about 10 miles northeast of Canton. About 1,200 others landed at Kulangsu, a few chimes and the mainland.

(The British steamship Anhui, carrying 1,400 passengers, was caught in the crossfire of an Amoy artillery duel Sunday. It returned to Hong Kong with three Chinese dead and 24 wounded.)

The government source claimed only a small number got ashore at Amoy and were being wiped out. Similarly, at Kulangsu, 200 were taken prisoners and the remainder "annihilated".

Three United States representatives arrived here today — first foreign diplomats to reach Chungking since its re-establishment on Saturday as the capital. A chartered plane brought U.S. Charge d'Affaires Robert Strong; second secretary Robert Rinden and supervisor of communications Lawrence Norton. Attaches of other countries are expected to follow.

Some Ch to Hainan Island

Press dispatches reported that Gen. Hsueh Yueh, governor of Canton's Kwangtung province, and other high officials of the provincial government had arrived at Hainan Island.

There was no mention of Gen. Yu Han-Mou, Nationalist military commander of Kwangtung, rumored to have gone over to the conquering reds.

The swift red advance and sapture of Canton lessened in the public mind the prospect that Chungking can hold out if the reds invade Szechwan province.

The easy communist conquest of northwest China—where Moslem general Ma Hung-K'wei had been expected to put up a hard fight—enabled the reds to send crack men as needed for the Szechwan drive.

The Nationalists now control five provinces, Szechwan (Chungking), Sikang, Kweichow, Kwangsi and Yunnan (Kunming) and bits of a few others—the southern part of Shensi, for example.

The Nationalists have been reduced to three to direct operations centres of residence; Chungking with some 175,000 troops guarding the approaches; Kweilin, where Gen. Pai's 200,000 troops represent the Nationalists' last army; and Formosa, Chiang Kai-Shek's island fortress, 300 miles off the east coast.

Severe Dose of Austerity Due to Post-Devaluation Is Expected by British Public

By FRASER WIGHTON

London, Oct. 17 — (Reuters) — The British public today was bracing itself for the stiff dose of cost - devaluation austerity which the government is expected to announce this week.

Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister and the government's chief expert on mass political psychology, warned in a weekend speech at Doncaster, England that some of the measures were bound to be "unpleasant to all."

But their full scope, likely to involve a cut of several hundred millions sterling in government expenditure, will not be known until tomorrow when the full cabinet meets to approve the emergency economic program.

Slash in Schools Construction

Biggest single domestic slash, possibly 100,000,000 ($310,000,000) may be in capital investment through postponement of construction of new schools, local government offices, health centres, hospitals and similar building projects.

Biggest dollar - retrenchment will be the already proposed £100,000,000 cut in hard-currency imports. This will be offset to some extent by bigger food purchases from non-dollar sources.

Parliament, which reassembles tomorrow after summer recess, will hear the government's plans at an early moment.

Meanwhile, newspaper commentators were speculative on the effects of the government plans upon industry, commerce and the public.

Some predicted an increase in profits tax, extension of the compulsory direction of labor and increased taxes on the various commodities and services.

One London paper suggested the price of gasoline might rise by fourpence (about 7½ cents) a gallon.

This, it was argued might lead to a big increase in British road transport fares.

Measures producing any marked rise in domestic living costs are certain to be criticized by a section of the government's parliamentary following. The principle of equality of sacrifice will be insisted on.

Keeps Promised Vigil in Plane For 14 Days

Lieut. James Rimer made a forced landing in his plane about 150 miles south of the Mexican border.

He made it to Tampico on horseback and by truck. Before he left he asked Dolores to keep an eye on the plane until he got back.

Dolores took him for his word. Two weeks passed before Rimer's officials ordered the stranded plane picked up by a cargo plane.

When the six-man crew reached the beach-ridden fighter plane, Dolores stepped out from the shade of the wings.

He'd been there 14 days. The airmen learned that friends brought him food and drink while he kept his promised vigil.

Assailant Kicks Constable in Face

Toronto, Oct. 17 — (CP) — Constable William Langman of nearby Aurora was kicked in the face and left unconscious Sunday by a young man who attacked him in an alley while he was taking a prisoner into custody.

Langman said he had arrested William Steadman of Aurora following a disturbance in a restaurant. He was leading Steadman to the police station when a young man leaped out of an alley and attacked him. As he grappled with the youth a second man ran into the alley and kicked him in the face as he bent over the prisoner. Steadman did not take his chance to run away and waited until the policeman recovered.

Last Dozen Most Battered Vets Will Soon Return to Civilian Life

East Grinstead, Sussex, England, Oct. 17 — (CP)—The last dozen of Britain's most battered men will soon be leaving hospital here to start a new back to civilization.

They are the last of the guinea pig club — some 400 R. A. F. men who were so badly injured and disfigured in wartime air crashes that most had little hope of living let alone returning to a normal life.

Of the dozen still at hospital two have been undergoing regular operations every two or three months. Their faces and bodies have been rebuilt bit by bit through surgery. One man may be given his sight again — after five years of blindness and a long series of operations.

All over Britain those who have started with hospital are fitting back into civilian life.

Since late in the war more than 700 "human wrecks" have passed through the hospital. After growing new ears, eyelids, noses and chins under the care of plastic surgeons, they have been discharged as fit.

Three hundred were allied nationals of 15 different nationalities. The other four hundred were British members of the R. A. F. who formed the Guinea Pig Club.

EARTH TREMOR JARS EASTERN ONTARIO CENTRES

Epicentre of Quake 12 Miles East of Ottawa

Ottawa, Oct. 17 — (CP) Eastern Ontario was thrown into a mild state of excitement Sunday night by a window-rattling earth tremor.

Houses creaked, windows rattled and dishes danced on shelves from the effects of the tremor, described by officials at the Dominion Observatory here as a "sharp local earthquake."

The quake, recorded on the observatory seismograph for 50 seconds at 7.32 p. m., left neither damage nor injuries in its wake. Although recorded on the sensitive seismograph for a longer period, the earth's shaking was noticeable for less than 10 seconds.

Officials placed the epicentre of the quake about 12 miles east of Ottawa, but the heaviest tremors were reported from Alexandria, some 40 miles east of the capital, where one resident said it felt as though a bomb had had crashed into the building."

3,000 Workers At C.G.E. Plant Take Holiday

Peterborough, Oct. 17 (CP) — More than 3,000 production workers at the Canadian General Electric Company plant decided Sunday night to remain away from their jobs today.

Local 524 of the United Electrical Workers (C. I. O.) announced following a meeting Sunday night that the workers had decided to "take a one-day holiday."

The group staged a sitdown strike Friday afternoon over a dispute on piecework rates for 30 girls in the armature winding department. The plant normally is closed Saturday and Sunday.

Representatives of union locals in three Toronto plants of General Electric Co., Simpsons, Hoyts and Ward Street — will attend a meeting here at 11 A. M. EDT today of the United Electrical Conference Board which is trying to negotiate a master contract with General Electric. A union spokesman said Sunday night:

"The plan was made before that body the Peterborough situation as well as to discuss a suggested action for obtaining a speedy contract."

The work stoppages arose from a dispute over an arbitration work decision concerning pay rates for the girls. The union said induction motor winding division. The union contends the decision required the company to restore former piecework rates while the company contends that the decision needs clarification before it can be put into effect.

POLICE SEEKING MEMBERS

Toronto, Oct. 17 — (CP) — Police today are seeking members of a teen-age gang who attacked and beat up Albert Bolting, 17, and left him unconscious on a west-end intersection.

Codling's companion, Kathleen Houston, 17, said she suffered a black eye when struck by gang members. She said a number of bystanders watched the fight and failed to come to their help.

Girl friends of the gang stood by and cheered the youthful hoodlums, she said.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Oct. 17 (CP)—Synopsis—Warm air still lies over Southern Ontario and Quebec. Fine weather and unseasonably mild temperatures for mid-October has pushed across Northern Ontario bringing cloudy skies and low temperatures to that part of the province. A weak disturbance is causing considerable cloudiness and some rain south of the Great Lakes. This cloud is likely to spread over the extreme southern part of the province today and Tuesday. There will be little change in temperatures seasonably cool in Northern Ontario and continuing mild in southern regions.

Weeping Czechs Seek Relatives In Prague Prison

By NOTE POLOWETZKY

Prague, Oct. 17 — (AP) — She's not here. Try Pankrac prison.

The dejected couple stepped out of the queue at the police station and continued the hunt for their daughter — just one of the thousands arrested in the last two weeks by Communist government police.

The scene was repeated hundreds of times Sunday as anxious and weeping Czechs searched for relatives and friends snatched up in the Red crackdown, reported to be aimed at liquidating the middle class and nationalizing small businesses.

In this case, the missing girl's parents took their food package and went to Pankrac prison. Prague's biggest prison overlooking the city. Even before they got into the taxi the driver knew where they wanted to go. Crowds gathered in packages these days are taking them to threatened friends.

At Pankrac prison the girl's parents squeezed through the crowd to a big iron gate sitting before a list of names. The mother found the name their daughter was there and the food package would be accepted.

It was opened and thoroughly searched. Some meat cubes were destroyed.

Arrests are widespread. Roman Catholic priests reported Sunday that Msgr. Svec Canon of Prague's ancient Vitus Cathedral was among the latest churchmen seized. The reason for his arrest was not known.

Unlicenced Personnel Bound To Work Aboard S.S. Noronic Without Being Paid Overtime

Toronto, Oct. 17 (CP)—Under an agreement governing enginement unlicensed personnel were bound to work without being paid overtime in a working agreement the Noronic disaster inquiry was told today.

A copy of the agreement, between Canada Steamship Lines, ship's owners and the International Union, (A.F.L.) was produced by C.S.L. counsel Frank Wilkinson as the inquiry entered its 12th day.

The agreement said crew members would perform any work at sea or in port necessary for the safety of the ship and passengers and that increasing of the watch at the discretion of the ship's master.

Capt. Patrick Bourke of Sarnia, Ont., master of the Noronic, said in his evidence he did not think it would be safe to have personnel on shore leave to remain aboard ship in port overnight, except when she docked in Toronto, Sept. 16. He said the company had instructed engineers to be present

"FRIEND" LENT CAR, NOW SOUGHT ON THEFT CHARGE

Even a fellow's best friend will sometimes let him down!

At least that seems to be the feeling of a guest at a local hotel who over the weekend loaned his car to a friend who wished to visit a party on the outskirts of the city.

That was on Saturday night and Sunday noon the car had not been returned, the car still has not been returned and the owner has laid a theft complaint. Police now hold a warrant for the arrest of the "friend."

CITY DUCK HUNTERS HAVE FAIR SUCCESS

Homecoming duck hunters who were out with the crack of dawn on Saturday to see the opening of the duck hunting season today reported varied success.

Some hunters reported fair numbers of blue wing teal in evidence while bell-divers, in their close resemblance to the teal, were stated to have suffered a reduction of their numbers. A few hunters were fortunate in getting their limit in blacks and mallards.

Graduating Class Receives Diplomas At H.&S. Meeting

Members of the Queen Mary Home and School Association held first meeting of the fall season in the school auditorium last week with president elect Mrs. L. P. Hopkins presiding.

Mrs. Hopkins extended a warm welcome to all members present and introduced the convenors of the various committees. School principal C. J. Cassidy briefly addressed the members and introduced the class teachers in the convents. He also extended best wishes to the graduating class and noticed regrets that Major Frink, their grade master, was unable to attend.

Diplomas Presented

Public School Inspector L. A. Kells presented diplomas to the graduating class and extended congratulations. Mrs. Hopkins presented each of the graduating class with a picture key tied with Queen Mary School ribbons as a remembrance from the Association.

Queen Mary Home and School scholarship was presented by the past president, Mrs. T. K. Frankin, to Jacqueline Caverly and Tony Cavers. These two pupils were chosen the best all round boy and girl students in the school.

Capt. Thos. Rurton spoke briefly appealing for the support of the Red Feather Campaign. The personal solicitation of which, when counted to determine the banner winners.

D. W. Mack Speaker

Program for the evening was in charge of Mr. Willis Jackson, program convenor. The guest speaker, Mr. Douglis W. Mack, probation officer for the local juvenile and family court, was introduced by Mr. E. M. Lusk. In a brief address directed to members of the graduating class, Mr. Mack pointed out that graduation was an important milestone in the lives of young students. The speakers were thanked by Jas. Mackenzie.

Miss Norma Arkles favored with two vocal numbers accompanied by Miss Margaret Hillis at the piano. Mr. Jackson expressed his appreciation to those who assisted with the program.

Following the meeting and during the refreshment period members of the graduating class were honored guests at a special table prepared in their honor. Refreshments were served by the special committee under the convenership of Mrs. G. Simmons.

Sam Cherry, Retired Engineer, Guest of Family Dinner Party

With nearly half a century of railroading behind him, Mr. Sam Cherry, Pine Glen, was guest last week at a family dinner party held in his honor. On Thanksgiving Day, Mr. Cherry retired from the service after 49 years as a locomotive engineer.

Attending the family dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. Cherry, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Mott of Fallcrombridge and their three children, Miss Edna Cherry, fiancee; Miss Joane Cherry, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Cherry, Toronto; Mrs. Alex Ramsay, Mr. Cherry's only sister in Belleville and Mr. Ramsay; Mr. and Mrs. L. Gamble, Mrs. F. Cotey and Mr. and Mrs. Hepburn of Lindsay.

Also present were Mr. Alfred Hunter, Mrs. Cherry's brother and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Lew. Lee and Mrs. Hastingly of Barrie and a niece, Mrs. Hunter of Edmonton.

Mr. Cherry's brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cherry were at home to more than 100 friends.

Native of Scotland

A native of Scotland, Mr. Cherry was born at Kilwinning, Ayrshire, Scotland, coming to Canada as a young man in 1904. For several months he worked on his uncle's farm at Tweed, Ont., and then turned to railroading. He started as a fireman at Lindsay with the G.T.R. in Dec. 1904 and worked out of Lindsay, Midland, Allandale and Belleville for four years. He was classed as an engineer in 1909.

During that time he has run practically every kind of power equipment owned by the railway including all classes of steam locomotives, gas cars and Diesels.

Handled Passenger Trains

Mr. Cherry transferred to the passenger service in 1919 running between Brockville and Napanee. He came to Belleville in 1920 and since has run almost fast passenger trains.

He then stepped down from his engine on Thanksgiving Day after bringing No. 14 from Napanee. Prior to his retirement he was greeted by members of his family and a group of railway friends. Scotsmen "piped" him down from his engine.

Also indicative of the high esteem in which fellow railroaders held Mr. Cherry was the presentation made on behalf of the Spadina roundhouse and shop staff in Toronto, where Mr. Cherry commencing his final run the employees presented him with a handsome pen and pencil set, a box of cigars and an autographed photo of himself and fireman.

Written Address Presented

Shop foreman R. Crux presented a written address which was replied to by J. Bailey, supt., of motive power who stated it was a very rare thing for two rival companies to get together on such an occasion to pay tribute on the retiring engineer. Later at the station a second group of officials, office staff, mail and express personnel, and section men bade Mr. Cherry good luck.

Although his active years as a railroader are past, Mr. Cherry is still a railroader at heart and will be "at home" to his friends any time they call at 20 Pine Street.

6R.D. Soccer Team Wins Merchants Cup

The No. 6 R.D. soccer team won the replayed final for the Belleville Merchants' Charity Cup on Saturday when they defeated Batawa eleven by a 4-2 count. The game was played at Bain Memorial Park, Trenton.

The game was a hot productive of the scintillating play of previous games featured the cup series. However the 6 R.D. team were not three goals better than their rivals, according to soccer enthusiasts. The winners, however took full advantage when the opportunity arose which was not the case with the Batawa team.

Another 6 R.D. one goal up in the first minute of play when he scored a penalty goal. Faulkner made it two for the airmen ten minutes later. Batawa rushed to the attack but the defenders were on the part of the 6 R.D. backs prevented any scoring.

Batawa were allowed a penalty kick for a 8 R.D. infringement but Flemski kicked wide of the goal. Ten minutes before half time Anzuoni scored the third goal on a neat pass from Law.

The second half saw play more even with Batawa scoring a fast allowed goal.

Following the match Mr. Frank Follwell, M.P., presented the Merchants' Trophy to the winning team. He outlined the history of the cup in brief address. Remarks were also made by Flying Officer Sgt. Lent Les Higby, captain Angus of 8 R.D., Bill Harvey and John Yonas.

MIDNIGHT MARAUDERS

Kitchener, Ont. — (CP)—City police had a busy call to action on the other night. They returned victorious both times — two dead skunks to their credit.

Obituary

MISS ALICE ANN FENDERGRAST (Trent Road)

Miss Alice Ann Fendergrast died on Sunday at the home of her niece, Mrs. A. B. Collins, Trent Road, after an illness of five years duration.

Born in Bathurst, N.B., the late Miss Fendergrast was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fendergrast. For some years she lived in Thorold, Ontario, and for the past thirty years she made her home here. She was the last of her family.

Miss Fendergrast was a faithful member of St. Michael's Church and in connection with the parish was a member of the Altar Society, the League of the Sacred Heart and the Catholic Women's League.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

MRS. LILLIE MAY KETCHESON (Thurlow Township)

Mrs. Lillie May Ketcheson, wife of Mr. John F. Ketcheson, died at her home on the 2nd concession of Thurlow township on Sunday. She was in failing health for some time.

Born in Huntingdon Township the late Mrs. Ketcheson was in her 75th year and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Sayers. All her life was passed in this district. She was a member of Bethel United Church, Thurlow Junction with which she was a life member of the Women's Missionary Society. When age and health permitted she was a valued member of the choir. She was also a charter member of the Women's Institute in the community she was highly esteemed by many friends.

Surviving her are her husband and one son, Harry Ketcheson, at home. She was the last of her family.

The funeral announcement is made in this edition.

MRS. MILLIE FRANCES WARRINGTON (Crookston)

After an illness of ten days' duration Mrs. Millie Frances Johnston, widow of Edmund Johnston, died at her home at Crookston. She was passed in her 80th year.

Born in the 2nd. concession of Sidney township the late Mrs. Johnston was in her 79th year and lived all her life in the district. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hogle. For the past 46 years she lived at Crookston and was a member of White Lake United Church.

THOMAS HERBERT CHALMERS (Trent Road)

Thomas Herbert Chalmers died suddenly at his home on the Trent Road, Sidney township, on Saturday. He was apparently in good health when taken with a heart attack and death immediately.

To many friends the sudden death of Mr. Chalmers will bring sincere regret. He was widely known in the city and throughout the district and was highly esteemed. For many years he was engaged in the farm implement agency business in this city as representative for the Frost and Wood Company of Smiths Falls. For a time the business was known as Chalmers and Hollis; later a change was made and the firm became Chalmers and Hubbs. This arrangement was dissolved in 1930 and from that time until 1933 which he retired, he conducted the business alone. In every capacity he was a good citizen; he resided here and in the vicinity since 1914.

The late Mr. Chalmers, who was in his 74th year, was born at Adolphustown, Lennox County, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. William Chalmers. During his residence in this city he was a faithful member of St. Thomas' Anglican Church and served at one time as a warden and also as a representative to the diocesan synod. Fraternally he was a life member of Prince Edward Lodge No. 18 A.F. and A.M.

Mr. Chalmers was twice married—his first wife, Clarissa Dorland died on Sunday at the home of her niece, Mrs. A. B. Collins, Trent Road, after an illness of five years duration.

Born in Bathurst, N.B., the late Miss Fendergrast was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fendergrast. For some years she lived in Thorold, Ontario, and for the past thirty years she made her home here. She was the last of her family.

Good Neighbor Spirit Displayed When Farmer Suffers Severe Scalds

Clarence Hagerman, farmer residing on the 4th concession of that township can vouch for that.

And fifty acres of freshly plowed land on Hagerman's 125-acre farm is further evidence of friendly interest and neighborhood spirit.

Some time ago Hagerman was badly scalded when a radiator of his farm tractor exploded. He was unable to work, and in the meantime his fields needed plowing.

Then the neighbors came to his aid. One morning eleven tractors and operators, representing a cross section of the neighborhood roared along the road and turned into the Hagerman driveway.

They went into the fields. Plowing was started. They worked from 10 a.m. to nightfall when fifty acres of land had been turned over.

Mr. Hagerman "fed the boys" at noon . . . and at night. They would accept no other remuneration, and a grateful farmer offered his thanks for a demonstration of community spirit as he held three acre farm is further evidence of friendly interest and neighborhood spirit.

52 Newsboys and Girls Return Tired but Happy After Long Weekend Spent at Niagara Falls

A tired but happy group of Ontario Intelligencer newsboys and girls arrived in the city shortly after six o'clock Sunday night after having had the thrill of their lives on the newspaper-sponsored trip to Niagara Falls over the weekend. For most of them it was their first visit to the famous cataract.

With the Ontario Intelligencer contingent were newsboys from the Kingston Whig Standard and Peterborough Examiner with some 125 kiddies making the trip including 43 boys and eight girls from Belleville. The Belleville contingent was under the supervision of circulation manager F. L. Cowan, Miss Florence Walden, assistant staff and William Bailey of the mechanical staff.

The group left the city shortly after two o'clock Saturday afternoon with the first stop at Welland where the hungry party was treated to hot dogs and soft drinks.

Lost Wallet Found

The first "casualty" occurred at Welland when proudful Johnnie Kennedy lost his wallet. Came to Johnnie's rescue and he searched thoroughly. The wallet was found in the biggest smile of the party was that of Kennedy's face when his money and wallet were found.

The cavalcade moved on to Toronto and a stop was also made to allow the boys and girls to see the fire-scarred hulk of the illfated steamship Noronic. Here the party had dinner at Bowles restaurant and then left Toronto the time of their lives ordering the meal.

Leaving Toronto at seven o'clock the party arrived at Niagara Falls at three o'clock Sunday and the famous cataract prior to stopping at the Brock Memorial headquarters for the night. There was some disappointment at the fact that being Thanksgiving but this fact was forgotten in the general excitement of the trip.

Parties Get Acquainted

The Peterborough contingent was all ready in their cabins when the Ontario Intelligencer group arrived. Introductions were made in groups of six and eight were allotted to the various quarters.

It was a hungry crew of 133 youngsters that waited impatiently for the breakfast call Sunday morning. However, their appetites were soon satisfied and the party embarked at 10 o'clock for a special cruise on the "Maid of the Mist". The thrill the girls derived a huge "kick" from donning rubber suits and the thrill of the shock of joy echoed in the tunnel underneath the falls. Souvenir photos of this point did a land-office business.

Back to the cabins for lunch and then at two o'clock to the Spanish Aero Car which carried the greater part of the young sight-seers across the Niagara gorge and the whirlpool. Some of them were not fussy and kept their eyes tightly closed. Field glasses which could be rented for a dime were popular with all but the exception of Johnnie Stephenson, who was not tall enough to look through the binoculars.

Visit Monuments

Then to the Brock and Laura Secord monuments where 135 kiddies climbed 235 steps to the top. Visibility on the ground was good and the entire party enjoyed the unequalled view with Toronto buildings background.

Following this the boys and girls were treated on a special tour through the Queenston hydro electric and power plants. Student guides were in charge and pointed out the items of interest.

Then back for supper and afterwards a walk across the Rainbow bridge to Niagara Falls, N.Y. The youngsters practically "cleaned" out one souvenir store at the American side. They came back loaded with spring knives, flashlights, tam, pens, pencils, fake cigarettes and other novelties.

Back to the cabins and another romp before going to bed. The youngsters slept a little later on Sunday morning and but a few answered the first call for breakfast. However, they were all given breakfast and by ten o'clock were on their way home.

By special request the party stopped at Bowles Restaurant on Hwy. 2 in Belleville where they had lunch. The rest of the trip was uneventful and the party arrived home about 4.30 after six o'clock Sunday evening.

Those in charge of the various youngsters took their cameras with them and many photos were taken. A bandaleer was quickly formed among the three groups and a very enjoyable time entertaining.

Nothing of an untoward nature happened during the journey according to Mr. Cowan and every boy and girl behaved himself or herself to the utmost.

IN MEMORIAM

BINGHAM — In loving memory of my dear husband, John Bingham, who passed away one year ago October 18th, at St. Michael's Church for her husband and father, Mrs. Bingham and family.
No matter what I do
No matter where I go my heart is with you still
Never for a moment
Never, very far away
Absent and yet near
You were dearer every day.
Wife, Beatrice. 017

BELL — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. John Bell, who passed away October 18th, 1948.
Our beloved father, who passed away June 15, 1949.
Sadly missed by Marjorie, Muriel, Gordon and Howard.
We wish to remember. 017

EGGLETON — In loving memory of our dear sister, Grace E. (Bridges) Eggleton, who passed away October 18th, 1948.
There the birds from earth translate
Their songs of love.
For our coming watch and wait,
In the sweet by and by
Just within the golden gate.
Sadly our loss, but sweet break with by the grief so hard to bear.
Sister Maude, Toronto. 017

Mr. Cantley and family wish to express their sincere thanks for the many expressions of sympathy, floral tributes and kindness shown during the illness and passing of their beloved husband and father. Also for the many beautiful flowers. 017

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Oct. 17 — (CP) — Prices took a downward path on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Activity was the slowest in some time as steadily selling pressure pushed key industrial issues into lower ground.

Base Metals showed a solid list of declines following recent reductions in price of some metals, especially lead, and golds and western oils slipped quietly.

Volume for the first-four hours was 456,000 shares, about 110,000 shares less than Friday's similar period.

Bell Telephone held most of the attention in industrials, sagging ¾ at 41 ¼ in the morning deals. The price of Bell stock has been slipping since the company announced that it would ask for increased rates. Other utilities were also lower and refining oils, papers, liquors and selected steels slipped downwards.

Noranda lost 1¼ at 61¼ and Consolidated Smelters A $1 at $101 in a sliding base metal list. Hudson Bay and Quemont were fractional losers.

Golds were strong in early dealings but soon turned to the downward trend of the remainder of the board. Seniors slipped fractions and losses ranged up 15 cents in junior issues.

"Are you sure of that?" asked J. T. MacQuarrie, Assistant Commission counsel. "What about rumors?"

Heard a Rumor

"Well, I heard about one about a week or so after it happened and it was nothing," said Bonnell. It was in a bell boy's room and a pail of water put it out.

He told Mr. Justice Kellock this time in crew's sleeping quarters on D deck. The witness said he also had heard of "smoulderings" in one or two mattresses.

Asked about earlier evidence that the magnetic telephone linking the bridge and engine room was unserviceable early in the fire, Bonnell said:

"At the time he (first mate Jerry Wood), tried to use that telephone, the klaxon was on, and when the klaxon is on in the engine room the telephone bell can't be heard."

No Instructions Given

Bonnell said he gave neither officers nor crew members of his staff any instructions to cover fire fighting in port.

Electrical equipment in the Noronic's linen closets included fuses inside a wooden closet with glass door.

He said that a break in the klaxon wiring might throw the entire system out. On the other hand a break in one division might not affect the circuit's other divisions, depending on where the break occurred.

Bonnell said the Noronic had five boilers. Each was given pressure of between 175 and 200 pounds was maintained in port as well as at sea. He said pressure at the time the fire broke out was between 190-195.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, Oct. 17 — (CP)—Produce prices quoted on the spot market here this morning follow: churning cream, No. 1, 60 cents f.o.b. 64 delivered.

The egg market took on a slightly firmer tone this morning. Supplies were in excess of demand. Country shippers quoted graded eggs, cases free: grade A large 63; A medium 53; A pullet 41; grade B 51-52; grade C 35-36. Wholesale to retail: grade A large 69-70; A medium 57-58; A pullet 45-46; grade B 56-57; grade C 40-41.

First grade tenderable butter solids were unchanged at 58 3-4. Second grades were quoted at 56-57.

HOGS

Toronto, Oct. 17 — (CP) — Hog prices were not established at Stratford today.

Other markets were unreported.

FEWER STUDENTS

Vancouver — (CP) — An enrolment of 2,000 students at the University of British Columbia this year has been forecast by officials. The figure is 2,000 less than last term since most student-veterans have now graduated.

Anniversary Services:

Greater Grasp of Gospel Teachings Needed States Guest Preacher

"Very few of us recognize the fact that we only grasp a part of the Gospel of Christ and make it the essence of our thinking and our acting," declared Dr. L. C. Bristol, Professor of Biblical Studies at McMaster University, who was guest preacher for the 76th anniversary services at Victoria Avenue Baptist Church on Sunday.

"We take that part and guide our living by it," he said, "and we are disconcerted when people tell us we have found only a part." Dr. Bristol stated that this grasping of part of the Gospel is not new. In the days of St. Paul, he pointed out, the Thessalonians had heard the Gospel and they were so absorbed with the fact of Christ's return that they made it the essence of their belief. They sold their goods and sat back doing nothing, waiting for Christ to return.

Faith Not Gospel

Paul attempted to show them that what they had grasped was not all the Gospel. They had to have the whole Gospel that would mean something in their lives. His central message to them was faith. They had the faith that did not work. They needed a faith that would not let them sit back and enjoy it for themselves but that would send them out to preach to the pagans.

In the days of Paul the world was in a pessimistic position. Science, philosophy, art, oratory were at their peak. Men had found the very best in the world, but the world had it did not bring satisfaction and hope. Paul told the Thessalonians that in Jesus they could have faith. He would reveal the love of God and even save them from the fiercest of that. Through the power of the resurrection of Christ he brought them a hope that would lift them up into the very presence of God.

They rejoiced, but then persecution came and they wondered if it was worth while after all. They had to learn that if they were to have the whole Gospel they must endure to the end.

"That message comes across the centuries to us," said Dr. Bristol. "We are living in an age when there is need of hope, the hope that does not give in, if we are not going to be overcome by pessimism.

Selfish Attitude

"There are people these days who sit back, satisfied that they are saved but do not concern themselves about others. When Jesus spoke to the women at the well about living water, she was not satisfied to sit down and sing praises but she went back to her neighbors and told them about her new experience.

"Does your faith show like that to others? If it does not then you need to come back to God and ask forgiveness. We talk today a great deal about brotherhood and peace but we can not always get along together in our own congregation. Unless we can do this we cannot go out and tell the world to do away with hatred.

"We shall only find the way of peace as we find the love of God and it goes out toward all men. We must have a faith that is the whole Gospel, not part of it, a faith that grows, a love that goes the limit and endures to the end and beyond the end, that takes us into the presence of God."

The morning service, with Rev. H. O. Eastman in charge, was broadcast over station CJBQ. Special music was pleasingly rendered by the choir under the direction of Miss Phyllis May. Mr. Dorland Houston presided at the organ console.

Newly-Weds Find Troubles Very Soon

Toronto, Oct. 17 (CP)—Some people claim your troubles never really start until you're married, but Don Putsey and his new bride didn't think they would start so soon. Within 48 hours of their marriage Saturday, the young couple:

1. Found the car they were driving on their honeymoon had engine trouble.

2. Were left stranded a few miles from home when another car they borrowed also broke down.

3. Started out the next day in their repaired automobile, only to become involved in a smashup.

4. Worst of all, spent the first two days of their married life with in-laws.

PRIES WINDOWS OPEN WITH SPADE

Toronto, Oct. 17—(CP)—Using a spade to pry open rear window, a thief entered five homes in suburban Long Branch over the weekend, and made off with about $200 in cash and a gold wrist watch. Police said occupants of all houses were out at the time.

Need More Funds For Projector Film Council Told

The October meeting of the Belleville and District Film Council was held in the Corby Library on October 13th. There was a good attendance and much interest was evidenced in the progress of this voluntary organization devoted to the most effective use of films in every walk of life. The treasurer's report showed a growing account but more grants are needed if the second projector is to be purchased to meet the demands.

The report of the delegates to the Federation of Film Councils of Eastern Ontario held recently in Kingston was received. At this meeting a representative of the National Film Board gave a survey of the work being done and announced the advances being made in this area. In eastern Ontario during 1947-1948 there were 7,313 shows. This was a gain of 30 per cent over last year. Some 688,174 persons attended these showings, a gain of 30 per cent. The Belleville and District Film Council had 336 shows to its credit with an attendance of about 40,000.

Two Films Ordered

A ten minute black and white sound film of Christmas carols was ordered for delivery as soon as possible. This film should be popular with all organizations as the carols are all the old favorites. The other film was one of those previewed. "Who Will Teach My Child" is a powerful presentation of the problems surrounding the education of children. For all adult groups it should prove excellent for sponsoring a stimulating discussion.

Plans are being made for more adequate training of operators. Classes may be arranged for Saturday afternoons and some evenings if a sufficient number can come. Those interested should enquire from the Librarian of the Corby Library for details.

Mr. Ward, the National Film Board representative, was present and discussed the need for a committee to consider the demand for religious films in this area. The Hastings County Film Council was also organized was extended the co-operation of the local Film Council. A new block of films has been received. Some of the films will be available for rental until December 15, others will be held until January 15 when another block will be sent.

STORK

news that the baby was born. When it became apparent that the stork was winning the race Mrs. Parker was taken into the crew compartment of the plane. A fellow passenger, Dr. Fred Heachel of New York City, attended her. The doctor was assisted by stewardess Mary Jane Hinckley, 28, of Millville, N.J., a registered nurse.

Miss Hinckley gave further details of the birth when the plane arrived at London airport.

Mrs. Parker had got on the plane at Gander, Nfld., she said.

"We knew she was only just inside the period allowed for expectant mothers to fly.

"I was sitting discussing her with the purser when the bell rang and Mrs. Parker told me she was going to have the baby.

The stewardess said that after the baby was born "we wrapped it in a cook's white apron, padded it round with cotton wool, bedded it down in five blankets and a hot water bottle and gave it to the crew—all men—to take the galley and look after.

Capt. Hennessey said that as far as he knew this was only the second baby to be born in an aircraft.

Frankfurt, Germany — (AP)— Sgt. James C. Parker's wife was scheduled to arrive from New York by plane today, and he went to Rhein-Main airport to greet her.

Instead of his wife, he was greeted by a grinning airline official, who announced: "You're a father, Sergeant."

Then he was told that his Bavarian bride, Darinka, had given birth to a son in a plane over the Atlantic Ocean and both now were in hospital in Shannon, Ireland.

"Boy, this really floors me," said the Sergeant when he recovered from the shock.

PRODUCE AND HEALTH

Markets this summer and autumn have been such as to make a deep impression on the buyers for the wealth of the produce which this part of Ontario produces is something to create a sense of good health. The very thought and sight of the endless variety of the products which are grown hereabouts are enough to set everyone's sense of well-being an ability get to work effectively and working overtime. A nutritious diet is a builder of brawn and brain. If we want to be healthy and strong. If we want to feel high, and keep feeling so. And this district and other districts produce the variety needed each day in milk, fruit, vegetables, cereals and meat.

The people of Ontario are well served by nature and the farmer.

REVIVE INTEREST IN WHITTINGTON

London's first Lord Mayor was no less a figure than the famous Dick Whittington, whose name has for centuries been almost legendary in some respects, one being the association of the lord mayor with the sound of the Bow bells which called to him "Turn Again, Whittington, Lord Mayor of London" and with the cat he is supposed to have sent in an outgoing ship to Barbary where it was sold for a large sum, to lay the foundation of his fortune.

Again the first lord mayor is in the limelight after many centuries when a picturesque ceremony in the city of London marking the beginning of a search for the tomb of the first chief magistrate. City dignitaries in traditional robes preceded by trumpeters wearing century-old costumes, walked in procession to the Church of Saint Michael Royal on College Hill. The site of the Whittington tomb is traditional, but this church which he rebuilt in 1412. Bell-ringers of the Ancient Society of College Youths played a traditional peal which it is said determined Whittington to return to London and try his fortune there instead of leaving the city in discouragement.

The search for the tomb is being conducted under the guidance of the Roman and Mediaeval Excavation Council of London, Mr. Grimes. The present Master of the Mercers Company — an office originally held by Dick Whittington — removed the first spade of soil from the spot in the church where the excavations will be made.

Britons who are progressive and have led in so many sports which have redounded for the good of not only Britain but the world, have seen the great value which lies in those traditions of another age. The revival of interest in Dick Whittington is typical of this great people.

OLD MAN ON A BARGE

Pepys, who knew his human nature, said it was pretty to see what money would do. It is not improbable that this candid observer of his age uttered that comment with a smirk and a lift of his eyebrows.

Such an aged man is delighted is not interested in what Pepys or anybody else says about money. It may be the ruling spirit in all things, the world's chief idol, or the bane of happiness, as sages and cynics have said. All the same, this oldster in Teddington by the Thames has no itch for the stuff. A relative, an older brother, a recluse, passed on leaving him $22,400 in the bank.

"I'm too old to do anything with it," he reflected, planning to his 73 years. Besides, he has formed his own philosophy on life and arrived at his own values. After his election, he has reached the conclusion that simple happiness and contentment are the precious ingredients of existence; the golden mean, for him at any rate, is that state of neither poverty nor riches. Enough is enough; and what more should three-score and ten and three salt of any one?

So it was that when they told him he was the single heir to this brother's hoard of some eight thousand pounds, awaiting only a few legal formalities, he h-mm'd and ah'd for a bit, then gave a courteous but firm refusal.

He admitted that a derelict barge by the river bank might also appeal as much of a dwelling or gin old man's time in the world. But to him it was a home—aye, a castle if you like. That yard or two of river between boat and bank was really a most defensive; draw in the planking at night, and he was totally secure from the world; warm and comfortable too.—Hamilton Spectator.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
(Copyright, 1949, Edgar A. Guest)

Dawn and the day begins!
All with some task to do,
Slowly the small hand creeps,
Marking the hours anew.
Six, seven and eight are gone;
Nine, ten, eleven, too soon!
Now the two hands are one:
Noon, and then afternoon.

Work for the night is near,
No more the accident song.
Day, week, a month, a year,
Youth thinks them long.

But when the hair is gray,
Time and strength flown,
"We'd have done more," they say,
"Had we but known."

Wait not tomorrow's sun.
Time swiftly flies.
Do all that can be done
Ere the day dies.
Kind deed or praise to say;
Don't let them wait.
Even tomorrow may
Be just too late.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By Billy Rose

There seem to be only two schools of thought on the subject of juvenile delinquency. The no-nonsense school which maintains that every teen-age toughie ought to get behind the plough till he simmers down to a reasonable facsimile of Lord Fauntleroy, and the easy-does-it school which operates on the theory that our scrappiest adolescents can be made to straighten up and fly right by the application of a little psychology, sympathy and soft soap.

Well, not being a criminologist — or any other kind of ologist — I'm not going to take sides in this squabble over iron bars versus candy bars. But as a charter member of the old Hudson Duster gang, I'd like to report on a new crime-combating organization called the Bronx Pilot Project which seems to be having pretty good luck in combining juvenile jaspers by substituting the kind word for the kick, and the key for the warden.

The Bronx Pilot Project, a neighborhood experiment set up sponsored by the Police and Welfare is one called the Charm School. Soon after the Project got under way, the cops picked out what they had to teach the girls of the neighborhood needed more than dancing — if they were to compete successfully for jobs and husbands. So the Project got a stylish neighborhoods they needed some coaching in the finer arts. Such matters as make-up, poise and how to walk. So the Charm School was started to attract and force-feed them the essentials of deportment and to charge it to the King's for Kingsbridge English.

The experiment has turned out a rousing success, and one reason is that the teachers encourage each girl to pick out a movie actress for a model and to mimic her in manner and speech. This is where the dangerous procedure, but the directors justify if on the ground that they get a fair sentence if these kids are to land jobs or get husbands. They further assert that no far these hastily assembled Greer Garsons and Joan Fontaines have done right well for themselves.

In fact, the Charm School has been such a success that quite a few boys have enrolled alongside the girls. Including one Terry Black, who last year was voted as least likely to succeed by a committee of prominent police officials.

Terry, leader of a group of appreciative amateurs, had practically stoned the windows of the Project's recreation center, and even succeeded in swiping a dozen of sports equipment. The directors, instead of hollering cooperation, decided to send one of their social workers to make friends with the young mayhemist and he succeeded, partly by selling the toughie on the recreational facilities of the Project, but principally by introducing him to a mixture - postcard cutie named Helen Brito, a Charm School graduate.

Helen, so goes the story, turned her newly acquisition on to the Project with such success that he not only joined the Project but enrolled in the Charm School where as part of the full treatment, it was decided that he should take private movie hero. A few months later he completed his reformation that he helped decorate the recreation center for the big Halloween party, and that the model of the party was a model for all the Charm School gals.DiMaggio of the games, and contests.

Except for one spectacular backslide.

When it came to the apple bobbing contest, Terry, who was down and ears-wet, and when he finally got his prize, Gloppy Teddy bear — he hustled right off to present it to Helen Brito.

Then, in the confusion, one of the young ladies present made a grab for the bear. Terry, losing upon Terry swung with his right and the junior miss, considerably startled, measured her length on the floor.

This, of course, wasn't the gracious behaviour one might expect from an honor student at the Charm School. But according to the teachers it really wasn't Terry's fault — the gorilla-like blow had picked as his model was Humphrey Bogart.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

AN INSPIRING WEEKEND

Leaving the confines of my home-town writing workshop, I accepted the invitation of my old friend Bradley Kelly to spend a few days at his country home in Redding, Connecticut — the territory Mark Twain once called his home, and where many an early settler built his castle in the old wonderful days of Connecticut.

It was a perfect October setting. The home, a pre-Revolution one, had all the charm that such homes always seem to have—built for comfort and beauty. The rich grounds all about a veritable garden, with aged trees of magnificent foliage. We picked apples from the tree, noted a multitude of birds that stayed for the leave for their Winter homes

Ontario's Women Want Top Spots In Civil Service

Ottawa, Oct. 17 (CP)—Ontario's career women want top positions in Canada's civil service opened to their ranks.

More than 270 delegates representing the business and professions women's clubs of Ontario, Sunday urged the government to make women "eligible and qualified" for top civil service posts.

At the final session of a two-day annual convention they passed a resolution asking the government to consider women, as well as men, "eligible and qualified citizens for positions as civil service commissioner and (or) chairman of the Civil Service Commission of Canada."

The convention also adopted a resolution asking the B. and P. clubs to institute citizenship classes for new Canadians and those of foreign birth."

The resolution, brought forward by the Leamington, Ont., club, called for holding of classes on the English language and on the history and organization of the Canadian government.

At the opening sessions Saturday, delegates heard Miss Ruth McGill of Regina, President of the Canadian Federation of B. and P. clubs, report that the organization now had "more members and more clubs than ever before." She said the federation looked to the Ontario branch for leadership in its affairs.

Subsidy May be Given on Premium Quality Cheese

Stittsville, Ont., Oct. 17 (CP)—D. H. Morrow, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Carleton, said Saturday that Ontario cheese producers may get a provincial government subsidy of three cents a pound on premium cheese.

In an address at the annual meeting of the Carleton County Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Morrow said he regretted that no provincial subsidy had been given cheese producers to date this year.

He said the four branches of the milk industry, dairy, condensors, cheese makers and butter makers, had met recently to try to decide how to split funds available to them.

He said he had endorsed a recommendation that cheese producers obtain a three-cents-a-pound subsidy.

Communist-Led Rebels in Greece Say They've Quit

By L. S. CHAKALES

Athens, Oct. 17 (AP)—Communist-led rebel forces, staggered by the government's recent big drive on last strongholds near the Albanian border, announced by radio today they have stopped the civ'l war but won't lay down their arms.

The Greek general staff reported monitoring the rebel radio announcement which came as United Nations moves to settle the Greek-Balkan conflict near a climax.

War Minister Panayotis Kanellopoulos declared, however, he wasn't impressed by the rebels' announcement they had stopped fighting. He said: "It merely admits an accomplished fact — the complete defeat and disappearance of Communist bandits from Greek soil.

"The guerrilla army remains intact, armed and on the alert." the rebel broadcast heard here this morning declared. "We have not laid down our arms. We have just stopped the bloodshed in Greece."

The United Nations special commission on the Balkans, established to report on fighting in Greece, has charged that Communist neighbors Albania and Bulgaria have been actively aiding the Greek guerrillas.

Yugoslavia, the U.N. commission reported, stopped aid last summer after Premier-Marshal Tito's fight with Russia and her satellites deepened.

Settlement of the long fight between Greece and her Communist neighbors hinges on answers today to suggestions made by the U.N. Balkan conciliation committee.

The special U.N. group, headed by secretary President Carlos P. Romula, drafted the undisclosed suggestions after meeting secretly at Lake Success with spokesmen for Greece, Albania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Russia, Britain and the United States.

Replies from all the parties are expected this morning. The peace committee will then prepare a report to be submitted to the political committee of the assembly tomorrow.

Pushkin to Forge E. German Links With Russia

By DANIEL DeLUCE

Berlin, Oct. 17 — (AP)—East Germany's links with Moscow will be forged by Gregori M. Pushkin, the tight - lipped Russian diplomat who helped transform Hungary into a Soviet satellite.

This became known Sunday when Russia and the 10-day-old East German regime completed the exchange of diplomatic missions. Pushkin will head the Soviet group, and Rudolf Appelt, German communist economic expert, will be the top-ranking man in the German Mission in Moscow.

The Soviet Union was the first power in the world to grant legal recognition to the new communist - dominated east German state. Communist China, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Roumania and Bulgaria are expected to follow Moscow's lead soon.

The East German government is a rival of the West German Republic at Bonn, which was set up with the approval of the western allies.

Many western diplomatic representatives in Moscow expressed belief there is a possibility the Soviet government soon will announce the withdrawal of its occupation troops from East Germany and conclude a peace treaty.

Expect Prisoners to be Returned

Tens of thousands of German war prisoners are expected to be returned to Germany in the next few months by Russia. Probably many of these prisoners are supporters of the new East German government.

The unchallenged power of the Soviet army to swallow up Hungary if she wavered from obedience to Moscow, was the ace Pushkin played consistently against intimidated Hungarian politicians.

It will be no novelty to Pushkin to find that many Germans have a deep-seated enmity toward the Soviet Union. Many Hungarians had the same feeling — but they got a communist government anyway.

60 YEARS OF ACCOMPLISHMENT

1889 1949

In place of the old wooden tub, wash-board and wringer the modern washing machine and the commercial laundry have come to the assistance of the housewife of today. "Monel," an alloy composed of ⅔ Nickel and ⅓ Copper, is today in general use for washing machine tubs, and for soakers at the other equipment in modern laundries. Being rust-proof and corrosion resistant, it eliminates trouble from stains and verdigris. Its hard, glass-smooth surface removes all danger of injury even to the most delicate fabrics. Because it is strong and tough as steel, "Monel" equipment is unusually durable.

Canadian Nickel sold Abroad brings in U.S. Dollars

Since more than ninety per cent of the Nickel produced in Canada is sold to the United States and other countries, it brings a constant flow of dollars back to Canada. In fact, Canada's Nickel industry is one of our chief sources of U.S. dollars so essential at the present time to maintain our foreign trade and make available products not produced in this country.

These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees, and help provide the dollars which make it possible to pay millions in freight to Canadian railways, to buy timber, steel, coal, machinery and supplies amounting to many millions each year.

These millions, flowing into all industries through the length and breadth of Canada, help create jobs for Canadians.

WEDDINGS

FOSTER—DRACUP

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the bride's home, Rawdon township, at 3 o'clock on Saturday, October 8, when Mary Mina, daughter of Mrs. Dracup and the late Walter Dracup, became the bride of Gordon Hollinger Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Foster, Moira. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. C. Vaclavik before an arch of evergreens and Alsbomia leaves, banked with ferns, flowers and potted plants.

S-40

The wedding music was rendered by the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Omar Dracup, and the Misses Annie and Margaret Rose Dracup, nieces of the bride, sang before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" and during the signing of the register "O Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Edmund Dracup, of Lakefield, the bride wore a gown of wine taffeta with tiered skirt and bertha collar. She wore a double strand pearls and matching earrings and her small wine hat featured a feather and veil of the same shade. Her corsage was of cream colored roses and she carried her mother's wedding handkerchief.

Mrs. Fred Beckett, her sister's only attendant, chose dark green taffeta with matching hat and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. Beverly Foster was groomsman.

A reception followed the ceremony. Mrs. Dracup received the guests wearing a two-piece dress of grey bengaline and Mrs. Foster assisted wearing a black silk with needlepoint flowers. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

For travelling by motor to the Muskoka district, the bride chose a navy tailla dress with pink tiara and a navy shortie coat with matching accessories.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Foster will reside at Moira.

LAWTON—JOHNSTON

On Saturday, Oct. 15, at 10 o'clock, a lovely wedding was solemnized in St. Laurences' town-an Catholic Church, Hamilton, Ont., when Shirley Mary Isobel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Johnston, of Belleville, became the bride of Milos William Lawton, son of Mrs. Leonard H. Lawton, and the late Mr. Lawton, Hamilton. The Rev. Father J. P. Cremen officiated before a background of bronze and yellow 'mums and palms.

The wedding music was rendered by the children's choir of the church under the title "La Marie", "Panis Angelicus".

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her bridal gown of white satin faille, featuring a torso length molded bodice with bertha collar, and full skirt with bouffe and inside back effect, falling into a train. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a beaded satin headdress with seed pearl trim. She wore a gold and diamond bracelet, gift of the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Miss Doris Horsley, Carrying Place, was the bride's attendant, wearing a gown of faille silk in Spanish blue, and she also was the bride's, with matching bralded coronet and mitts. She carried a shower bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mr. Robert L. Lawton, of Hamilton, was groomsman, and Mr. William Davy and Mr. Herbert Brown, also of Hamilton, were ushers.

The wedding breakfast and reception was held in the Emerald-Main dining room, Hamilton, where the bride's mother wearing powder blue silk crepe with lace insets, with navy accessories and corsage of pink roses received the many guests. Mrs. Johnston assisted the bridegroom's mother, who wore a copper silk crepe gown with brown accessories and corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride chose a three-piece suit of brick and teal iridescent wool with black accessories and a corsage of yellow Talisman roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Lawton will reside at 130 Wood Street East, Hamilton, Ont.

Out-of-town guests were from Belleville, Toronto, Brantford, Kalamazoo, N.Y., and Dearborn, Mich.

VANALSTYNE—LALONDE

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Bridge Street United Church, at 2.30 p.m., on Saturday, Oct 1, when Helen Wanda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lalonde, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to Thomas Allen Vanalstyne, of Belleville. The Rev. D. C. Amos officiated.

New Suit Silhouette

By PRUNELLA WOOD

SLICK WOOL gabardine in polished black makes this Wizard suit with its bustle-and-bow silhouette. The jacket is rather long, dipping in front to dramatize the back perk, and the modest buttons down the front from the tip of the high standing collar to a point just below the hips.

The cloche of utter simplicity, quite unadorned, is a smart accompaniment for suits this season. Try your fur scarf or collared fur coat with it, and see one good reason for its revived popularity.

The bride wore a grey gabardine suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Miss Phyllis Stinston, was the bridesmaid, and wore a deep grey suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mr. Russell Soule, of Belleville, performed the duties of best man.

A lovely reception was held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Soule, where Mrs. A. Vanalstyne, the groom's mother, assisted Mrs. Soule in receiving the guests.

The couple travelled westward via Toronto and upon their return will reside in Belleville.

"Aunt Kate" Quietly Celebrates 90th Milestone

Mrs. Michael Golden, formerly of Read, Ont., familiarly known to all her friends and relatives as "Aunt Kate" celebrated quietly celebrated her 90th milestone along life's highway, at the home of her niece, Mrs. J. E. Boyd, 34 Dufferin Street.

Since the death of her husband, Mrs. Golden has made her home with her niece. "Aunt Kate" has been blind for 20 years, but has a most remarkable memory, and visits from old friends and old neighbors are still red letter days to her. She has a genuine interest in radio and is always eager for her special programs.

The usual birthday flings were in evidence, the birthday cake, lovely Autumn flowers, but more appreciated than all were the sincere wishes and congratulations from friends visiting her many happy returns of this day of days. The citizens of Belleville also join with them, in extending to "Aunt Kate" heartiest congratulations in reaching such a grand, old age.

MELVILLE
Congregation Honors Mr., Mrs. C. Margetson On Eve of Departure

Prior to the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Margetson and family, from Melville, to their new home at Frankford, the congregation of Christ Church, Hillier, met in the basement of the new church to bid them farewell.

Mr. Walter Nind, the former rector's warden, read the address, expressing regret at the loss of the community and church will sustain, and thanking them for their faithfulness both in the church, and in community activities. Wishing also that God's richest blessing be showered upon them and their children, Gail, and Brian, and that in their new scene of activities they may be a blessing and take with them the fruit of their experience which had been gained at Hillier. Signed on behalf of the congregation, King Terry, rector's warden, and Warner McFaul, people's warden.

After the reading of the address, Mr. King Terry made the presentation on behalf of the congregation, of a lovely floor lamp, to which Mr. and Mrs. Margetson thanked them kindly, both for their sincere wishes and the gift.

The evening was spent in playing cards, and a social time, with refreshments being served later.

Club Activities

PRINCE EDWARD-BELLEVILLE CLUB

The Prince Edward-Belleville Club members and visitors were welcomed at the home of Mrs. G. Gorsline, Bleecker Ave., for the regular October meeting. The president, Mrs. Lent, opened the meeting in the usual way. After minutes of last meeting were read and adopted, Mrs. Boyd read the thought for the day entitled "Keys".

Mrs. Osborne took charge of the program when all joined in community singing with Mrs. Larue at the piano. Mrs. Tice read two selections on "Women" which proved very interesting. Mrs. Gerald Ackerman rendered two delightful solos with Mrs. Hubbs at the piano.

Miss Helen Sulman favored with two humorous readings much to the pleasure of all present. A contest on "Things to Eat" conducted by Mrs. Skegg was won by Mrs. Bedell. A lovely reading on "Thanksgiving", brought the program to a close.

Mrs. Osborne extended thanks to the visiting artists and others taking part. There was discussion on plans for the bazaar to be held early in November.

Mrs. Gorsline and assistants served dainty refreshments prepared by Mesdames Bellamy, Bedell, Thomas, Spencer, Ackerman, Skeggs, Palos and Miss Corbeil.

Mrs. Lent extended thanks to all helpers bringing a delightful afternoon to a close.

100th Anniversary Of Rednersville United Ch. Held

The 100th anniversary of the Rednersville United Church, in Ameliasburgh township, Prince Edward county was observed Sunday with special services for both morning and evening.

Guest minister for the day was Rev. J. I. MacKay, B.A., superintendent of home missions of the Bay of Quinte and Montreal and Ottawa Conferences. Charge minister is Rev. J. P. Henderson, M.A., in charge of the Rednersville circuit.

Built back in 1849, as a Wesleyan Methodist church, the Rednersville church is almost exactly as it was constructe'. The original pews are still in the church, but a Sunday School room has been added.

Contractor for the construction of the picturesque little stone church was one George Savage who, according to the church minutes, agreed to do the job in a "workmanship" manner for the sum of £400. A sum of £100 was deducted from this when the building committee furnished the stone.

Tribute Paid Pioneers

On the 100th anniversary tribute was paid by the guest minister to the pioneers who made the church possible. The first Bible used at the church, and also the original minute books, are treasured possessions of the church and were exhibited on the anniversary.

The original minute books showed that approximately 150 families of the Rednersville district 100 years ago contributed to the erection of the church. Many of the families still reside in the area, including the Redner family after which the village was named.

Mr. Bernard Redner, Sunday School superintendent, with his wife and family of nine young children live in the Redner ancestral home which is more than 115 years old. He combines the operation of his 200-acre farm and the village store which has always been in the family.

A solid block of flowers decorated the front of the church Sunday as the congregation observed its 100th anniversary. Special music was prepared by organist Mrs. Earl McCrae and the choir. Solos were sung by Mrs. Gordon Anderson, and by Mrs. M. Roreback.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE W. A.

Shannonville, — The monthly meeting of the W. A. of Shannonville United Church, was held at the home of Mrs. Elmer Vivian, on last Thursday afternoon with 25 members and visitors in attendance. The President, Mrs. R. Elliot, opened the meeting by welcoming the visitors, and later giving a reading.

Mrs. W. D. Roberson read the Scripture lesson from the 100th Psalm, and Mrs. Elmer Vivian read "Lesson Thoughts", the theme being "Thanksgiving". The Secretary, Mrs. Clarence Martin, called the roll and gave the minutes of the last meeting which were adopted as read. A letter of thanks from Mrs. L. E. Mills was read containing a $2 donation. A similar donation was also received from Mrs. Mills for the W.M.S. These generous gifts were much appreciated by the members.

A card of thanks from Mrs. Mordew was read, and also one from Marion Bolton of Belleville, for the card received when she was a patient in Kingston General Hospital. Mrs. William Sine conveyed her thanks for the flowers sent to her during her illness. Plans were made for the annual bazaar to be held on November 9, in the afternoon.

It was decided that the W.A. cater to the Garagemen's Supper; the proceeds to be divided between the W.A. and the W.M.S. Each of the ladies was asked to donate two tea towels. Homemade cotton ones would be acceptable.

Mrs. Stanley MacDonald reported for the parsonage committee that the needed repairs had been made, and commended the Scott family for the work they had done to help. Mrs. Scott expressed appreciation for the change that had been made for their convenience, saying that they would do the decorating themselves. Bills were voted paid. Mrs. Elliott thanked the hostess for opening her home for the meeting.

After the close of the meeting and the singing of grace, refreshments were served by Mrs. Vivian and her assistants and a social time enjoyed.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Match - making is hazardous business

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have a friend who has confided a problem to me concerning a young lady who is very appealing to him but he, on the other hand, does not seem to appeal to her.

I have considerable knowledge of both their characters and feel they would make a well matched pair. Maybe she just hasn't noticed his friendly attitude toward her and so doesn't realize what she is missing. I should like very much to see them brought together. Can you suggest a solution to this problem?

A. F.

Dear A. F.:

If you have followed my column at all you should be aware that I am not in favor of a third person becoming involved in situations of this kind. To do so is all too apt to result in some sort of misunderstanding all around. It is very much better to leave two people to themselves to do as their feelings dictate.

It seems to me your friend should have enough initiative of his own to make certain that the girl in whom he is interested does realize his "friendly attitude". He can't have tried very hard to make an impression on her if she doesn't, on the other hand, she may simply not care for him, and you choose to act as though she was unaware of his interest in her.

In any case, I can't feel that there would be any point in your trying to play the role of matchmaker.

On a Legal Problem, Consult a Lawyer

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a married woman in my 20's, with children. When I married my husband I loved him very much, but he started running around almost as soon as we were married and has done it ever since. I have never been untrue to him, but he has always accused me of running after other men. I used to work at night and sometimes he would come to meet me. Often he would wait a block away, and stand in a doorway, or behind a light pole, so that I wouldn't see him until he was right on top of me. When I asked him why he did this, he would say, "What do you care? Are you afraid I'll see something?" Yet he was the one who was running around.

I finally told him that the next time he did this we would be through. I have just found out that he is doing it again and I meant what I said. I am through with him. All the love I ever had for him has turned to hate, and I can hardly stand being in the same room with him. I would never leave my children, though. Isn't there a law that could help me out?

S. L.

Dear S. L.:

If your mind is completely made up to leave your husband, your problem is definitely a legal one, which is out of my field. You should go to see a lawyer and talk the whole situation over with him before you make any move whatever on your own. In cases like yours, where children are involved, you need to proceed with great care.

Wool and Nylon Robe

A FAMOUS blanket outfit has turned a new leaf in fashions by producing beautiful robes made of wool as soft and dependable as Her familiar blankets.

Here is a new house coat, one for the boudoir and bedroom rather than the teatime at home, and just what a trousseau or a convalescence would need. The sheer, soft wool is partly nylon, and the trimming is satin to match the wool which may be pink, white, palest lilac, blue or aquamarine.

Women's Activities

AIKENS' W.M.S.

Aikens' W.M.S. met for their October meeting at the home of Mrs. Will Bush with an attendance of 16 members and four visitors. Mrs. G. Brickman, a former member; Mrs. C. Allen, Mrs. Charles Simmons and Miss Marion Allan were welcomed by the President, Mrs. S. Westover.

Mrs. W. Bailey led in the worship service with the theme, "Now Thank We All Our God". Several members read Scriptures and took part in this worship expressing their belief that God made man to love and serve Him, that He cares for man as a righteous Father, and that nothing can either quench His love or defeat His gracious purpose for man. The worship service closed by presenting the offering that all may have the saving knowledge of Gospel of God's love to Every, Canadian and to peoples of other lands.

The president took charge of the business period. Plans were made to hold the Autumn Thank-offering meeting on November 13, at the home of Mrs. Fred Moon, and who can over-rule all the evil of which all are becoming so conscious if everyone will but co-operate with Him. Evangelism should include the presentation of Jesus Christ in such a way that people would be ready to accept Him as their Saviour and feel that He not only freed them of guilt, but also freed them from the power of sin.

Worthwhile evangelism should see that those who have gone so to invite the neighboring auxiliary, the ladies of Centenary to join in the service. A letter was read thanking the society for boxes of canned goods and clothing for overseas relief. Delegates appointed to attend the sectional rally at Grace Church, Trenton, were Mrs. E. Hubble and Mrs. L. Van Orden. The treasurer reported $83 still to be raised to meet the allocation for the year.

Mrs. S. Spafford, program convener, took charge of the Study book, "Growing With the Years", with Mrs. F. Schrinshaw and several members assisting.

Mrs. Spafford in dealing with the second chapter, explained that this month the study would particularity consist of the work and ministry of the church in evangelism. What is evangelism? It is the presenting of Jesus Christ so that through faith in Him, men are led to put their trust in God. This is the greatest need of the world today that people shall have an abiding trust in a God far should unite with others of like mind, and serve through the fellowship of the church as well as in their daily work, whatever that may be. When the individual comes to know Jesus and the Father, God, then he must practise what he has learned by his life, word and deeds.

The church needs group Christians who are praying, working and planning utterly committed to Christ for the good of each community and of the world.

There are many partners at home and abroad in this work of evangelism. Many nationalities are coming with Christians here to spread the knowledge of Jesus Christ.

In overseas work they are not designated as members of the United Church of Canada but there is mutual co-operation. The sun never sets on the preaching ministry of the United Church of Canada. The Lord is risen indeed!

After the president closed the meeting, Mrs. Bush and her assistants served dainty refreshments.

CENTENARY W.M.S. W.A.

The October W.M.S. meeting was held on Thursday last at the home of Mrs. H. Roblin, with a good attendance. Mrs. G. Sills opened the meeting with the reading of the Thanksgiving Psalm, she also read from "The Upper Room" passages on Thanksgiving. Mrs. H. Garrison gave a reading "Our Duty".

The study period was taken by Mrs. E. Hart and the theme "Evangelism, Growing with the Years". Mrs. Hart was assisted by Mrs. Bain, Mrs. Harder, Mrs. Aikens, and Mrs. E. Ray. It was shown there should be three types of Evangelism, educational, preaching missions and visitation. This story proved interesting and helpful to all. It was moved by Mrs. Aikens, that Mrs. Nobles and Mrs. Jamieson act as delegates to the missionary convention to be held in Trenton.

The minutes were read by Mrs. Garrison and Mrs. Sills closed the meeting.

The Thank-offering amounted to almost $30 and the collection $3.80.

The W.A. meeting followed with Mrs. Edgar Ray, the president, in the chair. Plans were made for a hot supper, to be held soon, to welcome new families to the church. Mrs. Jamieson offered her home for a quilting.

The minutes were read by the ladies act as a nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers for the year 1950. Mrs. D. Thrasher, Mrs. H. Garrison, Mrs. Keiley, Mrs. R. Hart, and Mrs. S. May. This was seconded by Mrs. E. Hart.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. B. Harder, Mrs. Roblin and committee in charge served dainty refreshments.

AVONDALE NEIGHBORS' AID

Avondale Neighbors' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Hobson on Thursday afternoon with a good attendance.

The President, Mrs. Anger, opened the meeting with a Harvest hymn. Scripture by Mrs. Bird, followed with a short meditation by Mrs. Holmes. The roll call was answered by some prominent person's name.

Mrs. Daniels gave a report on the organizing of the Sunday School which is to open soon at the school house. The ladies agreed to pay for the supplies for the 1st quarter.

Prizes were donated by Mrs. Clare for the telephone euchre, which was won by Mrs. Windover, lone hands by Mrs. L. Reid; low, Mrs. Denyes.

The program committee took charge with Mrs. Clare as chairman. Solo, by Mrs. Daniels, accompanied by Mrs. Robson. Bingo was played and a goodly number won prizes. Refreshments were served by the hostess and committee and all enjoyed a social time. Mrs. Denyes had the lucky cup.

Everyone thanked Mrs. Hobson for a lovely afternoon.

The next meeting will be at Mrs. White's.

AT THE TOUCH OF A SWITCH your stove is ready — either for top-of-stove cooking or oven baking — ready to give you perfect results. You can choose your stove from many different makes and types

You can have it with Essotane ... and it's Economical!

GET THE FACTS!

Be free forever from all the drudgery of cooking the old-fashioned way.

Begin right now to enjoy the pleasure and convenience of switching on a gleaming white gas range and getting instant heat the moment you need it—and the exact amount you need.

No more smoke and fumes to soil walls and ceilings and darken your pots and pans.

Never again the problems of fuel supplies and a fire that is never 'just right' when you want to bake a cake or cook a roast.

The convenience of Essotane is only half the story. You'd never believe how economically you can enjoy the advantages of gas cooking.

Instead of a fire that wastes heat most of the day, you switch on a clean, smokeless, odorless flame only when it is actually needed.

Expensive supplies of kindling and coal or wood are no longer required for the kitchen. You need never spoil a cake through having too hot or too cool an oven. With Essotane you select the right oven temperature you require.

Essotane gas is safe and is stored outside your home in steel cylinders. It travels into your kitchen through a thin copper tube.

Imperial Oil men change the cylinders at intervals to make sure you always have an adequate supply of gas.

The ranges themselves cost as little as $99.50 and can be installed for as low as $9.95 down with the balance in small monthly payments.

Mail the coupon below and get the facts and figures on Essotane cooking for your kitchen. Send it now because every day you wait is another day you might have enjoyed more fully with quick, clean Essotane cooking.

EARTH TREMOR

The quake was felt in almost all sections of Ottawa, and was also reported at Cornwall, 60 miles southeast. Pembroke residents reported "no tremor at all" at that centre some 70 air miles northwest of the capital.

It was the second tremor felt at Ottawa this year. William J. Milne, assistant seismologist at the observatory, said the quake was "much heavier" than one recorded here last Feb. 2. It was "nothing compared to the 1944 Cornwall earthquake."

At Cornwall, where a violent shaking of the earth early on the morning of Sept. 5, 1944, caused large cracks in walls of buildings and toppled chimneys to the ground, residents described Sunday night's quake as "very mild."

Alexandria Bears Brunt

Alexandria apparently bore the brunt of the tremor. A few dishes were broken when shaken from the shelves and, for a distance of some 10 to 15 miles around the town, residents reported the quake as short but severe.

Clarence Ostrom, Alexandria watchmaker who was in his shop when he felt the tremor, said the building began to shake described it this way:

"I ran to the front of the store thinking a heavy truck had crashed into the building. Then I began to realize what was happening. The tremor lasted only a few seconds. It began with a little rumbling that ended with an explosive jolt."

J. T. Smith, principal of the Alexandria high school, said he thought at first an oil tank had exploded somewhere in the town.

The tremor lasted only two or three seconds in Ottawa. It was reported heaviest in the eastern and western sections of the city.

Miss J. Whitsell, who occupies the second floor of a Sandy Hill district home in the eastern section of the city, said the quake moved furniture slightly, rattled dishes and caused a chandelier to swing back and forth.

Miss Margaret McKay of Hull, Que., across the Ottawa River from the capital, said she felt two distinct tremors.

"The house seemed to quiver for a few seconds and then all was normal again."

STRIKE IDLE IN

persons if it runs to Dec. 1.

Mediators are trying to get industry leaders and steelworker president, Philip Murray, back to the bargaining table.

Pensions are the big issue in the Aluminum Company strike, just as they are in the steel strike.

Murray insists industry pay the entire cost of a pension and insurance program—exactly as a presidential fact-finding board recommended. Big steel has offered to pay the 10-cent "package" recommended by the board—but not unless the steelworkers contribute, too.

Only 50 P.C. Affected

A company spokesman said only 50 per cent of Alcoa production will be affected because workers at this other 16 plants are represented by A.F.L. and other unions.

New Kensington, Pa., Badin, N.C.; Alcoa, Tenn.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Edgewater, N.J., Detroit; Bauxite, Ark.; Richmond, Ind., and Mobile, Ala.

The steelworkers made no immediate estimate of the number of fabricators closed down during the weekend. So far, 28 fabricators—employing about 50,000 — have settled with the union. They've agreed to pay the entire cost of employee pension and insurance programs.

During the weekend Murray gave a "yes and no" answer to John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers President who wants to set up a whopping fund to battle industry.

Lewis proposed the A.F.L. and the U.M.W. join in setting up a $2,500,000 weekly war chest to help the striking C.I.O. steelworkers.

Murray replied that his steelworkers, "and I am sure other equally-minded affiliates of the C.I.O., stand prepared to join the United Mine Workers and the A.F.L. in pooling resources for the common defence and general welfare of the labor movement."

But Murray didn't specifically mention Lewis's proposal.

The A.F.L. hasn't answered but top officials of that mighty trade union predict flat rejection.

The soft coal miners have been idle since Sept. 19. They quit after their pension and welfare payments by southern operators were suspended.

Lewis will be back at the bargaining table in West Virginia this week.

BRING INDIAN STUDENTS

Canberra (CP)—The Australian government has offered five fellowships and one scholarship to Indian students in Australia during 1950.

Ontario's best plowmen, who won titles at the International Plowing Match near Burford, will see farm methods in other lands as part of their prizes. At left are James Eccles of Brampton, and Ronald Marquis, Sunderland, tractor and horse class winners of trips to Britain, and (right) Haldimand County team of Robert Nixon and Earl Sacher, winners of trip to Tennessee Valley in horse class.

South Africa Hunts Indian Immigrants

Durban South Africa—(CP)—Widespread investigations are being made by South African police to track down large numbers of illegal Indian immigrants who have been entering the Union for many years.

These Indians, police believe have come into South Africa not only across the Mozambique border but through the sparsely populated areas of Bechuanaland and even through ports as far south as Capetown. Arrest have already been made in the Transvaal and Natal.

Police believe the Indians are receiving outside assistance in this biggest evasion of immigration laws in South Africa history.

It is known that natives have in many cases acted as guides in the more remote parts of the Union borders, where the Indians have been picked up by transport and driven to centres deep in the Union. Most of them have made for Natal where it has been easier for them to remain unidentified among the 300,000 Indians in the province.

The investigations have already involved large numbers of persons. In Durban, records of Indians over a number of years are being checked. Several well-known Indians, including officials have been questioned.

Some of the Indians who entered South Africa illegally have appeared in Durban courts and have been sentenced to a month's hard labor. They will be deported after they have served their sentences.

In parliament last June the minister of the interior, Dr. T.E. Donges, announced that arrangement for more intensive patrolling of the Union's borders, notably between Mozambique and the Transvaal, to prevent the entry of prohibited immigrants, were being discussed by the government.

He said 22 illegal Indian immigrants were deported in 1946, 18 in 1927 and 30 last year.

See Steel Industry In N.Z. Ironsands

Wellington, N.Z. — (CP) — After many years of experiments a way has been found of using the million tons of ironsand which line part of the coast of New Zealand's North Island for more than 100 miles. Hitherto, smelting difficulties have prevented this rich source of iron from being put to commercial use.

New Zealand has only very small supplies of iron ore and so far has no iron and steel industry. The ironsands of the west coast of the North Island have for years been a challenge. They are easily accessible, close to good roads, railways and ports, and have a high iron content.

Now numerous problems have been overcome by British and Norwegian experts enough to the country by the government and a large-scale test has been conducted with a specially built electric furnace.

After the furnace has been operating for two weeks and producing pig iron three times a day the minister of industries and commerce A.H. Nordmeyer, announced that the technical and financial difficulties in the way of establishing an iron and steel industry in New Zealand. The experiments proved not only that the ironsand could be used but also that they could produce an excellent finished product.

The future of the industry is now largely one of economics. New Zealand is too small to support an iron and steel industry of any great size of its own. A considerable export trade would be necessary.

There is thus a possibility that the New Zealand development may radically change the whole iron and steel supply position in the Pacific. The sands are sufficient to support a large-scale industry for very many years.

COALITION AGAINST COALITIONS

Progressive Conservative Jack McDowell, left, and Liberal-Progressive Edmond Prefontaine, two leaders of the new Manitoba Democratic Movement, plot campaign strategy for Manitoba's provincial election Nov. 10. Both were elected to the last house as members of the coalition government but withdrew from it in protest against the continuation of the two-party administration. Together with four other members, they formed the new group as a temporary alliance to fight coalition government, formed originally to combat the C.C.F.—(CP Photo.)

Teepees Whip Galt Hawks Twice During Weekend

(By The Canadian Press)

Ontario Hockey Association senior and junior clubs completed their first weekend of home-and-home doubleheaders, marching eagerly for rival clubs that might be considered pushovers in the heavy schedule ahead. They didn't find many.

Barrie Flyers, who hit the Eastern Canada junior finals last season, breezed into Toronto to play Toronto St. Michaels, last season's league doormats, whom they whipped 5-3 at Barrie Friday night. The Irish handed them a 8-3 lacing.

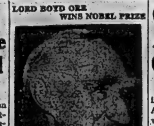
Toronto Marlboros, who had little trouble taking the O. H. A. senior title last year, tripped Owen Sound Mercurys 7-1 at Maple Leaf Gardens Friday night but squeaked through 3-2 at Owen Sound Saturday.

Oshawa Generals evened the score with Stratford Kroehlers in another junior tilt, whipping Dave Pinkney's crew 5-1 at Oshawa to avenge a 4-3 defeat at Stratford. Toronto Marlboro juniors, held to a 3-3 tie at Guelph Friday, beat the Biltmores 4-1 in the return match.

The only club that felt reasonably happy about its weekend activities was St. Catharines. The Teepees whipped the inexperienced Galt Black Hawks 7-2 in their own back yard after trimming them 12-2 in St. Catharines the night before.

Marlboros dominate the standings in both divisions, the seniors having a two-point edge over the idle Hamilton Tigers, while the juniors pulled into a one-point lead over St. Catharines and Oshawa.

Penalties Sink Senators



Penalties sank Owen Sound in the senior tilt. All three Marlboro goals were scored while Mercurys' Andy McCallum was off the ice in the second period. Al Buchanan got the first goal in the frame and Scotty Muir rifled home two more within less than a minute in the fifth minute.

Mercury scorers were George McLagan and Jack Ingoldsby. The homesters had a one-man advantage when Ross Lee fired home but were unable to take advantage of Toronto's penalties.

Barrie ran out of gas after matching the scrappy St. Michael's eleven for two periods in British each club scored three times. The Irish ran in five first period markers to hand Hap Shelton's Northerners their first defeat in three starts.

LORD BOYD OR WINS NOBEL PRIZE

Lord Boyd Orr

A crusader for world government, Lord Boyd Orr (above) of Britain, the former Sir John Boyd Orr, has been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 1949, it was announced by the Nobel committee of the Norwegian parliament. The 69-year-old nutrition expert was the group unanimous choice.—Central Press Canadian.

Couldn't Match Punch

The willing but disorganized Galt youngsters couldn't match the scoring punch of the Teepees as George Sullivan scored three goals, set up two more by Jack McIntyre and drew an assist on another by Norm Corcoran. Two minors and two misconducts were among the 28 penalties handed out by referees Pearcey Allan and Lacey Heffering.

By contrast, the Stratford-Oshawa tilt was clearly played — by O. H. A. junior standards—with only seven men being thumbed off. Kroehlers took an early lead on Hal Keelwy's unassisted tally, but couldn't match the Generals the rest of the way. Gord Warner led the homesters with two tallies.

The junior Marlboros cracked the Guelph defence in the last period for four tallies by Lorne Pirie, George Armstrong, Ron Ingram and George Aitken. Aldo Guidolin tallied for the losers.

See Longer Lives In Sunny Summer

London.— (CP)—Britain's surfeit of sunshine this summer has given many people up to five more years of life, an official of the British Medical Association said here.

"Children particularly will benefit," he said. "The sun's rays contain vitamin D, so necessary in prevention of such diseases as rickets.

"People able to be outdoors most of the summer will feel much fitter this winter and the chances of infection will be correspondingly reduced."

A spokesman for the Women's League of Health and Beauty said: "The sunshine has provided a wonderful tan, skin tints and complexions will be greatly improved."

Statistics at Kew observatory show that in the first nine months of 1949 Britain had 1,558 hours of sunshine—93 hours more than in a normal year.

The island had the warmest September since records were started in 1871.

Wonderful Times
AT THE KAWARTHA LAKES

There's variety in this chain of lakes reached along No. 7 highway. The pine-studded, rocky islands of Stoney, the sandy beaches on Pigeon, the smiling countryside around Clarendon and Lake all addicts. If you want your own cottage or to lease one by the week the Kawartha Lakes Tourist Association, Peterboro, Ont., will be glad to help you. There are moderately priced summer hotels, too, on most of the lakes. Good catches of bass and muskies reported most years. Pickerel and lake trout too. Sailing fans and canoeists will find their wants catered to. Plan a Kawartha holiday.

In Ontario we have a holiday paradise . . . let's do all we can to encourage visitors from across the border. Published in support of the tourist theme used by John Labatt Limited.

Choose Delegates Annual Congress Of Salvation Army

Major and Mrs. Ken Graham, in charge of the local Salvation Army operations have received word that they are to be delegates to the 67th annual congress to be held in Toronto from Oct. 31st to 20th; other delegates will be, Brig. and Mrs. W. Cage, Divisional Commanders, and 2nd Lieutenants J. Jamieson and M. Green.

Gatherings this year will be conducted by the Salvation Army's international Chief of Staff, Commissioner John J. Allen of London, England, who is paying his first visit to Canada in his present capacity. With him is Mrs. Allan, who will address various women's groups while on tour with her husband.

Commissioner Allan was the 2nd American officer to be chosen for the important position of second-in-command of the world-wide Salvation Army. He won the Croix de Guerre for bravery on the battlefield in World War I, and in World War II was principal assistant in the Chaplain-General's office in Washington D.C., where he helped to set up the chaplaincy service for U.S. troops. He held the military rank of colonel.

Early years of his career were spent in charge of the Bowery Corps in New York, working with the destitute and the desperate. He quit disguised himself as a derelict and lived like one, to learn the problems of the people he wanted to help.

In addition, the Belleville Salvation Army Band has been invited to participate in the Festival of Praise in Massey Hall on Sunday afternoon. The band is under the leadership of Bandmaster Jack Green. It has also been announced that a delayed broadcast of this festival is arranged over CKEY on Sunday evening Oct. 23rd at 7.30 p.m.

Cooped up by Town, Dogs Find Champion

Graaff Reinet, South Africa, (CP)—Dogs lead a real dog's life in Graaff Reinet.

It is illegal for them to cross the river outside the town. It is illegal for them to bark, or romp on the commons. Their owners can't walk them on the commons.

The matter came to a head when a resident asked council's permission to exercise his dog on the commons. The town council turned him down.

Rather than go by the challenge, the local newspaper thundered editorially.

On behalf of all dogs in town those reproachful looking dogs which find recreation listlessly in the streets of the town—we appeal for their freedom. Their lives are plated with concrete and encompassed by iron railings within and without the town."

At last report the issue was still raging in Graaff Reinet.

Vancouver's Home Won't Cross Ocean

Petersham, Surrey, England—(CP)—A plan to move Glen Cottage the old home of Capt. George Vancouver from Petersham to Vancouver has been frustrated.

The house, which stands near Capt. Vancouver's grave, had been sold by the Earl of Dysart's estate to the present tenant, Noel Pannock.

Pannock, a prisoner of war for five years, had first refusal of the property when he moved in with his wife after the war. An electrical engineer, he has since modernized the cottage.

Vancouver authorities wanted the cottage as a memorial to the man who, in 1792 sailed round the island which now bears his name. One suggestion was that it should be re-erected where Lumberman's Arch used to stand in Stanley Park.

IMPROVE AIR BASE

Sydney, N. S. — (CP) — Work has begun on a $581,000 project to extend landing facilities at Sydney airport. Plans include lengthening of one of the three runways, resurfacing of all runways and several new buildings.

CHAIN REACTION

Vancouver — (CP) — It was not quite an atomic chain reaction but it did cause severe hurts on 10-year-old Peter Longprey's hip. A pre-Hallowe'en joker dropped a lighted firecracker into Peter's back pocket and set off a packet of firecrackers he was carrying.

BLOOMING WEATHER

New Westminster, B. C. — (CP) — Spring came to New Westminster recently in the form of an apple tree which burst into blossom for the second time this year. Gardener Stanley D'Arcy blamed the Indian summer weather.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA

The present rates quoted above are those applicable where local telephones are provided. The proposed rates quoted above provided each exchange retains the present type of service it has enjoyed. Until such time as the supply of hand telephones is sufficient, temporary rates apply for most of the services which are provided with dial and wall telephones at the time the proposed Tariffs become effective. The temporary rates are, for desk sets, 15c per month less than stated; for wall sets, 25c per month less than stated.

METROPOLITAN AREA SERVICE PLAN

This is a new service which the Company proposes to introduce as soon as the necessary facilities can be provided, probably in 1951. It will apply between certain large city exchanges and many of the suburban exchanges and between suburban exchanges shown below. With this service plan all customers in the suburban exchanges will pay the basic rates applicable in the metropolitan area for the service they need, in addition as long calls to non-residents will customers in the exchange by which they are served, may, for the same rates, communicate with the customers in the exchange and also with the customers in those suburban exchanges which are included in the plan and are not contiguous to the exchange serving them and also to the city exchanges. For the purpose of this plan the suburban exchanges are grouped as follows:

TORONTO	MONTREAL	OTTAWA
Aylmer, Islington, New Toronto, Scarboro, Weston, Willowdale	Chambly, Lasalle, Laval-des-Rapides, Lachine, Longueuil, Pointe-aux-Trembles, Rivière-des-Prairies (new exchanges to be opened), St-Lambert, St-Vincent-de-Paul	Aylmer, Gatineau

QUEBEC	HAMILTON	WINDSOR
Charny, Lévis, Lorette-ville, Notre-Dame-des-Laurentides, Ste-Foy-ancelle, St-Romuald-d'Etchemin	Dundas, Hanmer, Stoney Creek, Waterdown	St Clair (new exchange to be opened), Tecumseh beside rates applicable therein, customers in the city exchange, in addition to being able to communicate with other customers in the city exchange, may communicate with customers in all the suburban exchanges included in the plan. Upon the inauguration of this plan of service, suburban rates, foreign exchange and long distance rates will be applicable between suburban exchanges within the metropolitan area plan. Until the Metropolitan Area Service plan is introduced the proposed new rates for local suburban service in the suburban exchanges to be included in such plan shall apply. The rates for suburban zone service are increased by the same amounts as the rates for local exchange service.

Canadiens Come Out on Top Of N.H.L. as All Clubs See Action During the Weekend

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal Canadiens—the dark-horse team of the new National Hockey League season!—are in first place for the first time since they captured the league championship in 1946-47.

The Montrealers have an unblemished record so far with two victories in two games. Saturday night they conquered the New York Rangers 4-2 at Montreal's an action-packed contest.

Toronto Maple Leafs, last year's Stanley Cup winners, are in the runner-up spot with three points made up of a Saturday night 4-4 draw with Chicago Black Hawks and a 3-1 victory over Detroit Red Wings Sunday night. New York Rangers and Boston Bruins, who battled to a 2-2 stalemate Sunday, are in a three-way split with Black Hawks for the cellar spot.

Canadiens come from behind a 1-0 deficit in the first period to earn their Saturday night triumph. Elmer Lach, Billy Reay and Maurice (Rocket) Richard accounted for Montreal's goals while Pat Egan, former Red Wing defenceman, scored the sole New York marker. Nineteen penalties were handed out with Canadiens getting the edge in this department also with 10.

Rally Saves Leafs

A two-goal rally in the third period saved Maple Leafs from a defeat from Hawks. Ted Kennedy and Sid Smith notched the tying counters for the former Hawks had taken a 4-3 margin in the second period. Joe Klukay and Harry Watson scored the other Leafs' goals. Bob Goldham, Jim Conacher, Gaye Stewart and Roy Conacher were the big guns for the visitors. The champions outshot Hawks 29 to 21 but goalie Turk Broda of Leafs and Frankie Brimsek of Hawks had few tough ones to save.

Sunday the Leafs showed better form in their game against Red Wings. They raced ahead with two goals each in the first two periods and another in the third. Howie Meeker and Fleming Mackell each scored twice and Sid Smith netted the other. George Gee, who has scored three goals in two outings, saved Wings from a shutout.

Smith Saves Day

Little Kenny Smith saved the day for Boston with a goal that stalemated the game with Rangers. Smith's marker came after 15 seconds of play in the third period. Rangers sandwiched a pair of goals between a Boston tally during the second session. Edgar Laprade, who was expectacled Don Raleigh scored New York's goals while Paul Ronty accounted for the other Boston tally.

Before the instructive New York game, league President Clarence Campbell presented Bill Quackenbush, recently obtained from Detroit by Boston, with the Lady Byng Trophy awarded annually to the player judged outstanding in sportsmanship. He is the first defenceman to be so honored in a quarter-century.

Canada's Richest Horse Race Won by McGill

By The Canadian Press

Ex-Jockey Frank Dougherty's McGill won Canada's richest horse race Saturday at Toronto, besting 12 other Canadian-bred two-year-olds in the 12th annual running of the Orpen Cup and Saucer handicap with a total value of $16,850.

The winner and pre-race favorite stepped the mile and seventy yards in 1.46 over a lightning fast track before 19,000 fans.

McGill had a margin over Mrs. H. Giddings' Brazen Bus and Harry Hatch's top-weighted Untouchable. Ridden by Chris Rogers, the winner did most of his previous racing at New York tracks and paid $4.10 to win.

Frank Dougherty, who trains the colt for his wife, picked up $10,850 and a 14-carat gold cup for his efforts.

Some 156 horses were entered at birth two years ago and 32 were kept eligible by payments over the period until Friday night when the field dwindled to 13.

Czechoslovakia Sunday wrecked the world championship soccer hockey team with a political purge, and leaders of the Sokol, National sports organization, said this is only a start in the policy of ousting Communist political ideology shead of sports prestige.

The hockey team, which defeated Canada at the world championships in Stockholm last winter, was broken up by the loss from international play under Czech orders of three players constituting its outstanding forward line.

They are Vladimir Zabrodsky, Stanislav Konopasek and Vaclav Roznak. The three were held "politically unreliable".

More than 20 former players turned up at Winnipeg Saturday for the Winnipeg football club's "Reunion Day" as well as the 1949 edition on the Blue Bombers take a 47-0 trouncing from Saskatchewan Roughriders in a Western Interprovincial Union game.

In pre-game ceremonies, the oldtimers were introduced to the some 3,500 fans. Those introduced included: Dr. Bert Oja, starry import guard of 1935-37, Harry Badger, Tubber Kobrinsky, Al Daniels, Jack Marie, Duke Manners, Jack Evanoff, Cliff Roseborough, Andy Beiber, Kippy McFadyen, Ernie Williams, Tr Mazur, Andy Currie, Lou Miles, E. Mills, Bill Nahrn and Arnie Coulter.

Edward Gallagher, 39-year-old coach of the London, Ont., Majors Midget Baseball team, has been charged with assaulting Umpire Joe Murphy during the Ontario Baseball Association midget final baseball game at Toronto Saturday between London Majors and Toronto Kolarks. Kolarks won 6-1.

Gallagher, released on $200 bail will appear in court at Toronto today.

Murphy told police that Gallagher struck him without warning, cutting the umpire's upper lip and breaking his upper denture. Gallagher was arrested at the ball park.

The Canadian intercollegiate dinghy championship meet, scheduled to be held on Lake St. Louis at Dorval, Que., Sunday, was called off because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Although the sky was cloudless there was little wind and race officials said the event would be put off till next year. Toronto Varsity won the honors last year.

Buffalo State Teachers' College Saturday won the international 30-mile relay at the Canadian National Exhibition Park at Toronto. They finished the course in two hours, 23½ minutes, almost 46 seconds faster than Toronto's West End Y.M.C.A., who came second. Hamilton Olympic Club was third.

The Buffalo team won the international silver trophy which they will defend at next year's meet.

Toronto Clubs Take Triple Trimming in Football Weekend

By JACK MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

It was a sad football Saturday for Toronto—even if it was a Montreal player who ran the wrong way.

The gloom still hung thick over Ontario's Queen City today. It's been a long time since all three Senior Toronto teams—Argonauts, Balmy Beach and Varsity—took beatings on one day. To cap it all, Montreal Alouettes pushed Argos near playoff elimination by beating Hamilton Wildcats 20-18 Sunday.

Things were pretty dismal, too, in Winnipeg and Edmonton. Their tail-end Western Canada League teams took trimmings from the top clubs, Calgary's Dominion Champion Stampeders swamped Edmonton's Eskimos 31-6 for their 10th consecutive victory. Saskatchewan Roughriders drubbed Winnipeg Blue Bombers 47-0. A

There was no joy, either, in the Ontario Centres of Sarnia and Kingston. Sarnia's Imperials bowed 13-11 in their Ontario Union game with Hamilton Tigers; Queen's Golden Gaels were humbled 16-11 by University of Western Ontario in their only collegiate contest at Kingston.

Needed Biggest Towel

But Toronto, the only centre with three football teams, needed the biggest crying towel. The Argos' woe beaten 24-16 by Montreal as a Varsity Blues drubbed of 18,000 watched; Balmy Beach took a 26-6 spanking from Hamilton Rockets; McGill Redmen overpowered University of Toronto 22-13.

Hamilton came close to Toronto's Senior Stadium woes cheer McGill's wrong-way Corrigan-linesman Johnny Evans who intercepted a forward and plodded valiantly toward his own goal line with both teams in hot pursuit. He got straightened out on his own seven—after a 32-yard "gain"—so no damage resulted.

Ran Wrong Way

The 18,000 fans who watched Varsity humbled at Montreal's Molson stadium stood to cheer McGill's wrong-way Corrigan-linesman Johnny Evans who intercepted a forward and plodded valiantly toward his own goal line with both teams in hot pursuit. He got straightened out on his own seven—after a 32-yard "gain"—so no damage resulted.

The results left this playoff picture in the three leagues that declare champions for Grey Cup play:

In the Big Four, Ottawa is assured of no worse than a tie for first place; Argos must win all three remaining games—two against Ottawa, one against Montreal—to be assured of beating Alouettes out for the second off spot; Hamilton is out.

In the West, Calgary is certain to finish first; Edmonton has only a mathematical chance of tying Regina's Roughriders for the other playoff position; Winnipeg is out.

In the Ontario Union, Beaches are out but Windsor still can catch second-place Sarnia, two points ahead of them, or Hamilton's Tigers, another two ahead of Sarnia.

Alouettes earned their victory at Toronto on a pair of touchdowns by hard-hitting Virgil Wagner, coupled with touchdown forward pass that Frank Filchock pitched to Ralph Toohy and Bob Cunningham. The Argos scored a touchdown by Doug Fryer and got a 10-point export from quarterback Nick Volpe — a major, a placement and two converts.

Sunday, the Als spotted Wildcats a touchdown by galooping Tom Casey but went winging away on three majors by Cunningham and others by Chet Moncance and Toohy. Bob Westlake and Ed Hughes scored two last-quarter touches for Wildcats.

The Wildcats made it close against Ottawa at Hamilton Saturday. Casey, the flashy Negro import, scored all seven of their points on a touch and two singles. But Ottawa won out on majors by Pete Karpuk and Johnny Dengai, Eric Chipper's convert and Howie Turner's single.

At Sarnia, Joe Capriotti kicked seven of Hamilton's 13 points on two placements and a single. Rube Ainsworth added a major as Tom Waldon's forward pass. Touchdowns by Don Knowles and Pete Reeve and Ross McKenzie's convert took care of Sarnia's scoring.

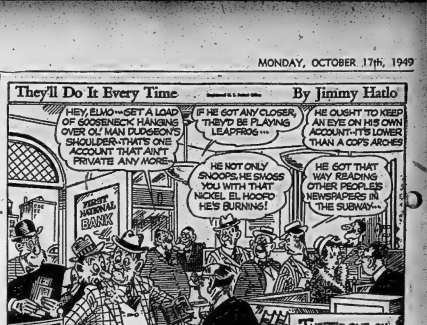
Spotted Beaches Lead

In the other Ontario Union games, Windsor spotted Beaches a 6-0 lead at Toronto on a rouge by Bill Douglas and Dave West's touchdown. Then they shut the Balmies out while bouncing back on five majors—two each by Ed Krause and Harry Kallogian and another by Sylvester Miles, big Negro import.

Some 3,000 fans at Winnipeg watched Saskatchewan shut out their Bombers while showing a powerful offensive. Ken Charlton paced Roughriders 47-point attack with two touchdowns and a single.

It was nearly as one-sided when Stampeders smothered Coach Annis Stukus Eskimoes at Calgary. Lew Learn's Stamps piled up 31 points on two touchdowns by Rod Pantages, a major and four converts by Vern Graham, and other touches by Harry Hood and Norman Kwong.

At Montreal, McGill tumbled the nitercollegiate champion Varsity Blues on touchdowns by Geo. Valois, Ken Wagner and Shorty Fairhead, along with Captain Rocky Hoblitzell's seven points on three converts, a placement and a single. The Blues, who led 12-10 in the third quarter, got touches from Jack Gray and Wally London.



Fleet Jack Parry put Western Mustangs on top of the Intercollegiate League-with two victories with his deadly passing and powerful punting against Queen's He kicked three points and tossed touchdown passes to Wade and Bob McFarlane, who also booted a placement. Jack Roberts and Bob McKelvey scored touches for the winless Tricolor.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Amiable Jack Christie, secretary of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association sends along word that his organization will again sponsor a series of meetings for discussion of rules. The series known as the OMHA Forum for referees, managers and coaches, will be held in fifteen centres across the province during the first three weeks of next month.

* * *

This season the O.M.H.A. Forum will consist of meetings in fifteen centres across the province, as compared to eleven last season. Instead of being restricted to referees as in the latter season, the Forum will be thrown open to managers and coaches. Plans call for the province to be divided into four "zones" each under supervision of a member of the O.M.H.A. Executive, with assistance of one of the supervisors, and assisted by a local hockey official.

* * *

The meetings, with the name of the O.M.H.A. officials in charge, are scheduled as follows:

Zone 1—(Supervisor, Herb Parker, Stratford)—Walkerton, Listowel, Stratford, Kitchener, Guelph, Galt, Paris and London (J. W. Oakes, Strathroy); Stratford and Tavistock (H. Pascoe); Fergus and Galt (O. M. Weichel, Kitchener).

Zone 2—(Supervisor, J. L. Christie, Toronto)—Simcoe (Fred Nicholls, Simcoe); Welland (Frank Docherty); Thorold and A. A. Morrison, St. Catharines); Brampton (C. Hardwick, Bolton).

Zone 3—(Supervisor, V. M. Burr, Oshawa)—Bracebridge (Harold Dunk, Nobelly); Barrie, (O.J. Harris-Mitchell, Bellen); Whitby (V. M. Burr, and E. Kinchesular (Whitby).

Zone 4—(Supervisor, A. E. Hick, Lindsay)—Cobourg (Jack Cassidy, Cobourg); Peterborough (S. R. Curry, and E. M. Downey, Port Hope); Omemee (A. E. Hick, Lindsay).

Further appointments, with dates of meetings will be announced later.

* * *

Hockey fans here will recall Max Kaminsky who managed the Philadelphia Rockets along with coach Wally Ellis, during the Rockets folding and now, we notice, via the Hockey News that friend Max has been appointed coach of the Oakland Oaks, a club owned by that grand hockey player Eddie Shore.

* * *

Max takes over the reins of the club from young Tommy Fowler who has been acting as head man for the club. Now Fowler will be able to devote his full time to playing and protecting his title as high scorer in the Southern Division of the P.C.H.L.

Kaminsky is far from being a newcomer to pro hockey. This will be his 11th season with the sticks as he has served as a player, coach and manager.

He started his career in professional hockey in 1932 with the Ottawa Cliffsides. He played in the N.H.L. for four seasons.

In the American League he played a total of 467 games in a seven year stretch. After terminating a spectacular career Kaminsky was appointed coach of the Pittsburgh playing career Kaminsky was appointed coach of the Pittsburgh Hornets farm club of the Toronto Maple Leafs. He coached the job for three years and his sextet was a strong contender each season.

* * *

In 1947 Kaminsky was selected as alternate All-Star coach of the American Hockey League. Two years ago he was appointed business manager of the same defunct Pirate club of the A.H.L. Max remained with the Rockdelphia Rockets of the A.H.L. Max remained with the Rockets for two seasons until last spring when they pulled out of the league.

* * *

During the summer months Kaminsky kept himself in shape for the coming season by playing semi-pro baseball with the Welland Vale, Ontario, his home town. At one time around Niagara Falls, Ontario, he had to choose between baseball and hockey as a career. He chose hockey.

* * *

The appointment of Kaminsky as a coach in the west league brightened things up in the Oaks camp. Max has always been known as a favourite with the players, and his ways been known as a favourite with the players, and his ways been known as a favourite with the players, and his cocking ability brings out the best in any team.

HE'S STILL POPULAR

AT THE CAPITOL — A scene from Rossellini's "Paisan," Best Picture of the Year by National Board of Review, to be seen again and again. Opens today at the Capitol Theatre, for a three day engagement only. First Belleville showing. Matinees daily at 2.00 p.m.

AT THE McCARTHY — The "eternal triangle" revolves around a roulette wheel in Universal - International's "The Lady Gambles," starring today at Odeon's McCarthy Theatre. Barbara Stanwyck, a chronic gambler, and her husband, Robert Preston, a newspaper man, confront Stephen McNally, operator of a club at which Barbara has lost heavily.

AT THE BELLE — Showdown. Farley Granger as Johnse Hatfield and Charles Bickford as his father, Devil Anse Hatfield, are at odds over Joan Evans in the title role "Roseanna McCoy," Samuel Goldwyn's most exciting picture, based on the McCoy-Hatfield feud. The film is continuing today and Tuesday at the Belle Theatre.

SIX KILLED IN CRASH

Ferriday, La., Oct. 17.—(AP)—An automobile slammed into a horse, bounced across the highway and crashed into another car Sunday night, killing six persons and severely injuring another. One of those killed was Cecil Sydney Camp of Baton Rouge, head of the hydraulic engineering department at Louisiana State University. A woman and two young boys killed in the wreck were identified as Camp's wife and sons.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Bibliter

The smart cookies in bridge look far enough ahead in the play of a difficult contract. When no other plan will be successful, a squeeze is considered and planned.

South was declarer at six notrump in this deal:

	NORTH
	♠ A K 5 3
	♥ 10 6 2
	♦ A 7 4 2
	♣ K Q
WEST		EAST
♠ 9 8 3		♠ J 10 7 6
♥ K Q J 8 5 4		♥ 9 7
♦ 10		♦ Q J 9 7
♣ J 8 4		♣ 9 5 2
	SOUTH
	♠ Q 4
	♥ A
	♦ K 8 5 3
	♣ A 10 7 6 3

West led heart king. Even though clubs will break, only 11 tricks seem likely. Any hope for a 12th trick is with a squeeze.

This calls for reducing opponents cards to the fewest possible. So, south refused trick one and won the second heart. Two top dummy clubs won. South got in again with spade queen.

Club ace was cashed, dummy slufting a diamond. Opponent clubs dropped. On a fourth south club, dummy slufted another diamond. The east hand shed a diamond on this and each hand now had six cards.

East clung to three spades and three diamonds to menace both these suits. South had a club, a spade, four diamonds. Dummy held three spades and two diamonds and heart ten.

South led the last club and slufted the dummy heart. This started east on the road to ruin. If he gave up a diamond, declarer had the rest with diamonds and top dummy.

On the fifth club should east have let go of a spade? Then dummy has three spades and two top diamonds takes the rest. The way of the presser is not bad.

Notice the seemingly innocent play of refusing to win the trick with heart ace. Without much thought, this may seem to be a simple holdup. But here it has a far-reaching effect.

If south had won the first heart trick, he could not have put the squeeze into action. Opponents would have had one more card to play with. It was lack of this additional card that hurt them.

Successes are bred by looking ahead.

Boxing Death Stirs Aussie Fight Fans

Sydney, Australia, — (CP) — The recent death of boxer Archie Kemp after a bout in Sydney with Jack Hansen for the Australian lightweight title has stirred boxing fans to fresh demands for a boxing control commission here.

Sports writers and professional boxers charge that promoters at present are free to let half-trained fighters slug each other about, even when many of them know signs of being punch-drunk.

In the last 10 years six boxers have died following bouts in New South Wales.

Expert agree that Kemp, a fit skilful boxer who had already fought in 70 bouts would not have been saved even if there were a boxing commission. But, they say, such control would save others.

Says commentator Alan Hulls in the Sydney Sunday Sun: "There will be ring deaths as long as boxing is allowed but much of the awful toll of health and senses could be eliminated by a really strict supervision."

The state government now is considering controlling boxing and is making provision for injuries to boxers.

Last year a deputation from the Boxers and Wrestlers' Association asked the government that boxers and wrestlers be brought under the definition of workers under the Workers' Compensation Act. Otherwise boxers who were physical wrecks and punch-drunk received no compensation. This the government has now promised to consider.

One of Australia's former idols of the ring Jack Haines, has urged that boxing be either immediately banned or strictly controlled.

Haines lost his middleweight title and nearly lost his life after a bout with Ambrose Palmer at Sydney in 1930. Haines suddenly collapsed in the 12th round and doctors fought for five weeks to save his life after a severe cerebral haemorrhage.

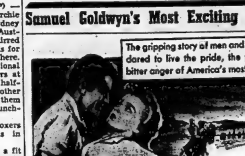
He recovered but never boxed again. Now he works as a docks laborer.

Northern Lights Flash Again in Toronto Area

Toronto, Oct. 17 — (CP)—The northern lights — aurora borealis — flashed out again in the Toronto area Saturday. And for the second successive night telegraph communications were hampered.

The aurora started about 7 P. M. EDT. At first what appeared to be a long, white cloud showed overhead followed in the north with an arc of reddish light, something like the glare from a distant fire or a vast neon sign.

Within half an hour the sky was filled with white streaks centred overhead in a roughly circular shape colored dark red.



As on Friday Canadian National Telegraphs reported interference on wire communications, but to a lesser extent. Only trouble reported was in Northern Ontario.

TAKES OWN LIFE

Jefferson, Md., Oct. 17 (AP)—Harold W. Carder, 36, shot himself to death early today as state police tried to break in the door of his barricaded bedroom to rest him on a charge of raping his 14-year-old daughter. Police said Carder's wife and daughter swore out the warrant after doctors at hospital examined the girl and found she had been raped.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK By R. J. SCOTT

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking the 2nd half of his first cigar, and ma said, William, my feret copy of the Fastidious Feminine Magazine arrived today, and you owe me a handsome apology.

Why no! pop said. I never said it wouldn't arrive, and in fact I never even heard of any such magazine, he said, and ma said, That's only because I didn't even tell you I had taken out a subscription for it from a young chap at the front door, and the reason I didn't tell you was because I knew you would accuse me of being a gullible sucy and a natural easy mark. As a matter of fact I was on the point of sending the young fellow away without even listening to his flow of words, but there was something in his face that inspired confidence, and now my faith has been vindicated and you owe me an apology on general principals, she said.

What about that wavey haired lad a couple of months ago who told you he was selling subscriptions to help his mother work her way through college? pop said, and ma said, He never told me any such thing, and I'm sure the only reason that subscription went wrong was on account of some clerical error at the mail office.

What about the lad with the soleful eyes who got you to give him 10 dollers in cash because he was allergic to checks? pop said, and ma said, Now William, one example is quite enough to prove that I'm a judge of human nature, and the example of my subscription to the fastidious feminine should be quite sufficient.

Being the end of the subject after pop got through laffing.

Germany's Youth Are Being Taught About Democracy

By JACK SMITH

Berlin, (Reuters) — Although numerous problems and difficulties have still to be overcome in educating Nazified German youth in the ways of democracy, Dr. Alonzo Grace, director of the former United States military government's education and cultural relations division, believes that a good start has been made.

The collapse of the Hitler Youth organization at the end of the war, together with the invalidation of its Nazi teaching, left the youth of the nation without any form of positive leadership.

Post-war problems—unemployment, housing shortage, lack of educational facilities and general social disorder—fell especially heavily upon the young people of Germany.

The U.S. military government, since replaced by administrators under the United States state department, began by outlining such forces as existed inside Germany to provide leadership and direction for youth.

Next, it aimed at fostering an atmosphere in which the positive elements could find expression in society. Finally, it tried to ensure that there would be no recurrence of any totalitarian or militaristic tendencies among youth organizations.

Today, although much remains to be done, much has been achieved.

The total membership of voluntary youth organizations, for example, has increased 700 per cent since 1945. Some 1,500,000—approximately 25 per cent of young people between the ages of 10 and 25 belong to one or more youth organizations.

Leaders Trained

More than 4,000 youth leaders have received training in the fundamentals of democratic youth work, while 50 selected German youth leaders have studied in the United States. The service of eight Americans and 23 European youth leaders have been enlisted to advise German youth organizations.

Self-help programs carried through include more than 100 projects for rebuilding damaged buildings and constructing new dormitories.

The task which lies before German youth Organizations was summed up recently by Dr. Grace:

"Youth organizations," he said, "must liberalize their programs, become less competitive and more co-operative. The average German citizen must learn to volunteer his time, ability and money to advance co-operative youth programs.

"Although limited in extent, certain nationalistic tendencies must be eliminated.

"The ultimate test of our success in helping German youth to help themselves is simply this: Will youth develop the character the moral and spiritual power to resist the nationalistic trend? Will youth, if they don't stand for something, fall for anything?

"I believe that the youth of the world will help the youth of Germany to create a world of law and order, humanity, social justice.

"I believe that a large number of German youths, in spite of the Hitler era are already willing and eager to do their part. But the change will not be accomplished overnight."

Two Hunting Accidents in Five Fatalities

(By the Canadian Press)

One of the lightest weekend, fatal accident tolls in months in Ontario, and eastern Canada as a whole, was reported today by the Canadian Press.

A survey showed that only 10 persons lost their lives in violent deaths during the weekend in the six eastern Canada provinces. The most occurred in Ontario with five deaths in traffic accidents and two in hunting incidents. There also were two highway fatalities in Quebec and one in New Brunswick.

William Hay, 38, a veteran of the Hong Kong campaign and a Japanese prisoner of war for four years, died when a shotgun discharged into his stomach. The Campbellford, Ont., resident had just returned from a duck-hunting trip a few miles from his home.

Jerry Micheluitt, 25, of Kirkland Lake was killed when a shotgun held by hands of his brother accidentally discharged on a hunting trip near Englehart, sending a full charge of shot into his stomach.

Ann Roblin, 21, of Ottawa, an arthritic cripple died after the station wagon which her father bought to take her drive, went out of control on a curve and rolled over. Her father, mother and aunt were injured.

Cobourg Girl Killed

A nine-year-old girl died at Cobourg, Ont., when she was thrown out of the rumble seat of an automobile. The girl, Nancy Davis, was riding in the car when it struck another automobile.

Another young girl, Colleen Adamson, eight, was killed in the Toronto suburb of Scarboro when she ran into the path of a car.

Rene Wilfred Charette, 24, of Windsor, drowned in two feet of water after his automobile rolled over near Kingsville, Ont., pinning him under the running board in a water-filled ditch.

Herbert Trudel, 30, of North Bay, died 18 hours after the taxi he was driving struck a truck. The truck, 18 miles southeast of North Bay.

In Quebec, Mrs. Cora Saucurin, 24, of Rigaud, Ont., was killed in an automobile accident which injured her husband and three other persons near Pointe au Chene.

Gilles Masson, 21, of Montreal's suburban Rosemount was killed when his automobile crashed head-on into another car. Seven others were injured in the accident.

In the Maritimes only reported fatality, Ronald Lapolint, four, was killed and two women injured when an automobile struck their horse-drawn wagon near Dalhousie, New Brunswick.

C.A.H.A. Refuses To Grant Wray, Schmidt Transfers

Sydney, N.S., Oct. 17 (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has refused to grant transfers to Dick Wray and Joe Schmidt of the Maritime Senior Hockey League, it was learned here Sunday night.

The C.A.H.A. has ordered Wray now drilling with Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen of the Senior Ontario Hockey Association, to report back to Saint John Beavers because his transfer application was not accompanied by release from Beavers. Last season the fiery-red-haired centre from Listowel, Ont., tied with George McGregor of Halifax St. Mary's for the league's scoring leadership.

Centre Joe Schmidt of Regina, with Halifax St. Mary's last year, remains St. Mary's property even though he has signed with Glace Bay Miners of the Caps Breton Senior Hockey League.

In Midland, Ont., George Dudley, C.A.H.A. Secretary, said the transfer applications were "just routine matters", he added.

"The players wanted transfers; the clubs wouldn't give them to them and the players appealed."

FACES TWO CHARGES

Toronto, Oct. 17 (CP)—Alfred Taylor, 24, had an argument with his sister-in-law Sunday night and now faces two charges. He is accused of having an offensive weapon — a pistol — and of pointing it at Mrs. Florence Taylor. Mrs. Taylor told police she wrested the gun from Taylor but he regained it. After the arrival of another brother — in - law, Charles Taylor, the police were called.

FRESH WATER FOR DUCKS

Edmonton — (CP)— One of the major lakes projects of Ducks Unlimited — a conservation organization — and the provincial government has been completed. Lake Winagami near McLennan, Alta., whose waters were contaminated, was emptied and refilled with water from the Heart River. Its depth was increased from six to nine feet.

THE IRON FIREMAN

Van Dusen Brothers New Store Modern in All Details

Appliances Shown To Best Advantage In Proper Setting

Less than seven months after a Sunday afternoon fire last March 13th swept through their electric and home appliance store at 191 Front Street, VanDusen Brothers Limited have a new store finer in every respect than was the previous one.

Located since the fire at a temporary location on Bridge Street, VanDusen Brothers are now situated in their new store at 329 Front Street, midway between the Belle and McCarthy theatres.

Featuring a green vitrolite front with an "off centre" entrance, the new store has a show window that brings the entire stock of the store into full view of the window. Gone is the former idea of dressing up a show window. With the new motif prospective customers may see the entire length of the store even before passing through the door.

Attractive Color Scheme

The new store is 23 feet in width by 180 feet in depth, but the display department extends only about 75 feet of this distance. A new style color scheme makes the store unusually attractive in its pale green and yellow while fluorescent lighting assures adequate illumination.

Carrying out a desire on the part of VanDusen Brothers to show appliances in their correct and customary settings, the new store features a kitchen display including built-in cupboards and sink.

In the display section will also be shown a complete line of washers, ironers, radios and television sets, ranges of heaters of all kinds and other home appliances as well as a plumbing display.

Heating Equipment Displayed

Carrying out the idea of showing equipment in operation wherever possible the story heating unit is set up in the display department. This is an oil fired furnace. The furnace is thermostatically controlled with air ducts conducting air to all parts of the store.

Midway down the store is the office space dividing the display section from the service department. In addition to the regular office there is an executive room handsomely fitted with chesterfield chairs and other comforts. This room will be used for executive meetings.

The service department features complete repairs to all lines of electrical and household appliances with special emphasis being given to the repair of radio and other electrical appliances. Experienced workmen here give prompt service with satisfaction.

At the rear of the store are two stock rooms, one of which will be used as a receiving room.

Fine New Sign

On order for the front of the new store is a new sign combining the VanDusen Brothers, Ltd. trade name and Northern Electric. VanDusens are the retail outlet in Belleville for Northern Electric appliances.

When completed the new sign will be erected above the entrance, further enhancing the appearance of the modern store front.

Electric Blanket

From Vancouver comes proof that the age of electricity is here to stay. It seems that an executive of the B.C. Power Commission sent an electric blanket to his 79-year-old mother, a few weeks later he received a card on which was printed the following:

"Now I lay me down to rest,
Electric blanket 'cross my chest;
I pray my Merciful
Creator
Protects the voltage regulator;
So if I die before
I wake,
It's not, I pray, because I
bake."

Grand Prize

To be drawn for on Saturday, Oct. 22 at Van Dusen Bros. new store. A beautiful Philips mantel combination Radio-Phonograph which combines beauty of cabinet with highest quality performance. Fully automatic triple speed changer for perfection reproduction of regular and long-playing records.

Pioneer Airman Writes Canada's Aviation Story

West Vancouver, B.C. (CP) — An authoritative history of Canadian aviation is being completed by Frank H. Ellis, 53-year-old municipal bus driver here.

"Wings of Memory," started 14 years ago, is expected to be ready for publication shortly.

From the first recorded Canadian flight by Frederick W. (Casey) Baldwin in 1908, the 225,000-word encyclopedia of Canadian flying facts covers every phase of the Dominion's aviation history up to the Second World War.

Mr. Ellis estimates he has received 5,000 letters directly related to the book. More than 500 pictures will illustrate the history.

Recently he received a letter and pictures from R. Booth, onetime commander of the famous dirigible R-100. "I have got in touch with famous fliers all over the world," Mr. Ellis says, "and everyone has expressed keen interest."

His wife, Elsie, does the proofreading.

Worthwhile Record

Baldwin, who died last year, wrote the book's preface: "It is important that the tradition and background which preceded and laid the foundation for the great future of Canadian aviation should be appreciated and recorded in a book such as this."

A bus driver for 24 years, Mr. Ellis has been interested in aviation since he came to Canada from Nottingham, England, 37 years ago.

He was the first Canadian to make a parachute jump from a Canadian aircraft. That was in 1914 when he and Tom Blakely, of Winnipeg, built and flew a Curtis Pusher biplane in Calgary.

This author also flew as mechanic on the first flight north of latitude 53, in 1920. Piloted by Hector Dougall, one-time president of Canadian Flying Clubs, the plane took three days for the trip from Winnipeg to The Pas.

Author of many articles for aeronautical magazines, Mr. Ellis is one of three living Canadian members of the "Early Birds." Qualifications for the "Early Birds" was to have flown a non-military aircraft before 1914.

His aim in writing "Wings of Memory" is not to make money. "If it is included in school libraries or other institutions where the information will be available to young Canadians, I shall be content."

DIFFICULT PRINTING

As early as the ninth century books were first engraved on stone, ink was spread on the stone and rough prints taken by hand.

The Secret of Reorganization

On Wednesday October 19th., we will officially open our new and modern store at 329 Front Street.

This new store replaces the one at 191 Front Street which was destroyed by fire last March 13th. Since then we have been forced to operate from a temporary location and we take this opportunity to express to our many customers our apologies for their inconvenience and to extend our thanks for their co-operation.

We have completely reorganized our Sales Department, our Service Department, our office and accounting system, and our company policy — in other words we have expanded our entire organization. Through reorganization we hope to provide a greater public service by bringing together the various departments in a spirit of mutual endeavor and co-operation which will result in making VanDusen Brothers Limited, your home appliance store, a better place to shop.

To the people of Belleville and district we extend an invitation to attend the grand opening of our new store. There is a wide and attractive display of modern appliances waiting for inspection and a courteous and well-trained staff ready to assist.

In closing VanDusen Brothers Limited wish to thank their many customers for their patronage and trust that in the future we may be able to continue to serve both old and new customers, sharing through the years a friendly business relationship.

Translating Comic Characters Into French Becomes Full-Time Job

BY BERNARD DUFRESNE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Oct. 15 (CP)—"Sam, I've a hunch we're running into something hot." That's tough copper Dick Tracy talking for Canada at large. But not for French Canada.

In Quebec, Tracy is Robert L'Intrepide. While he is the same hard-hitting guy he is in English, he speaks with considerably more Polish. Robert L'intrepide, for instance, handles that "hot" job like this: "I think we're involved in an interesting affair, Sam."

But French - speaking comics fans appear to enjoy Robert and his funny-face villains as much as anybody, with one big exception. They don't know the hillbilly folk of Dogpatch because translation to French makes no allowance for the quaint manner in which the Yokums and Daisy Mae mangle their lang-widge and speak of "hoomin beans."

Joe Palooka is Joe Strong Arm

Other translation changes also make Quebec's comic characters hardly recognizable in Willow Bunch, Sask. Take B. O. Plenty. He becomes Joe Misere — Joe Misery — which is fairly apt, all things considered, for the bob-tail character. Joe Palooka is known as Joe Bras Der Fer—Joe Strong Arm.

One of the men behind this comic character conversion to French readership is Maurice Chevalier, one-time La Patrie reporter who has worked the translation of comic paper speech into a fulltime job.

Chevalier says that four years ago — he was 32 then — he, and other reporters on his paper, translated only the odd strip. Then the features became so popular they were increased.

"A direct translation is often difficult," says Chevalier.

So, for the rest of Canada Steve Canyon says, "Every time I think of that coastline from Point Barrow to Cape Henry I say Rogers and Wilco." For Quebec it comes out this way: "If we must relax well and fine, we shall relax! time for me to sort out the mags. However, I fear for the future."

Kitchen Paved Way To Operetta Role

London — (CP) — Bernard Henry took his mother out to dinner after being given a leading role in "Song of Norway," an operetta based on Greig's music which is having a long run at the Palace Theatre.

As they entered a West End restaurant, several waiters came over to congratulate Henry. They recognized him as the man who, a year ago, was scrubbing floors at this same restaurant to help pay for singing lessons.

Before the war Henry came to London from Glasgow hoping to get the best training for his voice but the war upset his plans.

"I worked as a stretcher-bearer during the blitz, studying music in my spare time. Many nights I sang for the people in various London air raid shelters.

"When I was introduced to W. G. Gardiner, the famous singing teacher. To earn enough to pay for teaching fees I became general help in a restaurant. I scrubbed floors during the day and took on odd singing jobs at night."

When Henry was offered a part in "Song of Norway," he decided to bring his mother down from Glasgow for his opening night. Mrs. Henry, 78, had never been to a theatre before.

CAMPAIGN FAYS OFF

St. Paul, Alta. — (CP) — After two years of campaigning, the St. Paul junior chamber of commerce achieved its objective. It has raised funds and building will start soon on a $35,000 ice arena.

Ham's Own Radio Provides Company At Bleak Outpost

BY DAVE CROSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Life in the desolate Canadian northlands may seem boring to most persons, but it's A-1 for amateur radio operators.

At a bleak R.C.A.F. outpost 300 miles inside the Arctic circle, Sgt. James E. Paterson manipulates a vigilant contact with the rest of the world via amateur radio.

The 28-year-old Winnipeg-born Air Force sergeant, stationed at the outpost for six months, passed his time by spinning dials on his home-built radio set. Within a few months he made 246 contacts, one-third of them off the southern of North America.

"The reception was wonderful," he said. "There is no need to fear tall buildings or other obstacles known to radio heaps in industrial areas. The reason is simple. There simply isn't anything around to block reception."

Sgt. Paterson was stationed at the northernmost R.C.A.F. station — at Kitgaali, North West Territories, near where the Mackenzie River empties into the Arctic Ocean.

Last Winter with wind-blown snow piling up against the buildings, he decided to build an amateur radio set and talk with the outside world.

With years of wireless work behind him, Paterson sometimes worked 16 to 18 hours a day, then turned to his radio as a means of recreation.

During his talks he came in contact with a Dane, a merchantman stationed at Pearyland, at the northern tip of Greenland. The weatherman told him of the infrequency of mail deliveries at his outpost, once a year.

They decided on a plan. The Dane wrote letters, radioed the contents, for Paterson. Paterson air-mailed them to the weatherman's wife in Denmark. They came back the same way.

After a while, the bonds of international friendship were further strengthened when a Norwegian broke his leg and offered to do the mailing. The Norweglan could not hear the Dane, but he did hear Paterson's 60-watt radio.

Northern Blossoms In First Display

Fort Smith, N.W.T. (CP) — What is believed to be the first garden display ever shown in the North West Territories was held recently at this northern village, 450 miles northeast of Edmonton.

The display, sponsored by the Fort Smith Horse and Flower Association, drew 74 entries in its five classes. Association officials hope it will pave the way for bigger and better horticultural shows in the Fort Smith area in future years.

WINTER'S COMING

Peace River, Alta. — (CP) — With low water and the approach of winter, transport has left Oct. 1 on its last trip to Port Vermilion, on the Peace River, and all river boats are expected to be in their home ports by the middle of the month.

EVERY BIT HELPS

England now has about 240 oil wells, producing about 500,000,000 barrels of crude oil each year.

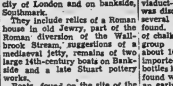
Relic of Roman House Found In Excavations in London

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 15—(CP)—Traces of London's buried past have emerged from rebuilding excavations on a number of sites in the city of London and on bankside, Southmark.

They include relics of a Roman house in old Jewry, part of the Roman diversion of the Wall-brook Stream, suggestions of a mediaeval jetty, remains of two large 14th-century boats on Bankside and a late Stuart pottery works.

Boats found on the site of the new Bankside power station lay well back from the river and were probably connected with a jetty, dated by tree-ring analysis to the end of the 14th century.



In St. Dunstan's Lane, near Billingsgate, builders recovered the plan of a house which was in use from the 13th to the 15th centuries. Under the debris was an ancient stone tablet carved with a lively representation of an heraldic eagle.

On the north side of Holborn viaduct—where the Fleet River was discovered some years ago—several deep wells have been found. From one of these, made of chalk with a wooden lining, a group of pottery, dating from about 1600 was discovered. Two imported German stoneware bottles known as bellarmines were found with their original corks—an early instance of this form of bottle-stopping.

In old Jewry were found relics of the 16th-century north aisle of St. Olave's Church. A trench nearby has revealed two floor levels, representing the third and fourth centuries of a Roman house, with fragmentary traces of a Roman pavement.

Modest Beginning Marked Founding of Van Dusen Bros.

Tinsmithing Shop Was First Link In Organization

Scene in tinsmithing shop of VanDusen Brothers' Picton store at about the time the firm was founded in 1908. The original business was a partnership headed by Albert VanDusen and Col. M. K. Adams.

The property on which the Picton store is located has had an interesting history being linked with the early days of Methodism there.

Originally Crown Land

It was originally a Crown grant of land to the Rev. Conrad VanDusen, one of the first Methodist preachers in Picton, having been attached to the Picton circuit between 1844 and 1845.

The Rev. VanDusen sold the land to Isaac Waite, who in turn disposed of it to Charles Waite, father of J. N. Waite, who inherited the property. Charles Waite founded the tinsmithing and plumbing establishment which was carried on by his son.

In 1908 Col. M. K. Adams and Albert VanDusen formed a partnership and bought out Mr. Waite. They constructed a new place of business adjoining the old property in 1922. The firm was known for many years as Adams and VanDusen Company. Arnold Adams, son of Col. Adams, took over the share in the business on his father's death in 1926. In 1928 he sold out to VanDusen Brothers.

Firm Expanded

Plumbing and tinsmithing was the business standby of the original firm, then the firm went into builders' supplies but this line was eventually dropped, the firm again concentrating on plumbing and tinsmithing. Later oil burners, stoves and furnaces, radios and other electrical appliances were added.

The firm opened their branch store in Belleville in 1937, occupying the site of the present Meyers Studio. Then in 1939 larger premises were acquired at 191 Front Street, the store site heavily damaged by fire last March 13th.

Albert VanDusen, original member of the firm, had a genius for mechanics, his hobby being boat building. Of proud Dutch stock he farmed at Black River before coming to Picton. He built a number of pleasure craft, some of which are still in service about Picton.

Distinctive Store

Present proprietors of the firm, Vernon VanDusen and Fred VanDusen have left no stone unturned to make their new Belleville store one of the smartest in the Belleville district. No expense has been spared to give it the fine and distinctive appointments that are appreciated by old and new customers.

In addition to the retail outlets operated by the firm, Mr. Fred VanDusen is a partner of the Prince Edward Motors in Picton, which are distributors for General Motors products in the county.

THE LIFE OF EASE

Montreal — (CP) — The sea tradition of hardtack and bully beef is passing away. A new freighter for Colombia launched here, the Ciudad de Quito, will provide cafeteria-style meals for the sailors as well as several ice-water drinking fountains on the ship.

WITH THE TIMES

Montreal—(CP) — With world interest in eastern Europe increasing, the University of Montreal is keeping up with the times. This year it is offering language courses in Lithuanian, Polish, Russian, Slovak, Czech and Ukrainian.

New Chlorine Form From Atom Research

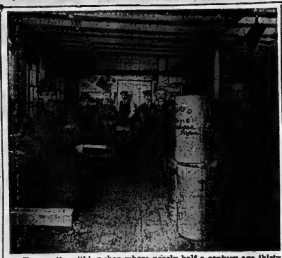
Saskatoon — (CP) — Nuclear research physicists at the University of Saskatoon are studying a new version of chlorine, discovered a few months ago.

With the betatron machine, a small group of physicists are trying to discover the qualities of this newcomer to the chemical family. Chlorine 39 is heavier than previously known chlorine isotopes — variations from the basic element — and is possibly the most important result so far in Saskatoon's nuclear physics research with the betatron.

Chlorine 39 was formed by the bombarding of argon gas, found in minute quantities in the atmosphere, by 25,000,000-volt X-rays from the machine.

Under the direction of Dr. R. N. Haslam, Dr. Leon Katz and Dr. H. E. Johns, nuclear physics research in the laboratory here has been concentrated on two paths of advancement.

"We are trying to form new isotopes from various substances and to study the properties of these isotopes, and we are attempting to measure the energy of the X-rays needed to produce the nuclear change," Dr. Katz said, "in this way we hope to learn more about the structure of the nucleus of the atom."



When a powerful x-ray strikes an atom in a tank of argon gas under high pressure, Dr. Katz explains, a proton (unit of positive electricity) or an electron (unit of negative electricity) may be "knocked out" of the atom.

The change in structure may cause a change in the atom's structure — such as the transforming of argon gas to chlorine 39.

"We do not know yet what practical application this isotope may have," said Dr. Haslam. "The purpose of this study is to gain information and to increase our knowledge of the structure of the atom's nucleus."

BROUGHT HOME THE BACON

Launceston, Cornwall, England —(CP) — "Nimble," the dog, took steps to provide her family of five pups with food. She brought home enough meat for six persons, all neatly wrapped, plus several rashers of bacon. As no owner could be traced Nimble and her pups got the food.

From a tinsmithing shop where nearly half a century ago thirty and forty gallon milk cans were manufactured to a modern store displaying the latest in electrical and household appliances has been the change with the times for VanDusen Brothers, Limited, with headquarters in Picton.

For it was in a tinsmithing shop in Picton back in 1908 that the present VanDusen Brothers Limited business had its modest beginning. Today it is an organization boasting of approximately 46 employees.

Ancient Church Font Depicts Saxon Life

Brookland, Sussex, Eng. (CP) —Forty scenes of life in Saxon England are depicted on an ancient lead font in the 12th. century church of St. Augustine.

Believed to be a unique piece of craftsmanship, the font was installed here before the Magna Carta was signed.

Among the scenes are a man with a seton horn, a man pruning a tree, a swineherd, a butcher, haymaking and other farming activities.

St. Augustine's has other treasures; horse-box pews, a tithe barn in a corner of the church and a sea chest in which are driven 70 nails with engraved heads, believed to have come from a captured ship of the Spanish Armada.

COLD STRATOSPHERE

The thin air at high levels is cold because it doesn't absorb much heat from the sun and doesn't easily retain it.

Primitive Tribe of African Cave Dwellers Near Extinction

Windhoek, South Africa—Only 50 of them remain, a strange, primitive, dark-skinned bushwash from the surge of civilization. And before long these 50 will have gone as well.

These Dauna Daman—"Seaside People on a Desert Plain"—dwell in painted caves in the rugged Brandberg range, not far from the seashore in the Namib Desert of Southwest Africa, using primitive weapons to wrest a living from the barren land.

But soon there will be no Dauna Daman as such. The men have taken Klipkaffir women, another tribe, as wives now that their own wives are dead.

The administrator of Southwest Africa, Col. P. Imker Hoogenhout knows a lot about the Dauna Daman, or strandlopers (beachcombers) as they are more commonly known in South Africa, from the Afrikaans name. To talk to him about these queer people is to enter for a little while a primitive, almost primate, world that few people have glimpsed.

In the Brandberg range there are water-holes aplenty, but almost no vegetation. The strandlopers exist first by hunting and, then only, by gleaning.

Primitive Weapons

Everything that creeps or flies is food to them. They hunt with primitive wooden bows and woodenen, untipped arrows. The smaller species of animal, if not shot with bow and arrow, is caught in stone dead-falls and snares.

The strandlopers regard honey as a special delicacy. They do not mind if the combs are full of maggots. They just spill the honey, maggots and all, into a wooden tub, mix it with water and drink it like lemonade.

From the seashore, says Col. Hoogenhout, the strandlopers fetch fish and shells, then they eagerly hunt crustaceans, cooking them in ash. They light their fires by twirling one stick against another, experts getting a fire going in this way in less than five minutes.

A favorite occupation is to stalk ants along clearly-indicated tracks to find their "grain cupboard" in which they collect large supplies of small grain after husking it. A chaff trail leads to the "cupboards" and the strandlopers, opening up the ground with pointed sticks hardened in fire, take away up to half-a-hundredweight of the grain from a single store. Properly cooked, it tastes not unlike ripe poppy seed.

Those that do not live in caves, live in low huts, only high enough for sleeping purposes. The rest of their lives is spent in the open. Clothing is simple too—merely leather apron for the men, and an apron front and back for the women.

"Damab" is their god. The name comes from Dama—water—with the masculine suffix "b"; and means literally "the male giver of water". Their religious conception is based on the infrequent rains that cause their barren land to blossom briefly. When Damab spreads the clouds over the Brandberg and gives rain, they thank him with night-long dancing.

Here's a super deluxe FM-AM radio-phonograph for static-free reception, clear, glorious tonal realism. FM features silent tuning between stations. Symphony-tone 12-inch dynamic speaker specially designed for FM. The magnificent mahogany cabinet is at home in modern or period setting. Fully automatic, triple-speed changer for regular and all long-playing records. 17 tubes. Standard broadcast and two shortwave bands. Ample record storage.

Store-Sponsored Party Picnics Popular With Staff

Gifts Presented At Yule Party Held at Picton

Two social events of the year much looked forward to by personnel and staff members of VanDusen Brothers, Limited, Picton, are the annual Christmas party, and the family picnic which is held every summer to which all staff members and their families are honored guests.

The two social events of the year permit all staff members of the VanDusen organization to get acquainted. And the all-round enjoyment at the two occasions goes to indicate that the 80-odd staff members are after all just "one big happy family."

Each Christmas Eve every one of VanDusen Brothers employees has a standing invitation to the huge Christmas party staged for their benefit and enjoyment. Usually held at Picton, the party is attended by around 125 happy merrymakers. Including staff members and their wives and sweethearts. Children are not eligible for this party which is reserved for the "grownups."

No Expense Spared

It is a really bang - up party which the store management throws for its employees and is complete all the way from dancing, buffet lunch with all the trimmings, to gifts for everyone. The hall is always decorated with a large, well-trimmed Christmas tree and before the evening is over Old Santa himself appears on the scene to distribute the gifts.

Between dances employees of the firm who may happen to work in another centre, are enabled to renew friendships, make new acquaintances and an air of gayness and spirit prevails. Added is the good wishes of the firm management.

While the annual Christmas party is always a gay event, it remains for the VanDusen Brothers summer picnic to evince the true family spirit.

Like Family Party

It is here that the parents and children are able to get together in one really big happy family and enjoy the varied program of sports for young and old.

No especial locale is chosen for the annual picnic, but it is invariably held some Wednesday at one of the county's many fine beaches along the lake front. One year it may be held at the Sandbanks and the next year at The Outlet.

There are races of all kinds for young and old, ball games and contests, while there may be a bit of friendly rivalry in various contests between employees of the different branches of the organization. In addition all the kiddies come in for a gift as well as candies and ice cream.

Supper Provided

Last but not least, there is always the big picnic supper catered to by a professional caterer, thus relieving Mother of the task of preparing a picnic lunch. Because when VanDusen's stage a [illegible] for their employees [illegible] have shown no great [illegible]zism for the "more socialist forms" proposed by the Communists. They have learned that these forms are intended only as a means of covering the transition period before the land is nationalized and all farms worked as collectives on the Soviet pattern.

Communist ideologists have themselves explained that this is the policy. But at present the party is concentrating mainly on getting the peasants used to the idea of unified co-operatives, with state-run big farms and machine stations providing examples of the economic benefits claimed to accrue from working land in big units.

The peasants are also known to be strongly religious. In some places recently, they rallied on the villages to defend the Catholic presbyteries when word was spread, not always accurately, that priests were to be arrested.

The peasants were prepared to use violence. They carried, and used, pitchforks, sickles and staves.

Seek Farmers' Confidence

Such are the circumstances in which party workers have been ordered to win the confidence of the peasants.

Party workers are warned that the peasants are "conservative and mistrustful. They are backward politically, compared with industrial regions; they adhere to conservative ideas and prejudices.

"But that does not mean that we turn our backs on them. If Communists do not understand the situation, there can be no talk of the party's taking a leading role. We should only be isolated from the small and medium peasants, and that would mean disrespect for the party, for the regime, and in some instances even resistance.

The party is to concentrate on winning over the small and medium elements among the peasants, while ruthlessly "weeding out" the "village rich."

But a recent directive said: "In spite of all measures taken this class (the larger peasants) has retained a great amount of influence over the small and middle farmer."

Party members working in the country are told that they must be ideologically well prepared for their task. But the party admits that "many of them are not prepared for their role, ideologically or organizationally."

DRAKE IS FIGHTER

Guelph, Ont. — (CP)—Farmer Stanley Shaw is proud of his 18-pound drake, which is afraid of practically nothing. A fox tangled with the drake and when Mr. Shaw arrived to frighten the fox away he found the drake was on top and holding its own.

Czech Peasants Stumbling Block to Red Planning

Prague (Reuters) — Directives issued over past months from the central headquarters of the Czechoslovak Communist party reveal the central committee's concern with winning over the small and medium peasants to clear the way for what it calls the "transition to socialist forms in agriculture."

But this is evidently proving difficult. The party realizes the stubbornness of the peasant in his land ownership and party workers are directed to secure co-operation and understanding. The committee's orders imply that force and coercion will be admission of, inadequate methods.

Meantime, opposition to Communist ideas, even some resistance, is reported among the peasants.

Parks Chief Plans A Brighter London

London — (CP) — Royal parks in central London are to have more rose beds, more spring flowers and flowering shrubs and more varied round-the-year displays.

These are a few of the changes to be made by William Hepburn, new parks superintendent, now arranging his first autumn shows.

A gardener for 41 years, Scottish-born Hepburn goes every day to an office in Hyde Park where he plans the London parks of tomorrow.

Results of his work will be seen in the spring. Along the Piccadilly side of the Green Park there will be a long bank of daffodils, crocuses and snowdrops. At Hyde Park Corner he plans to lay out a miniature garden.

Victoria Towers Gardens, Westminster, are to be brightened with flowering borders. The water lily basins in Kensington Gardens will be restored and the Fountain Garden developed.

"Londoners are keen gardeners," Hepburn said. "That's why I want to give them plenty of color and variety, with some new varieties from time to time."

OUT OF THE PAST

Folkingham, Lincolnshire, England — (CP) — A stone, used for many years as a gate-stop, has been recognized as a millstone dating back to about 500 B.C.

Witches, Demons Fill Pioneer Legend

Port Rowan, Ont. (CP)—Gathering dust behind locked doors in the county museum at Simcoe, 14 miles from this quiet Lake Erie fishing village, are relics of one of the wildest legends in southwestern Ontario.

Yet no one here has bothered to use the tale as tourist bait. Most residents haven't even heard the story.

The story, well-authenticated in historical journals, is that of Dr. John Troyer, first white man to settle in the district, in 1789.

Where he got the title of "doctor", nobody knows. He understood the use of herbs and is believed to have possessed what then passed as a medicine chest. A blacksmith, he served the settlers as dentist also, chiefly because he was skilful with his blacksmith's pliers.

But the amazing thing about Dr. Troyer was his superstitious dread of witches and demons.

He was bitterly afraid of dark-eyed women and thought them all witches. When he saw one he would rush to his cabin in deathly fear and bar, barricade doors. His dreams were nightmares of terror about witches.

He nailed horseshoes over every door in the belief that these talismans could not pass cold iron. He kept a huge bear trap at the foot of his bed, in the hope some unwary witch would step into it.

There is no record that Troyer, a deadly shot up to the day of his death at the age of 99, ever raised a finger against these dark-eyed women settlers, some of whom teased him and gibbered at him as he passed.

The ability to control his obsession made Troyer a wealthy man by pioneer standards. He was constable, water diviner and ship builder, and his land was richly productive.

The bear trap and his famous muskets have been taken to the little-used museum at Simcoe and few strangers ever hear the strange story of the dark imaginings of this well-loved pioneer.

MARK OF IMPORTANCE

Leather-soled sandals were a priceless luxury in ancient Egypt and men of rank were often followed by a servant carrying a pair.

Alberta Northland Haven for Negroes

Athabasca, Alta. (CP) — Here on the northern fringe of Alberta's rolling farm country, a small group of Negroes has established a flourishing community.

The Negroes fled to Alberta from their Oklahoma homes in 1910. Refugees from racial discrimination there, they literally carved their settlement out of what was once a wilderness.

The original handful built their homes in the heavily-wooded valleys that wind in and out of the Athabasca area. Now their settlement numbers 400, and the waving heads of wheat give ample evidence of the prosperity of the community.

On the average, each farmer owns a quarter section, but some own up to three sections. They have built their own schools, churches, and even have a home for the aged. Most of the Negroes are Methodists.

Discrimination is a forgotten word around Athabasca. "We don't even know we are dark until we look in the glass," is the way one farmer put it.

COMPANY LIMITED

A National Electrical Service — Northern Electric Company Limited

History of Findlays Limited

The history of the firm of Findlays-Limited, Carleton Place, Ont., dates back to the year 1838 when a Scottish moulder, David Findlay, father of the late David Findlay and the present president of the firm, William Findlay, migrated to Canada from Renfrewshire, Scotland. He originally settled in Perth, but found little opportunity for his trade and was forced to move elsewhere.

One day in 1860 he walked the twenty-one miles from Perth to Carleton Place, and finding in the latter village opportunity for a good moulder, remained there to carry on his trade. He started a small foundry in an old log barn, did jobbing work and made ploughs and any castings which were needed in the little country town at the time.

At the start his working capital consisted of thirty dollars. His cupola he built of stones by himself. His cupola blower he also made himself and it was operated by actual horse power. When he wanted to take off a heat he sent out a call and the farmers in the vicinity came with their teams over corduroy roads, and took turns on an old type of merry-go-round horse power.

Like Threshing Bee

Casting day was like an old-fashioned threshing bee on the farm. His trade was of course chiefly with the farmers and often was the yard behind his foundry filled with sheep, pigs or sacks of grain brought in payment for castings. One of the most interesting possessions of the present firm is a copy of the Carleton Place newspaper "The Herald," dated April 15, 1864 in it appeared David Findlay's quaint and formal ad, which read as follows:

FOUNDRY
PLOUGHS, PLOUGHS

"THE SUBSCRIBER wishes to intimate to the Public that he has on hand a quantity of first class ploughs, decided by all to be the best working ploughs in this part of the country; Also a quantity of Scotch and Bytown Ploughs, also all kinds of Plough Points and Land Sides, made of the hardest metal. Always kept on hand, Waggon Boxes of all sizes. Job work done on the shortest notice.

DAVID FINDLAY"

Carleton Place, April 15, 1864.

It was the first advertisement of Findlay products.

In 1876 he commenced to manufacture stoves and due to the quality of his product his business grew steadily. He was helped in the foundry by his sons, and in 1889 the two older sons, David and William, bought the business and continued by themselves. David Findlay, Sr., died in 1890. Both sons had had considerable outside experience and their trade continued to grow. At first they operated as a partnership under the name Findlay Bros., later under the name of Findlay Bros. Co. Limited, and in 1932, when members of the third generation were moving into positions of responsibility, the name was changed to its present one of Findlays Limited.

The business was built up to its present status with David Findlay as president and William Findlay as vice-president. In August, 1934, the firm suffered the severe loss of its president, David Findlay, who was succeeded by William.

Gain Wide Recognition

For many years Findlay products have had wide recognition and in recent years, with the development of the electric range department, they have become well known in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa. Today Findlays Limited offer to their customers a complete line of coal and wood stoves, heaters, gas and electric ranges, combination ranges, warm-air furnaces and air-conditioning systems.

Old Jazz Records May Mean Money, If They're Right

By BETTY PROSSER

Chicago, —(AP)— There may be a pot of gold hidden in the dusty phonograph records in your attic. Jazz record collecting is big business and collectors' items bring good prices.

George Hoefer, writer for Down Beat magazine, jazz critic and longtime collector, lists two King Oliver records on the old Gennett label either of which he estimates, would bring $1,000.

There is only one known copy of one of these 1923 discs—"Zulu's Ball" and "Workingman Blues," on Gennett 5275. The owner of this record keeps it locked in a safety deposit box. The other record, "If You Want My Heart," and "That Sweet Somthing Dear" on Gennett 5276, is known to exist, but has never turned up.

Any discussion of prices Hoefer emphasizes, presupposes that the record is in "mint" condition. Prices decline in geometric ratio to the amount of surface wear to which a waxing has been subjected. But even a "poor" condition copy of either of the fabulous Oliver records would be valuable.

A disc is considered a collector's item when it conjains good jazz (sometimes only a phase or two by a well-known artist), and when there are not enough copies to satisfy demand. This can be due to a small original pressing, or to the fact that many musicians recorded under pseudonyms and their work was not recognized until after copies were lost, discarded or widely dispersed.

If you have some old records on the Q.R.S. label by Earl Hines they'll sell Hoefer estimates for $50 each. Theyre were Hines' first recorded piano solos. The company which made them stayed in the recording business only a few months.

Other Rarities

Two records made by a small band under the direction of a Chicago butcher whose hobby was music are valuable. His name was C. Pierce and when Paramount records asked him to "get some boys together" for a recording date, he showed up with a small band which included Muggsy Spanier and the late Frank Teschemacher on clarinet. The waxing from that session are worth $60 to $80 apiece.

Trumpet King Louis Armstrong, signed to an exclusive contract with Okeh, played two beautiful choruses with "Johnny Dodds and His Black Bottom Stompers" for Brunswick's "Wild Man Blues" and Melancholy." A pressing from either of these "masters' commands $15 to $25.

There are some long-lost Armstrong works which probably would be in the $1,000 class.

In 1927 Walter Melrose a music publisher, wanted to put out a sheet music trumpet folio featuring Armstrong's tunes, but Armstrong couldn't write music down. So he went to Melrose's office and made four recordings machine cylinders, which were turned over to a musician to be transcribed on paper. Somehow the cylinders disappeared. They comprise what Hoefer terms "one of the most de luxe collecting items in jazz."

Black Boom

By Paul David Preston

Lillian glanced once at Thad, then said "of course. Come on."

Dal took her elbow, guiding her through the crowd. Beyond the whites, nearer the front steps of the home, were 50 or so colored people who were deeply interested in the phenomena here. They opened politely to let Dal and Lillian pass. In the shadowed front porch the two were suddenly in comparative privacy.

"Wait," said Dal. "It was you I wanted to see, Lillian. When I first came up you called me Dal, and smiled like you meant it. Then all at once you changed to cold-shoulder attitude again. Now I don't know what custom down here in Texas is, but when we do not understand a thing up in Illinois we just naturally inquire. You liked me at first. I know you did. And about that dance hall business, I told our Lord I was sor—"

"Please don't, Dal. You don't understand—"

"That's what I'm saying, little girl!" He was stage whispering eagerly above the low noise. The depth of his feeling was all too evident. He had taken her hand and he was squeezing it almost to pain, but she didn't feel that. Suddenly her lip trembled. She looked off at the crowd.

The door opened behind her and three or four of Baby Doll's crowd, including Baby Doll herself, burst out.

"Come on, kids! They sudden-ly engulfed Dal and Lillian. "Somebody's going to make a speech!"

There was no escaping, no chance for further privacy. Gangly teen-age boys who had begun to climb onto the porch, the better to see, Mrs. Haltom was approaching the house with distressed expression.

Dal quietly escorted Lillian back onto the grass then toward and empty truck which old Judge Brookfield had appropriated as a speaker's platform. They pushed through the throng. Dal leaned to whisper in her ear again.

"Don't feel badly. Please don't. If your mother has leased her land, it's all right. Business has to go on, Lillian, traditions or no. Maybe, if they do find oil here, the money will be sufficient to make up for any other loss."

In a moment they were standing with Baby Doll, Thad Monroe, Dr. Watkins and several other intimates, right near the truck ters and criminals of every sort end. All at once Dal saw Martin Deale near them, back turned. On impulse he reached out a hand and laid it on Martin's shoulder.

"Hello," Dal said, smiling cordially when Martin turned.

But Martin's eyes were almost fiery. "Oh, it's you!" said he.

He glanced at all of them, started to say something to Lillian but instead turned his back again.

If Dal felt the cut he showed it only with tightened lips. He turned his face up to Judge Brookfield who even now was speaking. And—in a surprising, flowery speech of introduction, the Judge introduced Martin Deale himself.

Martin, it appeared, had been not only secretary of the new Guardianship Society, but "the one young man in all this county most fitted by nature and by staunchness of character to state the case of decency and honor." Precisely how honor was involved the judge didn't say. Anyway the delegates with him applauded. And Martin, flushed now, was almost lifted bodily upon the impromptu rostrum. He stared around at the crowd inhaled deeply, and began to speak.

Dal Tower felt a hand gripping his arm excitedly. He turned to see Lillian there and her sister, Baby Doll was wide-eyed. Glancing around, he saw the intense interest everybody showed. Obviously these townspeople were in high emotional strain.

"—and so my fellow citizens the time has come—indeed it is almost too late now!—for us to put a restraint on the unseemly social revolution which has disrupted the peace and harmony of this region!" Martin was going strong, and people were listening on what he said; some of the people at least. There were still two camps, Dal noted. Even the workmen on the derrick had stopped to listen. "As for our beloved Mrs. Mayfield, of course she is a victim of circumstances, a woman who influenced by city and oiltaking strangers was induced to sign a legal paper. Of course she could not have understood what she was doing. We hold no personal brief against her.

"But the same danger lurks everywhere. This town will become a veritable hellhole. Already thelves and burglars and shys

The Definition of a Customer

The word "customer" has always had a pleasant connotation, but we are afraid that during the war period, some people lost sight of its full significance. So, by way of reminder, we give you a few brief answers to the question:

A customer is the most important person in our business —in person or by mail.

A customer is not dependent upon us. We are dependent upon him.

A customer is not an interruption of our work — he is the purpose of it. We are not doing him a favor by serving him — he is doing us a favor by giving us the opportunity to do so.

A customer is not an outsider to our business — he is a part of it.

A customer is not a cold statistic — he is a flesh-and-blood human being with feelings and emotions like your own, and with your biases and prejudices.

A customer is not someone to argue with or match wits with. Nobody ever won an argument with a customer.

A customer is a person who brings us his wants. It is our job to handle them profitably to him and to ourselves.

ordinary, I assure you. It would seem that we are assembled to fight about something. But that isn't so. At least I can see no cause for any fit feelings, I haven't the faintest idea what promoted this meeting, but—"

"Pour it 'em, Doc! E-YEOW!" a big mustachioed Texan, obviously out to see a good time regardless of issues involved, shouted that. A lot of folk were grinning. But the Guardianship delegates were not. these latter gentlemen had seen their own meeting pre-empted and all they could do was stand politely by.

Dallas glanced down at Lillian Mayfield. Thad Monroe had an arm protectively around her shoulder, both looked up at him. So did Baby Doll, and even Martin Deale and Doctor Watkins and others he knew. Everything seemed so unreal from up here; he wasn't used to gazing at mobs from five feet above them. He swallowed determinedly and went on.

"I have but little to say, ladies and gentlemen! But if I must venture my personal opinion I will say that the thing for all of us to do is to keep mind mind our own affairs. Before us stands a new oil derrick. Conceivably it is out of place on this beautiful lawn, so lovely and so beloved an old residential street as this is. But I can assure you that business will never stop before sentiment.

"Business, my friends, makes sentiment possible. I mean that without somebody's earlier business efforts and acumen, this beautiful street would never have been possible in the first place.

"Now in this modern year comes a new business surge. It may disrupt the established order somewhat but it will bring new beauties, new feelings for good, new sentiments better than the old. New money in a community is always good! "

"That's the stuff, Doc! You tell 'em!"

Dallas felt the incomparable lift of the actor, the subtle sense of knowing that he had his crowd.

"Of course oil and oil wells are somewhat dirty. And if there are to be wells on our old streets, certain hardships will have to suffer at first. But new streets can be laid out. New homes erected, with new landscaping and greater comforts. Even now, as you all know, five new residential subdivisions are being opened in the wooded area north and east of town.

VISHINSKY BACK ON FAMILIAR THEME

With a slight crook of his little finger, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky delivers his sitarck against "Anglo-American monopolist circles" whom he charged, have "taken up arms" to overthrow the governments of Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania. The Soviet's top diplomat made his charges before the eGneral Assembly's special political committee at Lake Success, N.Y. He told the United Nations that the "capitalistic cliques" of the western nations "embarked on this treacherous course" when they realized they could not gain control of eastern Europe by other means. Capitalists, he added, in Britain and the United States will continue their efforts "to force the people and governments of eastern Europe to submit."—Central Press Canadian.

Canadians Urged to Buy Goods Manufactured in Own Country

VanDusen Brothers Limited encourage you to buy products manufactured by Canadians for Canadians. To support their argument in favor of Canadian goods, they quote:

"Canada is a developing nation —while retaining our own distinctive national characteristics, we are learning to be mass producers in the manner of our great neighbors to the south. We are learning their tricks of the trade. True we haven't the population for the economic production of certain things — for instance, the press on which this newspaper is printed — but we are finding our own level in the manufacture of many things that were never made here before.

"Actually, there is no reason why Canada shouldn't be able to produce economically. We have an abundance of cheap Hydro electric power; we have limitless natural resources including minerals, forest products and food-stuffs. And we have the knowledge, acquired as it was for the most part during the war. Why shouldn't we be able to manufacture as cheaply and as well as any other nation?

Ill-founded Notion

"Just before you nod your head in agreement, ask yourself if you really believe that Canada can make as good a product as any other country. If you are an average Canadian you will have to admit that when it comes right down to brass tacks, you'd just as soon purchase the imported article. If it comes from any other place but Canada it is likely to receive a warm welcome in Canada. The home product is viewed with some suspicion.

Why?

Well, there's a good many reasons why. Canadian have always had a slight inferiority complex for one thing. Then again, it hasn't been such a long time since we really were primarily an agricultural nation importing most of our manufactured goods in exchange for wheat and lumber. Those are two reasons.

Need Better Selling Job

"But the main reason, we believe, is because Canadian manufacturers have never done too good a selling job. They have tended to believe that the world would beat a pathway to their door if they had a good product to sell. But they have always been short on saying, 'We make the best'.

"Selling is part of manufacturing, for not until the product is bought can it be considered an asset; as long as it is on somebody's shelves, it is a debit. What we must do now, is to start showing Canadian stuff to the front of the shelves.

"That means more selling effort which in turn means more salesmen, more advertising in magazines and newspapers, more promotional literature. In fact more of everything that leads to sales. And the burden of the message manufacturers must get across is that their products are as good, if not better, than anything that is on the market.

Selling Effort Lags

"Selling effort in Canada has not kept pace with manufacturing progress and industrial development, and unless a change is made it will not be too long before the products of other countries will be nosing out the domestic items.

"Canadians will pay more for an Imported Item than they will for the Canadian counterpart which may even be a better product. The reason — the only possible reason — is because they have not been sold on Canadian products. If we can make the stuff, surely we can learn to sell it. Let's all keep in mind that we are entering an era of competition. No one is going to solve our problems but ourselves. And our poorly balanced trade picture is a problem of the first magnitude!

"Two very good beginnings are firstly, to buy Canadian products whenever possible and secondly, to sell — really sell—Canadian products to our own people.

Aussies Still Seek Oil in New Guinea

Sydney (CP) — Australian prospectors are still drilling for oil in Australian New Guinea. They are hopeful of the same success as the Dutch have had in striking oil in their part of the island.

The Australian Petroleum Company now has three drills in Papua, southeastern New Guinea. A previous drill went down 13,621 feet without success.

New Guinea has always been considered a possible oil producing country since seepages were first reported in 1911. Some says however, that these very seepages were probably indications of leaks through which whatever oil there once was has since drained away.

Oil companies and the government have altogether spent more than $24,000,000 looking for oil in the Commonwealth but nowhere have payable amounts been found; except for some shale oil beds. The bureau of mineral resources estimates that there are about 50,000,000 tons of shale oil in the New South Wales beds, but so far they play no real part in providing stocks.

Dollar cuts and the slow restoration of the East Indian fields have spurred the government to continue its quest for oil.

LEONARD REFRIGERATOR

Dependable since 1881. An outstanding refrigerator value — a true leader in beauty. Built for utility and long life and packed with features you'd never expect to find at such a low price. The Leonard is available in three different models. See them on display now at Van Dusen Brothers Limited.

Model Town Planned After Colony Fire

St. George, Grenada, B.W.I.—(Reuters)—A model town, which will be a showpiece of the latest British tropical building techniques, is planned for Castries, capital of Saint Lucia in the Windward Islands, British West Indies.

The new town has been planned by two architects appointed by the governor of the Windward Islands, Brigadier Arundel, and work began this summer.

The old town was largely destroyed by fire in 1948 and new structures of steel and concrete will arise out of the ashes of the fire, which did $8,000,000 worth of damage and made 400 families homeless.

The rebuilding plan covers restoration of services, road repairs, water and sewage schemes. A housing scheme will provide modern dwellings for the inhabitants and new government offices will be erected.

It is anticipated that the rebuilding will take two years to complete and cost about £4,000,000 ($16,000,000).

DUKE OF EDINBURGH LEAVES FOR SEA AGAIN

London, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh kissed his wife and son goodbye today and left for the sea again. The Duke's family did not go to the airport to see him take off for Malta to rejoin the Mediterranean fleet. He will be second in command of the destroyer Chequers. The order has gone out from London that there is to be no fuss over the handsome Duke.

TOURIST SAVED

Moose Jaw, Sask. — (CP) — An unidentified tourist who got out of his car to take a snapshot of a wild yak in the animal park here didn't get the picture—but had his life saved when the animal charged. Clarence Clemenshaw, who saw the charging animal, drove his automobile in the path of the yak and stopped it.

MACKEREL FOR ORANGES

Oslo (CP)—Unless Norway can arrange to trade mackerel for Italian oranges, there will be no fruit imports this year according to Supply Minister Nils Honsvald. Aside from this prospect, there are no plans for importing fruit from abroad.

Forges Signatures In Smoky "Trance"

New York (CP) — With the aid of a pocketful of fragrant cigars and a battered old fountain pen, John Braungard forges signatures.

He also predicts earthquakes, explores terrestrial magnetism and publishes a stock-market tip sheet. But these are all hobbies.

The 74-year-old "honest forger" signs other people's signatures as a business.

Happily for the cause of law and order, Braungard does all his forgeries for a firm which specializes in putting out letters printed and signed to appear as personal correspondence. Orders may run from several hundred letters to as many as 500,000. Each one appears to have been typed by a stenographer and signed personally by the boss.

Braungard—studies each signature under a magnifying glass. Then, putting himself in what he terms a "photographic trance" by surrounding himself with a thick haze of cigar smoke, he writes signatures over and over again without missing the slightest detail.

Bankers, he says, have the least legible of all signatures. He says he has signed many scribbles without having the slightest idea what he was supposed to be writing.

"When I am busy signing a man's signature I seem to be carried along by a psychic drift," Braungard says. "I seem to experience the pangs of his character.

"Personality does not shine through as clearly in women's signatures. They are easier to forge because they have fewer peculiarities."

Braungard buys his pens in dozen lots and says he sells with blunt ends and limber points but "capable of giving character to a forged signature." He says the new ball-point pens are "damned toys."

The legal forger says his banker never suspected his rare gift—and he wants to keep it that way.

"The finest signature I ever saw was by a fellow named Hancock," he says. "John Hancock was the name."

WHERE THERE'S SMOKE

Montreal — (CP) — Snitching a smoke in a bakery was expensive for baker Roland Dalgnault. A recorder fined him $25 for smoking in the bake room, his third offence.

Philips One of the Greatest Success Stories in Canadian Radio History

The advance of civilization has been from Europe to America — from the Old World to the New. So it is with Philips. From its modest beginnings in Eindhoven, Holland — one of the many towns glorified by the heroic action of Canadian troops during the war — the Philips organization has spread to one country after another until it has become an international household word for perfection in radio, the ultimate in engineering technique — for greatness in scientific achievement. From Brisbane to Bristol — Saigon to Paris — Casablanca to Capetown —wherever lovers of good things are, there too is Philips.

Now the Philips banner is unfurled over Canada. Today, world-acclaimed Philips radios are being built in Canada to the world's highest standard of quality. It is the policy of the Philips organization to make an exhaustive study of each country's receiving conditions before building radios for that country. The receivers are then manufactured to Philips unmatched quality standards.

Developed for Canadians

Today Canada's top radio engineers are working with Philips to produce a radio that is the result of world-wide research — yet specially adapted to Canadian broadcasting conditions! Canadian radio listeners, along with millions 'round the globe, are enjoying the results of Philips research. Canadians have come to know that the name Philips is synonymous with quality and integrity. And Philips Canadian technicians and engineers are working hand in hand with Philips Old World scientists to further scientific progress and a better way of life.

Now, in Canada, a similar success story can be told — a story unequalled in Canadian radio history.

In 1947, Philips presented for the first time an entirely new line of Canadian-built radios. Until 1947 here in Canada, Philips was just another name, new and unfamiliar. Then amazing developments took place. Philips dealers everywhere reported that thousands of Canadians were joining the happy world-family of Philips owners. The people of Canada proved once again that they are discriminating buyers. They want quality in a radio and know quality when they see and hear it.

World-Wide Organization

And today, from Atlantic to Pacific hundreds of Canada's leading radio dealers have teamed up with Philips. Back of these dealers are the full resources of the world-wide Philips organization with offices in ninety-one countries, factories in twenty-six countries. The thoroughly Canadian sales organization and manufacturing facilities of Philips Industries Limited, Montreal, can thus assure their dealers of a future as leaders in their communities.

Back of every Canadian dealer for Philips is the experience of nearly 60 years, combined with the knowledge and technical skill of over 2,000 specially trained scientists. These men, pioneers in electronic research, today explore new horizons in Television and F. M. This constant research is the dealers' assurance that Philips radios will always be superior in performance, in styling and dependability. Philips quality, plus Philips research, is the dual secret of Philips leadership.

To you, the dealers of Canada who make this great Success Story possible, Philips extends thanks and most sincere congratulations.

GERMANY GETS HELP

Stockholm (CP)—A large-scale campaign to help the German Red Cross is now being prepared by the Swedish Red Cross. Day homes for children will be opened in Hamburg, Essen, Oberhausen, Duisberg and Gronau, and Swedish aid will also supply medicines and material for refugee camps.

Beverley Jones Feted on 13th Birthday

A surprise party was held on Friday evening at the home of her grandparents, Point Anne, for Miss Beverley Jones, in honor of her 13th birthday.

A lovely birthday cake centred the white and pink decorated table at which 15 guests partook of dainty birthday luncheon served by her aunts, Mands and Liddle.

The evening was spent in music and enjoyable games, after which Beverley was presented with many lovely gifts. All joined in wishing her a "Happy Birthday".

DON'T BLAME THE MUSIC

Chesley, Ont. —(CP) Churchgoers enabled something in St. John's United Church here — but it wasn't the music. As the service came to a close a smouldering fire was found in the electric organ, which had developed a short circuit.

EASED TOIL

Coal and machinery began to replace the work of men in England in the industrial revolution of the 18th and 19th centuries.

BLACK UNIFORMS APPEAR AGAIN IN GERMANY

Wilhelm Pieck, 73-year-old chairman of the Communist Socialist Unity Party, is shown during a review of the People's police honor guard, in Berlin, after his election as president of the new German state. The election was attended by very strong overtones of militarism provided by the black uniformed, rifle-armed "People's Police," reminiscent of the former Nazi stormtroopers. Herr Pieck's keynote speech touched off a mammoth torchlight parade in Unter Den Linden, in which more than 200,000 sympathizers took part. He told the crowd of demonstrators that the German people must help "smash" the plans of the Western Powers.—Central Press Canadian.

Storm Still Rages Round Ostrich Head

Capetown, — (CP) — A controversy is raging in Capetown about whether South Africa's ostriches really do bury their heads in the sand when danger approaches.

A newspaper reported that the story was nonsense. Since then its telephones have rung long and loud. Philosophical letters have been written to the editor, disputing the point.

Two airmen flying over a sandy stretch of coast reported that they saw two semi-wild ostriches among the dunes. To put the story to the test, they flew low. The female ostrich buried its head in the loose sand, while the male looked defiantly to the sky.

Two ostrich farmers declare that the female would always bend down at a sign of danger, but this was for camouflage. The long neck and head are hidden, and the grey-brown feathers merge with the veldt.

It was also for camouflage that the black male ostrich sat on eggs at night, and females during the day said the farmers.

DARK CONTINENT

Tradition of Service To Canadian Public

The Northern Electric Company Limited, whose lines of electrical appliances will be represented by the new store of Van Dusen Bros., Ltd., has a tradition of service to the Canadian public which stretches back into the last century. Its development has progressed side by side with the industrial development of the Dominion.

The company as it exists today, with three manufacturing locations at Montreal, Lachine, and Belleville; well over 10,000 employees, and 28 distributing centres across Canada, was the result of the amalgamation of two earlier commercial organizations—the Imperial Wire and Cable Company and the Northern Electric and Manufacturing Company. Originally formed to make and repair telephones and wire and cable for the infant telephone industry in the latter part of the 19th century, these two companies gradually widened their scope to include the whole field of electricity. By 1914, the interests of the two had coincided to such a degree that it was decided to amalgamate them under one management and the Northern Electric Company Ltd. came into being.

At first the attention of the new company was directed to producing materials for the services during the First World War. When peace returned, the company settled down to supplying products for the country's peacetime electrical needs, and postwar years saw steady growth in its manufacturing and sales organizations. By 1928, the company's manufacturing floor space had increased to 1,000,000 square feet, while its distributing houses had multiplied across the Dominion.

With the outbreak of the Second World War, the Northern Electric Company had become one of the country's largest manufacturing and sales organizations. All its facilities were quickly put at the disposal of the war effort and, during the war years, the company's direct and indirect war production amounted to 97% of its total output. In addition, the company's considerable procurement and distribution machinery were also supplying materials for the sinews of war.

Today, the Northern Electric Company is engaged in filling the country's peacetime needs once again. Canada's vast industrial development during and since the war has greatly increased these needs and, in addition, the great backlog of demand as a result of the war had temporarily outstripped the electrical industry's production and distribution facilities.

Again expansion was necessary and the company entered a new and unprecedented building and expansion program which is now being completed. New plants were erected at Lachine and Belleville, a great deal of new machinery was purchased and installed, while renovation of existing facilities were also undertaken. Through this program more than 1,000,000 square feet of manufacturing floor space and millions of dollars worth of equipment were added to the company's production potential.

On the distribution side, extension of the company's operations was carried out as well. New branch houses were opened at Kingston — were opened at various centres where they were needed while new and more modern offices and warehouses were built for many of the existing houses.

Northern Electric has, throughout its sixty-six years of service, reflected the steady and stable growth of Canada. Today, with unrivalled production and distribution facilities, the whole organization and its dealers stand ready, as always, to provide a national electrical service second to none for the people of Canada.

Social Measures Cut Into Revenue

Wellington, N.Z. (CP) — The cost of New Zealand's cradle-to-grave social security structure has increased every year since it was established by the Labor government and is still growing. Payments under the scheme now total a third of the revenue raised by all forms of taxation.

Payments for social security benefits excluding medical services in the last financial year totalled $137,820,000, an increase of $6,743,000 on the previous year. In 1940 the cost of this part of the scheme was $37,348,000. With medical, hospital, pharmaceutical and other benefits added, it is probable that the total cost of the scheme for last year was over $168,000,000.

The largest single item in the payments in the last financial year was the family benefit, which cost $56,968,000. The family benefit involves the payment of $2 a week to the parents of every child under 16, irrespective of the financial position of the parents. The next largest item was pensions, known under the scheme as "age benefits," which took $55,164,000.

The great increase in the cost of social security has taken place without unemployment benefits playing any significant role. These must be provided for out of the social security funds, but so great has been New Zealand's labor shortage since the war that unemployment has been almost unknown. There were only 30 persons throughout the country receiving unemployment benefits on March 31 this year as compared with 16 at the same time the previous year. If unemployment occurred in New Zealand it would involve a further heavy increase in social security costs.

Wandering Boys Housed, Taught On German Farm

Hamburg (Reuters)—A country house which belonged to the late Field Marshal Von Keitel, the former Nazi war leader who was sentenced to be hanged following his trial by the Nuremberg military tribunal in 1946, is today a school for Germany's wildest boys.

Once the scene of pompous officers' parties, the house, near the thousand-year-old episcopal seat of Hildesheim in the British zone of Germany, is today a "youth village" for homeless and needy boys picked up in all parts of the British zone and cared for by the Y.M.C.A.

Started as an experiment a year ago, the youth village has since proved a complete success.

The initiative was mainly that of a German Protestant clergyman, Hans Herthnak, a member of the Y.M.C.A. before 1933 when Hitler came to power and that organization felt a victim to Nazi persecution.

After the war, when millions of refugees from eastern Germany arrived in the British zone, roads and bands of homeless, neglected youths, sleeping in railway stations and living on thefts and black-market dealings, became more and more numerous. Herr Herthnak decided to do something to combat the evil.

Gave Them Work

With the help of the Y.M.C.A., he found a suitable house on the Helmschrode estate to accommodate and rehabilitate the youths, both morally and physically, by placing them in a healthy atmosphere and giving them the opportunity of doing useful work.

The house was being used by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, who later turned it over to the Y.M.C.A. With the house, the Y.M.C.A. received two acres of land.

Herr Herthnak himself picked out the most neglected boys in the zone after the house had been prepared.

He searched from Flensburg on the Danish border to the Goettingen area on the Anglo-American zone border, from Brunswick in the east to Aachen in the west. He visited black-market centres and made enquiries among the forlorn crowds in the railway stations.

With eight specially selected boys he started his work.

A recent visit to the "youth village" showed that its population has increased to 50—the maximum number who can be housed there. All are between 15 and 21. Sixteen of them work on adjacent farms. The other 34 are working on the estate—either in the vegetable garden, in the tailor's shop, the shoemaker's shop or the carpenter's shop.

An institution of which the boys are especially proud is the house parliament. It meets once a week and the boys themselves deal with questions concerning themselves.

No difference is made between creeds and no attempt is made to influence the boys. Although most of the boys are Protestants, there are two Catholics.

Never, so far, has there been any difference over the one thing which Herr Herthnak is always preaching—toleration.

U. S. PREPARES ARCTIC EXPEDITION

The broken line on the above map shows the route that will be taken by a combined U. S. Navy and Marine cold-weather expedition to Davis Strait, between Baffin Island and Greenland, and to the Labrador coast. The principal exercises will be under the command of Vice-Admiral Donald B. Duncan. Fleet units are being prepared at Norfolk, Va., and other eastern ports and are scheduled to leave for the area shortly.—Central Press Canadian.

MORE MEAT — MORE HIDES

Hides and skins are by-products of meat production, thus the supply of leather stocks is dependent on the consumption of meat.

EASIER FRONTWARDS

A survey of more than 10,000 accidents involving trucks and commercial cars in nine industries shows that backing up improperly is the greatest cause of accidents.

Bagot, Man. (CP) — It was back to school for only one day for Patsy Armstrong. On the first day of school Patsy's leg was broken when her pony bolted and she was thrown from her buggy.

Singapore (CP) — A hall in memory of Mahatma Gandhi is to be built here. A library containing books on the Mahatma's life and teachings will be set up in the hall to further Gandhi's teachings.

Reorganization

The harsh noise of machinery, the quiet voice uttering the word "Reorganization", three times, puzzled the listeners of CJBQ during the past few weeks. Telephone calls to the studio poured in daily from mystified listeners. What did it mean? But it was a big secret. Then the listeners heard a happy little housewife singing a little carefree song and cheerfully announcing that she knew the secret of "Reorganization." Still more telephone calls to the studio. Still more puzzled listeners. What did it all mean?

The same thing happened at the newspaper offices. Day after day the many readers of The Ontario Intelligencer saw a streamer headline which merely stated the word, "Reorganization." More puzzled readers. More telephone calls. Then, the newspaper presentation changed. The picture of a smiling girl was shown and she announced she knew the secret too, but still she wouldn't tell.

Well, the story is out now. Everybody knows that the reorganization and grand opening of VanDusen Brothers modern new store has been completed. Yes, that was the secret. VanDusen Brothers of Belleville, leading home appliance store, had been planning for weeks to bring the finest of service and the most modern of appliance stores to the shoppers of the city and district.

Yes, the secret is out now, and everybody is invited to come and inspect the result of this tremendous effort that has been put forth.

TO ALL THE WORLD

This beautiful mantel radio, a true world-wide receiver, possesses the characteristics demanded by the most discriminating listeners. Housed in a luxurious and exquisite wood cabinet it performs with equal perfection on both standard and four shortwave ranges. Unique easy-to-read Philips "Inclinator" dial outside cabinet allows for larger speaker. This is the finest AM radio obtainable on the continent.

THE BABE'S LONGEST

Babe Ruth's longest home run was 600 feet in the air — was hit on a pitch by Howard Ehmke on June 13, 1921, at the Polo Grounds in New York.

Thirty Years of Proven Performance Behind Fess Oil Burners of Canada

Fess Oil Burners of Canada Limited is a pioneer company in the manufacturing of oil heating equipment. More than 40,000 homes and industrial plants in Canada are being heated by Fess Oil Burners. Many thousands of them have been in continuous operation for more than twenty years, which is a record unapproached by any other oil burner in Canada.

The strong financial position of the company enables Fess to maintain a complete and competent engineering department which means that when you select a Fess you are getting an oil burner with all the modern improvements for economical operation and long life.

Continual Development

Thirty years devoted to the development and production of heating units for Canadian homes is the proud record of Fess Oil Burners of Canada. Development means the engineering improvements that have made Fess the outstanding heating unit on the Canadian market.

While there have been many and important improvements over the years, the fact that many thousands of Fess Burners have been in continuous operation for more than twenty years attest to the sound engineering and manufacturing skill that has been a policy of the company throughout its history.

Today Fess has been brought to a degree of perfection that makes it outstanding. Check the essential features of a good oil burner and you will find that Fess has them all. Check the experience of Fess Oil Burners of Canada and you will find an unequalled record of achievement and satisfied customers.

Service Important

An important consideration to every purchaser of an oil burner is the service provided by the manufacturer. With more than 30 years' experience Fess has built up an extensive dealer organization across Canada, with trained service experts to serve you. There are direct branches at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Because of the overwhelming preference for Fess, most oil burner servicemen are thoroughly familiar with Fess equipment. You can depend upon your highly skilled organization to see that your Fess burner gives many years of faithful and dependable service.

The heating of your home is perhaps the most troublesome feature of living under Canadian climatic conditions. It is also perhaps the most important, since it has such a bearing on both health and comfort. "Fess Heat" is the answer. "Fess Heat" pays in greater comfort, convenience and freedom as well as many ways that cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

Economical Service

Fess is definitely engineered to give many years of care-free, economical service. Considering first cost, operating cost and length of dependable service, no other burner, to the best of our knowledge, can equal Fess for use in Canadian homes.

Experience, reliability and proven performance are what you should look for when you buy an oil burner. Fess has all three.

Nuts Once Thought To Grow Under Sea

London (CP) — A fruit once thought to grow on trees below the sea has brought new publicity to one of Britain's most obscure colonies.

The fruit is the Seychelles palm nut, grown only in the islands of Praslin and Curieuse. These form part of the archipelago of Seychelles, a British colony in the Indian Ocean.

Carved and mounted in a silver-gilt setting, he put it on display in the Tate Gallery in London. Its unusual appearance caused so many comments that the Colonial Office issued a statement outlining the history of the Seychelles.

The palm trees which bear the nut grow to a height of 100 to 120 feet and take about 100 years to mature. Each palm produces about 30 large nuts, weighing from 30 to 40 pounds. Most of the fruit, believed to have tonic and aphrodisiac qualities, is exported to Indian countries.

Before the Seychelles were discovered—France first took possession of the archipelago in 1742 —palm nuts were washed ashore on the coast of India and the Maldives. The superstitious natives thought they came from trees below the sea and called the 'fruit coco de mer.'

The specimen now in the Tate Gallery was mounted by Anton Schweinberger, court goldsmith to Rudolph II, king of Hungary and Bohemia. The king bought it from a Dutch admiral in 1602.

The colony of the Seychelles and its dependencies have an area of 156 square miles. The population at the last census two years ago was 34,632.

LOOK! BEAR TRACKS IN THE BACKYARD

Residents of the perimeter of Orillia, Ont., have lost chickens and livestock to wild animals, and bears are believed to be the marauders. One bear with two cubs wandered through back yard of Joan and Sylvia Stanley, left, who now keep rifles handy. Several others have been in the vicinity. — Central Press Canadian.

Overseas Ballet Companies Stir New Yorkers to Plaudits

By PAT USSHER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, Oct. 15 — (CP)—Gaiety and sumptuous British spectacle characterize the work of two overseas ballet companies which stirred New Yorkers to enthusiastic plaudits this week.

The rejoicing among dance lovers was occasioned by the performances of Les Ballets de Paris and of the Sadler's Wells Ballet Company from London.

The verve was exhibited by the French company, along with some of the most impassioned dancing Manhattan Theatre audiences have seen in years. The outstanding performance of the Paris group is that of Roone Jeanmaire, who delineates in torrid, sultry manner the character of Carmen. Roland Petit, founder, choreographer and principal dancer of this recently-formed group, enacts the part of Don Jose opposite her. Petit devised the ballet, which, was adapted from Bizet's opera by Meilhac and Halevy.

In lighter vein and thoroughly amusing, was 'L'Oeuf a la Coque' (The Boiled Egg), a shorter ballet representing a scene in Hell. The characters are demons in the form of chefs and chickens who lay magic eggs and are transformed into glamourous seductive fleshed creatures.

Superb Performance

The 'Sadler's' Wells Company gave a superb performance, technically faultless, as they opened a four-week stay at the Metropolitan Opera House with "The Sleeping Beauty". Critics and audience alike hailed them with enthusiasm.

John Martin of the New York Times described the leading ballerina, Margot Fonteyn, as "just about as enchanting a dancer as has come along in a score of years." As for the company, he said it was comforting to watch "an aggregation of dancers so sure of themselves technically, so impeccably rehearsed and so unified in approach."

The English company has brought back the element of spectacle to ballet in America," said Walter Terry in the Herald Tribune. "It is enormously aristocratic even to the point of listlessness . . . but it has manner, grand manner."

The Sadler's Wells Company will be seen later in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto and in four United States cities outside New York.

DIG THROUGH DEBRIS OF FIRE FOR TWO MEN

New York, Oct. 15 (AP)—Rescue workers early today dug through the charred debris of a fire-wrecked building in search for two firemen trapped when part of the structure collapsed. Fire chief Peter Loftus said there was "little hope" for the two missing men.

CAT IN THE MANGER

Parow, South Africa (CP) — For some days B. A. Liebenberg, a Parow school teacher, wondered why his hens were laying their eggs all over his backyard. Then he discovered his house cat had driven them out of their nests to make way for her new-born kittens.

Gen. Sir N. Ritchie Prepares for Big Washington Post

Singapore (CP)—Gen. Sir Neil Methuen Ritchie will take up his post on the joint chiefs of staff at Washington next year, but right now two other matters seem more important—obtaining living quarters in the United States capital for himself and his Canadian-born wife and waiting for his fractured leg to heal.

Gen. Ritchie will be Commander, British Army Staff, and military member of the Joint United States-Britain services mission to Washington next March. His task on the joint chiefs of staff will be to co-ordinate British and United States military policies.

Until recently Sir Neil was the commander-in-chief of Far East land forces. He was scheduled to relinquish this command in February, 1950.

Last June his horse slipped and fell on muddy ground, breaking the general's left leg. The fracture is healing nicely but Gen. Ritchie now has to carry about his 203-pound, six-foot-two military frame on two heavy crutches. Consequently, it was decided that he should quit his command immediately.

While Sir Neil frets about the annoying slowness with which his leg is mending, Lady Ritchie joins him in wondering about finding a home in Washington and a school for their two children, Dugald, five, and Anne, three.

Formerly of Kingston, Ont.

Lady Ritchie is the former Miss C. T. Minnes of Kingston, Ont. The Ritchies met in 1937 when Sir Neil was a lieutenant-colonel making a trip through the United States. After a brief courtship, Miss Minnes joined him in England where they were married. The tall, charming Canadian will leave a busy social life in Singapore, but her social calendar in Washington will probably be just as crowded.

Gen. Ritchie, 53, has been an active soldier for 35 years. At 17 he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Black Watch, famed Highland regiment, after being educated at Lancing College and Sandhurst.

He served with the Black Watch during the First World War, was wounded and decorated twice. He received the Distinguished Service Order and the Military Cross. He emerged from the conflict a captain, after combat service in Belgium, France and the Middle East.

Between the wars he was active in sports. At the outbreak of the Second World War he was a lieutenant-colonel and later rose to full general.

He was in command of the 8th Army from November, 1941, to July, 1942, when he was succeeded by Gen. Montgomery. In 1943 he assumed command of the 12th Corps, which he led throughout the invasion of Europe.

Sir Neil will bring to his new post an intimate knowledge of Far Eastern problems as well as those of the western world. During his 376 years in Singapore, he has seen at first hand the mounting threat of communism in Asia.

Leave South Africa For North Rhodesia

Salisbury, Northern Rhodesia, (CP) — During the first five months of this year, Northern Rhodesia gained 1,373 immigrants from the Union of South Africa. This figure is more than the total from all other countries including the British Isles.

The total number of immigrants admitted during this period was 2,724 of whom 556 came from the British Isles, 1,373 from the Union, 450 from Southern Rhodesia, 116 from other African states and 227 from other countries.

"ROMEO" ENGEL CHANGES HANDCUFFS

Professional Romeo Sigmund Engel was freed on bail on one swindle charge in Chicago only to find another set of handcuffs waiting for him on another swindling charge. But the handcuffs, shown being applied here, were not on for long. Engel, who left a trail of broken hearts and empty pocketbooks among women across the U.S., managed to be released on bail on all charges and is now a free man —temporarily.—Central Press Canadian.

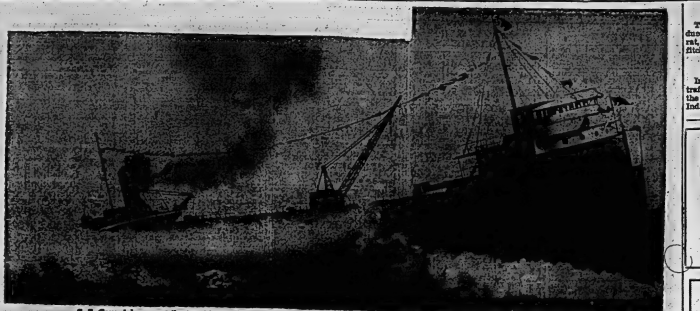
Ontario Plowmen Win Trips to U.K., Tennessee

Brantford, Ont., Oct. 17—(CP)—Two Ontario plowmen are going to Britain, four to the Tennessee Valley in the United States and two to Chicago on expense-paid trips they won at the 36th International Plowing Match which ended Saturday.



The five-day competition at nearby Burford attracted an over-all attendance of 127,000, a record. On Thursday alone, 75,000 persons attended. Saturday events, which included competition for the overseas trips, drew 35,000 persons.

The winners of the trips to Britain, who also received gold medals at a Saturday night banquet at Brantford airport, were Ronald Marquis, 28, of Sunderland, and Jim Eccles, 30, of Brampton. Marquis won a horse-plowing class with Norman Jarvis of Cainsville, Ont., as runner-up, while Eccles placed first in a tractor class with Doug Campbell of Markham, Ont., second. The runners-up each received $150 and a silver medal.

The Chicago trip, given to the winners and runners-up in an intercounty tractor class, went to the Haldimand county team of Earl Fleming and William Welbrook. They will visit the International Livestock Exposition.

Two Go To Tennessee

Bound for the Tennessee Valley to see soil conservation projects are Haldimand county 17-year-olds Robert Nixon of Hagersville and Earl Bachey of Cayuga, winners in intercounty horse-plowing, and runners-up Eugene Timbers of Milliken and N. Watson of Woodbridge, representing York county.

S. S. Coverdale, one of the two biggest ships to join the Lakes fleet, goes into the water at Midland with a mighty splash Wednesday.

During their trips to Britain early next winter, Marquis and Eccles will visit plowing matches, study British farming methods and tour points of interest in the British Isles. Both winners have been plowing since they were 11 years old and taking part in plowing matches for more than 12 years. They will be accompanied overseas by Alex McKinney of Brampton, former president of the Ontario Plowmen's Association and a neighbor of Eccles.

V. C. Porticous of Owen Sound, Association president, called the 1949 Match "the greatest ever held." He said entries numbered 1,185, a record, and the display of farm machinery in the tented city near match headquarters was 25 per cent larger than last year. The match was centred on the farm of Harold Army.

Reform Institutions Minister Hamilton of Ontario, speaking at the banquet, called the annual match "one of the intangible things that go to make up our way of life."

A contour plowing demonstration was staged at this year's match for the first time in the history of the competition. Other displays included stump removal, firefighting, tree planting and soil drainage.

21 DROWNED AS COAL SHIP, CARRIER COLLIDE

'Chemical Fumes Burned My Eyes' Says Survivor

Noronic's Engineer Testifies He Heard Alarm and Whistle

Toronto Oct. 18 (CP)—C. C. Rodgers, survivor from the Noronic disaster inquiry today 'chemical fumes burned my eyes and nose' during the fire which swept the cruise-steamship here Sept. 17.

Mr. Rodgers, who occupied a C deck cabin, said no rafts or floats were provided for passengers who jumped into the water from the ship. He said he stayed "20-30 minutes" on an anchor before he was taken off.

Rodgers said he did not become alarmed about the fire until he saw first mate P. G. Wood remove his shoes in the bow B. deck.

"I thought he was preparing to dive overboard and got to thinking it was serious," the witness said. He said the first mate had been putting ropes over the side but "quite a few" passengers jumped without even looking where they were going."

Alfred Hertel, another Canadian survivor from London, Ont., was the first witness called at the 146th day of the inquiry opened.

He said that about six to eight minutes before learning of the fire himself he had seen a white belboy running "very fast" in a hallway a confused expression on his face.

"I thought something was wrong and was going to ask him but he moved on after hesitating momentarily on a stairway," the witness said.

Items Seen on Windows

A. H. Miller or Hamilton, another Ontario passenger, said he opened a window to escape from his cabin "but there were brass bars across it." On D deck he said a crew member directing passengers on the centre stairway.

Charles W. Coleman, also of Hamilton, and a member of the Canadian party who boarded the Noronic at Detroit told of seeing six-inch long fire sparks "flying down the corridor."

"There must have been a powerful draft" he said.

The witnesses Miller, Rodgers and Coleman told of seeing Mr. Hertel kick in doors to rescue passengers.

All said they heard no alarm except the ship's steam whistle.

Dr. T. H. Young of Thorold, Ont., said he was warned of the fire by Mr. Rodgers. He told of escorting a woman and two small children to an outer deck.

Wrong Thing To Do

"I thought of throwing them overboard but considered that might be the wrong thing to do as the fire department would arrive soon," he said. He said no one else happened to them.

Dr. Young said the heat from the fire grew so intense as he stood in the bow of the ship on B deck, he considered jumping overboard "but it seemed a long way."

Forward lifeboats were thrown over the sides, and he eventually went down one of them he said.

The next witness was Percy Annes Gordon of Hoskets, Ont., the Noronic's 29-year-old fourth engineer.

Gordon testified the only instructions he received during the fire came from the chief engineer who told him to send the engine room staff to the fire stations.

He said he heard the klaxon alarm sound for about 30 seconds. He also heard the ship's whistle.

Knocked Off Steps

When he left the engine room to go to the fire stations on B deck several women fleeing down the starboard stairway fell on the steps. He told of guiding several women through the engine room and to the deck aft the ship.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Toronto, Oct. 18 (CP)—Synopsis—A small disturbance causing very light rain south of the Great Lakes and in the Ottawa district is now over the most southerly part of Ontario is weakening. As a result decreasing cloudiness is forecast for southern regions today with mild sunny weather continued for Wednesday.

Dramatic Rescue Of 17 Carried Out In Pacific Ocean

Seattle, Oct. 18 — (AP) — A United States government vessel carried out the dramatic rescue of 17 persons in storm weather Monday night after they abandoned their flaming wooden schooner.

The officers and men were picked up in the North Pacific by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service vessel Black Douglas just as one of their two lifeboats was swash and sinking. The schooner, the Salina Cruz, caught fire Monday.

The Douglas reported today all of the sailors has recovered from their ordeal, and she was proceeding to her home port of San Francisco. Arrival there was expected Thursday.

The dramatic rescue a few hours after nightfall, 140 miles west of Grays Harbor, Wash., was carried out in heavy seas kicked up by a 35-knot wind. Coast Guard search planes that had been circling overhead throughout the day guided the Douglas to the scene.

Ten of the men in one of the open lifeboats had managed to keep afloat without difficulty. They were the first ones spotted by the Douglas. An hour later, after the second boat had sent up direction flares, the seven remaining survivors were pulled from their foundering craft.

Merciless Action Asked by Czech Newspaper

Prague, Oct. 18. (AP)— The Czechoslovakian newspaper Obrans Lidu today demanded merciless treatment for all "traitors and class enemies" discovered in the continuing purge of the army.

"Our military courts must root out all traitors and class enemies," the paper said. "It would be a crime against the people should they not punish such enemies. Justice must aim to create socialism."

The newspaper attack against military men was begun while Soviet Marshal Konev visited Prague more than two weeks ago to inspect army units throughout the country. Reliable reports said the drive now was centred in the old Bohemian city of Hradec Kralove.

Quixotic Mild Man, Now Composer, Asks State Pardon for Petty Crime

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 18 (AP) —A quixotic, mild-mannered man who combined petty crime with composing, has asked the state of Tennessee to free him from a life in prison.

Frank Grandstaff, the man who scribbled the notes in a 75-page cantata on his cell wall while serving a life sentence under Tennessee's Habitual Criminal Act, has asked for a pardon. He petitioned the Pardons and Paroles Board yesterday.

He said he had tried to improve his "thinking and conduct" while in prison and that "opportunities in Texas and elsewhere for employment will redeem and put me on a plane of high endeavor."

Earlier this month, Grandstaff flew to Big Spring, Texas, as guest of honor, to hear for the first time his 75-page choral work which depicts the history of the Texas town. The cantata was performed as the highlight of the spring centennial. Tennessee's Governor Gordon Browning also attended the festival in the centennial in the custody of a Texas ranger.

On returning to prison here, Grandstaff said his brief "taste of freedom" had made him hunger for life outside of prison bars. He admitted the possibility of a pardon was slim.

He was convicted almost nine years ago in Memphis after career of petty crime which included 20 convictions and penitentiary sentences in three states. Under the Habitual Criminal Act each new conviction only lengthened.

The hearing of Grandstaff's pardon plea was set for Nov. 3.

LAWYER MEMBERS HAVE FIELD DAY ON CONSTITUTION

Argument Starts Over Resolution by P.M.

Ottawa, Oct. 18 (CP)—A standoff verbal battle on government methods of giving Canada power to amend the constitution broke out Monday in the Commons.

Lawyer members had a field day as it lay tangled in a lengthy debate on the constitution and the effects of a resolution introduced by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The resolution would ask the King to give Canada power to amend the constitution on purely Canadian matters. At present, the constitution (British North American Act) cannot be changed without consent of the United Kingdom parliament.

Progressive Conservative and Social Credit members were opposed to dealing with the resolution now. They wanted it shelved until after the forthcoming federal-provincial conference on the constitution.

That conference, arranged by the Dominion and accepted in principle to be held at conclusion of the present session of parliament, will attempt to find a method of procedure for amending the constitution with consent of the provincial field or or common concern to the Dominion and Provinces.

The C.C.F., with their leader, M. J. Coldwell, as spokesman, supported the Liberals.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and Solon, Low, Social Credit leader, led off the opposition attack on the measure.

Mr. Drew proposed an amendment that there would not be a Dominion-Provincial "constitutional conference" before any action is taken.

Ruled Out of Order

The amendment, however, was ruled out of order by Speaker W. Ross Macdonald. He said the amendment was so different from the original resolution that it was, in effect, a resolution itself. His ruling was not appealed.

Chinese Nat. Plane Strafes U.K. Ship, Captain Reports

Hong Kong, Oct. 18 — (CP) — A 1,500-ton British ship Kwong Chang radioed today she was strafed Monday by a Chinese Nationalist plane.

Capt. J. W. Evans reported one man was killed and five others were wounded in the attack off Swatow. The vessel left Hong Kong Friday for Red-held Tsingtao with cargo of rice and flour.

The vessel was attacked 60 miles off the South China port of Foochow.

The British liner steamer Texaco Took Cheung was reported released by Nationalist troops who commandeered her for their evacuation from the Canton area.

Tourist Industry Should Pull Up Socks Says Leo Dolan, Head of the Travel Bureau

Halifax, Oct. 18—(CP)—Director D. Leo Dolan of the Dominion Travel Bureausaid today the main selling Canada to tourists should know his business better.

In an address prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus, Mr. Dolan warned, however, that United States friendship was a more important goal for tourist boosters than United States dollars.

He urged his listeners not to rest on the 1949 record—"possibly the most successful tourist season Canada has ever enjoyed." Rather, they should tackle resources still requiring improvement—notably accommodation, eating highway travel facilities.

Devaluation of foreign currencies 'is going to make far-distant lands more attractive from a price standpoint" to the American traveller. Although this picture "may seem rosy," devaluation and depreciation would forestall any further action by the tourist industry for at least another year.

This season, American visitors spend some $300,000,000 in the Dominion.

Part of a national tourist policy should be continued improvement in the highway system of this whole country." Any other policy would further existing criticism. Historical areas had been developed sufficiently and greater care was needed in forest and wildlife conservation.

He proposed the following program for "a national tourist policy". It urged:

1. Increased private and public tourist budgets to meet increased competition.

2. Improved highways.

3. A nation-wide drive to give the visitor more for his dollar both bet as value and service in the world.

4. Public awareness of the importance of the industry.

5. That those catering to tourists know their business fully, that should cover fields ranging from transportation to entertainment.

6. Better meals and improved presentation.

7. Broader wildlife and forest conservation schemes.

Princess Elizabeth Scolds People for High Divorce Rate And Falling Moral Standards

London, Oct. 18 — (AP) — Princess Elizabeth today scolded the British people for what she called a high divorce rate and falling moral standards.

It was the greatest public statement by any member of the Royal Family in years.

Speaking to a rally of the Mothers Union, the 23-year-old Princess said:

"I would go so far as to say that some of the public displays on which the family, and therefore the health of the nation, are founded are in danger.

" . . . When we see around us the heavy toll that is taken annually above all among the children, by the breaking of homes, we can have no doubt that divorce and separation are responsible for some of the worst evils in our present society today."

The Princess said this is an age of "growing self indulgence, hardening materialism and falling of moral standards."

Princess Elizabeth called upon the Mothers Union and similar groups to "give a lead to our contemporaries in the re-establishment of a real and well-balanced code of right and wrong."

The address was the Princess' first really outspoken public speech. Elizabeth told the mothers it is wrong to be too tolerant in the matter of national morals.

"I believe there is a great fear in our generation of being labelled priggish," she said. "In consequence, people are sometimes afraid to show disapproval of what they think is wrong and thus they end by seeming to condone what in their hearts they dislike.

"I am sure it is just as wrong to err on that side as it is to be intolerant and overcritical."

The Proper Attitude

"There will, of course, always be unhappy marriages, especially when one of the partners proves unfaithful, but we should be foolish to encourage divorce by making it too easy or indifferent to do so.

"We surely cannot expect our children to take what we say too lazy or indifferent to do ourselves," she added.

Britain's divorce rate soared during the war, and observers attributed it to hasty marriages, separations and quickie divorces. The post-war years brought a sharp rise in the number of offences against morality, and sociologists blamed the war's dislocations.

Asks 'Careful' Examination Of Bell Request

Montreal, Oct. 18 (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Mayors and municipalities is urging the Transport Board "carefully examine" the application of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada for increased rates.

The federation's executive, in a statement Monday, said it was unable to express itself either way on the company's recently announced application pending careful examination by the Transport Board "particularly with respect to the causes which have led the company to make an application for increased tariffs at this time."

"And, moreover," the statement said, "it (the federation) urges that the hearings before the Board of Transport Commissioners be made public and that the press of Canada be asked to fully report the matter so that the public may be adequately informed with respect to it."

The company announced Oct. 14 that it was seeking an overall increase of 20.8 per cent for service in Ontario and Quebec.

Britain Probably Will Recognize Red Government

London, Oct. 18. (Reuters)— Britain probably will recognize the Chinese Communist government within the next three weeks a usually reliable source said Monday night.

The informant said the Foreign move, when it comes, will involve full recognition.

Foreign Secretary Bevin, it was understood, made up his mind about this on the basis that the Chinese Communist regime was virtually in possession of the whole of China there was little purpose in denying full recognition.

Factors affecting the precise date of recognition are the conclusion of commercial talks taking place between Britain, the Dominions and some of the Atlantic pact powers, and the date of the departure from Shanghai of the British Ambassador, Sir Ralph Stevenson. It was thought that Communist government would be referred until he reaches London in the middle of November.

CALL FOR STRIKE VOTE ISSUED BY 6,000 WORKERS

Three C.G.E. Plants In Ont. May Close

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP) — A total of 6,000 production workers are involved in a strike threat by the United Electrical Workers (C. C. L.) against three Ontario plants.

Workers at Toronto and Cobourg plants of the Canadian General Electric Company are scheduled to vote Wednesday and Thursday on whether to strike if interest arbitration for a new contract break down.

Some 3,000 workers at Peterborough, Ont., plant of Canadian Joint conference board approval of a strike. Union officers will have the weapon of the strike vote when they meet company officials at Peterborough Friday.

The strike vote Monday followed a mass meeting at which Peterborough employees voted to end a two-day work stoppage over the rates of pay of 415 working in the induction motor winding department.

I. F. MacRae, works manager of the Peterborough plant, said a strike vote before a conciliation board brought in its report would violate the provisions of the Ontario Labor Relations Act.

He added that the U. E. W. have frequently used the strike vote as an instrument which "is supposed to impress the company with the seriousness of their demands."

Refuse Decision

The union holds that the company has refused to accept the decision of the conciliation board ordering the company to restore former rates paid the girls. The company said the rates were reduced on the grounds new methods of manufacture were introduced in the department.

The union's joint conference board recommended after an emergency meeting that all locals immediately take a strike vote in their plants and that we inform the Labor Relations Board of concrete evidence of genuine bargaining in negotiations, either with or without the aid of the conciliation board, we will be forced to implement plans for strike action the immediate future."

The union has investigated the company of speed-up practices, wage cutting, transfers and layoffs. The union charges that the company and union is under conciliation, and board hearings have been adjourned to Oct. 28.

QUADS IN GOOD HEALTH

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 18 —(CP)—The Hargreave quadruplets marked their fifth day of "good health" with a continuing diet of milk and sugar.

The four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. (Ossie) Hargreave will remain in hospital for the next two or three weeks, or until they reach five pounds, Dr. John Bell-Irving said. The girls at birth they averaged 3.5 pounds.

Santa Claus' Bag Will be Filled With Peaceful Toys This Season

New York, Oct. 18 — (AP)— The bulging bag of Santa Claus this year will be filled with toys depicting peaceful pursuits in keeping with the real Christmas spirit.

Such material miniatures as soldiers and tanks are hard to find at the annual preview of new toys. Most of the guns are in cowboy outfits.

There are a few playthings keyed to jet propulsion and atomic energy, but they are overshadowed by stressed playthings designed to interest the child in farming, making, architecture, transportation, agriculture and chemistry.

Kenneth P. Fallon, president of the Toy Manufacturers of the United States, predicts Santa's toy pack will be close to the record $200,000,000 (manufacturer's value) of the last two years.

He figures the 1948 birthrate of 2,500,000 boosted the number of children under 17 years of age to more than 43,000,000, about 60 per cent ahead of the pre - war top-using population.

And buying playthings to fit each child's interest, he says, will be easier than ever to find.

Plastic is the vogue at the American Toy Institute's showing.

This year, following the trend of the big railroads, there are diesel trains.

There is a sanitation truck that really works, a taxicab set that operates and a police car with siren meter, a bus that reproduces the rattle of the motor and the door closes.

Instead of tanks, there are armored trucks for carrying cash to the banks; instead of the gun-fighting blisters of war planes there are astra-domed trains.

For the girls there are dolls with nylon wigs that will take repeated hair waves, and dolls that "drink" milk from a bottle and aid of a concealed record.

There are notorious skunks and rabbits who cling to a carrot by their magnetized noses.

Lifeboats Fight Foaming Waves Hunting Survivors

Carrier, in Tow to Drydock, Reported Taking Water

Berwick, Northumberland, England, Oct. 18. (CP)—The aircraft carrier Albion, and a small coal freighter collided in a gale in the North Sea today. The freighter sank swiftly and eight hours later only three of 21 crew members aboard were known to have survived.

Lifeboats fought the foaming waves hunting survivors near the Farne Islands off the, northeast coast of England.

The newly-built 18,300-ton Albion was named by a civilian crew and was in tow to drydock for completion. The collision rammed a hole in the carrier and she was reported taking water.

The Albion had aboard three survivors from the freighter, the 2,025-ton Berwick, carrying coal to London. A spokesman for the owners of the Maystone, said lifeboats still at sea had some hopes of picking up other survivors.

The collision occurred eight miles off England's northeast coast, near the English-Scottish border Port of Berwick-upon-Tweed, lifeboat from the Berwick, coast guard station put out into rain and wind-tossed waves to hunt for survivors.

Three of the Maystone's crew were reported picked up by the Albion and Press Association said some others were rescued by coast guardsmen.

Towed by Tug

The Albion, being towed by a tug, was on her way from Belfast to Jarrow to a drydock at Rosyth, Scotland, for construction work before being turned over to the Royal Navy. Subsequently later was found submerged in the old Welland canal.

Police said they were told Frank had been receiving treatment for mental illness.

Constable Kenrick Arbour who was first on the scene after residents called police, said Frank Sylvester was sprawled at the footof the first stairs in his large brick home on MacNab Street north.

Later police found Antonio had been stabbed to death before their arrival, driven there in a private car. Dr. Joseph Grodzinski, hospital director, said Antonio was shot possibly three or four times through the stomach.

When they reached hospital Frank had $2,000 in $100 bills and Antonio $1,000 in smaller bills.

From the stories of relatives, police pieced together this story:

Another Sylvester brother, Angelo, who lives in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Last night he and Antonio went to visit Frank, sick, in bed. They had supper and evening, climbed out of bed, put on his trousers and went downstairs.

ONE IS KILLED, ONE WOUNDED IN SHOOTING

Hamilton Man Apparently Died From Self-Inflicted Wound

Hamilton, Oct. 18 (CP)—Police said today they found "a lot of blood" when they entered a room where one man was killed and his brother seriously wounded by shotgun blasts Monday night.

Frank Sylvester, also known as Frank Rosa, 33, died of an apparently self-inflicted wound in the head. Antonio, shot three times in the stomach, was reported in "poor" condition.

"A lot of cash" was found lashed in a wallet hidden in a piano in the house, police said. The money was in bills of large denomination. A large amount of silver was discovered in various other hiding - places.

Police declined to say whether money was the object of their search. Both men were carrying a quantity of $100 bills when the shooting occurred.

Police said they recovered the weapon. It is believed the brothers quarrelled but police declined to reveal the cause of the argument.

Frank is the brother of Mrs. John Durso of Hamilton whose husband disappeared mysteriously in the Tyrrhenian sea. A motorboat later was found submerged in the old Welland canal.

Police said they were told Frank had been receiving treatment for mental illness.

Constable Kenrick Arbour who was first on the scene after residents called police, said Frank Sylvester was sprawled at the footof the first stairs in his large brick home on MacNab Street north.

"A lot of cash" was found lashed in a wallet hidden in a piano in the house, police said. The money was in bills of large denomination. A large amount of silver was discovered in various other hiding - places.

Police declined to say whether money was the object of their search. Both men were carrying a quantity of $100 bills when the shooting occurred.

Police said they recovered the weapon. It is believed the brothers quarrelled but police declined to reveal the cause of the argument.

Frank is the brother of Mrs. John Durso of Hamilton whose husband disappeared mysteriously in the Tyrrhenian sea. A motorboat later was found submerged in the old Welland canal.

50 CARLOADS CHOICE WHEAT SHIPPED TO CEREAL MILL

Upwards of 50 carloads of choice May of Quinte wheat has been shipped from this district since late July, according to Les Grills, who took Hess out from his farm and dairying business to handle the grain.

The wheat was shipped to a cereal manufacturing firm in Peterborough, with the last carload leaving the city yesterday.

It was estimated that with each freight car carrying 1,500 bushels some 75,000 bushels were handled by the Grills combination.

The wheat was secured from farmers in the Wellington, Consecon, Hillier and other parts of Prince Edward county as well as many places in Hastings.

Prices paid to growers averaged $1.75 the bushel.

YOUNG BELLEVILLE MAN TO APPEAR ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Charged with carnal knowledge of a 14-year-old Hastingsburg township girl, a young Belleville man will appear in magistrate's court at Picton Wednesday before Magistrate T. Y. Willis. The Belleville man was arrested Sunday evening by provincial police from Picton. The offence against the young girl is said to have taken place Saturday evening following a party.

200 WILD GEESE WING WAY SOUTH

Etched against the blue of the sky in near-perfect V-formation in a flock of wild geese honked its way south shortly before nine o'clock this morning.

The geese numbering approximately 200 were plainly heard by Mr. Ernest Reid on his way to school and other spectators as they pursued a course straight down Church Street.

MAJORITY OF CASES SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Traffic offenders predominated the morning magistrate's court docket this morning with nearly 40 cases, the majority being charges involving speeding, overtime parking and failure to stop at stop streets, Police Court.

The majority of the cases were settled out of court with fines and costs in each case being paid by the offenders.

Council Votes to Discontinue Snow Plowing of Walks by Jeeps

After three winters during which householders' snow shovels have been plied in a test, city residents this winter will be asked to shovel their own sidewalks.

This was decided by members of city council Monday evening when they voted to discontinue sidewalk snowplowing with the use of jeep power and revert to the former practice of allowing householders to shovel their own sidewalks.

"I think this matter should be given a great deal of considered evening by provincial police from Picton. The offence against the young girl is said to have taken place Saturday evening following a party.

"If we could get into the smaller boat they were towing and make shore safely. The lake in 16 miles north of here.

Route Approved For New Bus Line by Council

Commencing within the next two weeks, residents of the newly developed Parkwood Heights and Churchill Heights area will be given city bus transportation from their homes to the downtown core.

This was revealed at city council Monday evening when Alderman Bruce Lattimer as chairman of the traffic committee stated that the bus route had been approved and that it was expected the additional route would be in operation within the next two weeks. He said the traffic committee considered the route to be an "excellent" one, although it would be slightly changed with the completed development of the Bayview Heights area.

Terminal for the new bus route will be on Front Street near the four corners and 1st front of Black's Wholesale.

Route for the new bus will be down Front and Dundas to Herchimer, north on Herchimer to Bridge, then east on Bridge and north through Parkwood Heights and Churchill Heights and back to Front Street by way of Pine St., MacDonald Ave. and Bridge Street.

Alderman Lloyd said the jeeps were unsatisfactory and in many cases it was two days before the walks were plowed. Alderman Brown went further and said in some instances it was three days.

"The people are getting fed up with the jeeps," said Alderman Thomas. "The jeeps are not doing the job and to do the job properly would require seven or eight additional machines." He said the jeeps were not adequate and that the jeeps could be used to assist in keeping intersections and driveways clean.

Amendment Lost

Alderman Hyde wanted the matter referred back for two weeks and moved an amendment to the recommendation. "This council does things too fast," he said. "This is the first time a board of discontinuing the jeep plows."

The amendment, however, was lost, and the original recommendation to discontinue with the jeeps carried by a vote of eight to six. Favoring the recommendation were Mayor Roy Storey, and aldermen H. Allen, Armstrong, Brown, Lloyd, Lucas, Thomas and Wilbur. Disagreeing were Aldermen Clarke, Duffy, Hyde, Lattimer, Liddle and Tice.

Park Property at East End Purchased by City Council If Municipal Board Agreeable

Purchase of approximately six acres of land north of Victoria Avenue and east of Dufferin and Goldfade Road in the Parkwood Heights area to be used for the development of a city park was approved by city council Monday evening.

Cost of the property, now owned by C. H. Barlow, would be $6,500. Approval of the Municipal Board would have to be secured before the city could purchase the property.

Alderman Brown approved of the council's foresight in making an area available for the Parkwood Heights district but warned the area in question had already been extremely marshy and the city would be able to develop it only at considerable expense.

"Furthermore," he said, "the East Belleville playground was within two blocks of the proposed area and nothing was being done to develop this site."

Alderman Clarke also agreed the Barlow property was marshy stating that in the spring it was under two feet of water. "But if it can be made into a park, then well and good," he said.

Approve of Site

Alderman Thomas approved of the proposed site claiming the area was now completely dry. "It's time that a good start of trees and would cost little to underbrush," he stated. "I can't see where we can go wrong."

Alderman Duffy also felt the proposed area was ideal. He said the area was level and would cost but little to develop. The important thing was that the city would be establishing a park in the centre of a new residential district where there would be approximately 600 families.

Alderman Armstrong doubted if there would be much trouble with water, stating that with the construction of Goldfade Road roadway and with the building of a storm sewer in Parkwood Heights the trouble would be avoided.

Only Cedar Swamp Claim

Alderman Clarke again reminded the area was but a cedar swamp, pointing out that the past Summer had been exceptionally dry. Alderman Brown said he was all for the park if suitable drainage could be provided.

Voting to purchase the property were Mayor L. L. Storey, Aldermen H. Allen, Armstrong, Duffy, Lattimer, Liddle, Lumsden, Thomas, Tice and Wilbur. Opposing were Aldermen Brown, Hyde and Lloyd.

Council also voted to place before the electors at the next election the question of whether they approved of an expenditure of approximately $85,000 to effect alterations at the city hall to include accommodation for the city police station.

Alderman Lloyd in presenting the recommendation noted that although council had approved of repairs to the present city police station, there still had been no word from the municipal board as to whether this would be approved.

Only Fair Way

Alderman Tice said placing the matter before the people was the only fair way in which council should not assume the responsibility of spending $85,000 on the city hall.

Alderman Lumsden asked if this meant there would be nothing done with regard to repairs at the police station. He said it was the case he was opposed.

Mayor Storey pointed out consideration would be given the police station. He said it was in a disgraceful condition and should be done in any event. Even if the ratepayers approved of the expense at the city hall it would be a year or more before the work got started.

Asks Co-operation

At the request of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, Mayor Storey was authorized to ask by way of proclamation for the co-operation of local merchants in closing their stores on Remembrance Day, Nov. 11th.

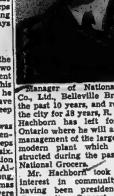
Alderman Duffy in speaking to the request said a large Remembrance Day parade was planned and only through the co - operation of merchants closing their stores would the day be a success.

"This is the day on which we pay homage to 100,000 men who died in both wars," he said, "and is one day which should be a holiday."

Alderman Liddle also pointed out that it could only be through the co-operation of merchants closing their stores that the Remembrance Day parade could be a success. He said Nov. 11th was already a statutory holiday and was observed by government offices.

Cannot Compel Closing

Alderman Tice said merchants could not be compelled to close their stores on the statutory holiday, to which Alderman Duffy agreed, adding however that some of the best things were not legislated for but were reached with co-operation on the part of all concerned.



A communication from the local firefighters' association was read in which they asked that consideration be given for paid service in the pension scheme offered by the city. The matter was referred for two weeks, to allow the committee to consider other plans.

A committee of Aldermen Lloyd, Wilbur and Tice was appointed to look into the request of Ted Moore, Dundas St., East, for permission to establish a small billiard parlor where he now conducts a service station.

Sign Request Granted

A request of the E. L. Ruddy sign company for permission to erect sign panels on the east side of Bay Street was referred to the public works and city engineer. The MacFarlane Construction Company, Picton, was given a contract for the supply of 10,000 tons of crushed rock for surfacing of roads in the housing area south of the highway on the former Canadian Ordnance property.

Russ Hachborn Moved to London

Manager of National Grocers Co., Ltd., Belleville Branch, for the past 10 years, and resident of the city for 18 years, R. E. (Russ) Hachborn has left for London, Ontario where he will assume the management of the large new and modern plant which was constructed during the past year by National Grocers.

Mr. Hachborn took an active interest in community affairs, having been president of the Community Concert for two years, president of the Belleville Badminton Club and is currently a director of the Rotary Club.

Last Friday afternoon the local National Grocers staff presented him with a beautiful onyx desk pen set and wished him every success.

Mrs. Hachborn will remain in the city until early December.

The new manager here will be Mr. Jack K. Rogers who is being transferred from the Pembroke branch.

County Home Property

City council approved of the installation of storm sewers in the Parkwood Heights district with plans and specifications to be drawn by the city engineer.

Approval was given to the removal of the curb on the north side of Bridge Street, immediately east of Cedar Street. A large tree on the corner will be removed and the curb replaced at a wider angle on the corner.

Alderman Answered

Alderman Liddle brought up a question regarding the early opening of the public lavatory on the market square and asked why a recommendation passed earlier in the year for later closing had not been carried out. Alderman Lloyd as chairman of market and city property replied if the lavatories were kept open for additional supervision would be necessary.

Alderman Thomas stated that the city police would look after locking the building at a later hour if this was deemed advisable. The matter was left for the present, however, to lapse.

Several residents of the Victoria Ave, Lingham Street district appeared before council protesting the proposed expansion of the Sam Wannamaker property. It was stated that all buildings and used building materials were being placed on the property and were creating a detriment and eyesore to the city.

Must Clean up Property

A recommendation was passed asking that the building inspector see that the property was cleaned up and also directing the inspector to submit a report to council stating why the conditions had been permitted to exist.

Under enquiries Alderman Clarke asked if there had been any change in the power of the street lighting since the introduction of power restrictions. He also wanted to know when consumers were going to receive the hydro rebate for flat rate heaters which were cut off periodically during last Winter. He was told by Mayor Storey that there had been no change in the street lighting. Mayor Storey also stated he would take the matter of the hydro rebate up at the next commission meeting.

Alderman Duffy wanted to know why a concrete base was being placed where the curb was taken out on Pinnacle Street along the Armouries property, and also wanted to know who was going to pay for the work.

Utilities Responsibility

He was told the work was being partly paid for by the city and the balance by the public utilities who were responsible. It was to replace streets in their original condition following installation of services.

The city treasurer was authorized to look into the matter of a transient trader's licence for the owners of stock at Symons' men's wear store, much of which was said to have been brought in from outside the city.

Alderman Brown enquired regarding fire protection at the Belleville hospital. He said that investigation had shown the fire escapes at the nurses' residence had been improperly erected. Mayor Storey said hospital employees were being instructed in fire emergency work.

Merchant Protests Sale by Vendors On Local Market

A protest that a number of market vendors were selling produce on the market which had not been grown locally on vendors' farms was lodged Monday evening with members of city council.

Mr. Kellaway, Bridge Street West, grocer, complained he had been forced off the market several years ago because he had not grown the produce he was offering for sale.

Now, he protested, a number of market vendors were doing the same thing and little or nothing was being done about it.

"I have protested to the local police," stated Mr. Kellaway, "but they have done nothing, stating that under the by-law a farmer is allowed to sell a certain percentage of goods which he has not grown himself."

Mr. Kellaway said he had read the by-law and there was nothing in it regarding percentage of outside produce which might be sold by farmers. He went on to say there are vendors on the market who do not own any land but who nevertheless buy potatoes at wholesale and then retail them on the market. Another vendor was in a good way of quantities of fruit not raised on his farm.

"If these people were charged a transient traders licence it would be different," stated Mr. Kellaway. "But they are permitted to sell on the market for a small market fee, while a local business man is called upon to pay business tax and is asked to contribute to every worthy cause. It is not fair."

Mayor D. L. Storey promised the city police would be directed to take the matter up.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP) — A slightly shorter issue appeared as trading progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials firmed from Monday's steady decline and demand appeared to be increasing in mid-session.

Golds and base metals slipped slightly in the dull dealings and western oils recovered early losses.

Volume for the first four hours was 630,000 shares, about 174,000 share more than Monday's similar period.

A few individual issues featured the mixed activity in industrials. Winnipeg Electric stole into the spotlight for a gain of 2 3-4 at 35 1-8 in brisk dealings. International Paper rose smartly for a two-point advance at 59 1-4.

Power Cutoffs May be Avoided Says Manager

Confirming press reports yesterday that the McLaren Quebec Power Company had reduced delivery of power to Ontario by 3,383,000 kilowatt hours next week commencing October 24th, Chairman Russell Wotten, of the Belleville Public Utilities, received a telegram to this effect from the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission.

The telegram indicated that storage runoff conditions were such that a reduction in the delivery of power to this province would be necessary.

Co-operation of the local public utilities in effecting every saving of power possible was urged by Hydro Commissioner Robert J. Saunders in his telegram to Mr. Wotten.

Speaking of the reduction in power delivery in Ontario, Utilities Manager Orchard E. Scott today pointed out that it would be now more than ever necessary for hydro users in the city to effect power savings. To make matters more difficult new power users were being added every day which resulted in added consumption of power.

Mr. Scott was of the opinion, however, that if every local users co-operated by using as few lights as possible and by careful use of electrical appliances, the Belleville area may escape power cutoffs.

"The entire matter rests with the co-operation which we receive from our customers," stated Mr. Scott. "If they are careful in seeing that every light not needed is turned off and co-operate in every way possible, there is a possibility we may escape cutoffs in Belleville."

Livestock Brings Good Prices In Ontario Sales

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP)—Livestock brought good prices from sales throughout Ontario during the last week, agricultural representatives report.

In addition, farmers were making good progress with fall plowing, and with harvests of apples, mangolds, and late potatoes.

Yorkshire and Shorthorn sales at Walkerton in Bruce county, showed an average of $113 was paid for bred sows, $74 for open sows and $88 for boars. Shorthorn bulls brought $350 and heifers $264.

At a sheep sale in Durham, Grey county, a $31 high was paid for a Suffolk ram and $20 for an Oxford ram.

An export report market for dairy cattle was reported in Leeds county. Fall wheat throughout the province was reported in good condition.

HUNTER AND SON SOUGHT

Little Current, Oct. 18 (CP)—A search party began today on Bedford Island to hunt for R. H. Cunningham, Little Current garageman, and his son, William, after two went hunting Sunday and have failed to return. Rifle reports were expected back last night.

Impromptu War Derby off Govt. Dock Success

Headed by Ed. Pine's "Maple Leaf" which finished this year for the third time won the Canadian point-getting championship in regatta racing, twenty-eight power boats of the district staged an impromptu water derby off the Government Dock on Sunday afternoon.

Nineteen outboard craft entered in the various heats with the high-powered, 225's, 135's, racing and service runabouts making up the balance.

Racing owners and drivers from Trenton, Picton, Wellington, Madoc, Campbellford, Peterborough, Mountain View, Big Island, Gananoque and other district points thrilled a large crowd of spectators in a series of races held under ideal weather conditions.

The outboard events were closely contested with the handsome prize donated by Belleville business men being fairy evenly distributed among district drivers. Thanks Ansley.

Special appreciation was voiced by Ed. Pine today to those who assisted in the administration of the regatta, some of them volunteering at the last minute, when other appointees failed to show up.

Particular mention was made of David Rowe, Picton, official starter; Dr. Harold Craig, Belleville, scorer; Stew Robb, Belleville, public address system; the Fire Department of the City of Belleville, Delbert Litchford, Hamilton and Charlie Abbott, Belleville. Prizes were presented to first and second place winners in each race directly following the regatta. A collection was taken from the large crowd which defrayed regatta expenses with the balance being presented to the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

Lyn Murray's Orchestra is one of North America's greatest and most original musical groups. Its long list of triumphs is ample proof that it is an orchestra that has consistently produced the finest in music. For seven years, Lyn Murray's orchestra was starred on the "Lucky Strike Hit Parade." It was featured on such important network shows as "Harvest of Stars," "Campbell's Playhouse" and "The Spuds Show."

Arrangements for this great band were made by Lyn Murray, himself. This combination of the Murray touch on arranging and conducting results in music that thrills audiences of every age and all musical tastes.

"The Bateman Motor Hour" will be heard every Monday night at 9:30 p.m., Tuesdays at 8:30 p.m. and Fridays at 7:30 p.m. This evening marks the premiere of this exciting new show.

Police Blotter

Wanted by local police on a charge of auto theft involving the theft of his friend's car, Steve Gracia, alias John Butts, was arrested yesterday at Nepenee and will be brought back to Belleville to stand trial.

Gracia, was alleged to have "borrowed" the car Saturday evening to visit a friend in the city and when the vehicle was still not returned on Sunday it was reported stolen.

A William Street woman complained to police that while she was walking along Charles Street last evening with a friend, a short man about 35 years of age deliberately exposed himself. When she called to a man who was passing on a bicycle the other man disappeared down the street.

Rotary Club Will Sponsor Volkoff Ballet

Following its program of securing the best in high-class entertainment for its members and the city as a whole, the Rotary Club will sponsor the famous Volkoff Ballet on Thursday Nov. 3rd at the Collegiate Auditorium.

At the weekly luncheon of the club yesterday, members heard a highly informative talk on the ballet by Mr. Stewart James, its representative.

Tickets for the ballet have been distributed and are obtainable from Rotarians. Due to the large number of requests, potential guests are urged to get their tickets as soon as possible and thus avoid disappointment at the last moment.

General chairman of the Ballet Committee was Rotarian Russell Hackborn, who was forced to relinquish that position due to the fact he is leaving the city. He is succeeded by Rotarian Ken. Griffiths, who is also ticket chairman. Bert Woodley will look after the publicity part of the attraction with ticket reservations in charge of George Campbell. In charge of concert arrangements is Jack Howe and the program chairman is Art. Francis. Chairman of ushers is Fred Vesiland and Rotarian Fred Chamberlain will act as treasurer.

Chairmen of the various committees are lining up their respective teams and the general chairman will appoint captains. All seats for the show will be reserved. The proceeds will be devoted to the crippled children work of the club.

Fifteen clever dancers form the Volkoff Ballet, it was pointed out yesterday, with special ballet music given by the distinguished artists from Toronto, who will perform on Sherwood placed brought here from Toronto for the purpose.

The ballet said to be the finest in Canada is already booked for New York in December. Its program is delightfully varied while the skill and grace of the different artists is said to be the finest of its kind to visit this city.

The reservation plan will open on October 31st. Rotary Anns will be requested to assist in the job of putting the "ballet over" as they did invaluable service at last concert presented by the club.

As was mentioned before, tickets for the ballet were distributed to members of Rotary at the luncheon yesterday and are now available to the public. President Fred Deacon is confident that with the same co-operation from the club, the ballet will be equally as big a success as the preceding concert.

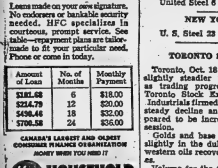
Trenton Legion Given Licence For Public House

Toronto, Oct. 18 — (CP) — The Ontario Liquor Licence Board has approved transfer of part ownership of 14 hotels and taverns, suspended one licence, granted one new licence and restored privileges of two more.

Licence privileges of Prince Albert Hotel at Fort Frances were suspended indefinitely for unsatisfactory operation of the premises.



Licence privileges, under suspension for the last month, were restored for Edgewater Public House at Van Wagner's Beach, near Hamilton, and St. Joachim Hotel, at St. Joachim, near Windsor.

Canadian Legion Branch No. 110, at Trenton, has been granted a licence for a public house for men only. Edgewater Hotel at Sudbury, Ont., was granted an all-year licence.

FALLS ASLEEP CRASHES

St. Catharines, Oct. 18—(CP)—A Cleveland man fell asleep at the wheel of his automobile near Grimsby today and awoke in Queenstown and as he slept briefly his car crashed into the concrete bastion of a highway bridge. Nobiock suffered facial abrasions and shock and his condition is reported as "satisfactory." His car was wrecked.

PROGRESS SHOWN BY CITIES

Listing Ontario's 29 cities, the Ottawa Journal speaks of the debt this Province owes to these urban municipalities with their progressive spirit. It is noted that twenty-two of them are under 36,000 and that all of them are growing. "To drive through any Ontario city is to find it spreading out into the countryside, as Ottawa, is doing, with good homes, new industrial plants and businesses.

"Ontario is growing rapidly and the cities share a development for which they are largely responsible. They are becoming bigger, busier, more modern, more ambitious and more energetic. Life is speeding up. We should like to think that in this new age the people in them will be happier, more contented. Perhaps the small Ontario city was a mighty pleasant place in which to live. Life was a leisurely business in those days and painting the city hall or repaving Main Street a typical big issue."

The change which has come is remarkable. "Every town wants to be a city, every city wants to be a metropolis. Every city wants factories, tourists, people, more homes, more paved streets, bigger and better schools and statistics show that its wishes are being met in large part. This is in the picture of the expanding Ontario."

These things are proven here and elsewhere. How the spirit of the age has been taken up by so many communities is one of those matters which are intensely interesting. So many places catch the air of progress at the same time. That is natural for there is a pervading spirit of progress which naturally comes about and expresses itself in growth. That is what is seen at this present time.

OCTOBER'S COLORING

October has put on her richest dress of colors and leaves are falling. One of the loveliest of the months of the year October is noted for its colors and sense of peace in nature. It is one of the months with some traces of the past summer for it is not so changed as to be a winter month.

In the woodlands is seen the immensely rich coloring which nature can make of the green leaves and grass. The scene is ever changing from the green of the leaves to the glorious colorings as the month wears on to show its richest tapestry in the leaves which have finished their duty and are ready to fall or have fallen.

This rich panorama calls to mind the words of William Cullen Bryant:

"The sweet calm sunshine of October, now
Warms the low spot upon its grassy mould
The purple oak leaf falls; the birchen bough
Drops its bright spoil like arrow-heads of gold."

By the time the season reaches the festival of Hallowe'en the riot of colors and the magic of the painting of nature will have reached the peak of artistry and November is ready to make its bow, November that brings the earliest snow and a foretaste of the winter climate decked in white instead of in the gaudy colorings of October days.

NOBEL PRIZE AWARDED

Lord Boyd Orr has been given an award which has been merited, the Nobel Peace Prize. A Scottish farmer, he has become famous for his work in the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization, where he found full opportunity for his knowledge and opinions in the fight against hunger and nationalism. He was its first director-general and brought before the world the importance of food conservation and distribution as an agency of peace and understanding.

PHYSICAL CHECK-UP

Now that men and women are living longer it is a logical step for people in middle age to make normal preparations for the halt, halt, the regular medical check-ups will prevent the undetected development of dangerous growths or insidious diseases and expert medical advice will assure a properly balanced diet. These years can be happy and healthy by preparing for them intelligently, the younger the better.

MARSHALL AID FOR REFINERIES

Seventeen and a quarter million worth of Marshall Aid allocated to Britain will be used for expanding oil refineries. Two projects have been approved by E.C.A., the first of which will provide equipment for the Shell refinery in Essex, England. The second project is for the expansion of the Llandarcy refineries in South Wales. The Shell project will increase plant capacity from 400,000 metric tons yearly to several times that amount in 1952. The Llandarcy project calls for the expansion of refinery capacity from 375,000 tons yearly to about 2,180,000 tons by 1952.

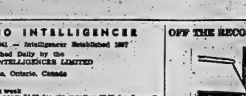
INHERITED SLOWNESS

I often chuckle when I see
A little fellow just like me
As long ago I used to be.

His ears, as if in deep disgrace,
A worried look upon his face,
As if he'd come to take my place.

I watch him squirming in his chair,



His fingers twisting strands of hair,

I know what he is suffering there,

His father says: "The strange part is that he is Slow with arithmetic he should Not so! The same was said of me.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE KEY — UNITY

are not the snarly, complicated ones — but the simple ones, strange as it seems, that is the complicated about good will, cooperation, and unity. That last, which perhaps is the key to all.

How often, when confronted with a problem, we overlook the obvious solution. Napoleon is famous in history as one of the greatest of military geniuses — yet the lines along which he won his victories were of the simplest in form and strategy. Common sense and a genius for understanding human nature were behind all his moves — until he got the idea that he was invincible. No man is that or ever will be. But the key to his military successes was largely unity of purpose.

All great organizations are ruled by unity of effort. That word together is a very important one. I like the term United Nations. If all nations will stand united for the good and happiness of all, we can look forward to universal peace without fear of its being defeated.

Just imagine what would happen to the world if merely the Golden Rule were to be the key by which men and nations proceeded! But, you see, it's so simple that the world passes it by. People talk and fume, and get bitter over non-essentials, while millions starve or follow the leaders who promise most. The Golden Rule promises nothing but peace, and the settlement of all problems, for if you treat others as you would like to be treated, that would settle everything and the world would move on without fear—and happily.

The great principle behind Christianity is just as simple — "Love thy neighbor as thyself." Simple, and workable, too. But if you prefer bitterness, and fighting, then all unity is ruined. It's a question of choice — and the right and opportunity are foreever open.

We can all safely select this key of unity as the one that will easily unlock the door to peace, and to the happiness and contentment of mind. People who work together get things done. Even in close friendship is the same. The baseball team or football organization that will not put unit, is the conquering one.

African Culture Survivals Found In U.S. Islands

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press News Analyst)

One of the strange stories of our time has been unfolded by Dr. Lorenzo Dow Turner, Negro Professor of English at Roosevelt College, Chicago, who has uncovered survivals of African culture among the quarter million Negroes inhabiting the rice islands off the coasts of South Carolina and Georgia.

These Negroes are descendants of slaves who were brought to North America at the time of the earliest settlements. Some of those living on the islands never have been on the mainland or seen a white man at close range. They speak a language which includes many words brought by their ancestors from the jungles of Africa.

Dr. Turner found that some of the words in the Rice Islands language had their origin in Liberia. I was particularly interested in this because in 1942 when I spent some time at Fisherman's Lake, Liberia, I was astonished to run into an American colloquialism dating from the slave days. It happened like this:

Liberian History

Just at the time of the American invasion of North Africa, November 7, I started to fly from London to the Middle East. Because the flight normally would take us near the scene of the fighting, the plane was diverted to Liberia. From there we crossed Africa to Khartoum and then down the Nile Valley to Cairo. I got hung up in Fisherman's Lake, Liberia, and was an American military headquarters, for several days and spent considerable time prowling about the neighboring jungles.

As you will recall, the State of Liberia grew out of the labors of the National Colonization Society of America, which was organized in 1818 to free American Negroes and colonize in Africa. Some 12,000 "American" Liberians now live in the Republic and they are descendants of American slaves.

One day I was tramping about among some native huts in the jungle when I came across a native woman sitting in front of her home and spoke to her. I really didn't expect to get an answer, thinking that she would not understand me. But was surprised when she replied in good English. I stopped to chat with her and during the conversation she employed an old U. S. colloquialism which led me to ask her where she learned it.

"My great grandmother was slaves in America," she replied, "and came here when the American colonization society freed her and my English from them."

This woman, who was perhaps 40, never had been away from the jungle, but her language and custom of pre-Civil War days in the United States had been handed down to her from her mother. In her little jungle home was nearly kept. Many other natives in that area spoke English, a brand of it, which probably meant that their ancestors were descendants of American slaves.

Memorial Beacon May be Erected

Toronto, Oct. 18. (CP)—Mayor H. E. McCallum said Monday that a Memorial Beacon to the memory of those who perished in the fire aboard the cruise steamship Noronic at a Toronto dock Sept. 17, may be erected on harbor lands overlooking Toronto bay.

The city is willing to erect such a monument, he said, as a token that Toronto shares with the United States its grief over the terrific loss."

Meanwhile, the Province of Ontario has informed the city it will participate in a memorial service with the tragedy "so if the Province pays for erection of the memorial, the city will supply the site," said the mayor.

Further plans undefinified remains of victims would be interred at such a memorial has not yet been decided, Mayor McCallum added. Of the 119 victims, 96—all but one of them American citizens—have been identified and 14 are listed as missing.

THE CASE OF THE WANDERING KNIFE

"I am 44 years old," writes one woman. "I had my uterus removed because or fibrous tumor. Do you think it would've been advisable to have the ovaries removed also?"

What are people thinking of when they say things such as this? Do they believe that they have been given organs of their body only to have them cut out at will? Have they ever taken their automobile to a mechanic only to have him say, "Madam, their is something wrong with your car let's take carburetor out?"

The body is the most wonderful and complicated of all machines. No organ has been included that does not serve some purpose (with the exception of the appendix). To remove an undiseased organ would certainly would disrupt the unity of the organism. Notice that I said undiseased. I believe that when an operation is necessary it should be done promptly. But on the other hand, I abhor the use of the wandering scalpel, just as do most good surgeons.

The ovary is something not to be removed unless diseased or ripped out at will. It is something that serves a purpose. Without the ovary, you and I wouldn't be here. As an organ of reproduction it is the cornerstone of fertility. To remove it (or rather them) means sterility. As an organ of internal secretion it produces hormones which are essential to normal bodily function. To remove it is to upset the balance of this function.

The uterus of the male has similar functions of fertility and life, harmone secretion and normal bodily performance. Yet one rarely hear of the wholesale extirpation of males as you do in the case of the removal of the ovaries.

When in the menopause the ovary is through with its duties, it is naturally bown out gracefully. When its purpose in life is finished, it just stops functioning naturally and it need not be ripped out just because it is no longer required by the body.

No surgical procedure is completely without danger. I repeat that no operation is really needed to maintain the life and normal function of the body, but no hesitation in performing it should occur.

There's another twist to the situation, however. That is the psychological angle. In some people there is a distortion of the individual's psychological make-up which makes them seek surgical operations. The distortion is Dilie Co.)

THE CASE OF THE WANDERING KNIFE

called Masochism. Defined broadly, it means enjoying to be hurt. That may seem silly, but it is present in many as an unconscious desire. The player an important part in driving some people to have many needless operations. In many cases, operations are performed because of intense insistence on the part of the patient.

In surgery there are feelings and Removal of ovaries is a wholesale manner is one of these fashion trends. Since there are more women than men who unconsciously desire the wandering knife, operations on the female organs seem to be more in vogue than other types of surgical procedure.

In medicine and surgery, a doctrine exists. Leave well enough alone.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Red Meat Nonsense

Husband insists ham, corned beef, dried beef are more meat that is red is unhealthy, contains no vitamins and is full of uric acid. (Mrs. M. A. M.)

Answer—Let the gullible fellow have what he wants his own food, but don't deny yourself a delicious meal of good red meat. "Red" meat contains one of the good nutritional material, as does chicken and the more nourishing "uric acid" than meat of any kind of color.

Shots in the Dark

School teacher, 52, not robust. Have had two severe attacks of influenza in recent years. Would immunizing "shots" be advisable? (Miss E. M.)

Answer—Yes, if we had 'em. Up to the day my answer was written is no such immunizing treatment available.

Call for Immediate Dentures Service

Would like to know if there is a dentist in town who can pull your teeth and make the plate the same day. I expect to be in Toronto two weeks in November. (H. L. A.)

Answer—The dentist makes the plate or other dentures before extraction of tooth or teeth, and installs it immediately after extraction before the patient leaves the office. The better dentist everywhere give this immediate denture service now. I'm sorry I don't know of such dentists in the city you mention do so.

THE PACKSACK

OF GREGORY CLARK

The wild creatures' man has long ages ago tamed for his own are the barking dog, the cackling hen, the grunting sow, the squealing pig, the whinnying long-footed horse.

It was only after animals that fell prey to primitive man's lasso and pitfall, of the silent animals, are still wild, still free. The list can be increased. The endlessly cooing pigeon, the bleating sheep, the honking goose, the quacking duck, are all birds the slaves man has made among the animals, hardly one is wild.

The noises these creatures make doubtless had something to do with their art of capture. When the foolish wild hen, excited over laying an egg, began her hysterical cackling in the jungle, it was no trick for the save-wife to go and find the nest. It was a less trick for the cave-wife, finding a nest, to wait until the chicks were hatched, and then carry them into the cave. They were likely our first livestock.

The wild cow, bawling in the primaval meadows, drew the hunters to find what a stupid, easily - roped creature she was. The dog yapping, the hog squealing, all the destined slaves of man, had the trick of revealing their whereabouts, and the location of their young. Are carried home and penned.

A dog is just a wolf that popped up on end, and too neat man. The wolf that stayed free in its den that night, howled until he knew he had two valleys and three hills between him and the nearest man.

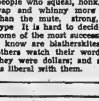
There is some kind of a moral in this for people who squeal, honk, quack, yap and whinny more penned than the mute, strong, silent type It is hard to decide; for many of the most successful men I know are blatherskites; while others watch their words as if they were dollars; and are just as liberal with them.

Strength for the Day

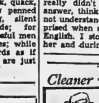
DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A GRUDGE IS A BOOMERANG

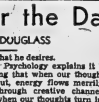
Some people burden their lives by carrying grudges through the years.



Let us be sure of this — a grudge never hurts anyone except the person who carries it. If we have the idea that we can get even with someone, beat him down, make him change his attitude by continuous hammering, we should remember that human nature being as it is, people usually do not change under such treatment. Instead they tend to become more bitter and more cynical. In the end the grudge leaves the man who carries it pathetically unhappy, his whole life clogged with bitterness. He finds it beats the air, makes himself unhappy and achieves nothing that he desires.



Psychology explains it by saying that when our thoughts burn out, energy flows merrily along through creative channels; and when our thoughts turn in, energy backs up and stalls the machinery. Jesus spoke about having the kingdom of God in our hearts When we harbor a grudge, we carry the kingdom of hell in our hearts. The dark shadows of wickedness are cast across our souls, and happiness dies as surely as growing grass would die in continuous darkness.



The mistreatment we record others when we cherish a grudge against them is not to be compared with the mistreatment we accord ourselves. Nobody suffers as much as we do under such circumstances.

SALEM

Salem W.A. Entertains Ladies Of St. Thomas' W.A.

Rawdon—On Thursday afternoon last, Mrs. Burton Heagle and Mrs. Ernest Brown, of Rawdon, were co-hostesses to Salem Woman's Association. They also entertained several ladies of St. Thomas' Anglican W.A., and W.M.S. with about forty in attendance.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Ernest Sine and Mrs. Ernest Broadworth and was based on "Thanksgiving".

The president, Mrs. Ernest Sazles, opened the meeting, and gave a Thanksgiving meditation and read a poem on "Autumn".

Double anniversary was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Turpin (right), Picton, who marked their golden wedding anniversary simultaneously with 11th wedding anniversary of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Turpin (left), also of Picton.

Mrs. Delbert Sine read several letters and plans were made for the bazaar and tea at the church in November. Mrs. Broadworth presided, and Mrs. H. Mayo read a poem entitled "The Little Things in Life".

Mrs. Vera Hagerman delighted with a piano solo.

Mrs. Ed. Colden sang "The Ninety and Nine", with Miss Edna Tanner as accompanist.

Little Miss C. Sine gathered the offering which was over $4.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker was Mrs. Percy MacNichol, of Mount Pleasant, who brought a message on "Thanksgiving".

She said "Thanksgiving to God for blessings received, had its beginning with the ancient Jews and history records feasts of Thanksgiving all through the ages. She traced the various festivals among the Greeks, Druids, Romans, England in the time of Queen Elizabeth, the Plymouth colony of 1621 on down to the proclamation by President Lincoln in the United States.

In 1879, the first official pronouncement was made in Canada by the Marquis of Lorne, a former governor-general. It certainly is a far cry from the days of ancient Rome to our modern Thanksgiving Day, which the Canada celebrated for the 71st time on Monday, October 10.

The speaker quoted poems, Bible passages, parts of hymns and quotations from various sources all pertaining to the theme. "It has been said that a truly thankful person dwells in every hour some heavenly blessing".

Mrs. MacMullen outlined many and varied things that Canadians can be thankful for not forgetting the blessings which are disguised in the form of hardships, pain and care.

She closed her half-hour message with a poem written by Helen B. Anderson of Consecon, based on "A Spirit of True Thankfulness".

Mrs. Murney Johnson graciously thanked Mrs. MacMullen for her interesting message and extended thanks for hospitality, program and refreshments.

Mrs. Frank McGee conducted a "Spelling Match" with two groups and this was a tie 5-5.

The lunch committee served dainty refreshments and all enjoyed a social half-hour over the tea cups.

RAWDON

Wellman's S.I. Holds Special Promotion Service

Rawdon.—On Sunday morning, October 9, a special Thanksgiving and promotion service was held at Wellman's United Church. Flowers, fruit and vegetables added to the beauty of the newly decorated edifice. Each year the Sunday Schools are authorized to have a special promotion service when the Juniors and Teens certificates and the various pupils are promoted from one class to another.

Mr. Frederick Beckett, superintendent of Wellman's Sunday School, took charge of the devotional service and read the names of those who were to be promoted.

Reason of Promotion Service

The pastor, the Rev. H. C. Vaclavik, gave a talk on "The Reason for having a Promotion Sunday once yearly and how it should be conducted".

Mrs. Omar Dracup of the Adult Bible Class gave a splendid talk on "The Value of Promotion Sunday in Our Sunday Schools and what it might mean to these children in future years."

Mrs. Fred Thrasher's class of "Beginners and Primary" went to the platform and sang "Jesus Loves Me", after which Miss Mildred Morton recited Psalm 100.

Mrs. George Watson's class of Juniors and Intermediates, were then heard in a Bible verse recited by each child in that group, after which Misses Annie and Margaret Rose Dracup sang "We Captain Calls", with their mother as accompanist, and the class repeated in unison Psalm 223.

Catechism Questions

Mrs. Lorne Watson, teacher of the Seniors and Young People's Class, were heard in a question and answer version of the Catechism of the United Church of Canada with all participating and Miss Mary Heagle contributed a vocal solo.

Mrs. Burton Morton, teacher of the Young Adult Class, told an interesting story to the children entitled "The Star that Wanted to Help".

Miss Ruth Clancy the Sunday School pianist presided at the piano for this lovely service.

Strange Creature Looks Like Bird, Animal

Toronto, Oct. 18 (CP) — Jack Main of suburban York township caught something which is puzzling him and his neighbors. It looks a bit like a bird, but then it looks a bit like an animal too. One think he pretty nearly is certain — it isn't a fish.

He caught it at Pickering Beach when he saw a pair of small wings sticking out from under a Leaf on the ground. It flew a short distance and then he grabbed it.

It is about four inches long. It has a small head with a row of sharp teeth, large ears and covered with fur like a mouse. Its wings are webbed and it has a V-shaped tail and sharp claws on its back feet.

Amateur zoologists said the rust-colored catch isn't a bat.

McCallum Plans Country Estate For Toronto Aged

Toronto, Oct 18 — (CP) — Mayor H. E. McCallum has big plans for the sunset days of Toronto's older citizens. He envisions a country home to which old people could retire and live comfortably, even on a $40 monthly old-age pension.

"You want to make their sunset days as comfortable as you can," he said, "if I achieve nothing else, I'd like to do this before I leave office."

He proposed a country estate on which three central structures would be built. One would be for ambulatory residents, one for the bed-ridden, and one for mental patients. Adequate, specially-trained medical and maintenance staffs would be provided for the two latter categories.

Secrecy of Ballot Likely Violated In Federal Vote

Regina, Oct. 17—(CP)—Chief Justice J. T. Brown of the Saskatchewan Court of King's Bench says the secrecy of the ballot may have been violated in the June 27 federal election.

Chief Justice Brown made the comment Saturday at the close of a five-day inquiry into the counting of ballots in Regina city constituency and into the conduct of the election. He said:

"If the carbon offset markings which appeared on Regina ballots have been duplicated anywhere else in Canada—and I have no doubt they have—then the secrecy of the whole Canadian vote has been jeopardized."

In Ottawa, Nelson Castonguay, Canada's chief electoral officer, was asked by The Canadian Press if he had received any reports of numbers appearing in carbon on any ballots in the June 27 election. He replied:

"I have received no report of any similar findings from any other judge who officiated at a recount. No carbon paper is used in ballots whatsoever. . . It is impossible to comment on a thing like this; I will have to wait until I receive the official report from the commissioner and study its findings and the evidence contained in it."

M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F. party, said he preferred to make no comment or statement until he has studied Chief Justice Brown's official report. The official report is not expected to be made public for about two weeks.

Could Reveal Voter

Chief Justice Brown said that if the poll book in Regina city constituency had been open to public scrutiny, numbered ballots possibly could reveal the name of a voter and the candidate for whom he had voted.

He was named to conduct the inquiry after J. Probe, defeated C.C.F. candidate, had protested the disallowance by Judge B. D. Hograth of 460 ballots which the deputy returning officer had counted on election night. Judge Hograth conducted a recount, and after it the Liberal candidate, Dr. E. A. McCusker, was declared elected with a plurality of 162 votes.

Mr. Probe, a member of the last House, had requested an investigation of ballots which bore a number contrary to election regulations.

Ballots Become Marked

Staff Sgt. H. H. Radcliffe and R.C.M.P. handwriting specialists expressed belief that several polls ballots in one marked because a D.R.O. filled in numbers on the ballot counterfoils without first removing the ballot from the pad.

As the faces of the black counterfoils were against the faces of the unused ballots, he believed a carbon impression or "offset" was produced. The markings developed. Sgt. Radcliffe said, when the D.R.O. wrote the voter's number and initials on a ballot while using unused ballots as a writing pad.

Chief Justice Brown suggested that the style of ballot should be changed by using a lighter, more permanent ink for borders around the names of the candidates and on the counterfoils.

Evening Branch Of Christ Church W.A. Enjoys Wiener Roast

On Monday evening about twenty members of the Evening Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church Parish, and accompanying husbands and husbands, were entertained at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs., Alfred Evans, Rodney Lake.

During the first part of the evening a sing-song and dancing with music provided by Mrs. J. Hibbard, Mr. P. Burton, Mr. R. Smith and Mr. Evans added to the so small way to the evening's festivities.

Later, all wended their way to the lake shore, where wieners were skewered beside a glowing bon-fire, after which they returned to the cottage for coffee, doughnuts, and toasted marshmallows.

Mr. Everett Smith expressed thanks and appreciation, on behalf of those present to Mr. and Mrs. Evans for their kind hospitality and an exceedingly happy time.

WEDDINGS

KETCHESON—McCOMB

Bonariaw—Gladioli, ferns and other Autumn flowers formed the setting of a very pretty wedding in St. Mark's Anglican Church, Bonariaw, on Saturday afternoon, October 15, when Dorothy Kathleen, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. McComb, and Richard Ward Ketcheson, son of Harry Ketcheson of Foxboro, exchanged marriage vows. Rural Dean Bey, J. M. Brownlie officiated.

Traditional music was played by Mrs. Geo. Williams. The soloist, Mr. Jim Bowen, sang "In The Garden of Tomorrow", and "I'll Walk With You".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white embossed satin with sheer nylon marquisette yoke draped with lace caught up with pearl beads, the long sleeves came to silly points at the wrists. The skirt was ballooned over lace fastened with satin bows. She wore a long net veil attached to a beaded crown and a three-strand string of pearls with earrings to match, the gift of the groom, and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

She was attended by her sister, Doris, as maid of honor, who was gowned in pink brocaded satin and net with net gloves, fingertip veil and Juliet cap to match.

The bridesmaids, Helen Ketcheson, sister of the groom, and Jacqueline Delorme, were blue embossed taffeta, with gloves, fingertip veils and Juliet caps to match. All three attendants carried bouquets of American Beauty roses.

The little flower girl, Patricia Thompson, cousin of the bride, wore a frock of pink taffeta with matching bonnet and carried a nosegay of pink roses and pink and white mums.

The groom was attended by his cousin, George Dafoe. The ushers were Jack McComb, cousin of the bride and Dean Dafoe, cousin of the groom.

The reception was held immediately after the ceremony in St. Mark's Parish Hall, where the bride's mother, wearing grey crepe with white accessories, and the groom's mother wearing green crepe with black accessories and corsages of pink roses and cream roses respectively, received with the bridal couple.

Guests from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ketcheson, St. Catharines; Mrs. Judson Derry, and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Derry, of Colborne; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Derry, Roseneath and Don Anderson, of Merrittton.

After the reception the bride changed to a navy suit.

On their return from a honeymoon trip by motor to Western Ontario points, Mr. and Mrs. Ketcheson will reside at Foxboro.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The Women of the Moose Chapter 435, held their first meeting of the month in the Sac Club rooms, last Thursday with Senior Regent Kathleen Donovan presiding. There was a fair attendance.

All communications and notices were read by Secretary, Mary Peoples.

Chaplain Lena Connell and Treasurer Melissa Carey, thanked the co-workers for baskets received while illness ill.

The Senior Regent Kathleen Donovan received a hearty vote of thanks for her fine report on the convention in Toronto, at which she represented the Chapter.

Plans were made for the coming of Moosehart Pay, which will be held on Pilgrim Governor, James J. Davis' birthday on October 27. There will be a sale of home-cooking, a card party and entertainment in the afternoon which will be followed in the evening by an open meeting, entertainment, refreshments and dancing. A guest speaker will be there from the local newspaper.

Donations for prizes were received from Junior Regent, Ilies and Co-worker Jeffrey.

The Sunshine prize donated by Co-worker E. Haslip was won by Chaplain L. Connell.

The yearly Christmas tree for Moosehart will also be held on Moosehart Chapter night.

Noted Traveller Takes Audience Of Women's Canadian Club On Journey From Cape to Cairo

Last evening, Sir James S. Ross, O.B.E., C.B.E., noted traveller, took the Women's Canadian Club around the world in the assembly rooms of Bridge Street United Church, to the Cave of Good Hope, Africa; thence to Cairo, Egypt, and from there to Palestine by means of the "magic carpet", and pictorial travelogue, a journey of some 5,000 miles or more, and from modern day transportation to that of the remote past.

Sir James, who was introduced by the president of the Club, Mrs. W. J. Doyle, prefaced his travelogue with a brief resume of his work in Africa, mentioning Africa's outstanding modern personage, Jan Christian Smuts, statesman, scientist, and philosopher, who is representative of Africa's history, her character, and high educational attainments, as well as great human aspects.

General Smuts, said Sir James, "often remarked that the greatest gift to man was the power of imaginative memory".

Land of Sunshine

Africa is a land of sunshine, with a lovely coast line, and mantled in beautiful wild flowers covering its vast acreage. Part of these grown by the hand of the leader lifted his trunk, and gradually swung it in his direction, then passing him, swung back to him, sort of a directional television, the amazing trick of the specs of a fraction of a minute, and at the distance of a mile away. Africa's beautiful wild flowers are in order to see them more distinctly. The elephant with the trunk, and the speaker, "are very inquisitive." At one place a half-grown elephant reached both for passage and to allow the floods to pass. It was while the construction was going on, a herd of elephants watched from the bank, and every day would go down to ascertain just how the work was progressing. One day, a lad on a bicycle took the down ward grade before he noticed the herd at the bottom. He leaped from his bike, and the old elephants, after giving the bike up in his trunk, and giving it a couple of swings, hurled it into the bushes.

Monuments Viewed

Leaving the National Park, Victoria Falls, discovered by David Livingstone, the great missionary whose monument stands near by, was viewed from some time, a mighty fall of water, beautiful to see. In some respects like Niagara, except that the rock is of basalt, and that of Niagara is of limestone and sand. The height is 340 feet, while Niagara is 160, but in reality both are the same height if Niagara were measured from the tip to the bottom of the gorge. Victoria Falls, said Sir James in his slip, zig-zags in its course, due to the varying rate at which the rocks leaving ridges. It is estimated to be 120,000,000 years old, while Niagara is but 25,000 years old. The edge of its falls is one mile in length. The Indians called it, "Smoke that thunders."

From Victoria Falls, the magic carpet swept over mountain peaks; past old volcanoes whose open craters were filled with hills with the cores out. In the side of one was a leopard encased in ice since the ice age.

Going west from Nairobi and flying over a huge lake in an extinct mountain crater, pink streaks were seen on the water, and zooming lower, the pink flesh resolved themselves into gorgeous pink flamingos, who flittered out, those at the edges rising first, and as they rose, the pink color gave way to snowy white. A beautiful sight!

Soon the land of Upper Egypt is reached, and the Nile river is followed showing miles of marshy green country, then the rocky stream narrows to a gorge, and passes through a gate, falling 70 feet to the next tropical stretch of river. Here, in this primeval home, are huge primeval creatures, hippos feeding their baby hippos which are as large as fat cows, crocodiles, half in the water and half out of it, never moving, but always seem to be contemplating something. It has been said that "Egypt was the gift of the Nile, and the Nile, the gift of the gods."

Temples Described

Going on the temple of Phili is seen, and Luxor, the terminus of the railway to upper Egypt. Then the temples of Karnak, beautiful in their antiquity. Next the obelish rising 90 feet in the white, hot air, and then the valley of the kings, where are found the implements of various kinds, the workmanship of the people of that far-off time. The early Egyptian were not war-like, but were highly artistic.

Farther on, is the sphinx, a work of art in solid rock, gazing with a far-away look across the desert. Today it is undergoing repairs, for the sands of the desert have gradually worn away some of the head, which is being filled with cement to preserve it from further destruction. Cairo comes next, and it is a medieval city, not an ancient one. Here is the mosque of Mohammed Ali, and a bridge with beautiful pointed arches.

From Cairo, on to Palestine, and in the distance the Dome of the Rock, over the holy Sepulchre, a lovely thing of beauty, erected in 880 A.D, and now on to Bethlehem to spend Christmas morning. The magic carpet lands, and the travelogue is over.

Mrs. Doyle graciously thanked Sir James for his splendid talk, which, coupled with scintillating patches of humor, was outstanding.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE

The monthly C.W.L. meeting was held in John Street High School with Mrs. Doyle presiding. Mrs. Helen Barrett has been appointed the new 2nd vice president.

Mrs. Chris Logan extended an invitation to all members and friends to be present at the C.W.L. tea to be held at the home of Mrs. McAuley's, Aylmer Ave., under the direction of Sammon, Foster, and Ketcheson wards.

Mrs. Yvonne Murphy and Mrs. Eileen Whalen were appointed as hospital visitors for the month of October.

Mrs. Doyle spoke of the new missionary house which is being opened at Alexandria, Ont., and whose sole purpose is the education of sisters for missionary fields. This is highly commendable and worthy of all support given by the C.W.L.

All members were urged to continue their preparations for the bazaar and tea to be held in November in St. Michael's auditorium.

The bridge and euchre tournaments organized by the league are both in progress, and much praise in their enjoyment has been expressed by the members taking part.

The president expressed an urgent desire that the Girl Guides be organized, and would appreciate hearing from any member, who would be interested in getting the project started. Mrs. Doyle suggested that among many of the newcomers to the city there might be some person, who, at one time, had been a leader or captain of the Guides, and who would wish to continue with the work. If so, the president would appreciate hearing from them.

Mrs. McDougall stressed the need of more Red Cross workers, and said that all co-operation would be given to those who wished to help.

Special Program Features 60th Anniversary of Holloway St. W.M.S.

The October meeting of the W.M.S. of Holloway Street United Church was a memorable occasion in the history of the society when it celebrated the 60th anniversary of the organization. This meeting took the form of a pot-luck supper to which members of all the sister societies of the church were invited, and over one hundred guests and members were in attendance.

Mrs. F. Wilson, the president presided, and extended gracious words of welcome to all who were present. Mrs. Empey, presbyterial president, and Mrs. Ralph Sills, vice president of Belleville section, each brought greetings from the larger organizations which they represented, and conducted a short devotional worship service. Mrs. Sills' meditation on Thanksgiving contained a timely message, and was followed by prayer by Mrs. Empey.

Rev. C. J. Queen brought words of greeting from the presbytery, and a message of encouragement from the ministerial and special occasion.

Mrs. James Cordes was the member selected to present the story of the years, which she did in a very capable manner, by gleaning from the past many items and events, important in the years of the society's history. The names of the past presidents, as well as the names of the ministers under the roll were read, many of whom were present.

The secretary of the evening, Mrs. R. Self, of Toronto, past president of the Dominion Board of the W.M.S., was introduced by Mrs. C. A. Perkins, who in turn introduced Mrs. Self as one of the first group, of mission-aries to go to West China under the United Church.

Her message dealt mainly with two phases of the work; that of the boarding schools and homes, and of the community work in Ontario and also in Newfoundland. Her travels across Canada, and the personal contacts with the teachers and matrons in the various schools made a very interesting story of self sacrifice and accomplishment. She also paid high tribute to the work done by the community workers, particularly in Newfoundland, where the problems of transportation are many and difficult on account of the nature of the country. Her closing message was a challenging one. "The past is our heritage. It demands our gratitude and respect, and bids us live in the light of today serving our time and generation as faithfully and well as did those who have gone before.

The musical part of the program consisted of two songs, "Life's Railway to Heaven", "Mother Machree", contributed by Mr. Maurice Bennett, accompanied by Mrs. E. M. Hubbs.

WOMEN'S LIBERAL ASSOC.

A meeting of the executive of the Belleville Women's Liberal Association was held on Friday evening last, at the home of the president, Mrs. George Wilson, Chatham Street.

This meeting was well attended and much interest shown.

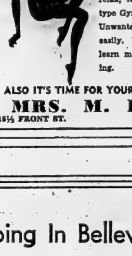
The president said that the object of meeting was to discuss plans for their social and business meetings during coming Winter months. These meetings would also keep members together and keep them informed on affairs of political nature, as the success of the campaign in June was due to being well organized.

The treasurer's report was read and showed a surplus on hand.

It was decided to hold a joint meeting at a later date of the executives of the different Belleville Liberal Associations.

A pleasant event during the meeting, was that of being surprised by the arrival of the member from Ottawa, Mr. Frank Follwell.

Mr. Follwell gave the ladies a very instructive talk on proceedings and routine in the House, during sittings of parliament at Ottawa.



Refreshments were served by the president at the close of the meeting.

Arts and Crafts Club Meets

The October meeting of the Belleville Arts and Crafts Club was held in the Corby Library with the president, Mrs. Harold Robbins, presiding.

After the preliminary business session Mrs. Mary Quinn introduced the guest of the evening, Miss Mabel Cass, of the Ontario School for the Deaf, who criticized work done by the painting group. Those who exhibited were Eileen Arnott, Mrs. G. Hornsby, Mary Quinn, Margaret Robbins, Gladys Simpson and Mary Moult.

Miss Leona Riggs gave a brief talk on her recent visit to Paris which was much appreciated.

MARMORA

St. Paul's Church Holds Colorful 75th Anniversary

Marmora—The parishioners of St. Paul's Church, Marmora, observed the 75th anniversary of the laying of its cornerstone on Sunday, well filling the church for two memorable services. The church was beautifully decorated with choice chrysanthemums and dahlias; the former were the gift of Marmora A.F. & A.M. 222, and the latter, the gift of Dr. G. Hammond.

Another appreciated feature of the anniversary was the installation on loan of a Wurlitzer electric organ by Mr. Sparks, representative of Cherney Brothers of Peterborough. At the 11 A.M. choral celebration, taken by the Rector, Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie, L.Th., S. Th., 88 persons communicated.

Letters of Congratulation

The letter of Most Rev. John Lyons, M.A., D.D., Archbishop of Ontario, which appears at the commencement of the historical booklet that is issued at this time, was referred to by the Rector. It reads: "Congratulations to St. Paul's Church on this very important occasion in the history of their parish. May God's choicest blessings attend you in your unilateral endeavours in His Church as you face the future in these very difficult days.

Faithfully yours,
John, Ontario.

The Rector also read a letter from the Reverend Phillip Calgey Watson, of Galetta, rector of the parish, 1923-1926, in which, after expressing regret that his health did not permit him to be present, continued, "May God bless you all and give to St. Paul's a long and happy service for Him among men. I shall think of you all on the 16th and remember you at my altar here. Kindest regards and best wishes, I do wish I could be with you.

Sincerely,
Phillip Calgey Watson.

In his address, the rector briefly touched upon four statements drawn from historic occasions in the life of God's people. Two were from the lips of Solomon with reference to the temple. "Will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, Heaven and the Heaven of heavens cannot contain Thee", and "But who am I and what is my people that we should be able to offer so willingly after this sort? For all things come of Thee, O Lord, and of Thine own, have we given Thee".

The third was part of St. Stephen's defence. "Howbeit the Most High dwelleth not in temples made with hands" and the fourth was St. Paul's words at Athens, "The Lord that made the world, and all things therein. He, being Lord of Heaven, and earth, dwelleth not, in temples made with hands."

Lovely Parish Church

The preacher said it was appropriate to call their fine worshipful to a lovely little parish church. He also touched upon the 44 years of service of its first rector, the late Canon C. M. Harris, whom he said was like the late Reverend A. B. Caldwell, rector for 19 and one half years, who has given the parish the unique distinction of having had but two rectors in the history of its full period of the ministrations at St. Paul's. The anniversary, he felt, should constitute a great act of reconsecration. He closed with sentences from the historical booklet, "The reaching of the 75th milestone gives us no perimeter of what lies ahead, but ours has been a goodly heritage over these years of the which we say thank God, and take fresh courage for the future. To all, who shall labor, come the words of the Master, "Other men have labored and ye have entered into their labors" and from the words of David to his son Solomon, "Thou mayest add thereto."

Meaningful Stones

At choral evensong at which the rector officiated, the special preacher was the Venerable Archdeacon F. A. Smith, B.A., of St. Thomas, Belleville, who preached eloquently on Mark 13: 1, "Master, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here". After touching upon the significance of sacred stones in Holy Writ, the Archdeacon mentioned the stones of churches such as St. Paul's, speak of three things. They speak of stability and suggest loyalty to the church; They have a message of sacrifice and of him who fulfilled all foreshadowings of Himself as the Great Sacrifice; they also speak of that faith that we should fight and strive for as the faith of our fathers."

The Archdeacon, before his sermon, offered congratulations for the parish and said he was pleased to accept the invitation as preacher on this occasion. He could truly say St. Paul's was a beautiful church and a credit upon the part of the rector, and congregation. The choir rendered the anthem "O bow amiable are Thy dwellings", by Caleb Semper, with Rural Dean Brownlie taking the solo part.

Nonagenerian Attends

Attending both services was Mrs. John Lough now in her 90th year, who as Isabelle Bailey, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey, attended the laying of the cornerstone with the rest of the family. Allusion was made to this day by the rector as well as to the fact that Jesse Barker of Bonarstow, was also present on that occasion. At the evening service, the six other church of St. Mark's, there were a number from St. Mark's congregation. Former members attending the services included Mrs. M. Taft, Kingston; Mrs. G. Hill, Madoc; Mrs. H. Melville, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Melville, Campbellford; Mrs. Leroy Adams, Napanee; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jones, Norwood.

Masonic brethren of A.F. & A.M. 222 with visiting brethren from Prince Edward district lodges, are attending the special service this Monday evening, at which the Right Reverend W. L. Wright, D.D., Bishop of Algoma, will be the preacher. An informal reception follows in the Town Hall. Concluding the anniversary is the anniversary chicken supper in the Town Hall on Thursday evening.

BURR'S

Burrs—The Bowerman church celebrated its anniversary Sunday evening with the Rev. G. A. Pottenham, B.D., of Grace Street United Church, Trenton, as guest speaker. The theme of his address was appropriate to the Thanksgiving season, stressing the things of lasting value in life that give the Christian real cause for thankfulness.

The church decorations featured Thanksgiving fruits, vegetables and flowers evidence of the bounty and beauty of the harvest time.

Mrs. G. Hendry presided at the organ, with the choir furnishing a special number and a vocal duet by Mrs. C. Tait and Mrs. Ron Burr "The Garden of Peace".

Many availed themselves of the opportunity of attending this Thanksgiving service.

Mrs. Leon Caughey opened her home for the October W.A. on Thursday afternoon.

The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. C. Hough and Mrs. E. Harris.

Business for the day included discussing a sale of food and serving on the market during November; making plans for the annual Hallowe'en social and masquerade; ordering Christmas cards; paying bills for a Communion tray and glasses. The tray is the work of the skilful hands of Mr. A. Carley, Melville, and was much admired.

The program consisted of readings by Mrs. E. Harris and Mrs. A. Foster and a brief review of an address by Rev. O. Smith at Holloway Street Church by Mrs. Ross Burr.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. C. L. McHenry for flowers and cards from members.

Guests attending were Mrs. E. Caughey and Sharon, Crofton, and Mrs. A. Foster, Wellington.

The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Percy Chase.

Physician Ordered To Pay Damages

Montreal, Oct. 18. (CP)—A Chateauguay, Que., physician yesterday was ordered to pay $150 punitive damages to a fellow-townsman he had unjustifiably declared violently insane.

Mr. Justice C. A. Bertrand's judgment ended a $5,000 damage suit taken by Pierre Poulin, 54, against Dr. J. K. Williams after the latter had signed a certificate saying Poulin was insane and recommending that he be committed to a mental institution.

Mr. Justice Bertrand said evidence showed the doctor's finding had been rendered largely on evidence of Poulin's wife and neighbors and that Dr. Williams had made his diagnosis without sufficient justification.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

It's so different today
PIRACY on the High Seas was, no doubt, exciting until it came to breakfasting on salt pork and ship's biscuit. Nowadays that delicious cereal, Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes, is eaten joyfully on land and sea and air. It's made from nut meats, but TWO grains — semi-ground wheat and malted barley.
Bold buccaneers of today come aboard with zest when Grape-Nuts Flakes are in the offing. And a good thing too, because these hearty golden flakes provide nourishment they need . . . useful quantities of carbohydrates, proteins, phosphorous, iron and other food essentials. Say "Ahoy, Mr. Grocer! Grape-Nuts Flakes, please!"

Moonshine War Claims Third Man In Two Years

Daisy, Tenn., Oct. 17 (AP) — Daisy Mountain's moonshine feud "is due to take its place with the famed Hatfield and McCoy squabble in southern United States mountain history.

Spawned during a dispute over the making of corn whisky and fanned by bitter hatred, the feud flamed anew during the week-end. Another man was killed on the lonely mountainside — the third to die since the bill country war began two years ago.

Police found William L. (Boots) Parker lying on a muddy slope of the mountain Saturday night, shot three times and bludgeoned with an ax.

Raymond Bell, 39, was found at the scene, two ax wounds on his head. Bell and his brother, Ed, 23, were arrested and Chief Deputy Scott Swafford charged them with murder.

Officers have redoubled patrols on the mountain but have met with the same tight - lipped silence that greeted them after the two previous deaths; no one knows anything about the slayings.

"It's hard to get those people on the mountain to talk," says Sheriff Frank Burns.

Evidence has been sparse whenever one of the mountaineers has been tried for a killing. Several persons recently were indicted on murder charges in the first two deaths. Three trials were held and all were acquitted.

Parker was the brother of Theodore (Pep) Parker, reported to be the leader of one of the factions, who is now serving 18 months in a Kentucky prison for transporting illegal whisky. There are plenty of relatives and friends to take up the battle if they choose.

110 Lonely Age Says Woman

North Bay, Oct. 17 — (CP) — Mrs. Isabella Sharow was 110 today. A reporter asked the inevitable: Does she know of any other Canadian?

"I'm the oldest," said Mrs. Sharow.

Then a bit wistfully: "It is very lonely to be such an old, old woman."

Soo Residents Plan New Home For Quadruplets

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 18 (CP)—Townspeople from the Soo are down in this northern Ontario steel centre are planning to build a house for the Hargreaves quadruplets.

Operations will swing into high gear with the opening of a house fund which civic officials predict will be widely supported by the city's 32,000 citizens.

First move was Mayor W. H. C. Brien's announcement last week that the city would give the best available location in the city for a new house to the Hargreaves family.

"At the present time, the Hargreaves are living in a small house and their immediate need is a bigger house," said Mayor Brien. "Naturally, this - happy event has come as a big surprise not only to the father and mother but to everyone in the city and outside.

"Every citizen of the Soo is proud of the mother, the father and the four little girls, and are anxious and more than willing to help in any way."

It was learned that two nurses will be assigned to help Mrs. Hargreaves with her household work and with her babies when she leaves hospital.

Tonight, a special meeting of the Trades and Labor Council will discuss the question of building and furnishing a home for the family that doubled in size from four to eight last Thursday. Mrs. Hargreaves had two children by a former marriage.

Dr. John McDonald, who attended the quads' birth, said Sunday night the four little girls are "in tip-top shape" and the 26-year-old mother is in good spirits.

Three incubators loaned by the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children were flown here after hospital officials were informed that the quads were all in one incubator and three more were needed.

FLOOD CONTROL

Brandon, Man., (CP) — The Assiniboine River is now two miles shorter. A new channel cut 15 miles west of here eliminated a large loop. The project was undertaken as a flood control measure.

Frustration Cause of Stomach Ulcers in Dogs

Chicago, Oct. 17 (AP) —Frustration is expected to cause stomach ulcers in dogs at the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

If this can happen to a dog, maybe it can happen to a man.

This is one of the ideas behind some new ulcer experiments.

The frustrated dogs are conditioned to expect food every time a bell rings. The bell rings every two hours. Now and then the ring brings food, but mostly only expectation, disappointment, and finally ulcers or their beginnings.

Another dog experiment explains how the frustration works. Surgery fixes them so that food they eat drops out of their gullets before reaching their stomachs. This is called sham feeding and it stimulates acid secretion in their stomachs. The excess acids cause the ulcers.

The Illinois researchers believe the dog tests may help emotional flare-ups influence ulcers. They do not believe emotions are the primary cause.

Some Preventatives

This view of a primary cause is supported by finding substances in the blood that tend to prevent ulcers. One comes from the linings of intestines, the other from urine.

The intestinal material is enteroglucon. This extract definitely helps human ulcers. It triples the intervals or time between attacks of ulcers. But the effects have been irregular and there have been no cures.

The other substance, anfhelone, was found by Dr. David J. Sandweiss, Harper Hospital, Detroit. This too helps, but fails to cure. The best amounts are found in people with ulcers.

Anything that reduces acid in the stomach, such as milk or ulcer treatment. Two surgical operations also help. One removes some of the acid-making parts of a stomach, the other interrupts the vagus nerve which controls production of stomach acid.

With emotions, nerves, acids and natural extracts identified, medical science has peptic ulcers hemmed in, but the essential cause, and its cure, still missing.

JOY AND SADNESS

Camden, N.J., Oct. 17—(AP)—Life and death came to the Rocco Gamble family within several hours.

Gamble's 21-year-old wife gave birth to their first son yesterday morning.

Returning to the home of his mother-in-law to announce the birth, Gamble was told his oldest child, Charlotte May, three, had been struck by a truck and killed.

The Gambles have another daughter, aged one.

Soo Attracts Many Bears

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Oct. 18 — (CP) — Police Chief I. L. Robertson and officials of the wildlife division of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests are a bit puzzled over numerous reports of bears within the city limits of Sault Ste. Marie during the weekend. They can't understand the "invasion."

City Police Constable John Campbell brought down a cub with a well-placed shot after an alarm had been raised by an east end resident. A large black bear was spotted Saturday in the same district. Two others, big ones, were reported coming out of the bush in a northern section of the city.

Bears don't generally come out of the bush this time of year, the wildlife men commented.

Develop Auckland As Big World Port

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

Auckland, — (CP)— The port of Auckland is on the threshold of a period of development which it is claimed will make it one of the world's great ports.

Auckland is by far the largest city in New Zealand, with a population of nearly 300,000 and it is growing more rapidly than ever before. Much of its wealth depends on its port. It has two harbors, one providing a deeper coast, for the North Island narrows to an isthmus at the site of the city and in some places the two harbors almost meet. So that it is only a few hundred yards from one side of New Zealand to the other.

The western harbor is shallow and is used only by coastal vessels. The great port development has been in the eastern harbor, the Waitemata, which already has docks extending for two miles. It is now proposed to develop a port capable of accommodating a further 25 large ships in the upper reaches of the harbor.

The project will involve the reclamation of at least 900 acres of land, extensive dredging, the building of a four-lane highway and railway, and construction of modern berthing facilities. The cost is estimated at $25,000,000.

The Auckland Harbor Board's engineer, M.L. Vickerman, is already making inquiries from British and Dutch contractors who may be interested in the development scheme as the work is too large to be undertaken with local equipment. It is planned to start on the first part of the project—the reclamation of 200 acres of land for bulk oil storage—in the near future and further development will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible.

Ilse Koch Must Face New War Crimes Charges

Landsberg, Germany, Oct. 18 (AP)—Ilse Koch, the hard-faced blond who once was the mistress of Buchenwald's Concentration Camp, today was turned over to German authorities to face war crimes charges in a German court.

United States army guards surrounded the Landsberg prison to prevent hostile demonstrations by angry Germans as Ilse was released after serving a four-year sentence imposed by an Allied Military Court.

The former wife of Buchenwald's commandant was turned over to German authorities without incident.

Col. Walter P. Graham of St. Paul, Minn., prison commander, had feared demonstrations by a score of 4,000 Jews in nearby Displaced Persons Camps. Many of the D.P.s were believed to have had relatives in Buchenwald where Ilse conducted her notorious rule of sadism during the war.

She was sentenced by the Allied court to life imprisonment but Gen. Lucius D. Clay cut the term to four years, which she completed early today.

The Germans have charged her on five major counts, one of which involves the wanton shooting of 24 Jewish prisoners in 1941.

In her previous trial she was accused of having made lamp shades out of the tattooed skins of prisoners—an accusation she denied.

The tattoo charge also probably will be aired again, since she is accused of inciting the death of two tattooed camp inmates.

Veteran M.P. Proud Of Musical Record

Knockholt, Kent, England — (CP) — Sir Waldron Smithers, 66, is celebrating his 25th year as Conservative member of parliament for Orpington.

But he is prouder of his 50 years as organist of the parish church here.

As a youth, he took early-morning music lessons before starting his day's work in London's financial district. When 19 he became church organist, later married the rector's daughter. Five years ago he presented the church with a £1,200 ($3,720) organ.

DANISH PRINCESS DIES

Copenhagen, Oct. 17 — (AP)— Princess Margaret of Denmark, 84, died Sunday night. She was the former Countess Mathilde Calvi di Bergolo, daughter of a former Italian Minister to Denmark. In 1914 she married Prince Axge, son of Prince Vlademar, a brother of King Frederik of Denmark.

Cabbies Play Rough With Private Cars

Johannesburg, — (CP) —Taxi drivers in this South African city take strong steps to keep private motorcars from their stands. Police report that some cabbies slash tires of private cars or also, on a slight slope, force the door, release the brake and let the car roll until it collides with others.

A recent victim a doctor told police that after attending an emergency case he found a taxi driver deflating his tires. When he protested three others appeared and threatened to "put him in the hospital."

Singing, Dancing Longevity Recipe

London, — (CP) — James Patrick O'Leary one-time song-and-dance man, has celebrated his 106th birthday.

"Singing and dancing have kept me young," O'Leary told interviewers. "That and an occasional glass of beer."

Living alone in a Finsbury room, O'Leary sews to keep himself from getting lonely.

"I go out sometimes on a bus," he said, "but I preferred the old hansom cabs."

Scots Will Restore Jerusalem Memorial

Glasgow — (CP) — A campaign has been launched to raise $62,000 to repair the Scots Memorial in Jerusalem, which was damaged during recent fighting.

The building commemorates Scots who died in the Middle East in the First World War. The funds will be used to add a Second World War memorial and acquire adjacent land.

The existing memorial is a church and hospice. The campaign has the support of the Church of Scotland and leaders in Scottish affairs.

MARMORA

Resort Owners To Encourage Winter Sports

Marmora, — Crowe — Valley Lakes Association held another representative gathering of resort owners in the Canadian Legion Hall on Friday evening, Joseph Bard, president, occupied the chair and an interesting session ensued.

Further consideration was given to details in connection with the proposed advertising folder for the area.

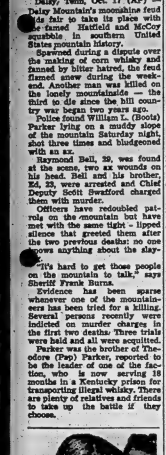
Discussion then turned to the matter of the development of Winter Sports in the area.

Orders Ski-Tow

It was mentioned by secretary-treasurer, James Cumming, that he had ordered equipment for a ski-tow for the Belmont Lake Ski Club whose headquarters are at his resort. It is also understood by the Association that Vern Caverly, of Glen Allan Park, is going ahead with a similar project which will be under way in the Winter of 1950-51.

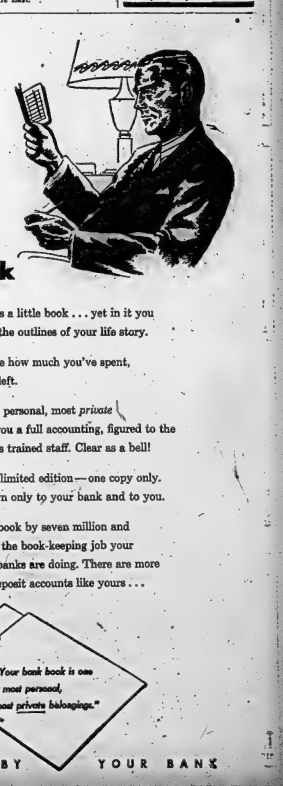
The Association also went on record to give support to Winter sports under the various sponsors in the area covered by them. Information will be collected from Deer Lake Ski Club whose headquarters are at Boer War. The title became extinct. The present laird whose mother was Lord Leith daughter has another son now in the line to inherit the castle.

13th Century Curse Recalled by Killing



Fyvie Castle, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, — (CP) — A grenade thrown by a Malayan bandit has recalled a curse put on the lairds of this castle by a 13th-century bard.

The grenade killed 21-year-old Lieut. John Forbes-Leith, heir of Sir Ian Forbes-Leith, of Fyvie Castle. It also killed two other members of the Scots Guards, on patrol when ambushed near Kuala Lampur Sept. 27.



The curse, invoked by a travelling minstrel known as Thomas the Rhymer, because Fyvie Castle was built from an unused abbey's stones, prophesied that no male heir would inherit the castle and its estates.

The curse has never been forgotten and the last three lairds of the 19th century died without leaving a son.

The only son of the first Lord Leith was killed at 19 during the Boer War. The title became extinct. The present laird whose mother was Lord Leith daughter has another son now in the line to inherit the castle.

Sid Smith One Point Ahead Of All Scorers

Montreal, Oct. 18 — (CP)—Sid Smith, a Toronto Maple Leaf rookie who captured the American Hockey League scoring championship last season, has moved in front of the National Hockey League point-race by a slim one-point margin.¹

Official statistics released today show that the 24-year-old left winger with Pittsburgh Hornets last season has four points — two goals and two assists. Seven players are grouped for second place with three points each. They are: Maurice Richard and rookie Gilles Dube, Montreal Canadiens; Paul Ronty and Johnny Peirson, Boston Bruins; Fleming Mackell and Howie Meeker, Toronto Maple Leafs; and George Gee, Detroit Red Wings.

The next spot is divided among 10 players, each with two points.

Richard and Gee are tied for first place in goals with three each while Peirson leads the assist department with three.

Toronto's Ted Kennedy and Montreal's rugged Kenny Reardon lead in the penalty division with 10 minutes each spent in the cooler.

Big Bill Durnan of Canadiens is the first netminder to register a goose-egg. The Allstar goalie chalked it up against Black Hawks in Montreal's first game of the season. Durnan also leads in the goals scored against column with only one puck posted to his two outings.

Montreal, who finished third in the N. L. schedule last year, are on top of the pack with a perfect record — two wins and no defeats. They are closely followed by Toronto's first game-of-the-season record — two wins and no defeats. They are closely followed by Toronto's first game-of-the-season record — two wins and no one tie. Detroit's Red Wings have two points, the result of a weekend victory over Boston. Boston, Chicago and Rangers are in the cellar with one point.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—All we can say at the moment is that it's a good thing Frank Leahy got in there fast with a denial of that widely-published prediction that Notre Dame could lose seven games this season . . . like many golfers are expected to take shots at the 1949-50 winter tour that opens next month . . . still either have pre-qualifying tests or will use two courses for the 36-hole rounds . . . And wasn't it thoughtful of the P.G.A. to book a couple of December events at Los Angeles so can pick up Christmas-shopping Monday?

Nature Lover

When Clyde Smith, Indiana grid coach, recently stole a couple of hours from work to drive Mrs. Smith through the hill country for a look at the Autumn foliage, he seemed somewhat preoccupied. Finally Mrs. S. rebuked him: "You look out the windows but you don't see trees, only tackles and guards."

"Yeah," mused Smitty, "it wish we had a few big—but not so green."

Detroit's Billy Evans, who figures Aaron Robinson still is good for a couple more years with the Tigers, says he hasn't seen a good catching prospect anywhere, though he has done a lot of looking.

Volants to Fly 10,000 Miles In Hockey Tour

(By The Canadian Press)

In a five-week, 18-game exhibition tour of Britain, the Montreal-Hull Volants of the E.C.H.L. will fly about 10,000 miles. This is the longest ever undertaken by a travelling hockey team, J. F. (Sunny) Ahearne, Secretary of the British Hockey Association, said at London.

The team is due to arrive at Prestwick, Scotland, Oct. 30 and will play three games in Scotland —at Falkirk Oct. 31, Ayr Nov. 2 and Paisley Nov. 5.

They will have one game in England—against Harringay Racers at London Nov. 8—before flying to The Netherlands. There they will play at the Hague and Amsterdam, move on to Belgium for a game at Antwerp and then play five games in Sweden.

They will fly to Switzerland for five more games and return to London Dec. 6. Another game at London will round out the tour before the Volants—in French "Volants" means "Flier"—fly back to Ottawa Dec. 8.

Except for internal travel in Switzerland, every inch of their journey will be by air.

Cleveland Barons Showing Results Of Reorganization

New York, Oct. 18 — (CP) — Cleveland Barons, showing the results of active off - season reorganization, led the American Hockey League at the end of the first week's play, including games through Sunday, Oct. 16.

Cleveland topped the western division with three victories and no defeats.

The eastern division found New Haven Ramblers and Buffalo Bisons leading with one victory and one loss each.

Les Canuns, a new addition to the Cleveland Roster, swept scoring honors. He led in total points with 13 goals with six and assists with seven. The Barons took the three top places in scoring. Ken Schultz was second with eight points and Roy Kelly was tied for third with Jack McGill of Providence Reds. Each had seven points.

Bud McPherson, rookie defence star for the new Cincinnati Mohawks, spent 15 minutes in the penalty box to lead the punishment column.

Among goalies, Terry Sawchuk of Indianapolis racked up a sparkling 1.00 average in allowing only three goals in three games. He shared shutout honors with Pittsburgh's Gil Mayer, with one each.

Emile Collette, President of the Canadian Professional Golfers' Association, announced at Montreal Metropolitan Golf Club's invitation from Antonio Correa, President of the Mexican Golf Association, to Canadian amateurs to participate in the Mexican amateur golf championship.

The Mexican amateur will be held at Mexico City Oct. 30-Nov. 2.

Mr. Collette, who is also an honorary member of the United States P.G.A., has notified the Mexican Golf Association of the invitation.

Frank Parker Monday at New York signed a professional tennis contract with promoter Bobby Riggs, formally abandoning the amateur game in which he has been a standout performer since he was 15 years old.

Parker signed for a one-year team at $500 a week. He will make his debut in the play-for-pay game at Madison Square Garden Oct. 25, playing a second-day role in the touring troupe headed by the United States National champion, Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, who also recently turned pro, and former champion Jack Kramer. Parker will oppose Francisco Segura of Ecuador. The troupe is scheduled to appear in about 100 cities.

Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League Monday night defeated their farm club, Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League 4-0 at Pittsburgh in a Benefit game for Aldege (Ban) Baetien.

A crowd of 3,223 paid $4,512.07 to see the game, proceeds of which go to Baetien, former Hornet goalie, whose ice career was ended when he lost an eye in a training-camp accident a month ago. He had been voted the best goalie in the A.H.L. for 1948-49.

All players, as well as employees at the Gardens, gave their services without charge. In addition, Baez was given $700 in gifts from other A.H.L. clubs.

Arthur King, Canadian and British Empire Lightweight champion from Toronto, will make his first London ring appearance next night against Tommy McGovern of England.

Ranked fourth among the contenders for the world lightweight title, King is heavily favored to gain the 10-round decision. He met McGovern once before in Toronto and won easily over eight rounds.

On the same card will be a 10-round bout between Ellis Ask, the Finnish featherweight who was sponsored in the United States by Jack Dempsey, and Solly Cantor, a lightweight from Toronto.

Disappointment of Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen at the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association decision not to grant a player transfer to Dick Wray, late of Saint John Beavers, was tempered Monday.

The Dutchmen, Senior Ontario Hockey Association Club, announced at Kitchener two new players will join them. They are former National Hockey League Star Bobby Bauer and Art Herchenratter, formerly of the American Hockey League.

Montreal Canadiens announced Monday that defenceman Roger Leger has been sent to Cincinnati as a temporary fill-in for the American Hockey League team.

Leger will replace Jacques Deslauriers, who has suffered a broken bone in the hand and is expected to report back to his National Hockey League Club when Deslauriers returns to action.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By STEWART ANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Fredericton, Oct 18. (CP)—The United Nations is busy with more serious matters but it might be a good idea to set this matter before them anyway.

The question is a game of international football in which the fans and players across the continent might be content with the rules.

Jack (Fredericton Gleaner) Riley asks: "Why couldn't a Marlilme type of the game be set up which would incorporate all the fine points of both union and league rugger and Canadian and United States football?"

In the Maritimes the football addicts may be divided into three classes—those favoring the Canadian style with its padded participants; the union followers, whose game originated with the English amateur teams; and the league rugger fans.

The latter differs from the union style in that 12 men play instead of 15.

The latest invader of Maritime gridirons is Canadian—football, played in the same manner as it is in Quebec, Ontario and the Western provinces. The features alone can answer the question as to which has the most fan appeal down east.

In that part of the country which is referred to as "Upper Canada' we have another controversy in progress. Says Riley, "This verbal battle is between the Canadian football backers and the American football backers in an effort to have one set of rules for the two games, combining the finer points of each."

Dr. Arthur H. Adams of the Physical Education Department of Queens University made the first step in this direction by writing a book on the subject.

"He recommends changes in both games, such as the size of the Canadian playing field, increased interference based on left American game. Also, all the backs should be in motion as in the Canadian game."

"All of the four games," says Riley, "have many fine points and these might produce a game that would give action, thrills, block, tackle, fast movements of the ball, which should be kept in sight as much as possible."

Kitchener Club Requested to Play Professional

Kitchener, Oct. 18 — (CP) — J. G. Becker, president of Kitchener Legionnaires, said Monday night Buffalo interests recently invited the Kitchener club to link up with an International class "B" baseball circuit.

He did not identify the interests. He said the suggested hookup would include Brantford, which along with Kitchener is in Ontario's Intercounty Senior League, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Welland in the Niagara Falls, N. Y., along with two other United States teams.

Brantford is reported to have viewed the scheme with some favor but the local club has turned it down.

Intercounty Secretary C. D. Campbell said any move to professionalize the loop would involve major complications in the Ontario Baseball Association status of intermediate and minor teams and probably mean a complete break with the lower status clubs.

Kitchener officials are said to feel that legislation on Monday at the intercounty meeting at Galt, Wednesday would provide the same effect as professionalization.

The salary issue is said to be the likely major issue when representatives of the eight clubs meet executives. Clubs are said ready to consider setting a player salary limit.

"Something has to be done, for we're forcing some of the players from teams out of the league," said Becker.

RACERS TO BRITAIN

Johannesburg (CP) — Prince Bernard and Fearless Phantom, two greyhounds, left here recently to represent South Africa in the dog-racing events in Britain. The dogs were crack performers on the Witwatersrand before dog racing was banned by the Transvaal provincial council.

Assault Retired To Home Ranch

New York, Oct. 18 (AP) — Assault, one of the gamest and best of modern race horses, today was on his way back to the Texas farm where he was born to complete his days in the idleness he richly earned.

The crowd's roar, the straining drive to the wire, the sweet taste of victory—all are over for Robert J. Kleberg's little chestnut six-year-old, fourth biggest money-winner but history lives on in him.

520. Two years ago, Assault twice headed the golden list.

Trainer Max Hirsch announced Monday that his famed charge had been retired permanently to Kleberg's vast King Ranch farm after stabling at Belmont in a comeback campaign this year.

The announcement came as no surprise. It became obvious only last Saturday at Jamaica. Assault, far from his former brilliant self, finished a jaded eighth in the Grey Lag Handicap.

Hirsch, resisting romping on his owner's farm, he stepped on something side to a spike. It left him with a malformed right forefoot.

As a three-year-old, he became the first thoroughbred to win $400,000 in purse money—his total was $424,195. During midsummer that year, he fought off a kidney ailment.

The following season he was voted the top handicap horse. That fall, splint trouble developed in his left foreleg, it bothered him intermittently long afterward.

He was on the road to a comeback in February, 1948, when he went to pieces in Hialeah's Widener. The courageous colt suffered a recurrence of the splint ailment, a popped sesamoid and wrenched ankle—all in the same left foreleg.

The only horses with bigger earnings than Assault are Stymie ($916,485), Citation ($865,150) and Armed ($809,850).

Warns Hunters To be Careful Of Fire Damage

Toronto, Oct. 18 (CP)—Now that the hunting season has opened Ontario Lands Minister Harold Scott coupled an appeal to hunters to be careful of fire with a review of fire damage in Ontario forest and bushland this year.

A total of 1,760 separate fires burned over an area of 59,140 acres, he reported. The number of fires was 616 higher than the average during the past 9 five years.

The largest blazes were in the Trent forestry district, 15,270 acres. Other provincial forestry stations reported fires as follows: Sioux Lookout 122, Kenora 193, Fort Frances 55, Port Arthur 115, Geraldton 38, Kapuskasing 33—all held to one acre or less — Cochrane 79, Sault Ste. Marie 167, Chapleau 45, Cogama 37, Timiskaming 76, Sudbury 248, North Bay 139, Parry Sound 143, Algonquin 86, Trent 88 and Quinte 97.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Soccer which has enjoyed its best season here in a couple of decades will wind up its 1949 debut on October 29th. Thanks to the zest of Quinte Soccer League executive headed by president Les Higby, clubs has enjoyed a fine resurrection. Belleville, Trenton, S.S., Bellville United, Northern Electric and other teams have contributed greatly to the rebirth of the fine British sport, and it is hoped that next year will see more fan action, and subsequent interest in the game.

* * *

Wrestling will wind up its 1949 season here on Friday night in a blaze of team-match glory when the Whipper Wykes-Pat Flanagan duo again clash with Fred Atkins and Hardboiled Hanigan in a battle royal. This time, however, the four principals will be allowed to enter the ring, at the same time and this fact in conjunction with that of two referees should make for some exciting entertainment for the faithful. There is no love lost among these four huskies and the chips will be down Friday when they meet in their final appearance here for this year, at least.

* * *

According to the last issue of the hockey news, the boys that pound nails in the National Hockey League's centres have picked the Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings to finish one-two when that long 70-game schedule ends. Wise scribes selected the Smythemen while six put their figurative money on Tommy Ivan's Red Wings. Back in third slot they selected the Canadiens with the Chicago Black Hawks slated to fill the clean-up spot.

* * *

Says the News, "Boston Bruins, last Spring's second place finishers, were rated as no better than fifth-place prospect for this campaign, despite the addition of a new coach—Buck Boucher—and the acquisition of hockey's outstanding gentleman, Bill Quackenbush, as blue line boss and as a defenseman. Bill, should strengthen the Bruin rearguard, but the writers figure they haven't enough up front."

* * *

And while on the subject of Les Canadiens we note they are celebrating their 40th birthday this year. They were organized in 1909 and have been one of the most colorful squads to play in the National Hockey League since they first saw the light of their professional day. Says the Hockey News commenting on the Blake ruby celebration, "It would be folly indeed to try and pick the Canadiens greatest team since they first arrived on the hockey scene. Rake club of the war years have been rated among many as the greatest ever formed. Others will argue that they were wartime clubs with little opposition."

* * *

Continuing, the News remarks, and we agree: "Although it is a hard job picking the best club from Canadiens long, long trail, without a doubt two of their top teams in their history appeared during the 1929-30 and 1931-32 seasons. Led by the late Cecil Hart, the Habs had such great players as Hainswort, in the nets, Burke, both Mantha, Mondou, Joliat, Gagnan, Pit Lepine, Jean Pusie; Gus Rivers, Albert Leduc, Nick Wasnie, Bert Cafferty, Gerry Carson, Armand Mondou, Art Lesieur and Wilfor LaRochelle." What a team!

Secretary Frank Bawsey of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association has released the 1949 list of minor champions. At least some place east of Oshawa trotted off one of the minor emblems in the form of the Hastings Junior "C" squad. Beamsville 36 School won the juvenile "C" title; Sarnia Sparling Thistles and Welland St. Peter and St. Paul won the Zone 1 and Zone 2 midget titles respectively. Brantford Echo Place Orioles are the Zone 3 bantam champs, with Oshawa Natives and Oshawa Connaught Park kids knocking off the Zone 4 midget and bantam titles respectively.

Beamsville 36 School, 1949 juvenile "C" champs won 24 and of 32 games played and travelled 596 miles in their successful quest for the title. Hastings Junior "C's" travelled 900 miles down that tough Stellar trail.

* * *

And while on this softball subject, we are of the opinion that Shirley had another good character in the make-up. In Bobby Green, Bob Hunter, the two Donovans and young Master Carr with others, there is a wealth of a softball squad of beardless players if ever there was one. Under the charge of a competent coach and a sponsor, this crew of youngsters, we honestly think, will go a long way down that championship trail next season.

* * *

In Green and Hunter, the city has two of the best junior hurling prospects in town in years. Both are hitters and two outstanding pitchers. The Donovans with Carr are fielders de luxe and are nobody's fools with the hickory.

* * *

A handsome league championship trophy will be presented Batawa second half title winner at the Quinte Soccer League banquet scheduled for the Hotel Quinte on Friday, November 4th so league pervy Les Higby informs us. As a finale to a successful season the semi-finals and finals of the Trenton Challenge Cup will be played next Saturday and the week following. Belleville United hooks up with Northern Electric in one semi-finals bracket with Trenton taking on Batawa in the other half. The games will be played at Exhibition Grounds here, and Batawa respectively. The final will be played at Sam Memorial Park, Trenton on Saturday, Oct. 29th.

Thirty members of the world-champion New York Yankees got full shares of $5,665.54 each for defeating Brooklyn Dodgers in the record world series, it was announced yesterday.

Walter Mulbry, secretary of baseball, released the names, along with those of 31 Brooklyn players who got $4,775.74 apiece.

Johnny Mize, bought from New York of the National League near the end of the regular season, was voted a half share, amounting to $2,833.77. The big first baseman connected safely twice in pinch hit roles in the world series.

National Music Policy Advocated for Britain

By WILLIAM ROSS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

English musicians, still riding the crest of a post-war boom, have just had a bit of a shock. They've been told—and by a reputable body—that their work is largely mediocre.

The Arts Enquiry, a body set up by a private trust to investigate the state of various arts in Britain, has just published its report on music. It was critical of almost everyone except the struggling composer and wound up by saying it was about time Britain had a national music policy.

Every branch of musical life was scrutinized and most found wanting—the opera, the orchestra, chamber music, music in schools, professional training, concert talent.

Only the composer came out well.

Sub-par Concert Halls

The report said young English composers have too steep a hill to climb. "Composition is at a level unknown since the end of the 17th century," it said, "but composers find it discouragingly hard to get themselves a hearing."

Their works "have an unparalleled power of emptying a concert hall". Impresarios built concerts of "safe" works, daring only occasionally to include an unknown composition.

The result was that orchestra playing became hackneyed and "it is not surprising that orchestral playing, in London particularly, has never been more lifeless."

The report asked for greater support from public funds for symphonic and opera organizations and for professional teaching.

Cultural Prestige Suffers

A special plea was made for successful establishment of the opera in Britain. "Our poverty here has caused cultural prestige of the country to suffer for long enough," the report said.

The opera would offer scope for composers, singers, conductors, players, coaches, producers, designers, choreographers and librettists—in all of which departments England was insufficiently stocked to put on a first-rate performance by any standards.

The report criticized the Musicians' Union for preventing: Displaced Persons from establishing in Britain despite the country's lack of first-rate musicians.

Great continental teachers found refuge in England before, during and after the war and their services would enrich the country, says the report. Yet no attempt was made to use them and "discouraged here, many went to America".

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

If you have all the aces you may not need all the kings to make a grand slam. A good strong long side can take care of many possible losers if immediate control is had of all suits.

Cause the tournament deal you see here:

The bidding at some tables went like this:

South	North
1 S	2 C
3 S	4 C
4 S	4 NT
6 S	7 S

From the moment north put in the jump takeout to clubs, south knew they were headed for a slam. But he could not place how much confidence in a slam until later.

South might assume at once that their final trump suit will be spades. But he is not yet certain there will be no loser in them. Nor is he yet certain there will be no losers in side suits.

The jump by north is forcing to at least game. Both players can take it easy until then and learn from each other all they can.

South might assume at once that their final trump suit will be spades. But he is not yet certain there will be no loser in them. Nor is he yet certain there will be no losers in side suits.

The jump by north is forcing to at least game. Both players can take it easy until then and learn from each other all they can. Thus, the three spade bid by south gave north for more exploration.

North was confident of a slam of some kind from the moment south opened the bidding. When south rebid spades, north knew what could be their final trump suit, if necessary.

Four no-trump was the ace and king investigator. A reply of six diamonds is Horse Sense convention signal for showing two aces and one king. Was it enough for grand slam?

North figured the trumps were solid and his clubs could take care of any south losers. So, he shot the moon. West led a heart. How does it look to you?

Death of Marshal Tolbukhin Given By Moscow Radio

London, Oct. 18 — (AP)—Moscow radio today announced the death of Marshal of the Soviet Union Feodor I. Tolbukhin.

He was in command of the Soviet troops that succeeded in conquering Hungary. As commander of the Fourth Ukraine Army his troops seized Sevastopol in one of the epic battles on the eastern front.

Moscow radio said the Marshal died Monday after a prolonged severe illness. Its nature was not specified.

He was 65 years old.

The announcement of his death was made by the Soviet Council of Ministers and the Central Committee of the communist party. It referred to Tolbukhin as "one of the outstanding army leaders and builders of the armed forces of the U. S. S. R. and a famous hero of the patriotic war."

Funeral services will be held in Moscow's Red square where Tolbukhin's troops have marched in proud review before Prime Minister Stalin and other top Soviet leaders.

He was one of the signers of the Armistice with Bulgaria. After Bulgaria was taken, Tolbukhin fought in Hungary. Budapest fell on Feb. 13, 1945, to the Russians.

He was in also on the capture of Vienna in April of 1945.

German General Does Not Believe Army Exists

Munich, Oct. 18 (AP)—A German General just returned as a prisoner from Russia says he does not believe the Von Paulus army or Wehrmacht veterans exists today.

However, Field Marshal Friedrich Von Paulus, German commander at Stalingrad, did command a pro-Communist army in Russia shortly after the war, says Maj.-Gen. Dudwig Cromolini, just returned.

Cramolini says this army was recruited from among German prisoners-of-war held by the Russians. A prisoner of the Russians for three years, Cramolini says he believes about 160,000 German prisoners-of-war still are held in the Soviet Union.

For Cramolini, the war ended in 1942. He was commander of the military district of Leipzig, but was relieved in 1942. He remained in eastern Germany, and the Russians nabbed him there in 1946.

He was taken to camp Muehlberg, a Russian concentration camp in Saxony," he relates. About 12,000 Germans, including 1,100 women, and many other foreign nationals were there.

Treated Very Well

"Then I was sent to camp 7098 at Woikawa, Russia, a distance of about 180 miles from Moscow, where I met 250 other generals of the German army.

"The Russians treated us very well. The food was good and we were permitted to buy things outside the camp. A German film was shown to us each week."

Cramolini returned to eastern Germany from Moscow on the Moscow-Berlin sleeper. He was accompanied by seven other former generals.

Now 70, Cramolini lives with his wife and 25-year-old daughter in a former barracks. The barracks in a rural area near here. The barracks has no telephone.

Asked why he wanted to live in the remote barracks, Cramolini said:

"It is best to be far away from things."

Nine Southern Counties to Have Deer Shooting

Toronto, Oct. 18. (CP)—An open season for deer hunting in some townships in nine Southern Ontario counties was announced Monday by Lands Minister Scott.

The season extends from Nov. 21 to Nov. 23 inclusive except for three County where the closing date is Nov. 26. No rifles may be used in eight of the counties. Bruce is the exception. In the townships of Albermarle, Amabel, Eastnor, Greenock, Lindsay and St. Edmunds.

Townships where rifles are forbidden are: Osprey and St. Vincent in Grey County; Raibhan in Haldimand; Nassagaweya in Halton; Oxford, in Kent; Calstor in Lincoln; Caradoc and Ekel Williams in Middlesex; Blandford, Blenheim and West Zorra in Oxford, and West Flamborough in Wentworth.

In all cases special township licenses are required.

SUFFERS INJURY RETRIEVING DUCK

Owen Sound, Oct. 17—(CP) — Condition of 17-year-old Thomas Middlebro, injured in a shooting accident near here Saturday, is "satisfactory", hospital officials reported today.

Middlebro suffered arm and leg wounds when his hammer-type shotgun discharged as he was wading to retrieve a shot duck on Skye Lake, 25 miles northwest of Owen Sound, a few hours after the duck season opened in this district.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Oct. 18.— (AP)— Esther Williams admits this may not be believed, but her two-month-old son is swimming already.

"It sounds fantastic, I know," says the swim star, "but Benjie actually swims in his bath. All I do is keep his chin above the water and he paddles right along on the surface. In fact, he has nearly kicked a hole in his bathinette." The child's nurse confirms this feat of heredity.

Does this young Benjie will challenge other Hollywood tots, such as the James Masons' Portland, who paddled about the family pool at six months?

"No," says Esther. "I don't believe in hurrying them into pools and letting them swim underwater."

American Tragedy

Theodore Dreiser had to die before he was immortalized on the screen. Montgomery Clift and Elizabeth Taylor are making "An American Tragedy" (now called "A Place in the Sun") for George Stevens. And Stevens partner, William Wyler, will start "Sister Carrie" this Winter.

Watch out, Frankie and Perry! Robert Mitchum is invading your field. When he finishes "Carriage Entrance", he'll make an album of popular songs with his sister Carol, who is singing at a Hollywood cafe. Mitchum has already made an album of folk songs.

The Fowells

June Allyson and Dick Powell were discussing the latest Hollywood scandal. Hollywood today is like a Presbyterian Church compared to what it was 20 or 30 years ago," said Dick.

The Powells are doing "The Reformer and the Redhead", her first film in eight months, during which she mostly cared for her young daughter Pamela. Her only studied film is "Royal Wedding" with Fred Astaire next Summer.

QUISLINGS STILL JAILED

Oslo—(CP)—In the aftermath of Norway's wartime occupation, officials reported 1,000 collaborators were still imprisoned on Sept. 1. Since 1946, 1,363 Quislings have been paroled, mostly on the grounds of ill health, old age or in cases where similar offenses had received lighter punishment.

Govt. Doubtful Over Legal Right On Rent Controls

Montreal, Oct. 18. (CP)—The Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities said in a statement Monday that Prime Minister St. Laurent had told them that the federal government was doubtful about its legal right to main rent controls.

Mr. St. Laurent met the federation's executive at a closed session here Saturday.

Of the Prime Minister's remarks on rent controls, the federation statement said:

"He stated that the federal government had been giving much thought to the matter of rent controls. He considered that in those cities where there was a large housing shortage that some measure of rent control should probably be maintained. It was for this reason that the federal government had levied the provinces to take over responsibility for rent controls a year or more ago. To date, however, no province had indicated its willingness to do so. The federal government was mindful of the problem and while it had every desire to protect the people against exorbitant rent increases there was some question as to the federal government's legal right to maintain controls over a matter which, normally, did not fall within the jurisdictional sphere of the federal government. The federal cabinet had the matter under study and in due course, would take whatever action seemed most appropriate steps to deal with the problem."

Something Fishy About New Clothes

Beddington, Corner, Surrey England — (CP) — People in Canada the United States and Europe will soon be wearing fish skins—and Britain will earn dollars from it.

Two young Poles who have established a factory here are responsible for the plan.

Bell Aircraft Strike May be Near Settlement

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 18 (AP)—A State Board of Inquiry Monday announced tentative settlement of the four-month-old Bell Aircraft Corporation strike, marked by frequent violence and scores of arrests.

The Board stopped into the dispute only a week ago. It refused Monday to divulge terms pending ratification by Local 501, United Auto Workers (C.I.O.). The union represents 1,700 production workers at the Bell plant near Niagara Falls.

Union leaders immediately announced they will urge the membership to accept the agreement in a meeting tonight.

Original issues in the strike, which started June 15, were wages and pensions. The union scaled its wage demand down to 10 cents an hour, and sought full pensions, paid for entirely by the company.

These terms the company termed exorbitant, claiming that the first quarter of 1949 was the first period during which the firm had shown a profit in four years. The company said the average wage was $1.78 an hour, and called it the highest in the industry.

During weeks of negotiation, however, both independently and under the direction of the state and federal mediation services, the principal stumbling block became the status of a group of unionists the company called subversive. These men, the company said, were responsible for the frequent outbursts of violence which accompanied the strike—first in Bell's 13-year history.

The violence reached a peak early in September, when so-called "flying squads" of unionists waylaid non-strikers on their way to the plant. The resultant fist and club fights ended in dozens of arrests or riot charges.

Says He Fired To Put Brother 'Out of Misery'

Los Angeles, Oct. 18 —(AP)— Police yesterday said that a 15-year-old boy defied his 72-year-old brother, who lay groaning from an accidental bullet wound, suffered only moments before— "to put him out of his misery."

Dead, with two bullets in his head was Robert James Elliott, 10. His brother, Richard Manning Elliott, 15, is booked on suspicion of murder.

Police gave this account:

The two brothers, alone in their home Sunday night, watched a western movie on television. Afterwards, the older boy showed his brother an old-fashioned .32-calibre revolver he had bought from a school friend for $6 and had kept secretly in his room.

He took the gun from a drawer, it went off.

"Robert fell down groaning," Richard told police.

"I couldn't stand to see him suffer like that, I picked up two or three steps.

"I shot him again in the head to put him out of his misery," Richard then called police.

Irish Belong In a Class By Themselves

New York, Oct. 16 — (AP) — Notre Dame's super performance against a highly-rated Pittsburgh team last Saturday apparently has convinced most of the United States college football experts that the Irish belong in a class by themselves.

In contrast to last week, when Notre Dame barely won the No. 1 spot from Army, all the country's sports editors and sportscasters voted the Irish a solid first choice today in the third weekly Associated Press poll.

A week ago the Irish nosed out the Cadets by 30 points. Today Notre Dame received nearly 200 points more than the West Pointers. Of the 119 voting experts, 101 named the South Bend eleven first on their ballots.

It's been many years since a team has dominated an AP poll so completely. In the unbeaten Irish attracted 1,745 points by their devastating 46-7 route of Tulane Saturday.

Army, which received 58 first-place votes a week ago, got only 10 this time despite its handy 54-14 romp over Harvard. Army had 1,533 points to rank right behind Notre Dame and well in front of third-place Minnesota.

Bernie Bierman's Gophers enhanced their Rose Bowl chances by handing fourth - ranked Ohio State a 27-0 trimming. This one-sided triumph gave Minnesota 1,370 points, to boost it two notches from fifth to third.

Others in the first 10 with their votes included: Oklahoma, fourth, 1,171; California, fifth, 979; North Carolina, sixth, 856; Kentucky, seventh, 788; Cornell, eighth, 345; Rice, ninth, 186 and Texas, 10th, 136.

FOG DELAYS NAVIGATION

Brockville, Oct. 18 (CP)—St. Lawrence River navigation was tied up Monday morning by heavy fog which closed down over the district at an early hour, blanketing the area until well after sunrise.

Lake freighters were forced to drop anchor and wait for the murk to lift before attempting navigation in the tricky Brockville narrows just west of this eastern Ontario community, but all had resumed their journeys by eight o'clock with a report of any undue incidents.

Vancouver Woman Tells of Life In Inn Immortalized by Dickens

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Oct. 18.- (CP) —An octogenarian Vancouver woman's childhood memories have cast new light on the "Six Jolly Fellowship-Porters", the London Waterfront tavern Charles Dickens wrote about in "Our Mutual Friend".

Mrs. Emily Ferris of Vancouver, sent a letter to the proprietor of the Grapes Tavern, which has as good a claim as any to have been the pub that Abbey Potterson ran in Dickens' novel.

Dickens described the Six Jolly Fellowship-Porters as "A tavern of dropsical appearance, long settled down into a state of hale infirmity." In its whole constitution, he wrote, "It had not a straight line, but it had outlasted and clearly would yet outlast many a sprightlier public house."

Inside Sawdust Bar

Inside the sawdust bar, where Rogue Riderhood used to scowl at the shocker and Bob Glidderey, the spot-boy, made eyes at Lizzie Hexam, there were "corpulent little casks, forever at ease and gluttits in baskets".

Mrs. Ferris was 84 when she wrote her letter in Vancouver. It arrived at the height of the German blitz and lay forgotten, among other papers under the bar, until this month.

The Vancouver woman recalled that when she was five her father took her to the Grapes, where Dickens used to sit in the big room upstairs.

But, Mrs. Ferris wrote, it was in another public house across the street, the Barley Mow, that Abbey Potterson worked.

Her real name was Mary Ferguson, and Dickens, of literary purposes, first brought her across the road and placed her behind the bar of the Six Jolly Fellowship-Porters. In those days Mrs. Ferris' aunt, Emily Judge, was the "serving maid" at the Grapes.

Mrs. Ferris' grandfather was a close friend of Mary Ferguson, whom Dickens turned into Abbey Potterson, but she thinks the Six Jolly Fellowship-Porters may have had bits of the Two Brewers Public House on the corner of Duke Shore in it as well.

Today, nearly a century after Dickens wrote "Our Mutual Friend", the Grapes Tavern is pretty much the same as when Sergeant Bill Higgins and his wife preside over Miss Potterson's counter and the march of progress has done away with the biscuits and lemons.

Russia Reports Record Harvest

Moscow, Oct. 15 (AP) — The Soviet government said today that Russia this year had reaped a record grain harvest, more than the nearly 130,000,000 tons cut in 1948 and 1947. Those had previously been the record years. The amount of this year's production was not given.

ARTHUR TOOK OVER

LAWYER MEMBERS

The theme of opposition debate was that the government was going at the whole question in "piecemeal" fashion. Both Mr. Drew and Mr. Low used that word.

Mr. Drew's argument was that the resolution divides the constitution into two separate parts — one covering matters under so-called federal jurisdiction; the other covering affairs within the realm of provincial authority.

He contended that the constitution is indivisible and that before proceeding to gain the power to amend it on federal matters, the provinces should be consulted and agreement reached on the future procedure of amending it generally.

Before the debate began, Prime Minister St. Laurent tabled letters received from 10 provincial premiers replying to invitations to attend a constitutional conference late this year.

Three Take Exception

The replies indicated general acceptance, although three provinces — Ontario, Quebec and Alberta—took exception to the federal decision to go ahead before consultation to obtain the powers of amendment on federal matters. This decision is the one contained in Mr. St. Laurent's amendment.

Nine provincial premiers said definitely they would attend personally or send representatives to the conference.

The 10th, Premier Duplessis of Quebec, said "Provincial authorities in Quebec are always ready to participate in a Canadian inter-governmental conference seeking to study beforehand and apply subsequently the most appropriate and most just methods to give effect to the rights, prerogatives and liberties of the central authority as well as the provincial authorities." This is as far as Mr. Duplessis went in his reply.

Mr. Duplessis contended that the B. N. A. Act is a "pact which cannot be amended in a 'unilateral' fashion." He asked that the federal government delay its action (contained in Monday's resolution) until the provinces have been consulted.

Only Country Without Right

The word "piecemeal" was used by Premier Frost of Ontario who said he is in "some doubt as to the advisability of dealing with the matter" without first attempting general agreement.

Alberta's Premier Manning also urged that Ottawa hold in abeyance its action on federal powers. Only by joint consultation could "future conflict" be avoided, he said.

Opening the Commons debate, Mr. St. Laurent said Canada is the only commonwealth power without the right to amend her own constitution.

The necessity of asking the U.K. government for permission to amend the constitution was inconsistent with Canada's stature as a self-governing nation.

Mr. St. Laurent said it is one of the most important steps in Canadian constitutional history. It was a move on the road to adult nationhood. Particular care had been taken to see that the rights of the provinces were not jeopardized.

Mr. Coldwell agreed that parliament has the right to amend British North American Act sections dealing with exclusively federal matters without consulting the provinces.

He hoped any changes in the act would leave the way open to parliamentary reform. They should guard against the possibility of parliament extending its present five-year terms.

Called Half Measure

Mr. Drew said the resolution was a half-measure. It would give Canada the right to amend the constitution on federal matters. But on other affairs, it would still be necessary to gain united Kingdom approval.

He accused the Prime Minister of "repudiating" pre-election promises to consult the provinces before taking any such action.

Mr. Low said the division of federal and provincial authority is not clear.

The resolution should be amended. The province should be consulted and a definite method of procedure adopted on how to amend the constitution. The divisions of authority should be clarified. Then action could be taken.

Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) accused Prime Minister St. Laurent of repudiating the leading Liberals as Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former justice minister.

Mr. Fleming contended that the Liberals today had muzzled the "death knell" of the theory that the British North America Act was a compact. The Liberals had declared it was a statute.

Dangerous Precedent

As a compact, the B.N.A. Act could be changed only with consent of the original parties—all the provinces. As a statute it could be changed merely by a majority of the members of parliament and senate.

The Toronto lawyer said the resolution constitutes a dangerous precedent which might lead to other changes, just as simply, in the Act and might eventually jeopardize things as fundamental as civil rights.

J. W. Noseworthy (CCF—York South) said that only in a few cases had the provinces asked to be consulted on changes in the constitution. In those cases they were consulted.

He could see why parliament now should have to change this procedure and consult the provinces before seeking power to amend the constitution on matters which were purely of federal jurisdiction.

No More Harsh Laxatives!

I've been a different person these last 8 months—constipation! hasn't troubled me since I started using KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly," P. Leveille, 4465 Richard St., Montreal. Just one of many unsolicited letters. Yes, and many unsolicited letters you, too, may expect complete relief from constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet. Simply drink plenty of water. If not completely satisfied after 10 days, send the empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Ont. GET DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

BACKACHE May be Warning

Backache may be a signal your kidneys are failing to filter excess acids and poisons from your blood stream. Doan's Kidney Pills help relieve this condition, when the cause of backache is kidney functional disorder and not deep-seated trouble. Doan's stimulate diuretic flow and increase kidneys' output of urine. Use only as directed. Get Doan's Kidney Pills today. 136

Black Boom

By Paul David Preston

"I think Rangeville is destined to grow more and more. I like to call it my town even though I am new arrival, for you have accepted me and I like all of you and in a measure I speak for all the newcomers here. We want no hard feelings, we want only the right to work and share and prosper as we deserve. My friend Martin Deale, has mentioned—"

Somebody laughed derisively at that. At least a few people knew of the two men's earlier differences. Dal paused only a second.

"—has mentioned burglars and robbers and such. Regrettably, this is true, but it can surely be controlled. Our population has been so suddenly expanded that we lack police force to cope with new requirements. We can quickly remedy that. If we are destined to be an industrial town, I say let's make it an orderly one."

He was speaking easily now, calmly and distinctly. He remembered an old injuction from college days—when talking to people, look at them. He moved his head slowly so as to gaze directly into the eyes of those nearest. He paused a moment, looking at Lillian.

She lifted a hand involuntarily and nodded slightly as if to encourage him. Thad Monroe turned to her, then slowly back to Dal. She did not notice, Her face was strained. She was with Dal speaking with him, sharing here what he felt.

"The thing that is happening around us, my friends, is sure to breed some heart aches. Some people are going to get rich, indeed some already have. Some others will prosper moderately even though they engage in no oil ventures at all. But still another group—and I suspect many of them are here before me—are freezing up against the whole oil boom and trying to stay aloof from it. You are the ones who will suffer most. The boom is bigger than you are. The boom is bigger than sentiment, or tradition, or any old-fashioned way of life. And it is not a mark of disrespect to the old fashioned things to replace them. Business, I tell you again is like that. Business must go on gain whether it be a railroad across a man's farm or an oil line down a residential street."

"My goodness!" Murmured Baby Doll Mayfield.

"Sounds like a professor, all right," Thad Monroe murmured back, near to Lillian. "The boy's got what it takes."

Lillian had come quickly at her fiance, then turned away again to watch Dal. Again she nodded a little, deeply impressed and again Thad observed it. Thad started to say something more but changed his mind; he began looking down meditatively at his finger nails and his face slowly acquired an expression of infinite sadness. Nobody was observing him, though; Dal Tower was about through now.

He was speaking again, and—was "—all of progress is like that, entailing some distress we must adapt ourselves and go forward with it. Oil people are not money-grabbers, and it's an insult to say they are!"

He stopped abruptly, and the applause was loud and genuine when he jumped down. He was rather flushed now. People pressed close by as he came near and Thad and Lillian, Martin Deale stepped up to him.

"Look here, Tower, I am fed up with your trying to make a fool of me and the principles I uphold!" Martin was pompous about it, and tight with anger. "Why you forced yourself into this fray—"

"And I'm a little fed up with you Martin!" Dal came back. "What I said wasn't personal. Why do you keep your feeling out on a limb?"

Fifty or more people heard this little private clash. "Sh-h-h!" somebody commanded silence, at once. Necks craned. Lillian looked distressed and Thad Monroe was about to intervene, but Martin gave him no time.

"To h— with that!" Martin snapped, in uncontrolled fury now, "You're a contemptible intruder who—"

He never quite finished. Because as he spoke the time, his hand moved quickly to his pocket and came out with a gun.

Bang!

He shot when barely six feet from Dallas Tower.

But in that same instant a girl had leaped forward.

Sound of the pistol shot was like an electric release on emotions in this throng.

Instantly everyone was stirring crowding in, surging back pushing, screaming, all in panic moving. A woman's voice made a sharp hysterical scream. Two dogs started barking.

"Look out! Look out!"

The shout was a quite unnecessary warning from some people. Those who suspect many of them are here before me—are freezing up against the whole oil boom and trying to stay aloof from it. You are the ones who will suffer most. The boom is bigger than you are. The boom is bigger than sentiment, or tradition, or any old-fashioned way of life. V.O.N. Helps in Time of Sickness

With the cost of living soaring, people often feel they cannot face the expenses of sickness. This was well illustrated recently when the V.O.N. was called into a home to give nursing care.

The father, through no fault of his own, had been out of work for several months, during the spring and early summer. He had just started working again, with prospects of wiping out some of the accumulated debts, when his wife needed an emergency operation. His own father had died about the same time. His widowed mother was too old to care for herself, and had to be taken into the family circle.

It was to care for her that the nurses were called. Because of the circumstances, the nurses gave care free. The man hopes someday to help the V.O.N. . . . but as T. H. Ruston, the president, stated when he heard of this case, "none has to do without care because of the money . . . that is what makes this work so satisfying to the board members who are doing their best to support the work in this community."

The work of the Victorian Order of Nurses is greatly aided by the generous support of the Red Feather appeal. This year the amount to be raised is $18,000. The campaign, of which Harry W. Ackerman is chairman, continues until October 30th.

men nearest the point of major excitement.

"Where is the sheriff?" another voice kept saying. "Isn't there a single officer in the this crowd My gosh!"

"Gangway! Gangway!" This came from four men who were carrying out a woman in a blue dress, her form utterly limp. Instantly she was the centre of attention, a knot of 40 or 50 people moving with her and her carriers all the way across the broad lawn to an elm tree. There they placed her on the ground and began working over her.

"That ain't the ons shot," somebody explained. "This one just fainted. It's Mrs, McDavid, ain't it?"

The hullabaloo seemed to increase, Men and boys were running aimlessly now. Several little children began to cry and a few women as well Some men were cursing. The fist fight had resolved into a stupid pushing, shoving spree, its participants all trying to get out at once and all accomplishing nothing.

Old Judge Brookfield clambered back up onto the truck bed held up both hands again like a campaign speaker and tried earnestly to do some good.

"Gentle-men! Gentle-men!" he pleaded. But this mob seemed to hold no gently men now, and but few gentle women. Pent up emotions were somehow expressing themselves all round.

He clapped his hands loudly—slap, slap, slap. "Everybody just calm down!" he shouted. "The trouble is over!" Quiet down friends. There is no need for all this!"

If they didn't hear him at least they began to see him. Old Judge Brookfield, whom many of these folk had elected to office regularly for 30 years before he retired from a judgeship. A staunch, strong-looking old politician, his very poise his impressive size and unruffled dignity, began to do what his words could not. He wasn't excited. He wasn't fighting or cursing or shoving or shrieking. Maybe he had something to tell them, some news; let's listen. Sh-h-h-h-h, stop that and shut up, and let's see what he's saying.

Madoc Public School Forms H.&S. Club

Madoc.—A meeting was held in the Madoc Public School last Wednesday evening for the purpose of forming a Home and School Club. Mr. Rothwell, principal of the school, called the meeting to order, and made a few remarks concerning the purpose of the meeting. He introduced Mrs. Finkle, of Belleville, who took charge of the business at hand. Mrs. Finkle reviewed briefly the aims, creed and history of Home and School Associations.

A motion was moved and carried that such an Association be formed in Madoc and a further motion carried that the name of the new organization be "Madoc Public School Home and School Association". The annual fee was fixed at 25c per person. After some discussion, the first Tuesday of the month was agreed upon as the meeting night. A nominating committee was named to draw up a slate of officers. Balloting for the offices of President, followed with Mrs. Thomas Rupert being elected.

The following were accepted as officers for the coming year, and with the president took the oath of office: 1st Vice President, Miss L. Conner; 2nd Vice President, Mr. Geo. Griffin; Secretary (Corresponding), Mrs. K. Kincaid; Secretary, (Recording), Mrs. J. H. Aikins; and Treasurer, Mrs. Murray Smith.

Executive Officers—Mrs. G. Murray, Mr. Lloyd Blue, Rev. A. W. Smith, Mrs. K. Fenn and Rev. K. Lamb.

A large number of parents attended the meeting and several charter members were enrolled.

OLD ARGUMENTS GIVEN NEW TWISTS IN LONG DEBATE

P.C.'s, Socreds Oppose Constitution Changes

Ottawa, Oct. 18—(CP)—Parliament plodded through its second successive day of constitutional controversy Tuesday.

Old arguments, some with new twists, were the order as members attacked or defended the government's proposed method of amending the constitution on federal matters.

The Progressive Conservative and Social Credit positions remained the same. They are opposed to the government resolution asking the United Kingdom parliament to give Canada the power to amend the constitution on affairs wholly within federal jurisdiction.

The Liberals continued to defend the action as it stands. The C.C.F. supported the principle with reservations. Result was an amendment to the resolution proposed by Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre), asking assurance for Canadians that a session of parliament would be held at least once a year and that an election would be held every five years.

Mr. Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) came up with a different proposal. The Canadian lawyer from Prince Albert, Sask., urged that the constitution be revised only by a committee of the whole house.

As the resolution stands at present, it offers opportunity only for comment. If the government agreed to open the way for committee consideration, members could ask questions on all phases of the measure. There was, however, no indication that the government would agree.

May Set Precedent

Mr. Diefenbaker said the way the government is going about amending the constitution (British North America Act) is one that will set a precedent for any future amendments. It was an extraordinary step and should be discussed fully and in detail before any action was taken.

Sound Community Planning One of Canada's Most Urgent Housing Problems Says Winters

Montreal, Oct. 18.—(CP)—Reconstruction Minister Winters today termed sound "community" planning one of the most urgent requirements of Canada's large-scale housing program.

"A large house building program by itself is not enough", Mr. Winters said. "Houses should be built on adequately sized lots in well-planned sub-divisions, and provided with ample facilities. The housing program must be integrated into and form part of a well-conceived plan for the development of the community itself."

Canada's past record of planning and developing "is not as good as many of us would like to see it", said the Minister in an address prepared for delivery before the City Improvement League of Montreal.

Many urban centres across Canada furnish examples of "haphazard and unsatisfactory" development due to lack of planning, said Mr. Winters. He blamed lack of interest on the part of citizens in such areas as the cause.

"Unless more encouragement is given to those who are attempting to develop and implement community plans the large scale housing program and the rapid growth that will take place in the years immediately ahead will only serve to aggravate the unsatisfactory conditions that exist today and greatly increase the cost of correcting them at some future date."

Adequate community planning said Mr. Winters, is primarily a provincial and local responsibility. The Federal Government, however, was interested and willing to co-operate within limitations imposed by the constitution.

He said the government, under provisions of the National Housing Act, already had set standards for house building and lot size to "prevent shoddy construction and avoid unsatisfactory land use." It also endeavored to induce private builders and developers of large housing projects to adopt and apply modern community planning principles.

The minister outlined Federal legislative proposals designed to provide a basis for Dominion-Provincial co-operation in the housing field.

Broadly speaking, he said, the proposed Dominion - Provincial agreements call for the provinces to assume responsibility for acquisition of land and arrangements of services. The Dominion would be responsible for the planning, design and construction of projects. Where desirable, joint management of developments of projects would be possible.

TOP SPECIALISTS TO INCREASE FLOW OF BRITISH GOODS

13 Industrialists Volunteer for Job

Ottawa, Oct. 19 — (CP)—Top Canadian trade specialists, drawn from various spheres of industry, are embarking on a journey which may see a greater flow of United Kingdom goods into Canada.

Volunteering for the role, 13 industrialists — including one woman — will sweep the Canadian horizon, seeking new markets for United Kingdom exporters.

They are banded together under the non-government dollar-sterling trade board, looking after Canada's welfare. For each of the 13 is a counterpart in the U. K. that country will be unable to earn the dollars with which to buy Canadian products.

James S. Duncan, 56-year-old president of the Massey - Harris Company, Toronto, heads the Canadian board, formed with the approval and support of the government.

Mainly, the board's task will be to advise its British counterpart. Sir Graham Cunningham's duties: to export board, on how to make greater sales in Canada.

But, as Mr. Duncan said Tuesday in a joint statement with Trade Minister Howe, the board did not "intend to be consultants only."

Pursue Every Avenue

"Our intention is to pursue actively every avenue of two-way trade which will place dollars in the hands of the sterling - area countries," said Mr. Duncan. Thus these countries will be able to "buy the products of our farms, our mines, our timber limits and our manufactories."

N. Atlantic Storms Lessen Slightly, Tugs Tow Carrier

Icy Threat Felt in West, Warmer Air for Manitoba

(By The Canadian Press)

Storms in vast areas of the North Atlantic lessened slightly today, after pounding shipping from the British Isles to the northwest coast of the United States for two days.

The U.S. weather bureau predicted at least two more stormy days.

Two tiny tugs won their battle against a North Sea gale and pulled the damaged British aircraft carrier Albion into the protected Firth of Forth.

The newly-built carrier was holed on the aft portside Tuesday in a collision with the 2,025-ton British collier Maystone. The Maystone sank quickly with loss of 20 or her crew of 24.

For a time the gale edged the 18,300-ton Albion out to sea despite the straining of the tugs, which had been towing her when the collision occurred.

Gale full steadily over most of Britain during the night and this morning some roads around London were 18 inches deep in water.

Talk on Hospital Services Given Optimist Club

An hospital cannot be priced in dollars and cents. It is made up of a team. Doctors, nurses, therapists, management, electricians, engineers, all play an equal part in keeping the team functioning, Superintendent H. W. Wakefield, of Belleville General Hospital, in an address to Belleville Club told of the many improvements in methods of treatment, diagnosis, treatment and cure of illness during the past quarter century.

During this period, he stated, Canadians have played a large part in medical research. The names of Banting, Collip, McLeod and Best, are far more famous outside Canada than here at home. Sir Frederick Banting's discovery of insulin, alone, is giving life to a million people in the United States.

Mr. Wakefield, Belleville Hospital, Mr. Wakefield told of a newly installed pediatrics ward, for the treatment of children's illnesses. He stated that in a land of plenty it was a shocking surprise to find children suffering from malnutrition, but that such cases were shamefully common in Belleville district.

Mr. Wakefield spoke with pride of Belleville's blood bank, which has been so generously supplied by donors that the hospital has never had to sell blood. He pointed to the need for an emergency stock of plasma, to provide for such disasters as the Normdix fire, which found Toronto ill-supplied.

In conclusion, the speaker recommended that a hospital could not be judged in dollars and cents, and applied the biblical quotation: "By their deeds shall ye judge them".

Optimist Roy Robinson was appointed chairman of Optimist Week, which will be internationally observed, Nov. 6 to 13.

Welcome guests of the club were Douglas Mack, Bill Mould, Ted Robbins and Douglas Robinson.

Police Blotter

Small boys or youths in the West Belleville district are destroying property at the new Prince Charles School being erected on Ridley Ave., it was reported today by representatives of the St. Lawrence Contracting Company. Police investigated the complaint but were unable to find any children on the property.

A Church Street woman reported to police that her small daughter had been bitten beneath the eye by a dog. The matter was referred to Thomas Thorne, city dog catcher.

Warden McCarey Defends County's Position in Regard To Sharing Indigent Costs

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

The county failure to assume full indigent costs, reasons for rate surcharge as outlined by His Worship, Mayor Storey, recently in the Ontario Intelligencer of Thursday, October 13th., has been read with great interest by the people of Belleville and the area surrounding this progressive city.

The mere fact that there are indigents being admitted to the Belleville hospital might be caused by close proximity of the County of Hastings to the hospital, also many of our rural doctors have been their family physicians for years, which would naturally explain that situation (without any reflections on our medical profession, as they admit and we all know, would rather attend to their cases in the hospital). I have heard doctors state that they haven't the necessary facilities to treat their patients in their homes, which is general over the whole country, but adds to the situation as it exists today, but I feel certain in some cases, they could receive the necessary treatments without going to the hospital.

It is only fair for the public to know that approximately one-half of our indigents are admitted to other hospitals in the province, in which the county is liable per their hospitalization, varying from $2.25 to $3.00 per day, based on the grading of the hospital, the cost per day is $2.50. I, for one, have taken the attitude for years, that as the Provincial Government has passed the Public Hospitals Act and made amendments to the same, they should see fit that the Act should state an adequate rate per day be paid by the municipalities for indigents which would eliminate any controversial discussions between the different parties affected by the conditions that are said to exist at the present time.

Other Hospitals Agreeable

As has been stated above, nearly all our indigents are admitted to other hospitals in the province and none of these hospitals has seen fit to make any issue about their indigent rates as paid by the county to them, as the county is paying them exactly what the statutes of Ontario require them to pay for their indigents.

Within recent years, the Women's Christian Association, then owning the hospital, saw fit, in conjunction with the Board of Governors, to erect a wing to the hospital which has been, and is, open to inspection of everyone and which was badly needed, has not been criticized and which stands out as a great achievement to the W.C.A. and the Board at that time, and I would like to say, that under careful management was nearly paid for in full before the superintendent of the home, left the hospital. I have always thought that the superintendent, W.C.A. and Board accomplished considerable without worrying the taxpayers at that time. I would pit that new wing that was built and equipped against the expense of a new boiler room, laundry room, and other items as mentioned in the October 13th issue.

The item of $28.00 per month for the extermination of mice and roaches seems modest.

I feel that in writing anything regarding the hospital, that I might be accused of criticizing the doctors, nurses, Board of Governors, clerical staff, the Belleville City Council, the city administrator, the assistant administrator and all who directly have anything to do with the hospital. It is possible there is a chance for improvement in the administration of the same, even if, as suggested, it is administered mostly by business men.

Hospital Handed to City

Experience has shown during the past two years, that the hospital is not paying its way, let alone capital expenditure and I sympathize with the City of Belleville as this condition can't continue, but the city wasn't requested to build a new hospital, or buy one, as the hospital was handed to the city, of course, some encumbrances, by the W.C.A., who over many decades carried on and maintained a hospital with very little aid from outside sources.

Shoppers are Reminded to Deposit All $2-and-Over Sales Slips in Barrels

Belleville and district shoppers are responding splendidly to the "Enjoy Shopping in Belleville" week which got underway last Saturday, it was reported yesterday by a number of local merchants participating in the drive to create greater shopper interest.

During the "Enjoy Shopping in Belleville" week, local merchants will demonstrate to shoppers that practically everything needed by local residents can be purchased right in the city—and at prices comparable to those in any larger centres.

But local merchants would like to see shoppers show a bit more interest in the lucky draw contest that will see cash vouchers given away to the first three lucky winners.

Purchases of $2 or over at stores participating in the "Enjoy Shopping in Belleville" week make the shopper eligible to participate in the contest. All the shopper has to do is to sign his or her name to the sales slip and drop it into one of the several barrels placed on the sidewalk just for this purpose.

At the conclusion of "Enjoy Shopping in Belleville" week, the barrels will be taken to the Belle Theatre where the lucky tickets will be drawn.

So remember, the more sales slips a purchaser has in the barrels, the greater chance he or she will have to win one of the cash vouchers. First prize is a $25 cash voucher, 2nd prize is one for $15 and the third prize a cash voucher for $10.
